MORROW ANALYZES FOREIGN BOND SALES

WORLD RUN ON PROMISES

Morgan Partner Finds Comfort in Willingness of Buyers Here to Accept Pledge to Pay.

The small investor is an important factor in the floating of foreign loans, according to Dwight L. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Co., in an article, "Who Buys Foreign Bonds?" in the January issue of Foreign Affairs. From 80 to 90 per cent. of the number of sales of five large foreign bond issues were made to investors of less than $5,000, and from 44 to 62 per cent. of the amount of the issues was purchased by investors of less than $5,000, Mr. Morrow found.

The bonds are usually bought because of confidence in the banker or the investment house which issues them, which lays upon the banker the great responsibility of never advising the purchase of a bond in which he does not have complete confidence, said Mr. Morrow. What the buyer of the bond gets is a promise, a promise of a foreign government to repay, perhaps many years hence, he said, adding:

World Run on Promises.

"The civilized world today is run on the basis of a belief in promises. Whatever our doubts about the meaning of modern civilization, we may at least take some comfort in the trust which men show in each other's promises."

When Mr. Morrow turned his attention to an analysis of the foreign bond market in this country, he took for his example a group of five loans aggregating $380,000,000 and obtained from twenty-four investment houses, about one-quarter of those marketing the issues, an analysis of their sales. The loans in question were the $25,000,000 Austrian 7s in June, 1923; the $150,000,000 Japanese 6½s in February, 1924; the $110,000,000 German 7s in October, 1924; the $45,000,000 Argentine 6s in June, 1925, and the $60,000,000 Belgian 7s in June, 1925.

Mr. Morrow found that only from 3 to 5 per cent. of the sales were in amounts of more than $10,000, and obtained the following tables of percentages:

Name of issue and per cent. of the total number of buyers who took $5,000 or less:
Austrian 7's	90.1
Japanese 6½'s	88.4
German 7's	90.9
Argentine 6's	79.4
Belgian 7's	86.6

Name of issue and per cent. of the total amount of the issue purchased by buyers who took $5,000 or less:
Austrian 7's	62.9
Japanese 6½'s	44.2
German 7's	53.6
Argentine 6's	42.7
Belgian 7's	51.4

"It would seem reasonable to draw the conclusion from the statistics presented," he said, "that more than 85 per cent. of the people who bought these foreign bonds purchased them in small amounts ranging from $100 to $5,000, and that approximately 50 per cent. of the total amount of these foreign issues was purchased by these small investors.

"When we talk about the person who is investing in foreign bonds we are not talking about a great institution in New York or Chicago or Boston. We are talking about thousands of people living in all parts of the United States. We are talking about school teachers and army officers and country doctors and stenographers and clerks. The man who invests in a foreign bond may be rich or he may be poor. That is all according to our standard. Fundamentally, he is a person who has saved something, who is doing without something today in order that he or his children may have something tomorrow."

Buys Bonds for Future.

The buyer of bonds does so to provide for the future, and he wishes primarily to have the greatest possible security, and, secondly, the highest yield consistent with safety, Mr. Morrow said. Sentiment plays some part in buying bonds, he believes, as many men bought German bonds after the Dawes plan was put into effect not only because of the attractive interest rate but because they also felt they were doing something for Europe. Mr. Morrow then discusses what the buyers get for their money.

"They got a promise. And, mark you, that promise was the promise of a group of people associated together on the other side of the earth. Moreover, so far as the promise relates to the payment of the principal of the bond, the promise does not mature in time to be kept by the particular members of the group who originally made it. It is a promise designed to be kept by the children of men now living. Yet somehow or other the banker who offers that bond and the investor who buys that bond rely upon the people of Japan taxing themselves a generation from now in order to pay back the principal of that loan to the children of the person who invests in the bonds today.

"At first blush it is a startling idea. It is particularly startling at this time when so many people are saying that the various nations of the earth have lost faith in each other."

Although the investment by citizens of one country in the bonds of another seems to throw upon the nation of the investor the duty of protecting his investment, Mr. Morrow does not believe that this is actually the case. He quotes Lord Balfour and Elihu Root as saying that nations do not and should not go to war to collect debts.

"I have not been able to find a clear case of a nation going to war for bondholders," he says. "It is only fair to say, however, that contract claims against a foreign Government have often been joined with claims for other injuries, or with larger questions of political policy, and that so joined they have been made the basis of armed intervention. I have immediately in mind the military operations against Mexico in 1861, against Egypt in 1880 and against Venezuela in 1902."

There have been reprisals to collect debts, however, he points out, such as breaking off relations, pacific blockades and other measures. Foreign bonds belong in the same category as regards safety as domestic bonds, he says, some will be good and some will be worthless. But where nations need the money for constructive purposes, when they have a solidarity of national feeling and a sense of the value and meaning of national credit, where they do not incur obligations greater than they can meet—such nations, says Mr. Morrow, may be expected to pay their debts.

THREE NEW COUNTERFEITS.

Ten, Twenty and Fifty Dollar Gold Certificates Imitated.

Warning that three new counterfeit bills are in circulation was issued yesterday by the Secret Service Division of the Treasury Department. The bills are described as follows:

Ten-dollar gold certificate, series 1922; check letter H; face plate No. 174; H. V. Speelman, Register of the Treasury; Frank White, Treasurer of the United States; portrait of Michael Hillegas; a well-perfected photographic production. Twenty-dollar Federal Reserve note on the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, Ohio; series 1194; check letter A; face plate No. 151; back plate number indistinct, looks like 837; Frank White; A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; portrait of Cleveland; a crudely made note. Fifty-dollar gold certificate, series 1922; check letter C; face plate No. 161; H. V. Speelman; Frank White; portrait of Grant, printed on bleached genuine paper from etched plates, retouched by hand engraving in such manner as to make it dangerous.

Boys' Club Sells Stock Today; 'Happiness' Dividends Pledged

Public offering is made today at $25 a share to new subscribers and $20 a share to present stockholders of an issue of 15,000 shares of Boys' Club preferred participating 100 per cent. stock. This offering is made annually. The club, according to the announcement of the "bankers," has maintained a "fifty-year dividend record with happiness and profit to every investor."

Organized a half century ago on New York's east side to produce American citizens on a quantity basis, the sponsors contend that no American industrial company can turn out units of the same quantity or quality at as low a cost. The club's present plant consists of a five-story fireproof building at Avenue A and Tenth Street and three Summer camps. The uptown branch, now under construction at 321 to 329 East 111th Street, will be opened next year. The cost has been estimated at $750,000 and subscription for 25,000 shares of stock at $25 a share have been received for a total of $625,000.

Heading the group of men sponsoring the offering of the shares is Charles H. Sabin of the Guaranty Company of New York, President of the club. Checks should be made payable to the order of Richard A. Strong, Treasurer, Boys' Club of New York.

MACHINERY DEMAND EVEN.

Outlook for New Year Reported Good—Automobile Centres Inactive.

The general position of the machinery and machine tools market is satisfactory, and business is maintaining an even rate, according to the American Machinist. Better demand for equipment has ruled in several industrial centres and it is apparent that many buyers are closing on deals that have been pending and which it is desired to close before the end of the year. The automobile centres were inactive because of a slump in production schedules.

"Demand for machine tools in Cincinnati was better than a week ago," the publication says. "Orders placed in the Indianapolis district declined, but new inquiries were encouraging. In Detroit sales have declined to a few scattered orders pending developments in the automobile industry. Business is fair in the Chicago market.

"The volume of sales in New England territory was good, reflecting more favorable conditions in industry. In New York the call for equipment was fairly active. Most sections in the South report rather quiet trading in machine tools, but the outlook for the new year is good. Canadian business reflects greater activity on the part of railroads and steel producers."

OCEAN GAS ISSUE APPROVED.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 14.—The Public Utility Commission approved today execution of a mortgage on the property of the Ocean Gas Company and the issuance thereunder of bonds totaling $168,000, together with the sale of $110,000 worth of capital stock.

The company is a reorganization of the Ocean County Gas Company, which went into the hands of a receiver in February, 1924, and was subsequently sold. The money derived from the bonds and stocks will be used in the rehabilitation and extension of the property.

BUSINESS

The Boys' Club of New York was organized a half century ago on New York's East Side, to engage in the production of American citizens on a quantity production basis. Neither the Ford Motor Company, the Chevrolet Motor Company, the United States Steel Corporation, nor any of our outstanding industrial Corporations can produce units of the same quantity or quality at as low a cost per unit.

During the past fifty years the manufacturing capacity has been increased from a small factory of two rooms without bath to the largest producing plant of any similar organizations in the United States, with a yearly output of 7,500 boys and a daily average output of 1,500 boys. When the new plant is completed the gross business will be increased to 14,000 boy units a year, and the average attendance estimated at 3,000 boys a night.

PRESENT PLANT AND CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

The present plant comprises a 5-story fireproof building at Avenue A and 10th Street, within shooting distance of the heart of the East Side, together with three Summer Camps capable of turning out for two-week periods complete summer vacations for 2,414 units per annum.

The uptown branch, 321-9 East 111th Street, now under construction, to be opened in 1927, will be a completely modern fireproof building, and should increase the Club's output by 6,500 boy-power. The new plant will cost approximately $750,000, and insiders with advance information of increased earning power have already purchased 25,000 shares of this stock at $25 a share, a total of $625,000.

MANAGEMENT

The Club is operated by officers and trustees with large experience in the manufacture of boy units, and by executives who thoroughly understand the work. The plant has 76 volunteer foremen, largely college and school graduates, who have charge of the various departments. The officers, trustees, executives, and volunteer foremen serve without remuneration, except for their percentage in the profit sharing plan of pleasure and happiness derived. Shrewd investors will readily appreciate the advantages of low unit production cost made possible through this unique financial arrangement.

EARNINGS

The operating income for the year shows a handsome increase profit in boy and joy units, which should be practically doubled for the year 1927. Certain figures in the Operating Account are taken at random as an indication of the growth of the business. The management points with pride to the following report of operations:

50—years of continuous operation;
140,500—boys won from the streets during those years;
20,000—boys examined and 7,000 treated in Boys Club Medical and Dental clinics in less than four years;
15,000—stockholders and other contributors whose interest in boys has brought the Club to its present size and importance;
3—camps with a capacity of 2,414 summer vacations per year;
76—"Clubs within the Club," supervised by volunteer leaders whose interest in boys has attracted them to the work the Club is doing;
$625,000—building fund already subscribed out of a total of $750,000 required for construction and equipment of new uptown building;
Oct. 1, 1927—Club capacity will be increased from 7,500 to 14,000 members by completion of new building on upper East Side;
60%—reduction in juvenile crime and delinquency in less than ten years in the district served by the Boys Club.

RIGHTS TO SUBSCRIBE

Rights to subscribe for 100% of their present holdings are offered to the present stockholders at the underwriting price of $20 a share. Increased dividends are guaranteed upon the opening of the new Uptown Branch in happiness and service, and valuable rights to subscribe will be given to all stockholders pro rata from year to year.

Prompt subscriptions are urged, as we anticipate a heavy oversubscription, and subscribers are advised to enter their subscriptions for several times the amount desired if they expect to obtain a fair allotment. Subscriptions will be received at the offices of all firms given below, and books will remain open until closed by the President, who also shall have the right to refuse all subscriptions not willingly made. Issuance of this stock has received the unqualified approval of many legal firms, for the Club and for the buyers. Leading engineers, architects, and business men have passed upon the program for plant extension.

PRICES

$25 a share to new subscribers
$20 a share to present stockholders

Subscribers and their friends are invited to inspect the plant and the work being done at any time. Picture giving a cross-section of the manufacturing plant will be mailed on request.

7,450-BARREL JUMP IN CRUDE OIL OUTPUT

IMPORTS SHOW AN ADVANCE

Crude oil production in the week ended Dec. 11 averaged 2,396,250 barrels a day as contrasted with 2,388,800 for the previous week. This shows an increase of 7,450 barrels a day, as disclosed by the estimates of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,740,550 barrels, against 1,730,500, an increase of 10,050 barrels, as compared with the week before.

Following is a comparison of the estimates of production, the figures being given in barrels of forty-two gallons each:

Oklahoma	564,650	547,900	465,400

California	655,700	658,500	633,000
Total	2,396,250	2,388,800	2,029,050

Imports of petroleum at the principal ports for the week ended Dec. 11 aggregated 1,846,000 barrels, a daily average of 263,714, as compared with 1,115,000 barrels, a daily average of 163,000, for the week ended Dec. 4, and a daily average of 203,464 for the four weeks ended Dec. 11.

Receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week ended Dec. 11 totaled 382,000 barrels, a daily average of 54,571, against 339,000, a daily average of 48,429, for the week ended Dec. 4, and a daily average of 67,464 barrels for the four weeks ended Dec. 11.

Pipe line and tank farm gross domestic crude oil stocks east of the Rocky Mountains increased 1,664,000 barrels in November, according to returns from the principal companies as compiled by the Petroleum Institute.

ASK RAIL PAY RISE IN SOUTH

Conductors and Trainmen Meet Officials in Washington Today.

Wage demands of the railroad conductors and trainmen similar to those recently met in the Eastern district by a 7½ per cent. advance will be discussed in Washington today at a joint meeting of railroad managers and employes representing the roads in the Southern district.

It is expected that the two sides will reach an amicable settlement probably similar to those in the Eastern district. Next in line for conference with the Southern officials will be the firemen and engineers, who have presented demands for a 20 per cent. advance as the conductors and trainmen did originally.

Conferences will also be resumed soon in the Western district, which takes in all territory west of the Mississippi, and it is expected that the Eastern firemen and engineers will arrive shortly at a settlement with the carriers.

At today's meeting the Southern railroads will be represented by a committee headed by P. R. Albrecht, Operating Vice President of the Atlantic Coast Line, while L. E. Sheppard, President of the Order of Railway Conductors, and either W. G. Lee or W. N. Doak, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will head the committee representing the employes.

MORE GOLD FROM JAPAN.

A shipment of $2,000,000 of gold left Japan for the United States yesterday, a continuation of a movement that began last month. The gold is being concentrated at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the account of Japan, and the movement is considered one of the preliminaries toward Japan's return to the gold standard.

The foreign gold holdings are being built up as a protection for Japanese exchange. These holdings are large enough, in the opinion of financial observers, to make unnecessary the creation of international credits, as has been done by other countries returning to the gold standard. The Japanese yen, which has been climbing steadily for two years, was quoted at slightly less than 49 cents yesterday, or less than a cent below par.

Pennsylvania Gas Stock Offering.

1-100,000TH OF 1 P. C. WINS BIG BOND ISSUE

Los Angeles Awards $15,700,000 to Syndicate Offering Premium of $192.

How bids may be shaved by small fractions in the highly competitive field of municipal financing was demonstrated yesterday in the announcement that Los Angeles had awarded $15,700,000 of 4½ per cent. bonds to a nation-wide banking group. The winning bid was at par, or $15,700,000, plus a premium of $192, which topped the next highest bid by a few dollars.

In terms of the $15,700,000 face amount of the bonds, the premium of $192 represents an addition to par of roughly 1/100,000 of 1 per cent. In other words, the premium amounts to 1.2 cents for each $1,000 bond. On this basis the purchase price amounted to $1,000.012 per bond, this fraction being sufficient to swing the award.

The syndicate to which the award was made comprises the First National Bank; Hallgarten & Co.; Blair & Co., Inc.; Halsey, Stuart & Co.; Eldredge & Co.; the Anglo-London-Paris Company; the Detroit Company; the Bank of Italy; the Old Colony Trust Company; Phelps, Fenn & Co.; S. W. Pressprich & Co.; George B. Gibbons & Co., Inc.; Stevenson, Perry, Stacy & Co. and the Chicago Trust Company.

TELEGRAPH STOCK OFFERED

Western Union Employes Subscribe for $3,500,000.

Employes of the Western Union Telegraph Company are subscribing for $3,500,000 par value of the company's stock, it was said yesterday by Newcomb Carlton, President. Five million dollars of the company's stock was set aside for employe subscription this year. The balance remaining after expiration of the offer probably will be offered later to the employes.

Under the plan, Western Union employes were entitled to subscribe for one share of stock at $120 for every $600 of salary. Payment is to be made in instalments over a period of two years. Fifty shares is the maximum that may be bought. If all employes now subscribing continue their payments, they will have paid $4,200,000 for 35,000 shares of stock. At current prices of around 146 this stock would be worth $5,110,000.

Transfer Agent: The Corporation Trust Company, New York City.
Registrar: The New York Trust Company, New York City.

We summarize from a letter from Mr. M. C. Hutto, President of the Company, as follows:

Business and Product: The Company manufactures, in its own plant at Detroit, Michigan, Hutto Multiple Spindle Cylinder Grinding Machines and Hutto Cylinder Grinders, under United States, Canadian and foreign patents which, in the opinion of counsel, protect the Company from successful competition.

The principal product is the Hutto Cylinder Grinder, an invention of Mr. M. C. Hutto of Detroit. Its first commercial use was in 1923. Automobile manufacturers quickly realized its great economy, speed in operation and improvement in accuracy over other grinding methods for the principal reason that other methods required from ¾ to 1½ hours to grind a six-cylinder engine block with a precision seldom better than 1½ thousandths of an inch. The Hutto Cylinder Grinder does the same work with a precision better than ½ thousandths of an inch in from 40 to 70 seconds.

The introduction of the Hutto method of cylinder grinding does not require the replacement or scrapping of expensive major machinery.

Earnings: The following statement of net sales and net income, the latter after depreciation and Federal Taxes, certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, indicates the rapid increase in earnings of the business from its inception:

Net Sales		Net Income
1923 (July 16 to Dec. 31)	$ 27,520.80	1923 (July 16 to Dec. 31)	$ 3,182.64
1924	145,614.28	1924	34,236.70
1926 (9 mos. ended Sept. 30)	457,788.47	1926 (9 mos. ended Sept. 30)	104,074.58

In this year there were charged against earnings the cost of liquidating an undesirable sales contract ($12,000) and the absorption of a substantial portion of the inventory at less than actual cost, resulting in a lower ratio of net income to sales for the year 1925 as compared with the year 1924 and the nine months of 1926.*

The progress to date has been accomplished without the use of substantial capital except the reinvestment of earnings.

Part Replacements: The Hutto Cylinder Grinder uses abrasive cutting units requiring frequent replacement, thus affording the Company a continuity of replacement orders from every Hutto grinder in use.

The revenue derived from the replacement of abrasive cutting units has now reached the point where it has passed the revenue derived from the sale of grinding machines and grinders. This revenue is constantly increasing and should eventually constitute by far the largest portion of the Company's income.

Other Markets: The automobile production market is admittedly a large one. There are, however, many thousands of cylinders of used cars reground each year by service stations, garages and machine shops. The Company has devised a portable cylinder grinder for this purpose. The manufacturers of Anderson, Auburn, Chandler, Cadillac, Chrysler, Cleveland, Dodge, Durant, Essex, Federal Truck, Flint, Ford of Canada, General Motors of Canada, Hudson, Hupmobile, Jewett, Jordan, Locomobile, Mack Truck, Marmon, Nash, Oakland, Paige, Reo, Studebaker and others have distributed special bulletins recommending to their service stations the use of the Hutto portable cylinder grinder. There are approximately 21,000,000 automobiles in the United States and Canada and 80,000 service stations.

Non-Automotive Market: The uses of cylinders in mechanical devices are legion. There are thousands of manufacturers producing such types of equipment. A large number of nationally known manufacturers have already adopted the Hutto method of cylinder grinding. Among these are: Ingersoll Rand Company, Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company, National Steam Pump Company, Worthington Pump & Machinery Corporation, Copeland Products, Inc., Couzens Ice Machine Company, General Refrigerating Company, Novo Engine Company, J. I. Case Plow Works, Inc., The De Laval Company, Ltd., Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating Corp., Advance-Rumely Company, Caterpillar Tractor Company, International Harvester Company.

Immediate Future: About 20% of all the automobiles produced annually in the United States, it is estimated, are 100% Hutto ground (estimate based on 1925 automobile sales). Company's customers, however, comprise about 85% of all the automobile manufacturers in the United States, many of whom, at present, are using Hutto grinders on only a portion of their production and are not, as yet, 100% Hutto equipped. From orders coming in daily indications are that these are increasing their Hutto equipment as rapidly as their factory practice will permit.

The men who have been responsible for the success of the business remain in management and control of the Company.

AUSTRALIAN SPEAKS FOR TRADE BALANCE

NEW BRITISH EMPIRE BONDS

No War Now, He Says, Unless All Dominions Are Consulted and Will Cooperate.

The trade balances between the United States and Australia cannot continue to be preponderantly in favor of this country, Sir Hugh R. Denison, Australian Commissioner to the United States, said yesterday at a luncheon of the British Empire Chamber of Commerce in the Lawyers Club. James Brown of Brown Brothers & Co., President of the chamber, was Chairman.

Sir Hugh said Australia imported some $120,000,000 in goods from the United States annually and exported to this country products valued at only $40,000,000. He added:

"It seems to me that, without attempting to talk to your Government in a way that might be deemed impertinent, America cannot expect to hold that export trade unless she is prepared to meet other countries and take a certain measure of their goods. As between Australia and Great Britain, the trade balance is almost equal."

Discussing recent developments in relations between component parts of the British Empire, Sir Hugh said:

"I think there is no question that the confidence and good-will that was shown by the representatives of Great Britain in subscribing to a document which gives the fullest possible liberty and absolute equality in the Empire to peoples of the self-governing Dominions, will not only have the effect of removing all possible feelings of irritation which seemed to have existed recently and which might have caused a good deal of trouble, but certainly will engender a feeling of mutual love and respect for each other far greater than any ties which otherwise could have been forged. It never before had been put in such a way that the whole world knows that Great Britain is not one Empire consisting of a mother and a brood of chickens.

"A few years ago it was said that when Great Britain is at war the whole of the empire is at war. That applies, I think, just as much as it ever did. All those various sections of the empire have a common King, and when that King is at war in any section you will find that his people in every other part of the world will say: 'We are going to support our province.' Gentlemen, there will be no war without a consultation between those various units. In other words, Great Britain would never declare war unless she knew full well that she was to have the support of every section of the British Empire."

Among those at the luncheon were Sir Harry Armstrong, British Consul General; R. R. Appleby, Vice President of the Chamber; Edwin T. Rice, Herbert L. Griggs, Eric H. Louw, Trade Commissioner of the Union of South Africa; Elmer G. Pauly, new Trade Commissioner from the United States to Australia; David M. Dow, Secretary to the Commissioner from Australia; Samuel C. Murfitt of Boston, Edward F. Darrell and Captain Arthur J. Pack, Commercial Attaché to the British Embassy.

PREDICTS SLOWING UP OF BUSINESS IN 1927

Colonel L. P. Ayres Says Forecasts Should Be Cautious—Fundamentals Sound, He Finds.

In this season of annual business forecasting caution will be the watchword, according to Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, writing in the current issue of the Cleveland Trust Company Business Bulletin. General business is now prosperous, he says, especially industry and transportation; the credit supply is ample and fundamentals are sound, but he foresees a slightly slower trend of business than in 1926.

But, on the unfavorable side, the farmers have suffered severe disappointments, agricultural prices are falling and getting seriously out of line with industrial prices. There has been rather more than the usual seasonal reduction of automobile output, building construction is slowing down and the textile industry has had a poor year.

"The fair balance of evidence appears to justify us in thinking it likely that general business may be somewhat slower in 1927," Colonel Ayres asserts. "It seems probable that the trend of interest rates will be an irregularly declining one. If this happens bond prices will in all likelihood continue to advance. Stock prices will almost surely be subject to severe and selective irregularity, but it does not seem likely that there will be a real bear market. The trend of wholesale and retail prices, and of the cost of living, promises to continue to decline. Wage rates seem more likely to hold firm than to advance much. Building construction will surely be large in volume and value, but probably not so large as in either 1926 or 1925. Building costs should decline somewhat, but rather because of easier material prices than through lowered wage rates."

READING RIGHTS AWAITED.

Although two notices have been issued by the Reading company and less than three weeks remain for action, holders of Reading rights are still slow in making conversion. Rights must be exercised prior to Jan. 1, 1927, and to date only 1,440,000, or 51.4 per cent. of the total issued, have been turned in.

This leaves 1,380,000 rights outstanding, of which 606,650 are owned by the Baltimore & Ohio and 100,000 by the Widener interests. On these rights the holders must pay $2 per right or a total of $2,720,000 to convert the rights into certificates of interest. Decision by the Baltimore & Ohio, which is said to be contemplating the sale of its rights to a banking syndicate, would probably stimulate action on the part of other holders.

Thompson-Starrett Stock Vote Due.

Stockholders of the Thompson-Starrett Company will vote on Monday on the proposal of the directors to increase the no par value common stock from 18,750 shares to 50,000 shares and to retire the company's 15,750 shares of preferred stock at $110. Under the plan stockholders will receive two and one-half shares of the new common stock for every share of common now held.

Trustees
Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, and Guardian Trust Company of Detroit

Mr. A. H. Goss, President of Electric Refrigeration Building Corporation (and also President of Electric Refrigeration Corporation), has summarized, in part, his letter to us of December 2, 1926, as follows:

BUSINESS: Electric Refrigeration Building Corporation was organized under the laws of Michigan in 1926. It has acquired approximately 30 acres of land in Detroit and is erecting a modern steel and concrete factory and an administration building thereon, and it proposes to lease said land and buildings to Electric Refrigeration Corporation.

SECURITY: This issue of bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on the above mentioned land owned in fee and the buildings now being erected thereon, the total cost of which, upon completion of the buildings, will be in excess of $3,150,000. The bonds will be further secured by pledge with the Trustees, of a Lease to and Contract of Purchase by Electric Refrigeration Corporation. In accordance with the terms of this Lease and Contract, Electric Refrigeration Corporation will agree to pay a rental sufficient to meet all the necessary expenses of the Building Corporation, including interest and sinking fund payments on this issue of bonds, and will agree to purchase the mortgaged property at the expiration of the ten-year lease, or prior to that date, in the event of any default by it as Lessee in the payment of any installment of rent under the lease, or in the performance of any of the covenants of said lease, the purchase price to be a sum more than sufficient to retire the then outstanding bonds at par and interest plus any redemption premium due.

ASSETS OF LESSEE: As shown by the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Electric Refrigeration Corporation and subsidiaries (not including Refrigeration Discount Corporation or Kelvinator of Canada, Ltd.) at September 30, 1926, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants, the combined total assets were $16,028,836.08, and the combined net assets were $10,619,522.71 in amount. Of this amount $8,451,212.33 constitute current assets as against current liabilities of $1,672,659.34 or in a ratio of more than 5 to 1. The Lessee's only funded obligations outstanding are $2,980,000 principal amount of 10-Year 6% Convertible Gold Notes, due January 1, 1936. Electric Refrigeration Corporation has outstanding 611,060 shares no par value common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange, which stock has an indicated market value of approximately $20,000,000, based on current market quotations.

SINKING FUND: A strong Sinking Fund will be provided in the Mortgage in order to retire $1,500,000 principal amount of bonds within nine years.

EARNINGS OF LESSEE: The combined net earnings of Electric Refrigeration Corporation's subsidiary companies, Kelvinator Corporation, Nizer Corporation and Leonard Refrigerator Company, for the years 1923, 1924 and 1925, and the consolidated net earnings of Electric Refrigeration Corporation and such subsidiaries for the nine months ending September 30, 1926, after depreciation and all other charges except Federal taxes, (also excepting interest on the $2,980,000 principal amount of Ten Year 6% Convertible Gold Notes for the nine months ending September 30, 1926), have been as follows:

1924	1,774,646.04
1925	2,829,257.36
1926 (9 months to September 30th)	3,152,657.51

Maximum annual interest and sinking fund payments on this issue of bonds are $299,000.
Net sales of these Companies for the year 1925 amounted to $15,439,119.29.
Net sales for the nine-months' period ending September 30, 1926, amounted to $17,163,128.05.

Price 100 and Accrued Interest, Yielding 6%

This offering is made in all respects when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to the approval of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, of New York City. Audits of the books of Electric Refrigeration Corporation and its subsidiaries have been made by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants. It is expected that temporary bonds or interim receipts will be ready for delivery on or about December 28, 1926.

Mr. W. S. Barstow, President of New Jersey Power & Light Company, summarizes from his letter of December 10, 1926, as follows:

Business: New Jersey Power & Light Company, incorporated in 1915 under the laws of New Jersey, owns and operates the properties supplying electric light and power in the northwestern section of New Jersey, serving 123 communities covering an area of approximately 1,500 square miles, including Dover, Bernardsville, Hackettstown, Newton, Phillipsburg, Lambertville and Flemington. The total population served is estimated to be over 156,000. As of October 31, 1926, the company had 26,117 electric customers and K.W.H. sales for the year ended on that date were 76,325,871. The Company also supplies gas to Washington and Newton.

Properties: The properties of New Jersey Power & Light Company form an important part of the Pennsylvania-New Jersey Power System of the General Gas & Electric Corporation. A 110,000-volt steel tower transmission line 47 miles long, extending from the Delaware River at Holland, N. J. (8 miles south of Phillipsburg) to Dover, was completed by the Company and placed in service in 1925 and extended to New York State in 1926. This line is one of the network of high voltage transmission lines connecting the properties of the New Jersey Power & Light Company at the Pennsylvania-New Jersey State Line with those of the Metropolitan Edison Company and its subsidiaries, also controlled by General Gas & Electric Corporation, and at the New Jersey-New York State Line with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company and its interconnections. This forms a unified power system extending through New York and the New England States across New Jersey and Pennsylvania and into Maryland, and is included in the Boston-Washington zone of the super-power survey made by the Department of the Interior of the United States Government.

The interconnection of these lines makes it possible for the New Jersey Power & Light Company to interchange power with the Metropolitan Edison System and the companies in the Hudson and Mohawk power districts in New York State. An additional 110,000-volt interconnection in the metropolitan district has been arranged with the Public Service Electric & Gas Company. Electric generating stations of the Metropolitan Edison Company and its subsidiaries and New Jersey Power & Light Company have a total capacity of more than 195,000 K.W.

Gross Earnings (Including Other Income)		$2,420,283.26
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes		1,518,043.22
Net Earnings	$	902,240.04
Annual Interest Requirements on Company's Funded Debt presently to be outstanding		300,000.00
Balance before Depreciation, Amortization, etc.	$	602,240.04
Annual Dividend Requirements on Company's $6 Cumulative Preferred Stock presently to be outstanding		150,000.00

General: The entire common stock of New Jersey Power & Light Company is owned by General Gas & Electric Corporation whose subsidiaries serve a population of over 2,215,000 in seven important states in the eastern and southeastern sections of the country. In common with other subsidiaries of this Corporation, the Company is operated and managed by The W. S. Barstow Management Association, Inc., of New York City, which management has had many years of successful experience in the operation of public utilities.

This information and these statistics, while not guaranteed, have been taken from sources which we consider reliable.

All legal matters in connection with the issuance of this stock are subject to approval by Messrs. Pendleton, Anderson, Isaks & Riggs, of New York, Counsel for the Company, and by Messrs. Donovan & Monnix, Counsel for Pynchon & Co.

We offer when, as, and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of Counsel and to prior sale, such portion of the above 25,000 shares as may not be required by the Company in connection with its offer of exchange and subscription to holders of its 7% Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock.

A total of $5,230,000 of new bonds, principally in the municipal and industrial divisions, will be offered to investors today. The largest consists of $1,650,000 of 5½ per cent. first mortgage fee sinking fund gold bonds of the Pantlind Hotel Company, Grand Rapids, offered at 100 and interest by Howe, Snow & Bertles and the First National Company of Detroit. The proceeds will be used to retire existing mortgages and all bank loans, as well as to provide additional working capital.

Eldredge & Co., James H. Causey & Co., Inc., William R. Compton & Co. and Eastman, Dillon & Co. are offering $1,350,000 of 6 per cent. bonds of the Farmers' Irrigation District, Nebraska. The bonds are due from 1956 to 1971, optional 1936, and are priced at 101.75 and interest, to yield 5.75 per cent. to the optional date and 6 per cent. thereafter.

Eastman, Dillon & Co. are offering $1,000,000 Baker-Vawter Company first closed mortgage 6 per cent. serial gold bonds at a price to yield from 5 to 6 per cent. The bonds are due from Nov. 1, 1927, to 1941. It is agreed that no cash dividends shall be paid on any of the company's stocks which will reduce net current assets below 75 per cent. of the then outstanding first mortgage bonds. The company manufactures a variety of office equipment and supplies.

Estabrook & Co. and R. M. Schmidt & Co. are marketing a new issue of $730,000 City of Albany (N. Y.) 4¼ per cent. gold bonds, due serially from 1927 to 1966, and priced to yield from 3.75 to 3.95 per cent. The bonds are legal investments for savings banks.

Batchelder, Wack & Co. and Rutter & Co. are distributing a new issue of $600,000 City of St. Paul (Minn.) 4¼ per cent. bonds, due in 1946 and priced to yield 4.05 per cent.

Public offering will be made shortly of $10,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds of the Detroit City Gas Company by Otis & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co., Lehman Brothers and Redmond & Co. The bonds do not represent new financing by the company, but consist of securities previously issued but not publicly offered. The company is controlled by the American Light and Traction Company.

The Standard Gas and Electric Company has sold to a syndicate including H. M. Byllesby & Co., Janney & Co., Hambleton & Co. and the Federal Securities Corporation an issue of $10,000,000 forty-year 6 per cent. debentures, which will be offered in a few days.

The group headed by the National City Company announced that the $20,000,000 of Port Authority 4 per cent. New York-New Jersey interstate bridge bonds had all been sold.

Film Company Reports Profits.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in its consolidated statement, which includes the earnings of subsidiary companies, reports net profits of $937,818 for the three months and $2,587,508 for the six months ended June 30, after deductions for charges and reserves for taxes. After allowance for preferred stock dividends, the earnings equaled $2.07 a share for the three months and $6.04 a share for the six months on the common stock outstanding.

BAKER-VAWTER COMPANY

First (Closed) Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds

Dated November 1, 1926. Due Serially, November 1, 1927-1941. Interest payable semi-annually on May 1 and November 1 at First Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Illinois, or at The Chase National Bank of New York, New York City; without deduction for Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2%. The company will refund upon proper application the Pennsylvania personal property taxes not in excess of 4 mills. Redeemable as a whole or in part on any interest date on 60 days published notice at 102½ and accrued interest up to and including Nov. 1, 1931, decreasing ¼ of 1% each succeeding year or part thereof to maturity, with a minimum call price of 100½ and interest. Coupon bonds are in interchangeable denominations of $500 and $1,000 with privilege of registration as to principal only. FIRST TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, CHICAGO, AND MELVIN A. TRAYLOR, TRUSTEES.

Mr. William A. Vawter II, President of the Company, summarizes his letter to us as follows:

Business: The Baker-Vawter Company, incorporated under Michigan laws in 1916, succeeded to the original business organized over forty years ago by Mr. William A. Vawter and associates. This company was the originator of the loose-leaf ledger which constitutes the basis on which it has reached its present stage of development in the manufacture and sale of a wide variety of office equipment and supplies. These include, in part, binders, accounting systems and forms, steel filing equipment and supplies, and devices for special office and bank services. The Baker-Vawter products are in use by approximately 40% of the total number of banks and trust companies in the United States. The Company's production is carried on at four principal plants. It maintains district sales offices in fifty-five important cities, through which it sells direct to the trade, thus assuring an efficient and economical distribution of its product.

Security: This issue of bonds is the direct obligation of the Company and is secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a (closed) first mortgage on all manufacturing property now owned in fee and/or hereafter acquired, subject only to purchase money mortgages upon property hereafter acquired. The Trust Indenture contains restrictions against the payment of dividends that would reduce net current assets, as defined, below 75% of the then outstanding First Mortgage Bonds.

Equity: The sound depreciated value of the fixed property covered by the mortgage has been appraised as of May 31, 1926, by the American Appraisal Company in excess of $2,000,000 or over twice the principal amount of this issue. Net tangible assets as of September 30, 1926 after giving effect to present financing aggregated $3,367,145 or $3,367 for each $1,000 bond to be presently outstanding. Current assets amounted to $1,290,154, against current liabilities of $97,202 (a current ratio of 13.8 to 1). Net current assets amounted to $1,192,952, substantially in excess of the maximum amount of the bonds under this mortgage.

Earnings: After all deductions including depreciation and obsolescence, actual net earnings of the Baker-Vawter Company, as certified by Messrs. Wolf & Company, accountants, have averaged $336,565 for the past ten years. In no year since incorporation have net earnings been less than 3 times present annual interest charges, with the exception of 1921, when earnings were sufficient to cover such interest charges 1.79 times. Net earnings for the year ended December 31, 1925, were in excess of 4.39 times the interest charges of this issue.

Based upon certified figures for the nine months ended September 30, 1926, net earnings available for interest on this issue of bonds are at an annual rate exceeding 5 times the maximum interest requirements.

Dividends: The Company and its predecessors have paid substantial cash dividends on common stock during each of the twenty-three years since 1903 and in no year did they fail to operate at a profit.

Management: The active management of the Company will continue in the hands of those who have been responsible for its growth and successful operation. The principal officers, who own a large part of the Common and Preferred stock, have been associated with the Company for a period of fifteen years or more.

(Accrued Interest to be added)

We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. All legal matters in connection with the issuance of these bonds have been passed on by Messrs. Cutting, Moore & Sibley. It is expected that permanent or temporary certificates will be ready for delivery on or about December 23, 1926.

International Power Securities Corporation

40 Wall Street, New York

FOR many years United States investors were disinclined to make investments in foreign securities. This is no longer true and during the past two years over two billion dollars of United States capital have gone into various classes of foreign investments.

What is most essential at present is some corporation which is capable of making thorough examination and investigation of the various classes of foreign securities offered in this market. The International Power Securities Corporation is such a corporation but it confines its operations strictly within lines dealing only with public utility companies and financial operations related to such companies. Its organization is built up to specialize in this department of finance.

It is a well known fact that this field of endeavor in the United States and Canada has during the past twenty-five years proved to be one of the safest and most profitable lines for the employment of capital. There is every reason why history should repeat itself and that this principle should apply to investments made at the present time in similar companies abroad.

EXEMPT FROM ALL FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

$1,350,000

Farmers' Irrigation District, Nebraska

(Located in Scotts Bluff and Morrill Counties)

6% Bonds

Dated January 1, 1926 Optional January 1, 1936 Due January 1, 1956 to 1971 inclusive

Principal and semi-annual interest payable January 1 and July 1 at the office of the County Treasurer of Scotts Bluff County, Gering, Nebraska. Denominations $1,000.

Total bonds authorized and outstanding, $2,061,400.

The information contained in this advertisement is based on reports made by J. G. White Engineering Corporation and Benjamin C. Donham, Consulting Engineer, and from other sources of information which we believe to be reliable and accurate.

This district is an old established farming community with a water system costing $3,400,000, which has been in successful operation for fifteen years; consequently there are no colonization or construction problems involved.

These bonds were issued entirely for refunding purposes.

INVESTMENT FEATURES OF THIS ISSUE

1. These bonds are general obligations of the district, payable out of unlimited ad valorem taxes on all the taxable real property of the district, which contains 62,450 acres of the most valuable farm land in the North Platte Valley of Nebraska.
2. Taxes to pay these bonds rank equally with State, County, and School taxes, and must be paid at the same time.
3. Over 85% of the land in this district is in a high state of cultivation, producing each year diversified crops having a value of over $3,000,000.
4. Land and improvements are officially valued at $12,785,000.
5. The District has an abundant supply of water and has never experienced a shortage during the fifteen years of its existence.
6. Immediately adjacent to the District the Great Western Sugar Company has five beet sugar factories which, with a sixth now in process of construction, represent an investment of approximately $10,000,000.
7. Excellent transportation facilities are furnished by Burlington Railroad.
8. While the taxing power is unlimited, an annual levy of a maximum of $2.40 an acre, and an average of $2.20 an acre, is sufficient to take care of the principal and interest of the District's entire bonded indebtedness.

NOVEMBER SHOWS MORE COTTON USED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Cotton consumed in November totaled 583,950 bales of lint and 62,978 of linters, compared with 568,532 of lint and 75,539 of linters in October of this year and 543,488 of lint and 71,487 of linters in November of last year, the Census Bureau announced today.

Cotton on hand on Nov. 30 was distributed as follows:

In consuming establishments, 1,497,944 bales of lint and 117,915 of linters, compared with 1,215,873 and 99,318 on Oct. 31 this year and 1,457,456 and 106,702 on Nov. 30 last year.

In public storage and at compresses 4,517,565 bales of lint and 52,913 of linters, compared with 5,409,809 and 42,980 on Oct. 31 this year and 5,206,562 and 38,861 on Nov. 30 last year.

Imports for November totaled 41,441 bales, compared with 30,449 in October this year and 27,067 in November last year.

Exports for November were 1,486,224 bales of lint and 11,655 of linters, compared with 1,369,820 and 10,948 in October this year and 1,306,786 and 11,156 in November last year.

Cotton spindles active during November numbered 32,586,770, compared with 32,592,806 in October this year and 32,912,732 in November last year.

	Nov. 30, 1926.	Oct. 31, 1926.	Nov. 30, 1925.

Dec.	984,061	1,075,923	845,451	801,588

The export of cotton in October, 1925, was the largest since February, 1915, when 1,501,701 bales were exported.

FARISH FOR BEDFORD'S POST

Mentioned to Succeed Vice President of Standard of New Jersey.

F. H. Bedford, who will retire on Dec. 31 as a Vice President and director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, will leave a vacancy in that organization regarding which there is a great deal of speculation in the oil industry. W. S. Farish, President of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, a subsidiary of the Standard of New Jersey, has been mentioned as his possible successor.

Mr. Bedford has been connected with the Standard of New Jersey and one of its predecessors, Thomas & Bedford, more than forty years. In recent years he has been in charge of its business in lubricating oils. A son, F. H. Bedford Jr., has been associated with him in that department several years.

Mr. Bedford has been in charge of certain foreign interests of the company. He and Walter C. Teagle, President of the company, went abroad early this year and carried on the negotiations that ended in the decision of the Standard of New Jersey and associated American companies to participate in the development of the Mosul oil fields by taking a share in the Turkish Petroleum Company. His counsel has been a guide in the company's European activities for a long time.

The retiring director has few seniors in the organization. Mr. Teagle and Walter Jennings have been longer on the company's Board of Directors, but Mr. Bedford is older in point of service. He is entitled to a substantial pension under the company's retirement plan.

ST. PAUL HEARINGS RESUMED

Ex-Gov. Miller Heads Fight of Jameson Group on Approval of Sale.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—The hearing on a motion for the confirmation of the sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad and approval of the reorganization plan of the railroad was resumed today before Federal Judge Wilkerson, with former Governor Nathan L. Miller of New York, who is representing the Jameson committee of bondholders, leading the opposition against the approval of both the sale and the reorganization plan. Indications were today that several more days would be needed before arguments are concluded.

The Jameson group of holders of junior securities was joined by a group of stockholders to oppose confirmation of the sale and the plan of reorganization. Ex-Governor Miller asked that his clients receive three months to deposit their securities with the new managers if the sale and reorganization plan were approved. He also served notice on Judge Wilkerson that he has petitioned the United States Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel allowance of an appeal from the Judge's order denying the Jameson group the right of intervention in connection with the recent sale.

The hearing today was taken up with the testimony of Howard Page, an accountant, as to the earnings of the Pudget Sound investment of the railroad.

SURPLUS FREIGHTS RISE.

Class I railroads on Nov. 30 had 144,921 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service, the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association announced yesterday. This was an increase of 29,187 cars, compared with the total of 115,734 cars reported Nov. 23.

Surplus coal cars on Nov. 30 totaled 12,521, an increase of 3,799 cars in about a week, and surplus box cars totaled 98,794 cars, an increase of 21,079 in the same period. The report also showed 19,264 surplus stock cars, an increase of 1,996 from Nov. 23, and 6,463 surplus refrigerator cars, an increase of 1,696.

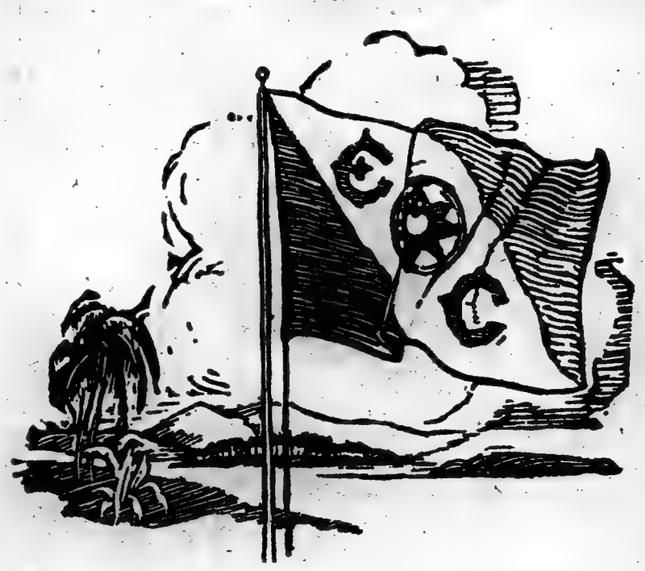
The 100 Neediest Cases.

Trail-blazers!



Flags of the Explorers' Club have been carried by Peary to the Pole, and by noted explorers to the top of the world on the Himalayas, as well as to the far outposts of human discovery.

As these words are written a man is on the way to the banks of the Rio Xingu, as far as history tells, never yet visited by civilized man. Another is photographing wild animals in Nairobi. Another is preparing to solve the mystery of the "great quiet zone" off Labrador across which no radio message has yet been able to pass.

These men are distinguished members of the Explorers' Club of New York, the only explorers' club in the world. Its roll-call extends from pole to pole and around the equator. The home of the Club is an unostentatious brown-stone house on West 76th Street.

While world-wide interests center there, they are equally at home in the offices of such banking institutions as the Seaboard, further down town.

In the Explorers' Club are men who have opened up distant lands to science. In the Seaboard are men who have furthered commerce with far-off lands. The Seaboard explores and studies the unfamiliar customs of foreign countries. It extends efficient commercial banking to business interests in all parts of the world.

This Bank will gladly act as your pilot and guide along difficult financial trails.

Why you should make a will today

1. Only by a will, can you designate to whom your property shall go; preserve any part of it, such as real estate or a business interest, in existing form; and protect principal and insure income for your beneficiaries.
2. If you die without a will, your property will be liquidated and distributed according to the laws of the State, and your family will be involved in the intricacies of court procedure at the very time when these details are most distressing.
3. But even if you make a will, there are more than thirty technical steps involved in the settlement of an estate which must be taken by whomever you designate as executor.
4. As a practical man, will you load this responsibility on the shoulders of your wife or a son or a friend? Or will you give it to a financially responsible corporation—a group of men in the business of executing wills and administering trusts?
5. The Equitable was founded primarily to act as executor under wills and trustees of inheritances. It can settle your estate and protect your family faithfully, wisely, and economically.
6. But if you should wish to bring in the intimate knowledge and personal interest of an individual, you may make The Equitable co-executor and trustee to provide the professional experience, financial responsibility, organization, and uninterrupted service necessary to the complete discharge of the duties which you some day must pass on to others.
7. Although the drawing of a will is a legal service which this Company as a corporation cannot render, there are personal and practical questions concerning the disposition and management of an estate upon which our advice may be useful to you.
8. For example, if you already have made a will, or contemplate making a new one, we shall be glad to review its provisions from the business and administrative standpoint and all information in our possession is available to enable you to determine the best provisions for your lawyer to incorporate therein.
9. Our booklet, How to Protect your Estate and your Family, will be mailed upon request, together with our Will Memorandum, a simple form which, when filled out, will give your lawyer the information he needs in drawing your will.

"But he told me never to sell our home!"

If you die without a will, the very property you want held intact for the benefit of your family may be sold and distributed according to the laws of the state.

EASINESS FOLLOWS UPTURN IN COTTON

Market Advances 10 Points at Opening, but Fails to Maintain Gains.

DECEMBER MAKES A GAIN

This Position Achieves Premium of 45 Points Over January at One Time.

Commission house covering combined with price fixing for mill account advanced the cotton market 10 points at the opening yesterday, but the upturn failed to hold, and a later setback left final quotations 4 to 10 points higher on the day. A feature of trading was the advance in December to a premium of 45 points over January at one time, and that month recorded the greatest gain of the day. The census report on the amount of cotton used by domestic mills during November proved about as anticipated, and showed that for the first four months of the season consumption has exceeded last year by 218,000 bales, inclusive of linters. Mill stocks on Dec. 1 were only 40,000 bales over last year, despite the low prices prevailing the last two months.

An effort is being made to obtain a special appropriation of $80,000 from Congress for the purpose of securing information concerning the quality of cotton grown each year. In addition to estimating the quantity produced, facts as to the grade are wanted by various cotton interests.

Enjoin Great Del Norte Mining Co.

Supreme Court Justice Callaghan in Brooklyn granted a final injunction yesterday, restraining the Great Del Norte Mining Corporation of 25 Broadway, Manhattan, from making further sales of its stock. The injunction was asked by Keyes Winter, Deputy Attorney General, at the direction of Attorney General Ottinger.

A temporary injunction was granted Nov. 12 by Justice Humphrey. The corporation had sold $75,000 worth of its stock before the injunction was granted, in alleged violtion of a provision of the general business law.

Wheel Companies Absorbed.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Plans to expand the Griffin Wheel Company, a subsidiary of the American Steel Foundries, were revealed today in the announcement that the company had purchased all assets of two large competitors. They are the Standard Car Wheel Company of Cleveland, Ohio, with a daily capacity of 300 wheels, and the St. Bernard Manufacturing Company of Cincinnati. Both purchases, it is said, were for cash.

ADVANCES CONTINUE OVER THE COUNTER

Industrials and Bank Shares in Lead—Sugar Stocks Firm—Bond Prices Higher.

A generally firm tone characterized the over-the-counter market yesterday. Moderate improvement came to hand in several industrial issues, a general advance occurred in the bank stocks and increased inquiry ruled for the insurance shares.

Superheater, Johns-Manville, United Milk Products and Giant Portland Cement were the industrial features, advancing on a range of 2 to 7 points. Chain store stocks turned somewhat easier under the leadership of Isaac Silver and United States Stores, each of which sagged a point or two.

First National Bank of New York was several points higher and Bond and Mortgage Guaranty moved up 10 points. Inquiries throughout the group were generally at higher prices, and substantial buying was reflected by American Exchange Irving Trust, Central Union, Equitable, United States Trust, New York Trust and Guaranty Trust.

Sugar shares continued firm, although quiet. Utilities were dull. Bonds came into prominence with gains in half a dozen issues.

...Exchange Irving Trust Makes First Declaration—Railway Raises Rate.

A shower of half a score of extra dividends, most of them by banking and industrial concerns, added to the feeling of cheerfulness in Wall Street which was created by yesterday's buoyant markets.

The American Exchange Irving Trust Company, which began business on Monday as a consolidation of the American Exchange Pacific National Bank and the Irving Trust Company, declared an initial dividend on its stock at the rate of 14 per cent. annually by the declaration of a quarterly disbursement of $3.50 a share. The dividend will be paid on $32,000,000 of stock.

An extra dividend of 2½ per cent. and the regular semi-annual of 2½ per cent. were declared on the common stock of the National Licorice Company by its directors. An extra dividend of $1 was declared by the Bank of New York and Trust Company in addition to the regular quarterly of $6.

An increase of $1 in the annual dividend of the Virginian Railway Company was announced by its directors. The rate announced was $7, in comparison with $6 declared at this time last year on the common shares. Electric Investors, Inc., declared a dividend of three-fiftieths of a share in common stock, payable on the common shares outstanding.

Richman Brothers of Cleveland, Ohio, proprietors of a chain of men's clothing stores in twenty-one cities of the Middle West and Eastern States, declared a $5 extra and a 10 per cent. stock dividend on outstanding common shares. It was said 95 per cent. of employes of the firm are stockholders.

The Northwestern Yeast Company declared an extra disbursement of 3 per cent. in addition to the quarterly dividend of the same amount. The Eastern Rolling Mills declared an extra dividend of 12½ cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents. An extra dividend of $1 was declared by directors of the Prophylactic Brush Company. The Archer-Daniels-Midland Company declared an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents.

The Island Creek Company of Boston declared a dividend of $6 on its common stock. Previous dividends in 1926 on these shares have been $5 in January, $4 in April, $4 in July and $4 in October.

The Northern Securities Company declared an extra of 2 per cent. and the regular semi-annual disbursement of 4 per cent. The Interlake Steamship Company of Cleveland declared an extra dividend of $2, also an additional one of $1.50, which will be paid on April 1, 1927. This action of the directors places the stock on a $6 basis for next year.

An extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the quarterly of 50 cents was declared yesterday by the directors of the Lion Oil Refining Company. The question of putting the stock on a regular $3 basis was discussed, but no action was taken except the extra of 25 cents at this time. An extra dividend of 12½ cents was declared yesterday by the directors of the National Standard Company. An extra of like amount was paid on Oct. 1.

In one case yesterday a dividend announcement was disappointing to stockholders. The Advance Rumely Company, whose dividend of 75 cents on preferred shares was due at this time, passed the dividend. F. P. ...nett, President of the company, said earnings for 1926 would equal the 3 per cent. annual dividend which the company had been paying on its preferred stock, but earnings for the last six months had been short of expectations and the company's investment in inventory and farmers' notes had increased, and the directors had decided to conserve the company's cash position.

410 EX-DIVIDENDS TODAY.

Ex-dividend quotations will rule today on 410 individual stocks, on the New York Stock Exchange, the New York Curb Exchange, the over-the-counter list, and out-of-town exchanges. While this figure does not set a new high record, it is large enough to point a huge turnover in the money market at the first of the new year when the majority of payments will be made to stockholders of record today.

Of the total issues to go ex-dividend today, 128 and one issue which is ex-rights, are listed on the Stock Exchange. The list of ex-dividend stocks includes, in many cases, issues on which the regular rates have recently been increased or extra payments ordered in addition to the regular distributions.

Among the better known stocks which will be ex-dividend today are Adams Express, Allied Chemical & Dye, American Car & Foundry, American Bank Note, Barnsdall, Burns Brothers, Certain-Teed, Chrysler, Coca-Cola, Famous Players, Frisco, St. Louis & Southwestern, Simms Petroleum, Yellow Truck & Coach, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Experienced Bond Salesmen

TWO or three producing bond salesmen contemplating a change about January 1st will find it to their advantage to communicate with us, as we expect to increase our Retail Sales Organization at that time.

Our list of offerings is comprehensive, including general market issues, as well as bonds of our own origination.

Applications will be considered only from men of good personality and unquestioned integrity.

Compensation—drawing account against liberal commissions.

Our salesmen have been advised of this advertisement.

Write in confidence, giving outline of experience, to L.B.A., Post Office Box 64, Trinity Station, N. Y.

What Everybody Knows Is Not News

WHEN a stock has suffered a severe decline and bad news is published, investors often read the next day that, "The news had been thoroughly discounted, and the stock rallied." This brings small comfort to those who still hold the security referred to, bought at higher prices.

Bad news usually makes its appearance long after trouble is indicated to the well informed. Coming events frequently cast their shadows, but they are only seen by experts constantly on the lookout.

The value of Moody's Supervisory Service is due to our extensive facilities for obtaining business and financial information and the wide experience of this organization in recognizing danger signals and anticipating their effect upon individual securities. Many of our clients have profited materially through this Service. It is used widely by individual investors, banks and other financial institutions. We invite your inquiry for more detailed information.

When the Problem is Unusual or Difficult

We have had twenty-three years of success in making business buildings pay better.

In that time we have accumulated a vast experience in the solving of those exceptional and difficult problems which sometimes confront individual owners, and specific buildings.

If you are having trouble in making your building pay, or in making it pay as you think it should, we believe we can help you. It is probable that we have met and overcome like problems before, not once but many times. Consultations cost nothing.

SALES MANAGER

An old established Midwest manufacturer of electrical specialty household appliances and electric ranges is desirous of securing the services of an experienced, high grade sales manager.

To a man who has a record of accomplishment, not necessarily in the electrical field, a splendid opportunity is afforded. Compensation will be in the form of a salary, plus bonus, for accomplishment, with the further possibility of a stock interest in the company.

CAPITAL WANTED

One-half interest in going, successful manufacturing business to an individual or syndicate. Thousands of dollars' worth of product sold and paid for. Thousands of dollars of product contracted for, with cash deposit for future deliveries. This is a big proposition and requires sufficient working capital to finance this growing business.

CURB MARKET'S LIST HAS UPWARD TREND

New High Points of Year Are Reached by Several Stocks—Sugar Shares Advance.

Stock prices closed strong after an active session in the curb market yesterday. Progressive movements in many standard securities served to impart a buoyant undertone to the general list at times, and although a few issues ran counter to the general trend, the tendency was very largely toward the constructive side of the account.

Victor Talking Machine stock which has been making a new high almost daily for the last two weeks, exhibited an extraordinary burst of strength yesterday when it ran up 10 points to 140, the best level of the year. Land Company of Florida was another issue to show exceptional vitality, advancing 11 points to 41. Central Aguirre Sugar and Fajardo Sugar were in the vanguard, each gaining several points and the former selling at a new top for 1926.

Johns Manville registered a net gain of nearly 15 points, selling at 173¼ on an exceptional active demand. Elsewhere gains were pretty general, although a noticeably weak issue was Servel of Delaware which dropped to a new low for the year, as also did the 6 per cent. bonds of the company, which sold at 60, compared with 77 on Monday. Public utilities did not play such an active part in the day's business, although in the main values ruled firm. There was a steady trade in oils at higher quotations. Humble Oil led the Standard Oil section, while Cities Service common, by making a new high for the year, featured the independent list.

Aside from weakness in the Servel 6s, bond prices followed a steady course and a broad list was covered in the operations.

W. K. Vanderbilt Quits Rail Board.

W. K. Vanderbilt has resigned as a director of the Chicago & North Western Railway and of its chief subsidiary, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, President Fred Sargent of the North Western announced yesterday. W. Seward Webb Jr. has been elected to succeed Mr. Vanderbilt on both boards. Mr. Sargent estimates that the North Western's surplus after fixed charges and dividend requirements in 1926 will be about $9,000,000.

India Buys American Cotton For First Time in Years

For the first time in years American cotton is competing in India with cotton grown in that country. Engagement of space in freight steamships for several thousand bales for export was announced yesterday.

The low price of American cotton resulting from the record crop here explains the movement. India is a large producer and consumer of cotton and manufactures its textiles at exceedingly low labor costs, and usually depends on the native-grown staple. However, so much low grade cotton was produced in the United States this year that the Indian mills are finding it cheaper to purchase supplies here and pay for transporting them half way around the world.

Exports of cotton to India this year have been so large as to warrant separate designation in export records. Shipments to Bombay this year have totaled 40,000 bales.

DEFENDS SHORT LINE PROFIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Short line railroads have so many years in which an operating deficit is incurred that it is inequitable to ask them to pay profits of a peak year in excess of "a fair return" to the Government, Bird M. Robinson, President of the Short Line Railroad Association, said today at a hearing before a Senate Interstate Commerce Sub-Committee.

Mr. Robinson testified in opposition to the Pittman bill, which would require short line roads to pya excess profits to the United States. He was the only witness.

RUTLAND PAYS $1 DIVIDEND.

Road Makes First Disbursement on Preferred in Eight Years.

The Rutland Railroad, an important link between the New York Central and the New Haven lines, has been enabled, by brisk Fall traffic, to pay its first dividend on the preferred in eight years. The dividend, declared yesterday, was $1. The last disbursement was $2, paid on Jan. 22, 1918. The stock is 7 per cent. cumulative. As of June 30, 1926, the accumulation amounted to 413 per cent. of which 112 per cent. has been paid, leaving 301 per cent. accumulated and unpaid. The present disbursement will bring this down to an even 300 per cent.

The outstanding stock amounts to $8,959,500, of which $2,352,050 is owned by the New York Central and $2,352,050 by the New Haven.

JERSEY ROAD BONDS SOLD.

Bids to Oversubscribe Issue Ten Times Received by State.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 14.—Enough bids to oversubscribe the issue ten times were forthcoming today when the State sold $3,000,000 worth of road bonds. Selling prices ranged from 102.73 to 103.375. Sales were made as follows:

First National Bank, Trenton, $500,000 at 102.92; Capital City Trust Company, $50,000 at 102.78, $50,000 at 102.93, and $25,000 at 103.01; First National Bank, Princeton, $600,000 in blocks of $100,000 each, at figures ascending from 102.73 to 103.005; Burlington County Trust Company, $100,000 at 103.375; Trust Company of New Jersey, Jersey City, $175,000 at 102.65, $500,000 at 102.75, and $500,000 at 102.85; Peoples Trust Company of Passaic, $500,000 at 102.73.

Abandoned Oil Wells Recovered.

The first use of gas for flowing oil wells in Mexico has been made by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, oil men said yesterday. The practice has been to abandon wells in the Panuco heavy oil district of Mexico as soon as they ceased to flow, as no pumping equipment could be found to handle the heavy oil advantageously. By decreasing the diameter of the wells, through installation of smaller size tubing, the remaining gas pressure was able to lift the smaller column of oil and several wells have been restored as flowing producers.

Strength in Oats Is Factor in Bringing About a Decline in the Grain.

EXPORT DEMAND SLOW

Oats Reach a New High—Rye Falls in Sympathy With Wheat.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Wheat reversed the action of the previous day and closed with a heavy undertone, with net losses of ¼ to ⅜ cent, the later strength in oats and short covering being factors in making a fair rally from the inside figure. December acted a little tight and at one time sold within ⅛ cent of the May, against ⅜ cent at the close on Monday. The close was ⅛ cent under, with a light trade.

A local professional was credited with selling May on all the minor upturns, which assisted in holding values within relatively narrow limits, although at the inside May was off 1⅛ to $1.37⅝, equaling the low of the previous day. Winnipeg was weak and ⅝ to 1 cent lower, with all deliveries at a new low on the crop, while Buenos Aires also was in new ground, with a loss of ½ to 1 cent for the day. Liverpool failed to reflect the action of the North American markets on Monday and lost ½ to ⅝ pence, with pressure of new-crop Argentine grain a factor. Export demand again was slow, with sales of 400,000 to 500,000 bushels, largely durum reported at the seaboard. Premiums on durums at West St. John were quoted at 2 cents higher, at 15 cents over Chicago December.

WHEAT FUTURES OFF HERE.

Wheat futures on the New York Produce Exchange sold off 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents in the early trading yesterday. Good Argentine weather, small foreign absorption and weakness at Chicago were influences. Commission houses and professionals pressed the decline, but there was overselling, and the market closed ¼ to ⅜ cent net lower. Winnipeg was relatively weak, bringing some pressure on bonded wheat at New York, and it was figured that No. 1 Manitobas were about 4 cents cheaper than Gulf hard Winters for export. Relative strength in December at Chicago again acted to check declining tendencies, but the news as a whole was interpreted as unfavorable to rallies.

LIVE STOCK AT CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Hogs were anywhere from 15 to 30 cents lower in the early trading, but demand improved on the decline and a rally of 10 cents from the low point followed, with the close about the best figures of the day. The top was lowered 25 cents to $11.35, a new low for the year, while the average price was only 15 cents under the top at $11.20, equaling the inside figure so far this year, and 55 cents under that of a week ago. Bulk of the desirable weights sold at $11.25 to $11.35, with packing sows at $10.10 to $10.60. Packers bought 29,400 and shippers, 12,000, with 20,000 left over. Receipts, 46,000, with 14,000 expected tomorrow.

Fat lambs sold at former prices with a top of $13.35, and bulk of sales at $12.75 to $13. Sheep, firmer with sales, largely at $5 to $6.50. Receipts, 23,000.

Cattle were in better demand and prices firm, to 25 cents higher, with choice yearlings showing the most strength, with sales up to $14.35, while heavy steers topped at $11.40. Bulk of yearlings sold at $10.50 and $12.50, with bulk of beef steers at $9.50 to $11.50. Receipts, 14,000.

RUBBER FUTURES DECLINE.

Advances of Previous Day Are Offset in Local Market.

Trading in crude rubber futures on the Rubber Exchange of New York yesterday slowed down moderately from the pace at which it traveled on Monday when good size gains were marked against virtually all options. Prices were down 10 to 30 points from the previous close, with the turnover aggregating 178 contracts, all new.

The market started well enough, advances of 10 to 30 points being made in the preliminary trading, but these advantages were soon canceled as profit taking proceeded. July and December led the down swing with declines of 30 points each. February and June dipped 20 points, while March and May reacted 10 points.

NO NEW FORD MODEL IN 1927

Formal Notice Sent to All Agents of Motor Company.

Dealers representing the Ford Motor Company in the Detroit district have been notified that rumors of plans to bring out new Ford models are erroneous. The following letter has been sent out:

"To all dealers and salesmen: In case you or your salesmen feel hesitant about forcibly denying all rumors of a new car caused by unauthorized and unfounded newspaper, magazine and trade paper articles, as well as through any kind of propaganda, we call your attention to the emphatic statement recently made by Edsel Ford, as follows:

"'There will be no new models and no new Ford car is going to be introduced, nor are we planning on any six-cylinder car.'"

Roxana Oil Depot for Toledo.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 14 (AP).—Immediate construction of a $2,000,000 oil depot here has been announced by the Roxana Petroleum Corporation, a branch of the Royal Shell group. The depot will comprise fifteen acres of land, tanks for 3,000,000 gallons of oil and docks for tankers. Frank L. Sullivan, district manager, said today that the company hoped to complete the depot by May, the date set for opening of its $30,000 refinery at East Chicago, Ind.

William A. White & Sons have arranged for the Flare Realty Corporation, Samuel Flash, President, a first mortgage loan of $300,000 on their property at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Eighty-ninth Street. This is a plot fronting 100 feet on the street and 100 feet on the avenue and is improved with three five-story and basement apartment buildings.

THE MARKET IN BROOKLYN.

Three-Story Apartment Sold on Remsen Street.

In the Brooklyn Heights section the Martin Real Estate Company, as brokers, sold for Dr. Manning C. Field to the Fore Realty Realty Corporation the three-story and basement brick apartment house at 98 Remsen Street, southwest corner of Henry Street.

The Frank M. McCurdy Company, Inc., sold a twenty-foot lot on the north side of Avenue O, 60 feet east of East Fifty-sixth Street, for a client.

A. and P. Tea Company Sells Its Plant in Jersey City

The Harrison S. Colburn Company has just closed one of the largest industrial transactions of the year in the sale of the property owned by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company located in Jersey City, close to the Hudson River, bounded by Henderson, Bay, Provost and First Streets, consisting of a group of nine-story reinforced concrete constructed buildings and a steel garage, with a total floor area of 382,000 square feet.

The property is also close to the Grove and Henderson Street station of the Hudson & Manhattan tubes and adjacent to the Pennsylvania Railroad property, from which road two spurs serve the building.

These buildings were erected just prior to the war by the Turner Construction Company. The A. & P. Company used these buildings as their executive offices as well as for distribution and warehousing in connection with their 14,000 retail stores located throughout the country.

The name of the purchaser has not been announced nor has the price at which the transaction was closed, but the property was held at approximately $1,250,000.

SEALS PINAUD CORNERSTONE

Georges Klotz, President, Officiates at Ceremony at the New Building.

The cornerstone of the new building for Ed. Pinaud at 220 East Twenty-first Street was sealed and bricked in yesterday by Georges Klotz, the President of the concern, who made a special trip from Europe for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, which was attended by the heads of the firm and about one hundred guests, there was a luncheon at the Hotel Brevoort.

The seven-story structure of steel and concrete faced with tapestry brick and terra cotta, which is almost ready for occupancy, was especially designed for the firm's laboratories and general offices and represents the full development of special study in the handling of their products.

The American concern was founded in 1878 and is still managed by a family that has in unbroken line maintained the Ed. Pinaud factories since 1786.

The building was begun in 1926 from plans by Buchman & Kahn.

Buy Grove Street Flats.

Sol Freidus and Sidney A. Harris have purchased through Thayer, Saunders & Co. and James Kyle & Sons, 33, 35 and 37 Grove Street, three five-story tenements on plot 84x100. The property has been in possession of one ownership for a great many years.

MEANEY ESTATE A SELLER

Heirs Dispose of 26th Street Plot Held for 60 Years—Wilks Estate Deal.

The Talvis Realty Company, which announced yesterday the purchase of two key properties on Tenth and Eleventh Avenues, has just purchased two additional properties in this section of Manhattan.

It has acquired 463 West Forty-ninth Street from Joseph Berkowitz and Louis Schneider. This is a four-story tenement house, on a lot 18 by 80 feet, 80 feet east of the northeast corner of Tenth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street.

The Talvis Realty Company also purchased 856 Tenth Avenue from Anna Wagner. This property is a four-story tenement building on a lot 20 by 61 feet. It is 40 feet north of the northeast corner of Tenth Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street. Leonard S. Gans Company, Inc., was the broker who negotiated the sale of both the properties to the Talvis Realty Company.

In a deal involving a property that has been held in one ownership for sixty years the American Exchange-Pacific National Bank, as trustees of the Meaney estate, sold to Joseph M. Y. Spead, 444 West Twenty-sixth Street, a four-story front and two-story rear building, on a site 25 by 98 feet. Brown, Wheelock; Harris, Vought & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

The Matthew A. Wilks estate, represented by De Witt, Lockman & De Witt, has sold the two-story garage at 219 West Fifty-eighth Street, on a lot 22 by 60 feet, between Seventh Avenue and Broadway. The property adjoins, both to the east and the west, holdings of the Appleby family, who also control the abutting property in West Fifty-ninth Street.

The Fairanjust Realty Company has acquired from Dora Modell the two five-story flats at 410 and 412 Central Park West, on a plot 75 by 100, at the south corner of 101st Street.

The Improved Tenement Corporation purchased from Louis Dreyfuss, as executor of Charles Dreyfuss, the five-story tenement at 513 East Seventy-fifth Street, on a lot 25 by 103 feet.

The 17 West Sixty-seventh Street Corporation, headed by Jasper A. Campbell, which owns 17 and 19 West Sixty-Seventh Street, has purchased from the estate of Thomas Leonard the realty at 21, and now controls a plot 75 by 100.5 feet, between two fourteen-story studio buildings.

TRADING IN THE BRONX.

Operators Purchase Six-Story Elevator Apartment on Morris Avenue.

Marks Nelson and Isaac Schneider, operators, have purchased the six-story elevator apartment house, on a plot 108 by 100 feet, at 2,065 Morris Avenue. The property was sold for the Preferred Building Corporation through Jacob Cooperstein, as broker.

Max N. Natanson, operator, has purchased from the Mojay Realty Corporation, Jacob Feder, President, the plot of five lots at the southeast corner of Gleason and Cross Avenues, having a frontage on Gleason Avenue of 100 feet and on Cross Avenue of 125 feet. The broker was Jacob & Emil Leitner, Inc.

James Montgomery & Son sold for Sunday Rauminello to a client the one-story garage building, 125 by 100 feet, on the southwest corner of Alexander Avenue and 133d Street.

Joseph A. Rauschkolb sold for the Flogus Realty Corporation 741-743 Hunts Point Avenue, size 125 by 100 feet, a five-and-one-half-story store and apartment building. The purchaser is the Bonchester Realty Corporation, operators. There are negotiations pending for the resale of this property.

House Sold on East 45th Street.

Maurice Wertheim sold for the 123 Locust Hill Avenue Company, Inc., the three-story dwelling at 135 East Forty-fifth Street, on lot 20 by 100.5 feet, located 100 feet east of Lexington Avenue.

BUILDERS TAKE TITLE TO LARCHMONT TRACT

Syndicate to Start $2,000,000 Garden Apartments on Boston Post Road.

A syndicate of operators headed by S. I. Adelson under the name of the Alden House, Inc., has purchased a large plot in Larchmont for development with two six-story garden type apartments, a 100-car garage, twelve stores, and a 1,500-seat motion picture theatre, to cost $2,000,000.

The plot comprises a tract of about three acres overlooking Long Island Sound. It has frontages on the Boston Post Road, Alden Road and Copley Avenue, in the Larchmont Knolls section. The property was sold for Harry Rich Mooney through Charles Winkel and the Business Exchange, as brokers.

Title to the site has already been passed, and construction work on the buildings will be commenced immediately. Plans for the buildings were drawn by George Keister, architect. The development will be known as the Copley-Alden Apartments, and the houses will contain a total of more than 500 rooms. The stores, garages and theatre will be erected on the Boston Road frontage. The roofs of these buildings form a part of the garden and tennis courts of the apartments. The buildings will be of Renaissance style and will contain every modern improvement.

A loan on a unit of these buildings, known as the Alden, for $450,000 has also been arranged through S. H. Finkle and F. S. Stoepel & Co. It consists of a guaranteed bond issue mortgage underwritten by the Empire Bond and Mortgage Corporation. The principal and interest of this mortgage were guaranteed by the Maryland Casualty Company, which has also guaranteed the completion of this building by the ownership corporation.

Monastery Site Is Resold.

John Caulway sold for St. Michael's Monastery of Hoboken, N. J., a plot 200 by 180 feet by irregular, on the east side of Claflin Avenue, 100 feet south of Reservoir Avenue. This property was purchased years ago with the intention of erecting a large monastery, but due to the rapid growth of this section, it was not considered a suitable site. The purchasers, the 2,800 University Avenue Corporation, will erect a six-story elevator apartment, which will house 200 families. The estimated cost of this operation is $2,000,000.

Saving Hours by Saving Seconds

SECONDS—minutes—hours....saved and multiplied by the number of trips, the number of employees and customers....mean precious advantage in this competitive world. The Transportation Building, at City Hall, is within a block or two—a matter of seconds—from East Side, West Side and B.M.T. subway express stations, four elevated lines and the Brooklyn Bridge. Hudson Tubes, Holland Tunnels, ferries, Wall Street, and the whole financial district are at hand. And the building itself is planned for efficient work. Daylight reaches every square foot from windows on all sides. Signal-controlled elevators provide fast, safe service. The set-backs, formed as its forty-four stories pyramid upward, give five different floor sizes. An immediate choice of small offices or large space is recommended.

MEN—SALESMEN.
TO MEN.
SALESMEN, OR THOSE WHO WISH TO BECOME CONNECTED WITH THE MOST SUCCESSFUL ORGANIZATION OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD.
I HAVE 25 POSITIONS AS BRANCH MANAGERS OPEN. This is an exceptional opportunity for men who have earned from $5,000 to $25,000 yearly.
Men who have sold real estate, typewriters, adding machines, insurance, &c., will find this the greatest oportunity offered in many years in or around New York.
Our men have been taken from all walks of life and are without doubt the most highly paid organization in the country today.
Men need not be experienced as salesmen, but they must be willing and anxious to do some real work for real money. The openings offered are permanent, and as we are in our infancy there is no limit to the earning power of men willing to pay the price of success.
We send you into the field with men who actually make sales for you and are experts in this business. We are manufacturers of electrical equipment with highest rating in Dun and Bradstreet's.
OUR VICE PRESIDENT
will meet applicants 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. ROOM 509, 1,150 BROADWAY, AT 27TH.
Men unable to call because of present connections will be given special appointments by mailing particulars concerning themselves to above address.

THE MAHLSTEDT-STEEN COMPANIES OF 52 VANDERBILT AV., NEW YORK CITY, WELCOME EXPERIENCED SALESMEN, AS WELL AS THOSE WHO DESIRE TO WORK PART TIME, TO CONSIDER THE ADVANTAGES OF SERLING OWNERSHIP INTERESTS IN HIGH-GRADE APARTMENTS.

TWICE A DAY WE EXPLAIN THE ADVANTAGES OF OUR BUSINESS—11 A. M. AND 2:30 P. M.

SUCH MEN AS ARE SELECTED MUST PROVE THEIR ABILITY. THIS DONE, FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE WILL BE GIVEN. THE BASIS FOR REMUNERATION IS AN EXCEPTIONALLY LIBERAL COMMISSION ARRANGEMENT.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—The disturbance that was near Hudson Bay Tuesday morning has advanced northeastward beyond the fields of observation, with a trough extending southeastward through the Gulf of Saint Lawrence (Harrington 29.42 inches); thence southward over the ocean and thence southwestward to the Southern Carolina coast, where a centre of slight intensity is located. Pressure is relatively lower in extreme Western Texas and is falling on the extreme North Pacific Coast. A marked area of high pressure covers the Plateau and Rocky Mountain region and the Plains States, with an extension eastward from the latter to New York.

The outlook is for rains in the East Gulf States and snows in the Ohio Valley Wednesday and Wednesday night; for snows and rains Wednesday night and Thursday in the lower lake region, the Middle Atlantic States and New England, and for rains Wednesday and Thursday in the South Atlantic States. Elsewhere the weather will be partly overcast Wednesday and Thursday in States east of the Mississippi River.

It will be colder on Thursday along the Atlantic Coast. Elsewhere the changes will be unimportant.

COUNTRY-WIDE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

In the following record of observations at United States Weather Bureau stations yesterday, the temperatures given are the highest during the twelve hours from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., and the lowest during the preceding twelve hours from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M.; the barometer reading and condition of weather are those recorded at 8 P. M., and the rainfall is for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 P. M.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE

From New York — Feb. 12

Reserve Today

Canadian Pacific has just a few accommodations left on the Empress of France (18,350 gross tons). You can reserve yours, if you act today! Sail away to the blue waters of the Mediterranean — of the Adriatic, of Marmora. Visit ports that saw the Silver Eagles of Caesar; temples raised to pagan gods. Imagine the flutter of vermillion sails — when Levantine merchants met in Venetian taverns! Sail from New York, Feb. 12 with Canadian Pacific — one management ship and shore.

Literature from E.T. Stebbing, General Agent, 344 Madison Avenue, New York, or your local agent. Personal service, if desired.

Saving Hours by Saving Seconds

SECONDS—minutes—hours....saved and multiplied by the number of trips, the number of employees and customers....mean precious advantage in this competitive world. The Transportation Building, at City Hall, is within a block or two—a matter of seconds—from East Side, West Side and B.M.T. subway express stations, four elevated lines and the Brooklyn Bridge. Hudson Tubes, Holland Tunnels, ferries, Wall Street, and the whole financial district are at hand. And the building itself is planned for efficient work. Daylight reaches every square foot from windows on all sides. Signal-controlled elevators provide fast, safe service. The set-backs, formed as its forty-four stories pyramid upward, give five different floor sizes. An immediate choice of small offices or large space is recommended.

AMERICAN BISHOPS DENOUNCE MEXICO AS FOE OF FREEDOM

...inal Hayes Issues Pastoral Branding Strife as "Shock to Civilized World."

...S PUBLIC TO BE JUDGE

...r Says Situation Should Be Viewed in Light of American Standards.

CALLES'S CHARGES DENIED

...ty of Hierarchy Declares His Rule Seeks to Impose Political Slavery on the Church.

...Cardinal Hayes made public a pastoral ...letter of the Catholic bishops of the United States at St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday, denouncing the persecution of Catholics in Mexico as "a shocking example of wrong to the whole civilized world." The letter recites grievances of the Catholic Church against the Mexican Government, and asks that the issue be judged in the light of American traditions of religious liberty. It denies all the charges of antireligious exploitation of the poor in Mexico, and of interference in politics. Explaining that it is not an appeal to armed intervention by the United States or action of any sort, the letter says the Church will depend upon prayer alone to remedy conditions in Mexico.

The letter was written by a committee of bishops appointed at the annual meeting of the Catholic bishops of the United States in Washington last September. The committee was appointed after Catholic laymen from Mexico had appealed to the bishops for help. Cardinal Hayes heads the committee, the other members of which are Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis and Dowling of St. Paul, and Bishops Schrembs of Cleveland and Kelly of Oklahoma.

All Bishops Gave Approval.

Cardinal Hayes personally handed ...copies of the letter to newspaper representatives, explaining that he wished to emphasize the importance in which the document was held by the Church. The letter was approved by all the Catholic Bishops of the country before it was distributed last week in 20,000 copies. Catholic organizations are arranging for the printing and distribution of 1,000,000 copies.

Cardinal Hayes in giving out the pastoral letter said it was in a sense a reply to statements issued by President Calles of Mexico, attacking the Catholic Church, which were published shortly before the Washington meeting.

"We feel," said the Cardinal, "that statements as President Calles entered the American forum in an attempt to justify the position of his Government, should be judged by American standards. The issue treated by the pastoral letter involves principles fundamental the world over for all time. It is a question of simple justice which is present not only to the Catholics of Mexico, but also to the entire American public. The talk of union of Church and State in Mexico is ridiculous. For fully fifty years now Church and State have been separated in that land."

The Cardinal said that William D. Guthrie had been consulted in the preparation of the letter.

The introduction asserts that the religious strife in Mexico is part of a long fight against religion which began a century ago. It declares that the Mexican Government is trying to impose the tyranny of political control upon the Catholic Church.

Charging the Mexican Government with conducting an organized propaganda in this country, the letter says that this amounts to presenting the case for judgment before the bar of American public opinion.

"The Government of Mexico cannot, however, object, under the circumstances," it adds, "if the case it has thus presented for judgment be compared in the light of American principles, as embodied in our fundamental laws and in the light of Christian principles, since it appeals to the sympathy of Christians; nor, since it claims great zeal for the advancement of education, if the statements it has presented in support of its pleading be submitted to the test of history."

Compares Our Laws to Mexico's.

"The Government of Mexico," it says, "bases its case upon repeated assurances that it is merely enforcing the Constitution and fundamental laws of the Mexican nation. It will not be out of place, then, to compare this Constitution and these laws with our own, at least in so far as they affect the rights of conscience.

"The difference between the conception of civil and religious freedom upheld by the American Constitution and that of the makers and defenders of the present Constitution of Mexico will be best understood by contrasting the two instruments. This will show that only by slurring over or concealing the actual facts of the case can the Mexican Government hope to secure the sympathy of thoughtful and unbiassed Americans, whose ideas of civic justice and right are radically different from those expressed in Mexican law. The contrast will prove this without argument. Certainly there is no basis for argument, unless it be in an attempt, not to reconcile our policies with those of the Mexican Government, but to prove that ours are wrong. In fact, what the Government of Mexico actually asks us to do, in begging our sympathy and approval, is nothing less than to condemn the work of the fathers of this Republic, register dis-

Stockings in Flashy Hues, No Two Alike, for Paris Women

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Co.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Next Spring may see Parisiennes displaying their shapely limbs stockinged in startling silken hues, one leg red and the other blue, or one leg yellow and the other green, and so forth, according to the Paris Midi, which says that women are growing tired of the flesh-colored silks worn today.

Fashion designers, already busy searching for new and original ideas, found inspiration in medieval page boys, whose legs were habitually garbed in vari-colored hose. The picturesque, if somewhat carnivalesque, effect will be enhanced by harmonizing the color of the sleeves with the stockings.

A mauve left stocking, for example, would be worn with a mauve left sleeve, while a black right would also correspond. The silhouette would thus change the color scheme, according to the side from which it happened to be viewed.

SAY FRANCE GUARDS BORDER FOR PEACE

French Regard Mobilization on Italian Frontier as Only Passive and Precautionary.

MUTUAL DANGER AVERTED

Fascist Zealots Are Declared to Have Been Restrained From Embarrassing Mussolini.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—It is being emphasized in Paris that the military and naval measures recently taken by the French in the Fifteenth District, which happens to include Nice and therefore is next the Italian border, are nowise other than passive in character.

It is stressed that the centring of a considerable portion of French naval forces at Toulon and the sending of extra troops into the region, as for example the shifting of two regiments of Chasseurs Ripins from the Rhineland to Antibes, represent only precautionary measures. It is also said that it is entirely natural for the French forts on the Italian border to be kept up to date, as is done with the French forts on other borders.

In fact, it is said in the French capital, taking it for granted, of course, that Premier Mussolini has no aggressive intentions with respect to any point of French territory, that the precautions taken by the French now amount to protection for the Italian Government and a guarantee of peaceful relations between the two countries, which guarantee, it is figured here, should be as welcome in Rome as in Paris.

For it is pointed out that the precautions the French have taken make it henceforth impossible for any bands of overzealous overnationalistic Fascisti to cause the Italian Dictator embarrassment by a successful attempt on their part to install themselves in Nice or Mentone.

It is quite evident that no body of Italians could go from Ventimiglia to Nice under the military conditions which now exist in that corner of French territory, and thus it is contended that the mutual danger of an ill-timed Fascist coup has been removed.

Without interference from the Government, the Liberté says, this afternoon:

"It is no longer a mystery for any one. Necessary measures have been taken to protect Nice and Corsica from a coup modeled after that of Garabaldi."

Soon after the Garibaldi affair was ventilated a month ago with Fascisti demonstrations in the littoral towns of the French Department of Alpes Maritimes, followed by the pursuit into France by the Italian police of alleged criminals, some of whom were supposed to have political affiliations, the papers of this department, which is situated in the southeastern extremity of France, reported the arrival at frontier garrisons of numerous military detachments consisting of infantry, cavalry and tanks.

$9 ROOMS CALLED POSSIBLE

But Heckscher $5-Room Plan Is Impracticable, State Body Holds, Giving Survey Data.

PHILANTHROPIST HITS VIEW

Asserts Private Aid Is Always Timid —Several Financial Offers Are Made to Back New Project.

With Governor Smith urging the cooperation of wealthy men in the carrying out of a great model housing scheme, the plan of the State Housing Board created by the last Legislature was launched at a dinner at the Hotel Biltmore last night, the board, in a preliminary report, announcing that the plan as provided for in the law is quite feasible, and the building of new tenements to rent for from $9 to $12.50 per room per month entirely practical.

Following the reading of the preliminary report of the board by Darwin R. James, Chairman, Governor Smith made his appeal, promised State cooperation and announced that Mayor Walker had agreed that the proposed new tenements should be tax exempt. Immediately Alexander Bing, for the City Housing Corporation, offered to build in accordance with the board's plan, putting up $100,000 as an initial investment.

Others Offer to Buy Stock.

This was followed by an announcement from Aaron Nauenberg, banker, that he would subscribe $100,000 to the stock of the corporation Mr. Bing proposed to form or to any other similar corporation which should operate under the new State Housing law, and he supplemented this offer with one of $200,000 to be invested on condition that four others made similar investments.

Under the law and the plan proposed by the board one-third of the cost of each housing undertaking must be raised by the issuance of stock of the corporation, the other two-thirds by first mortgage, with interest at 5 per cent. Speaking for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Walter Stabler, controller of the company, said the Metropolitan would invest its funds in mortgages at 5 per cent., though that figure was two-thirds of one per cent. below the figure at which the company usually lent money.

The Housing Board in its report had said it was quite impossible to build, without an endowment, tenements in Manhattan to rent at $5 a room per month, as had been suggested in connection with the $50,000,000 proposal made by August Heckscher some weeks ago. Mr. Heckscher was present last night and, to a degree, opposed the board's plan, asserting that private capital would not participate. He asserted:

"This able and painstaking report again forces the conclusion that here is a piece of work which private enterprise cannot undertake and which the State and city must. We had hoped that our enormously wealthy citizens, of whom there are so many, would, from a financial angle, rise to the task. But they will not, and we cannot wait."

Call Private Investors Timid.

Mr. Heckscher said private enterprise would always be dilatory, timid and looking for an inordinate profit. The State and city, he went on, could finance the undertaking with guaranteed securities and he specified 4 per cent. corporate stock, adding that if the State guaranteed the security it could be disposed of on a 3½ per cent. basis.

Following the statement of Mr. Bing, Mr. Heckscher's comments were received in silence. The Governor, who had already spoken once, moved that

Walker to Play Santa to 10,000 City Workers By Distributing $2,625,000 in Pay Increases

Mayor Walker is preparing to play Santa Claus to about 10,000 city employes who are likely to find tucked away in their collective stocking their apportioned share of a Yuletide salary increase amounting in all to $2,625,000 a year.

That is what the City Administration intends, provided Budget Director Charles L. Kohler completes the task of apportionment before the chimes herald the dawn of Christmas morn.

Generally speaking, this is the basis on which it is proposed to divide the honorarium:

$1,000,000 for the so-called "white collar brigade" that has been overlooked in salary increases of recent years.

$1,500,000 to bring unionized workers in the municipal employ up to the prevailing rate of wage standards.

$125,000 to per diem employes.

Mayor Walker's order to Director Kohler was:

"Take care of the clerks, stenographers and the lowly paid first. They belong to the sadly neglected class and we must look after them."

The money was set aside in the 1927 budget at the instance of the Mayor and, after many weeks of work Director Kohler is near the end of his task. If there is a delay in the apportionment extending beyond the first of the year the beneficiaries of the municipal legacy will not suffer, because the increases will be made retroactive as of Jan. 1.

Among the first group that will be benefited in the pay increase are the bridge tenders of the Department of Plant and Structures, who are engaged on municipal ferries. They number 200 and their pay has been the same for a number of years.

What is delaying the apportionment of the Christmas present is consideration of the claims of the labor union leaders as to what constitutes the "prevailing rate of wage" in the metropolitan district. The minimum wage of the day worker will be fixed at $5.50. In apportioning the $125,000 allotted for that purpose there was a balance of $85,000, which will be distributed among the faithful.

The Budget Director's report will be acted upon by the Board of Estimate.

PREDICTS VISION ACROSS THE OCEAN

Dr. Alexanderson Tells in St. Louis Address of Progress to Date in Television.

MORE SPEED THE ONE NEED

New Projector Described Which Paints, as It Were, by Light Flashes From Mirrors.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15.—Predicting that the day would come when moving pictures would be transmitted across the Atlantic and a person in New York could see another moving before a screen in London, Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company and the Radio Corporation of America, described tonight to the members of the St. Louis section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers his experiments with television.

The television apparatus with which he has gone so far as to enable him to make his astonishing prophecy is in his laboratories at Schenectady.

"How long it will take to attain this end I do not venture to say," declared Dr. Alexanderson. "However, our work has already proven that the expectation of television is not unreasonable and that it may be accomplished with means that are in our possession today."

The scientist outlined the development of radio photography to its present stage. "A commercial radio picture service across the Atlantic is now in operation," he declared. It takes at present twenty minutes to send one of these pictures. The step from the sending of stationary pictures to the transmission of a moving picture is only a small one, he believes.

Predicts Quick Transmission.

"We are able to predict that it will be possible to transmit a good picture in a space of time equal to that required for moving picture operation," declared Dr. Alexanderson.

Thus the problem of transmitting a continual stream of such pictures, so that the result will be a moving image upon a screen, is only the adaptation of what the expert has already been able to do.

Dr. Alexanderson produced the model of a television projector which he has developed. It consists of seven light sources, converging on a revolving drum, which carries twenty-four mirrors. The light cluster is reflected on a screen. This spot of light serves in the nature of a brush to paint the moving picture upon the screen.

"When the drum revolves, the spot of light passes across the screen," said Dr. Alexanderson. "Then a mirror, which is set at a slightly different angle from the one that produced the first spot of light upon the screen, passes the light across the screen on a line adjacent to the path taken by the first spot."

Thus, with the drum revolving rapidly, the mirrors as they return to position paint a moving picture on the screen.

By the use of seven lights in multiple beams the speed of each beam is cut to one-seventh. So it is necessary to make only 48,000 independent impressions a second, as against 300,000 necessary for producing motion pictures. Dr. Alexanderson has already succeeded in transmitting a single photograph in two minutes, but television, it is stated, will require that the whole process be carried out in one-sixteenth of a second.

Speed of Light Spots.

The difficulty that has stood in the way, Dr. Alexanderson stated, was the necessity for greater speed of the light spots in passing across the screen. The root of that difficulty was that the television projector depended upon moving mechanical parts which it was exceedingly hard to move fast enough to produce the desired results.

Dr. Alexanderson discussed the technical difficulties in the path of the development of the television apparatus and gave his theories for the possible elimination of them.

According to his idea, a complete television system would require an independent control of the seven light spots. This would be provided in seven photoelectric cells located in a cluster at the transmitting machine and controlling a radio system with seven channels. A suggestion was made that the Hammond multiplex system might be used.

In presenting some of the results he has already obtained, Dr. Alexanderson told of using both the modulated and the interrupted signal. While under the former system any broadcasting station can transmit photographs for distances as great as music can be

SENATE STOPS FUND OF 'UNDER COVER' MEN

Follows House in Refusing to Permit $500,000 to Be Used for Secret Dry Agents.

DAWES RULES AGAINST IT

Upholds Point of Order by Reed of Missouri Without a Single Objection.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Wet forces in Congress won a victory this afternoon when the Senate, following the example of the House, rejected on a point of order the proposal of General Andrews to spend $500,000 to employ "under-cover" men in enforcing prohibition. By the action of the Senate and House no money can be advanced to unidentified "spies, sneaks and informers," as the enemies of the plan termed the "under-cover" men today. If dry agents are to work in the dark, their names must be on the payroll of the prohibition forces.

Last year the prohibition unit had a fund of $250,000 for the purchase of evidence from informers and this practice brought bitter criticism from the wets. General Andrews made a determined plea, however, for permission to use $500,000 of the new appropriation for the employment of his own "under-cover" men, stating that without it his work would be seriously crippled, and that carefully worked out plans to obtain evidence by which he expected to break up the financing of big bootleg rings, end smuggling operations and get at the source of supply would be frustrated.

Dawes Rules Against Andrews.

The request of General Andrews came to the Senate in connection with the Treasury Appropriation bill, as it did in the House.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, made the point of order that it constituted new legislation in an appropriation bill.

Vice President Dawes said Andrews's request was "clearly out of order" and his ruling was not even protested.

Rejection of the Andrews scheme does not reduce the total of the amount set aside for prohibition enforcement, but does prevent hiring the "under-cover" men, because it stops the use of a part of the appropriation for that purpose. Under the ruling today the Prohibition Director cannot advance funds to an unidentified agent and instruct him to go ahead and develop a case.

While General Andrews insisted that he wished the money chiefly to cope with smugglers and cited a number of instances where "under-cover" men were essential, wets in the Senate and House contended that the money would be used extensively in some case similar to that at a local hotel, where an "under-cover" man conducted a raid last year after spending lavishly for entertainment. The story of the secret agent's activities at the hotel caused intense indignation among many members of Congress.

REPUBLICANS WARN COL. SMITH TO STAY AWAY FROM SENATE

Watson Telephones Senator-elect Not to Take Appointment in McKinley's Place.

SAY HE WOULD BE BARRED

Regulars Believe He Will Have a Better Chance by Waiting for the Next Congress.

WANT ANOTHER MAN NAMED

Leaders Tell Governor Small So Smith Won't Comment on Developments.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—From the house of his Senatorial friends, or those disposed to be his friends, Col. Frank L. Smith, one of the storm centres of the agitation over huge expenditures in campaigns for the Senate, has been served notice that these very friends would vote to reject him instanter if he presented himself in the Senate chamber with a certificate of appointment by Governor Small of Illinois to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McKinley. Col. Smith was disposed to be defiant, but the warning he received stands.

This political episode, a sensational development of the proposed efforts to bar Mr. Smith and Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania from qualifying as Senators, was surrounded by elements of the dramatic. The warning went to Mr. Smith yesterday over the telephone to his home in Dwight, Ill. At the Washington end of the telephone wire was Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Chairman of the Republican caucus of the Senate and a regular of regulars.

Mr. Watson urged Mr. Smith not to accept any appointment as Senator from Governor Small, and when Mr. Smith, with a show of defiance, intimated that the appointment was his for the asking, and that he intended to accept it, Senator Watson did not mince words in saying that he and other Republican regulars, those from whom Mr. Smith could expect the most comfort if there was any comfort in the situation, had determined that if Mr. Smith presented his credentials of appointment they would vote to refuse him a seat and would be joined by Senators of the Democratic side of the chamber.

All of which is given on the authority of Senator Watson and was confirmed in substance by Mr. Smith in Dwight today.

Changes Entire Situation.

The decision of the Republican Old Guard made known to Mr. Smith has produced a material change in the complex situation growing out of the Vare and Smith cases. It means that if Mr. Smith seeks to enter the Senate under Governor Small's appointment as Senator McKinley's successor, and is rejected by the regular Republicans, assurance is given in advance that the Senate will refuse to seat Mr. Smith when he appears in the next Congress with credentials certifying that he was elected Senator for the six-year term, beginning March 4, 1927.

In advising Mr. Smith not to accept appointment as Mr. McKinley's successor, the Republican regulars sought to avoid bringing on at this time the hectic controversy over seating Senators-elect Vare and Smith. Involved in the matter is the practical question of taking any chance of compelling President Coolidge to call an extra session of the new Congress.

Involved also is the case of Senator Arthur R. Gould of Maine, who was seated on the opening day of the current session, Dec. 6, but an investigation was ordered to determine his moral fitness for a place in the Senate, in view of an opinion by a Canadian Judge that Mr. Gould had been implicated in a charge of bribery incident to railway legislation in the Province of New Brunswick.

These things the Senate regulars desire to avoid now. As a result of conferences among them, they decided that it would be unfortunate if the Vare-Smith contests were brought forward at the present session. Their conclusion was that the issues and principles involved could be better con-

London Now Telephones Here From Ordinary Store Booths

Experiments with the transatlantic wireless telephone have reached the stage where connections with London have been made from the ordinary telephone booth. On the last three Sundays, London engineers working on the wireless telephone have used store booths to talk to New York.

They have called the telephone central and been connected with the office doing the experimental work and from there have been looped into the wireless station and so across the ocean, where the messages have been taken from the air and put on a land wire for transmission to their destination. Only one speaker can talk at once in either direction.

The offices of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company denied yesterday that girls were being trained for this transatlantic work, as no special training is needed. The work of transmission across the ocean is done automatically by machines.

PLEA FOR CRUISERS MADE TO COOLIDGE

House Naval Committee Sends Chairman Butler to Urge Removal of Building Ban.

REASONS GIVEN IN LETTER

This Pictures Other Navies Outstripping Ours—President Standing by His Guns.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—President Coolidge was today informed by the House Naval Committee that the United States was rapidly falling behind as a naval power and that at the present rate of retrogression its establishment afloat would rank fourth—after those of Great Britain, Japan and France—by 1931.

The President was requested to send estimates to Congress forthwith, so that construction could be begun in the new fiscal year of three of the 10,000-ton light cruisers and one of the two rigid dirigibles authorized in 1924. In his budget message the President had said that estimates had been withheld for these cruisers because of pending negotiations looking to a conference for further limitation of armaments and that it was his belief that neither of the dirigibles should be built until after the conclusion of tests with all-metal airships about to be conducted by the navy.

The appeal of the House committee that the President reverse his position on the building program to the extent indicated was taken to the White House by its chairman, Representative Thomas S. Butler of Pennsylvania, a somewhat unusual course. It was in the form of a letter in which the committee emphasized that it considered the necessity for progressive construction of submarines, cruisers and aircraft so that the American Navy might maintain its proper place among naval powers. The letter was approved by twenty of the twenty-one members of the committee and is understood to have been indorsed in principle by leaders of the corresponding committee of the Senate.

Text of Letter Kept Secret.

In the conference that took place between President Coolidge and Chairman Butler, following formal presentation of the letter, Secretary Mellon was present and entered into the discussion. Upon leaving the White House, Mr. Butler said he could not becomingly comment on his conference further than to say that it was cordial. He said the text of the letter could not be made public except by authority of Mr. Coolidge. The White House announced that the letter paid special attention to the construction of cruisers, aircraft and submarines and that there would be no further disclosure of its contents.

Reports that gained circulation while Mr. Butler was at the White House that supplemental estimates for the cruisers and the two dirigibles would be forwarded to Congress at an early date were denied by persons close to the Budget Bureau. They indicated that the President had given mature thought to the budget item relating to the cruisers and dirigibles and that he would stand on the attitude assumed in his message.

The letter submitted to the President by Chairman Butler outlined why, in the opinion of the committee, there should be no halt in the building of auxiliary ships not covered by the Washington Arms Treaty. It stressed testimony given by Admirals Eberle, Long and Jones that the American Navy was not keeping pace with building by other nations. It included comparative tables designed to show that Great Britain and Japan, as well as France and Italy, had entered upon policies of expansion that would put Great Britain, Japan and France away ahead of the United States within five years.

Skeptical of Conference.

A statement that the budget did not make adequate provision for aircraft in conformity with the five-year program adopted by Congress a year ago

THRILLS IN FINAL PLEAS

A Packed Court Room Is Stirred by Eloquence of Rival Counsel.

FALL'S WIFE IS IN TEARS

Thompson Says New Mexico Is Proud of the Ex-Secretary for Lie About Loan.

'WAR PERIL' STORY SCORED

Pomerene Assails Robison and Asserts the Defense Desecrates Harding's Memory.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The fate of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and Edward L. Doheny, the California oil operator, on trial in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, charged with having entered into a conspiracy to defraud the Government in the matter of the Elk Hills naval reserve oil lease, is now in the keeping of the jury.

After deliberating seven hours and reaching no agreement, the twelve young men who are weighing the evidence were ordered locked up at 10 P. M. for the rest of the night. The Court ordered a recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The case was given to the jurors at 2:45 P. M., after ex-Senator Pomerene made the last summation address of the day, urging conviction, and Justice Hoehling had delivered his charge.

The final hours of the trial, he was the case Monday and yesterday, supplied many thrills for the crowd that jammed the court room to capacity, while another crowd almost as large stood in the corridors waiting the chance, which did not materialize, to squeeze in and listen to the bitterly worded pleas of opposing counsel.

The defense today brought three of its army of counsel to the front while the Government relied on Mr. Pomerene to close the case.

Fall's Wife and Daughter Weep.

Once during the argument of Mark Thompson of New Mexico, neighbor and lifelong friend of Mr. Fall, Mrs. Fall, seated in the audience, gave way to weeping while her daughter—who looks more the twin than the child of Mrs. Fall—likewise lost control of herself.

Mr. Thompson had referred to Mrs. Fall as the "daughter of the matrons of Sparta and Rome" and as a "mother of the West, who in the sunset of life had taken her place by the side of her husband and refused to believe he ever was or could be guilty of the great crime the Government alleges he committed."

Referring to the $100,000 loan, Mr. Thompson said of Fall, "Of course he lied," but the attorney declared that the ex-Secretary did it to shield Doheny and that all New Mexico was proud of him for having done so.

Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for Mr. Doheny, in his summation, which began yesterday, spoke not only for Mr. Doheny but for Mr. Fall, and he was proud of the opportunity, he said, to stand before a jury and add his word of commendation to the long public record of the man who was Harding's Secretary of the Interior.

Wilton J. Lambert, also of counsel for Mr. Fall, making the last plea for the defense, emphasized the approval given the oil lease transactions by President Harding. Drawing a picture of Fall as a New Mexico pioneer, a soldier in the Spanish War, Senator and Cabinet member, Mr. Lambert declared that Mr. Fall's whole career was one "any American might be proud of."

Pomerene Scores Defaphobia.

Mr. Pomerene denounced the Pearl Harbor and Elk Hills transactions as having been conceived and executed in secrecy.

"There were just two master minds involved in the whole proposition involving the tanks at Pearl Harbor and the leasing of Elk Hills," said Mr. Pomerene, "and these master minds were Fall, on the one hand, and Doheny on the other."

As for Admiral Robison, he was pictured by Mr. Pomerene as a man who "saw red" when everything else was white.

He ridiculed the Japanese war story Mr. Doheny says Admiral Robison told him and suggested that Robison was probably suffering from indigestion. Mr. Pomerene referred to Fall, Doheny and Robison with biting sarcasm as "the three patriots" who secretly, and without even giving Congress a hint of what was going on, banded themselves together to "save" the United States.

The story Admiral Robison unfolded to Mr. Doheny was one, remarked Mr. Pomerene, that would make even the Egyptian sphinx smile.

The defense's action in calling, as a "silent witness," the late President Harding was denounced by Mr. Pomerene as a desecration.

President Harding, in giving his approval to the oil lease, did not know, Mr. Pomerene declared, about the $100,000 transaction nor had he any way of knowing that subsequently "Mr. Doheny was going to boast that he expected to make $100,000,000 out of the Elk Hills lease."

"If Warren G. Harding appeared

E. T. Bedford Causes Dry Raid on His Estate; House Man's Six Stills Seized at His Behest

On the Greens Farms (Conn.) estate of Edward T. Bedford, President of the Corn Products Refining Company, and formerly a director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Federal prohibition agents and Connecticut State Police found and seized yesterday six stills, a complete whisky manufacturing plant and liquors valued at about $12,000. The outfit was discovered in the cottage and garage of William Erbe, who has been in Mr. Bedford's employ seventeen years and for fourteen years has been houseman on the Greens Farms estate.

The investigation, raid and arrest of Erbe were made at the request of Mr. Bedford, who, at his home at 181 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, said last night that he had been told last Sunday by an acquaintance at Greens Farms that the houseman was selling to liquor to wealthy residents of that section. Mr. Bedford, who is 77 years old, and, by his own admission, an ardent prohibitionist and "member of the Old Guard," said he got in touch at once with Prohibition Administrator Chester P. Mills.

Mr. Bedford also sent word to his houseman that he would give him just twenty-four hours to take himself and his belongings from the Greens Farms estate. The houseman was arraigned in Westport and released in $1,000 bail, furnished by John Brock, Superintendent of the entire estate for Mr. Bedford.

The Connecticut State Police said they had suspected Erbe for the last two years but had been unable to "get anything on him." Major Mills, on Monday, sent Captain William C. Luth, his aide, and Prohibition Agent Arthur A. Craig to Greens Farms, where Major Mills himself has a Summer home.

Captain Luth soon decided there was good reason to raid Erbe's cottage and garage. He and Craig found, they said, one of the most complete whisky making plants yet discovered in Connecticut. They seized also thirty barrels of elderberry and grape wine, one barrel of whisky, eight barrels of rye mash, three oil stoves, 500 quart and pint bottles and quantities of flavoring and coloring extracts. The plant and liquor made up four truckloads.

The raiders discovered a set of books kept by Erbe, which showed, they said, that his liquor profits had averaged $100 a week for a long time. His salary as houseman was only $100 a month.

Explaining how Erbe was able to manufacture whisky while he himself was spending the Summer at his Greens Farms estate, as he does each year, Mr. Bedford said the houseman's cottage and garage were at least half a mile from his own residence.

Erbe will have a hearing today in Westport Town Court.

Mary Spas Sues Browning for $500,000; Realtor, Denying Charges, Says He Will Fight

With the separation action of his young wife, Frances (Peaches) Hennan Browning, set for trial next month, Edward W. Browning, real estate operator, is the defendant in another suit brought by Mary Louise Spas, whom Browning once called his "Cinderella girl," it was learned last night.

Miss Spas, who was adopted by Browning last year and whose adoption was annulled when it developed that her age was not sixteen as had been believed, but twenty-one, has filed suit in Queens County for $500,000 against Browning, alleging among other things, that the real estate operator attempted to attack her and threatened to kill her and himself if she revealed anything of this to District Attorney Newcombe of Queens County, who conducted an inquiry into the adoption.

Jeremiah A. O'Leary, counsel for Miss Spas, who lives at 29 Wilson Avenue, Queens, said that papers were served on Mr. Browning at his Manhattan office last Saturday.

Abraham A. Sarasohn, attorney for Mr. Browning, said last night that the real estate operator characterized the suit in harsh terms and was determined to "fight it to the limit."

The charges in the suit, according to the complaint, grew out of circumstances surrounding the adoption of the young woman in the Summer of 1925. Miss Spas alleges that her original agreement with Browning called for her to act as a companion to his other adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine Browning.

Following the formal adoption, however, she asserts, she went to Browning's apartment at Kew Gardens Inn, in Queens and there he attempted to attack her. She alleges she was so terrorized that she drank part of a bottle of iodine.

It was after this, she declares, that Browning showed a pistol to her and threatened to kill her and himself if she revealed what had happened to the District Attorney. She also asserts that her liberty was restrained on several occasions, and that after the adoption had been canceled, Browning forced her to go to the Hotel Belleclaire and made her sign papers the nature of which she did not know.

RELIEF FOR FARMER DEMANDED IN HOUSE

Effect on Coolidge Third Term and Lowden's and Longworth's Chances Touched On.

NEW PLANS ARE OFFERED

Dickinson Warns Republicans They Will Go to Defeat in 1928 If Farm "Crisis" Is Ignored.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Debate on the agricultural appropriation bill today gave the House the first opportunity of the present session to discuss farm relief, and before it was concluded it covered references to a third term for President Coolidge and the effect of farm agitation on Presidential aspirations for 1928; and the threat was made that if the Republicans refused relief they would go down to defeat in the next elections.

Representative Connally, Democrat, of Texas, lugged in the third-term talk and mentioned Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Speaker Nicholas Longworth of Ohio as among those who were directing eager eyes toward the White House, while Representative Dickinson, Republican, of Iowa, sounded a note of warning that the Republicans would go on the rocks if the demand for legislative farm relief is again ignored. Mr. Dickinson served notice that corn-belt members would do everything possible to bring this question to a final decision at this session.

Commenting on the gossip that Mr. Coolidge will seek another Presidential nomination, Mr. Connally said the Republicans would find themselves "in a jam" if a Coolidge boom appeared in the 1928 convention.

"If they turn him down," he said, "it will mean repudiation of his prosperity 'bugaboo.' He deserves a third term. He has earned it by the way he has served big interests and by the manner in which he has held his ear to the Democrats of the Manufacturers' Association."

At this point Mr. Longworth, a red carnation in his lapel, entered the House. Mr. Connally paused as the Speaker took a seat, and then continued:

"I had been speaking about forty minutes on the subject of farm aid, but was not honored by the presence of the Speaker. The minute I talk of Presidential politics he hurries to the chamber and we find him occupying a front seat, following the discussion with a vivid interest."

The House farm bloc appears to be undecided as to the course it shall pursue this session. Representative Haugen, Republican, of Iowa, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee, co-author of the old McNary-Haugen bill, has not approved of the new McNary bill offered yesterday in the Senate.

He insists that any measure of farm relief should contain a proposition to make the domestic price equal to the foreign market figure plus the tariff. So far he has refused to introduce the McNary Bill. Representative Purnell, Republican, of Indiana, will be asked by the Farm Bureau Federation to sponsor it in case Mr. Haugen maintains his attitude.

Furthermore, here the farm bloc will be unable to present a united front. Representative Aswell, Democrat, of Louisiana, one of its members, announced today he was opposed to the cotton equalization fee provision of the McNary bill.

Meanwhile Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, introduced a bill in the Senate to authorize loans to the farmers up to $1,200,000,000, the money to be handled by intermediate credit banks. The loans would carry 4 per cent. interest and their total would be limited to 35 per cent. of the market value of a given crop.

TO SIGN CURFEW BILL TODAY

Mayor First Will Conduct Statutory Public Hearing.

Mayor Walker will sign today the 3 A. M. curfew bill compelling night clubs and cabarets to close not later than that hour except when special dispensations to the contrary may be issued by the Commissioner of Licenses. The law will be effective on the morning of Jan. 1.

Hotels with fifty or more rooms, conducting night clubs, as well as membership corporations owning their own premises, are exempted from the exactions of the curfew act.

The signature of the Mayor will be appended to the bill, thus making it a law, after he conducts a statutory public hearing at 3 o'clock this afternoon, which is likely to be a perfunctory occasion.

Hands Driver a Powder Puff, Bus Overturns, Five Are Hurt

SOUTH WESTVILLE, N. J., Dec. 15 (AP).—A woman's powder puff wrecked a big motor bus today and caused injuries to five passengers.

The accident occured when a passenger dropped the puff when alighting from a Public Service bus, en route from Mantua, N. J., to Camden. The vehicle started again as another passenger spied the puff, picked it up and handed it to A. R. Rubin of Fairview, N. J., the driver. Rubin extended his arm for the article and the heavy bus lurched from his control, swerved across the road and overturned into an embankment.

The injured were Mrs. Louis Dyson of Woodbury, her son, Miles Dyson, Joseph Taylor of Mantua, W. J. Wilson and his wife of Woodbury. They were taken to a hospital in Woodbury.

LLOYD GEORGE FUND LURES LIBERALS

Committee Adopts Report, 19 to 14, Advising Acceptance of Income From His £1,000,000.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15. — Ex-Premier Lloyd George, who has been angling for the leadership of the Liberal Party with his own "secret" campaign fund of a million pounds as bait, appears to have landed his fish.

By a close vote of 19 to 14 the Administrative Committee of the National Liberal Federation today adopted the report of a special committee which has been considering Mr. Lloyd George's offer to put the income from his fund at the disposal of the federation.

Conditions were at first attached by the ex-Premier to his offer, but he announced a few days ago that they had been removed. This fact, in connection possibly with the report that his million-pound fund has been almost doubled by judicious investment, carried the day.

The victory was won, however, only after very lively skirmishing. It is understood that J. A. Spender, prominent both as a Liberal and a journalist, refused to take the Chair, though he was Chairman of the committee. The Deputy Chairman also refused to preside and Earl Beauchamp finally took charge of the proceedings.

Vivian Phillippe, Chairman of the Liberal Party organization and organizer of the regular Liberal campaign fund, who has been Lloyd George's invetserate foe, intimated to the committee that he would refuse to resign his position, and the committee will now have to decide whether to dismiss him. If he persists in his attitude the committee will almost certainly be obliged to take this step, since his relations with Lloyd George have been too embittered for reconciliation.

"We believe," said an official statement issued by the committee after the meeting, "that it is essential to the welfare of the country and the complete cooperation of the united party that all Liberals forget past differences and make a fresh start, and we have explored all the avenues of which we can think to discover the means of accommodation for those differences.

"We, therefore, are very glad to be able to report that Lloyd George has made his offer of financial cooperation unconditional. Under these circumstances, and having regard not merely to the opinions of individuals, but to what we know to be the desire of Liberals in every part of the country, we unanimously and most strongly recommend the Administrative Committee to ask all members of the Organization Committee to place themselvesin its hands that it may be free to consider afresh the constitution of the Organization Committee so as to secure the confidence of all Liberals."

This is just what Vivian Phillippe has refused to do.

DINNER TO E. S. LUTHER.

Mayor Walker, George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, Sheriff Culkin and more than 100 other political figures of the city were guests last night at a dinner given in honor of Edward Staats Luther, former political writer and now President of the Industries Development Corporation and Chairman of the Board of the Roosff Subway Construction Company, who celebrated his fifty-second birthday.

The dinner was given by Samuel Roosff, President of the subway building firm, at the Biltmore. He also presented to Mr. Luther a platinum and diamond watch. One hundred and fifty persons attended the dinner. They included Controller Berry, Congressman-elect William W. Cohen, County Clerk Collins, Transportation Commissioner Delaney, General J. Leslie Kincaid, John H. McCooey and Police Commissioner McLaughlin.

DEMOCRATS DEMAND TAX REVISION NOW

Harrison Dares Republicans to Bring Any Kind of Measure to the Senate Floor.

URGES NON-PARTISAN BILL

Smoot Declares He Doubts the Wisdom of the Coolidge Rebate Proposal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Democratic Senators criticised the Administration sharply today for its advocacy of a rebate on taxes instead of a permanent tax reduction and assailed the Republican Ways and Means Committee members for their decision to allow no tax legislation of any kind at the present session.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi virtually challenged the Administration to bring any kind of a tax plan to the floor, intimating that the Democrats were strong enough to force a permanent reduction. Senators Swanson of Virginia, Copeland of New York, Walsh of Massachusetts and King of Utah joined in the attack, while Senators Smoot and Reed of Pennsylvania defended the Republican attitude.

Mr. Harrison predicted a Treasury surplus of $600,000,000 instead of the $383,000,000 estimate of President Coolidge, and he quoted the President's message to Congress, in which Mr. Coolidge deplored partisanship in framing tax laws.

The Senator declared that if the minority of either house filibustered against the Presidential plan of rebates the minority would be "guilty of partisan politics and condemned by the country."

Calls for Action Now.

"Then if both houses believed in and passed a law making a substantial reduction giving relief to the people, and the President vetoed the measure, he too would be guilty of partisan politics and condemned by the country," said Mr. Harrison.

"So if there ever was a time when men of every political faith should join to give relief to the people it is in this session. Therefore the words of the President bespeaking non-partisanship in considering this question should be considered by members of the Senate and House, and they should free themselves of partisan taint."

He had read with amusement, Senator Harrison said, of the French Government asking for 1,800,000 francs to carry on propaganda, with a footnote that a large part of it was to be used in this country, and in another section of the French budget there was an item of 6,000,000 francs to carry on propaganda somewhere.

"It is, of course, in this country," he asserted. "It is well financed here. There is some little sentiment growing for cancellation, but it is a small part of American sentiment."

Senator Harrison appealed to Republicans of the Senate and House to "put their heads together" to frame a tax relief measure and bring it up for consideration.

"The President and the Secretary of the Treasury have said that 'taxation not needed for government is only robbery and an injustice,'" said the Senator. "I shall not be a party to perpetuating that wrong upon the American people.

Urges "Some Kind of a Bill."

"I want to see the Administration get behind some kind of a bill. I am quite sure it would not meet my approval, but if a majority of Congress approves it I want to see it written into law, so that when we Democrats get the majority we can amend it and carry out our views."

The Harrison appeal was useless, Senator Swanson asserted, because the Republicans had decided six years ago to use permanent tax reduction purely for political purposes and now proposed to delay action until the Presidential year of 1928. Had the House and Senate gone Democratic in November, he added, the Republicans now would be begging for tax reduction, in the hope of sharing the prestige.

"It is folly to keep a great surplus in the Treasury to give a further excuse to those who wish to cancel the foreign debts," said Senator Swanson. "Nothing would be a greater stimulus to business than a fair, honest, nonpartisan tax reduction.

"I am astonished that the Republican Party should haul down the flag of tax reduction, expecting to take it up again in 1928."

Senator Smoot, replying to the Democratic Senators, declared he doubted the wisdom of President Coolidge's rebate plan and believed the surplus should be used to cut down the public debt. The rebate proposal, he said, "would mean saving of only 35 cents to the small taxpayer and would benefit only the large corporations and taxpayers with large incomes."

42-STORY BUILDING FOR WEST 42D ST.

West Forty-second Street, between Sixth Avenue and Broadway will be improved as soon as current leases expire with a forty-two-story office building costing, with the land, approximately $9,000,000, it was announced yesterday by William S. Sussman, Inc., in a statement of the sale of the McCreery Building at 110-114 West Forty-second Street to the Consol Realty Company.

The Consol Company, it was announced by William S. Sussman, who negotiated the deal, paid $3,000,000 to the James McCreery Realty Corporation for the six-story building, which is on a lot 75 by 200 feet, running through the block to 107-117 West Forty-first Street.

The purchase gave the Consol company an "L"-shaped plot of approximately 200,000 square feet at the southwest corner of Sixth Avenue and the proposed office building will overlook Bryant Park across the street. In March the Consol company purchased a leasehold on the McCreery lot, together with the fee to the property abutting on the east, and the deal yesterday gives it ownership of the entire fee in a single parcel.

Starrett & Van Vleck, architects, it was also announced, have already drawn plans for the proposed forty-two-story building. The current leases, it was said, will expire in a short time.

DENTAL STUDENT HELD IN STUDY CREDIT FRAUD

He Is Said to Have Sought to Obtain Records of Man of Same Name to Shorten His Course.

William J. Smith, a student at the Dental School of New York University, was charged by postal inspectors yesterday at a hearing before Federal Commissioner James H. McCabe in Brooklyn with having used the mails to defraud in an attempt to make the university authorities believe he was farther advanced than his records at the college indicated.

Smith, who is 23 years old and lives at 304 Floyd Street, Brooklyn, with his parents, wanted to become a dentist quickly, Postal Inspector William M. Pearson, who made the arrest on Tuesday, told the commissioner. A short while after he had entered the Dental School in September, it was charged, the youth procured a medical directory and ran through its pages until he came upon a name identical with his own. The Dr. William J. Smith listed had been graduated from Georgetown University.

Smith, the student, then wrote to Dean George M. Kober of Georgetown and asked for a certificate showing his successful completion of work in certain courses.

The real Dr. Smith, the graduate, was dead, however, Inspector Pearson said, and the Georgetown authorities were immediately suspicious and communicated with postal inspectors, with the result that the student was arrested.

Commissioner McCabe released him in $3,000 bail for hearing Dec. 29. The maximum sentence for the offense with which he is charged is five years' imprisonment.

ITALIAN RELIEF FUND RISES.

Judge Francis X. Mancuso, Chairman of the Italian Christmas Fund, announced yesterday that contributions of $1,514.61 had increased the total of the fund to $4,879.20. The contributions will be used to furnish needy families with food, clothing and other necessities.

The following letter to Judge Mancuso commending the work of the committee was received yesterday from Governor Smith:

Dec. 10, 1926.

Dear Judge:

I received your letter and cannot too highly commend the work of the Italian Christmas Basket Fund Committee. Anything which has to do with the contributing of pleasure to those less fortunate is true beneficence.

The formation by your committee of a permanent Federation of Italian Charities for the purpose of extending relief is one which should receive the support of all of our citizens.

I do extend to you and the other workers the very best of good wishes.

Sincerely yours,
ALFRED E. SMITH.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—For the benefit of those of the public who drink his ale and stout a Cheriton innkeeper has posted this notice in his bar:

"Two pints make one quart; four quarts make one gallon.

"One Magistrate, one policeman and the Black Maria make 20 shillings or fourteen days."

The innkeeper then adds these precepts:

ANSWERS KELLOGG ON POISON GAS

Parsons of American Chemical Society Insists Treaties Banning Them Are Dead.

SAYS WE IMPORT GASES

He Asserts America Would Suffer in Ratifying Geneva Protocol for Other Nations to Evade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The controversy between the American Chemical Society and Secretary Kellogg over the Geneva protocol for banning the use of poison gases in warfare was renewed today when Dr. Charles L. Parsons, Secretary of the society, addressed another letter to the head of the State Department reiterating charges previously made and declaring that the international treaty agreements forbidding Germany and her World War allies from making or using poison gases are a dead letter.

Dr. Parsons wrote in reply to a letter from Mr. Kellogg which answered the society's original letter of protest. The protocol has been referred by the Senate to its Foreign Relations Committee, with indications that it will not soon be reported again.

Germany is more powerful in poison gases today than she was at the outbreak of the war, Dr. Parsons said, adding that it is impossible to abolish gases because they are essential to modern civilization. He also reasserted that the report of the Committee on Poison Gas of the Washington Conference for Limitation of Armament was "suppressed."

Dr. Parsons wrote in part:

"It is so generally recognized that some of these gases, such as chlorine, phosgene, &c., are so essential for disinfection, general sanitation, purification of the water, and manufacture of the materials of every-day life, that no protest has been, or will be made, and that this portion of the peace treaty is, and has been from the day of its signing, a dead letter.

"We, ourselves, have imported phosgene, one of the deadliest of war gases, from Germany for use as a raw material in American manufacture. Germany is today better equipped to produce and use, on a moment's notice, 'poison gases' than she was in 1914.

"The purpose of all international efforts that have been made to control this weapon is, according to my understanding, to prohibit its use. I have never seen any proposal seriously advanced by any Government to provide that national preparation for the use of and for defense against chemical warfare, if such warfare should be used by an enemy contrary to treaty engagements, should be abolished or curtailed in the slightest.

"I must continue to maintain, however, contrary to your view, that the only logical course for the United States to pursue, should it agree to the prohibition of the use of gas in warfare, is to itself consent to the same supervision and control of the chemical industry of this country through international boards which France and the League of Nations are quite right in maintaining is the only possible way to police the situation.

"It is my personal opinion that even such supervision would be entirely ineffectual and that there is no possible way to inhibit the use of asphyxiating gases in warfare.

"As I believe the United States will honorably keep any engagements entered into, she will be particularly helpless, as few believe that such adherence to treaties will be universal."

SENATE STOPS FUND OF 'UNDERCOVER' MEN

land, Broussard of Louisiana, Walsh of Massachusetts and other wets joined him in an attack on the Andrews plan.

"Nothing is so characteristic of a tyrannous Government," Senator Reed declared, "as a secret spy system. It is as obnoxious to human liberty as leprosy to human flesh. No honest and decent man will accept the position of spy save in time of war. A man so low will commit perjury and pause at no disgraceful step."

Senator Bruce interrupted to tell the story of a dry agent who made love to a young woman and got her to give him a drink in order to get evidence against her family.

"Maryland got too hot for him," Senator Bruce remarked.

"Not only should Maryland get too hot for him, but a self-respecting hell," said Senator Reed.

While Senator Reed was speaking, Roy A. Haynes, former Prohibition Director and now an employe of the dry unit, walked out.

Senator Reed declared he meant no personal reflection upon General Andrews, who, he said, was "about as decent a man as you could get for his job."

As evidence of convictions obtained through the work of the "under-cover" men, General Andrews cited to the Senate the cases of the Mark J. Phaff and Albertina, rum runners; Sigmund Rand of Providence, Seymour Nathanson and three others in New Jersey; the Normal L. Conrad and crew of eight; Morris Lustig, convicted for manufacturing counterfeit revenue stamps, and 33 indictments in New York in connection with the seizure of the ship Eker with 33,000 cases of liquor.

transmitted by that station. The short wave or telegraphic system may be used for long distance transmission.

In the course of his address Dr. Alexanderson mentioned the scene in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah," which is supposed to take place in the year 2170. The head of the British Government is shown holding a conference with his Cabinet Ministers, each several hundred miles away, by means of the radio. And as he talks to each Minister, he appears in full length upon a screen, being seen as well as heard.

Dr. Alexanderson used this scene as an illustration of what was possible in the progress of science.

Sees in Total Darkness.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A television discovery whereby objects in total darkness can be seen by an invisible ray has been made by John L. Baird, inventor of the "televisor," according to The Daily Mail.

In Mr. Baird's first demonstrations of television it was necessary for the person being "transmitted" to sit before an intensely brilliant light. For six months he has been concentrating upon reducing the brilliance of this lighting.

"It is now possible by my televisor to see a person who is sitting some distance away in total darkness," says Mr. Baird. "This is accomplished by isolating and then employing rays which are outside the visible spectrum. The human eye cannot see them, but the sensitive 'electric eye' of my apparatus detects them readily."

Discussing the military and commercial value of his invention, Mr. Baird explained that the invisible ray could be focused and flashed through lenses like an ordinary searchlight, but, owing to its nature, it would be more penetrative and could be thrown further than any visible ray.

For naval, military or flying purposes it would be used in conjunction with a special receiving screen or "eye." Upon this screen would be focused the image of any distant object upon which the invisible searchlight was turned.

The nature of the invisible ray would also enable it to penetrate a fog more readily than any other form of ray, and in this respect it might have great significance commercially in the operation during foggy weather of ships, trains and airplanes.

Secret tests of the invention have been held before naval, military and air force officials. The Daily Mail representative who participated in a private demonstration says the results were most successful. He sat in one room and saw projected on the screen before him the head and shoulders of a colleague sitting in another room in pitch black darkness.

The complete television system planned by Dr. Alexanderson would require an independent control of the seven light spots. This would be provided in seven photo electric cells located in a cluster at the transmitting machine and controlling a multiplex radio system with seven channels.

A Hammond multiplex system may be used, he explained, with seven intermediate carrier waves. These waves are scrambled and sent out by a single transmitter and are then unscrambled at the receiving station so that each controls one of the light beams.

$100,000 OFFERED FOR CANCER CURE

W. L. Saunders Makes Two Offers, for Discoverer and Absolute Remedy.

BLOW TO QUACKS SEEN

American Society for Control of the Disease Expects Tender Will Spur Research.

Two offers—one of $50,000 to any person or group of persons who may discover what human cancer is and how it can positively be prevented and another of like sum to the person or group of persons who may discover an absolute cure for the disease—have been made by William Lawrence Saunders, who is Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Ingersoll-Rand Company and a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The offers were made in a letter to Dr. C. W. B. Camac, which was read last night at a dinner in the interest of the American Society for the Control of Cancer at the Hotel Biltmore.

In his letter Mr. Saunders made a tentative outline of the plan under which the proposed competitions for discovering the cause or cure of cancer will be conducted. The offer stands for three years. Mr. Saunders made plain, and at the expiration of that time may be renewed. The entire sum of $100,000 may be won by the same person or group of persons.

The decision upon which the awards shall be made is to be determined by the American Society for the Control of Cancer and approved by the American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons.

According to Mr. Saunders, "discoveries are not always made by experts. Physicians, like business men, are not always the best research workers. Through the lure of a reward this serious problem might be solved through the genius of a lay mind, by chemists or through unknown or unorganized medical sources."

Two of the speakers at the dinner, Dr. Howard Canning Taylor and Dr. Francis Carter Wood, declared that the chances for discoveries such as Mr. Saunders hopes for are negligible in so short a time as three years. But both speakers thought the effect of the offers would prove salutary. In the opinion of Dr. Wood, the quack "who comes out with the weekly newspaper cure for cancer" will have a chance to prove his claim and collect or else "shut up." The offers, said Dr. Wood, would help human beings "in calling the bluffs" of impostors. Dr. Taylor subscribed to Dr. Wood's statements.

Dr. George Emerson Brewer, who was the third speaker, talked on the nature of cancer, why it is a "local disease and curable in the beginning" and why it is a "blood disease and incurable" in its terminal stage. "No case of proved cancer," he said, "has ever been cured, except by the removal of every bit of cancerous tissue." He named surgery and radium as the most effective weapons against cancer now known.

Henry W. Taft, toastmaster, said a $1,000,000 endowment was needed by the Society for the Control of Cancer to educate the public in the matter of the nature, the prevention and possible cure of the disease. Nicholas Murray Butler and Charles Evans Hughes, hosts of the dinner, were not present.

PLEA FOR CRUISERS MADE TO COOLIDGE

was stressed in the letter. The assertion was also made that, as things were now drifting, the three Washington treaty cruisers now in controversy could not possibly be completed before 1940. It also was intimated that the committee was of the opinion that there was little or no hope of any substantial achievement in the way of reducing armaments through the negotiations set in motion by the League of Nations.

In any event, the committee said, in view of the practical certainty that the United States would be exceeded in cruiser strength by Great Britain in 1931 by 260,000 tons and by Japan to the extent of 50,000 tons, it was high time this Government looked to its defenses.

The committee emphasized tables on sea power prepared by the Navy Bureau of Intelligence. These show that since 1922, when the United States sank 800,000 ton of battleships under the Washington Arms Treaty, it had added 50,000 tons in cruisers, while the cruiser additions in the same period to the British navy aggregated 138,000 tons and to the Japanese navy 88,000 tons.

It was further represented that, as things were now tending, by 1931 Great Britain would have fifty-four cruisers of a tonnage of 332,000, Japan twenty-five cruisers of a tonnage of 151,000, and France and Italy each ten cruisers with a respective tonnage of 80,300 and 50,750.

Moreover, the committee asserted, Japan, France and Italy had laid down big naval programs since 1922 that it did not believe should be overlooked by the United States. For example, Japan had authorized ninety-nine ships of war, representing 275,000 tons; France, ninety-five ships of war, with a tonnage of 221,800, and Italy forty-six ships with a tonnage of 102,200.

While the committee letter did not set forth a definite building program, it distinctly left the impression that the United States, if it desired to keep pace with expansion in other navies, should set aside $500,000,000 or $600,000,000 for the construction of auxiliary ships and aircraft.

Endorsed by the Democrats.

Chairman Butler's call excited great interest in the House in view of the fact that the letter of the Naval Committee was endorsed by the Democratic, as well as Republican, members of that body. Indications were that if the President should stand by his guns in opposition to authorization of the cruisers and the dirigible, the matter would become the subject of live debate when the Naval Appropriation bill came forward for consideration next week.

Chairman Butler said that he had been requested by many members, regardless of politics, to set forth the exact condition of the American Navy, as compared with those of other powers, as he viewed it, and that it was his intention to do so. Other members of the Naval Committee have given notice that they will deliver speeches in criticism of the Administration's attitude.

Representative Loring M. Black Jr., a New York Democrat, jumped into the picture today by offering a resolution directing the Naval Committee to study the navy and its needs with relation to the strength at sea of the signatories to the Washington Arms Treaty. The resolution provided that such an inquiry, if undertaken, should be open to "duly accredited press correspondents."

The adverse effect of limited appropriations in causing a progressive decline in the condition of naval ships and requiring steadily increasing amounts to keep the vessels in repair was formally brought to the attention of Secretary Wilbur today by Rear Admiral John Halligan Jr., chief of navy engineers, in his report for the fiscal year 1926.

BERRY DENOUNCES DELANEY PROPOSAL

Brands Suggestion to Use Tax Funds to Save 5-Cent Fare as Stupid.

NO SURPLUS, HE DECLARES

Asks Where Chairman Gets His Authority to "Meddle" in Fiscal Matters.

DELANEY DOES NOT REPLY

Mayor Is Silent, Too—Desires to Avert New Controversy Among City Heads.

Controller Berry, in a formal statement made yesterday, branded as "stupid" the plan outlined on Tuesday by John H. Delaney, Chairman of the Board of Transportation, as a way in which further subway construction might be financed by the city without jeopardizing the continuance of the 5-cent fare.

The Controller further intimated in caustic language that it was presumptuous on the part of Chairman Delaney to inject himself into a discussion of the city's finances. He demanded that the chief of the city's Board of Transportation explain for whom he is acting and who authorized him to speak for the Board of Estimate, "the only responsible body regarding such matters of increased tax rate, methods of financing city projects, &c."

Playing upon the phrase "surplus funds"—words not used by Mr. Delaney, but by a newspaper purporting to quote him—General Berry declared: "The city has not enough surplus funds to paint the monkey house in Central Park."

The Controller's Statement.

Controller Berry's statement follows:

"I have before me a statement appearing in the newspapers of Dec. 14, 1926, alleged to have been given out by the Chairman of the Board of Transportation as follows:

"The plan calls for taking the surplus revenues which will flow into the city treasury from taxation and applying them to the building of subways. We could get enough revenue out of taxes to keep the work going.

"The revenues of the city are now abnormally large and they will be for the next five years. Take part of that vast revenue and apply it to subways and the financial problem is solved.'

"Such a statement is stupid. Where are these surplus funds? Who has them? What are they being kept for? As a matter of plain fact, the city has not enough surplus funds to paint the monkey house in Central Park.

"What has the Chairman of the Board of Transportation to do with the city's finances? Who authorized him to speak for the only responsible body, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, regarding such matters as increased tax rate, methods of financing city projects, &c.?

"If he has any financial plan in connection with subway building which might be beneficial to the city he should present it to the proper authorities and cease making misleading statements to the public."

Delaney Does Not Reply.

Chairman Delaney made no reply yesterday to Controller Berry's attack. It is believed, however, that he may have something to say upon the subject in today's meeting of the Board of Estimate. Mayor Walker also refrained from comment except to express his entire confidence in Mr. Delaney's high qualifications as an adviser on the transit situation. The Mayor declared that he was firm in his resolve not to become embroiled in controversy with any of his associates in the Board of Estimate.

Friends who enjoy the Mayor's confidence said Mayor Walker shrank from the possibility of his administration developing any such chronic schism as that which characterized relations between former Mayor Hylan and former Controller Craig. The Mayor, it was said, believed the New York City electorate became thoroughly sick of the weekly altercations that marked the sessions of the Hylan Board of Estimate. His belief, his close friends declare, is that the voters elected the present Administration on the assumption that there would be no recurrence of such controversy and open altercation between high municipal officials. He thinks it doubtful whether the voters would "stand for" two successive City Administrations in which the city's chief executive and its chief fiscal officer were continually and openly at loggerheads.

Attack Is Regretted.

Close associates of Mayor Walker deeply regretted the Controller's comment upon Mr. Delaney's suggestions. They admitted that it would be construed as another evidence that the Mayor and the Controller were not working along anything like harmonious lines. They declared that Chairman Delaney as the head of an important municipal commission certainly had quite as good a right to deliberate how the city may escape a fare in excess of five cents as has Mr. Dahl, Chairman of the Board of the B. M. T., to point out in successive open letters his ideas of why the city could escape coming to the higher fare. They declared further that Mr. Delaney by virtue of his office was charged with the duty of keeping himself in touch with the city's financial affairs and that, despite the Controller's criticism, it was Dr. Delaney's business before he invited large appropriations for subway work to know from what source he expected his demands to be met.

Friends of Chairman Delaney and of Mayor Walker resented the branding of the former's suggestion as "stupid." The Delaney idea was logical and sound, they declared. He pointed out, just as he was quoted in THE TIMES, that "there had been an increase of $15,000,000 in the city's taxing power this year and that there would undoubtedly be a similar increase each year for the next five years." His argument was that the increased assessed valuations on realty, particularly in the sections where the new subways themselves as they grew would develop greatly those values, would amount to from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year.

Such a sum would be enough to provide interest and amortization costs on loans of large amounts for subway extension.

To quote again from the Delaney interview, as reported by THE TIMES: "I've said this before and I'll say it again. It now requires 3 cents a passenger for actual operation of the subways and all charges over that amount go to pay interest on borrowed money. If we keep on borrowing the burden of interest will be so great that an increased fare will be necessary."

Chairman Delaney on an earlier occasion said: "The taxpayer of today must not be made to shoulder the entire burden of the costs of subway construction, but only be required to carry his fair share, which is now represented by the interest and amortization charges on the bonded indebtedness."

Escape on Ice After Shooting Up Iowa Town; Two Brothers Later Arrested in Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 15 (AP).—Two brothers, one of whom confessed, police said, that they were the pair who risked their lives by crossing the ice-sheeted Missouri River today to escape a posse after they had terrorized citizens of Modale, Iowa, by shooting up the town and robbing the Modale Savings Bank of $3,150, were in custody here tonight.

Two Modale men were wounded, neither seriously, in the shooting.

The men, Dave and Broy Harding, aged 40 and 23, respectively, were arrested as they drove up to their rooming house in a taxicab, in which police said they found $3,151. Although Broy's confession implicated the brother, Dave refused to make any statement.

The brothers said they crossed the ice near the scene of the robbers' escape and walked twenty-five miles into Omaha, where they hired the cab.

The robbery and chase along the Missouri River lowlands in Iowa and Nebraska were full of thrills. The two robbers foiled the posses at almost every turn by their coolness and daring. Before they crossed the ice they burned their stolen car and changed clothes. Volleys of shots were the only answer of pursuit the Iowa posses could give as the pair undertook their hazardous journey across the ice, thin in places, into Nebraska.

The hold-up, in which Robert Sassman, bank cashier, and Taft Jackson, a passer-by, were slightly wounded, likewise was bold and dramatic.

The men left their car a short distance from the bank. Sauntering across the street, they picked up Hi Segler, who was passing, and forced him inside with them. With Carl Bair and B. Walch, bank patrons, Sigler was forced to stand against the wall.

Hands in the air, Sassman was sitting at his desk. Shoving a gun at him, one of the robbers ordered him to put up his hands.

"You can't have it," replied Sassman.

A bullet struck the cashier's head, and he dropped to the floor.

The robber persisted in his demand, again thrusting his gun at the wounded cashier, who got up, staggered to the safe and threw the door open. The men gathered up currency and bonds and ran out the door.

In the street, the robbers began firing wildly, aiming at any pedestrians they happened to see.

In the meantime Arch Schulmeister, assistant cashier, who had been in the rear of the bank, ran from the back door through a volley of bullets from the robbers' guns to a drug store to spread the alarm.

Ed Drake, hardware merchant, fired from the roof of his store at the bandits as they emerged from the bank. Several others by this time were exchanging shots with the robbers. Jackson was shot in the thigh as he stepped from his car opposite the bank.

As the robbers drove away Jess Middletown, a garage man, and Dean Strain followed, unarmed, in an automobile. A posse organized quickly.

At noon Middletown reported he had the robbers cornered in the lowlands and several posses of sheriffs and deputies from Omaha and Council Bluffs hurried to the scene. As the posses closed in the pair took to the ice and escaped into Nebraska.

LIKELY TO END WOODEN CARS.

B. M. T. Probably Will Agree to Order, Transit Board Says.

There is a strong probability that the demand upon the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation to order 100 new all-steel cars to retire from service in its old wooden cars may be obeyed in full or in part.

A hearing upon the Transit Commission's order was on the regular calendar of the commission for today. Late yesterday afternoon the Transit Commission issued from its offices at 270 Madison Avenue the following notice:

"Because of the probability that the B. M. T. will agree to carry out the wishes of the Transit Commission without the necessity of a public hearing, the hearing scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 16, has been adjourned until Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 10 A. M."

The above bulletin was not made public until after the members of the Transit Commission, John F. Gilchrist, Chairman; Leon G. Godley and Charles C. Lockwood, had been in conference yesterday afternoon for nearly two hours with William S. Menden, President of the B. M. T., and Frederick Hoffman, special counsel for that company. It was learned also that a similar conference had occurred on Tuesday afternoon. Neither members of the Transit Commission nor B. M. T. officials would discuss the subject, but it was agreed that the bulletin justified the belief that some kind of an agreement had been reached on the proposed replacement of the old wooden cars.

Ever since the accident a few months ago on the Queens extension of the subway the hazard of wooden cars running on the same rails as steel cars has been agitated and the Transit Commission has been appealed to by taxpayers and civic bodies to end the danger.

APPEAL FOR BUS FARE RISE.

Two Newark Concerns Ask Zoning Readjustment on 11 Lines.

The Public Service Railway and the Public Service Transportation Companies filed yesterday a joint petition with the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission asking a readjustment of fare zone limits on eleven bus lines, which would call for an additional fare where city lines are crossed in Newark.

The plan for readjusting the zones on the eleven bus lines would make the fares identical with those of trolleys on the same routes. By the readjustment the present 5-cent fare on seven of the bus lines for complete runs would be increased to 10 cents for the full ride. On the four other lines, where 10 cents is charged for a full run, the readjustment would bring the fare to 15 cents.

Besides petitioning for the fare rise the companies also suggest a most completely coordinated service, relief from paving obligations, relief from charges for snow removal, sprinkling and oiling and the institution of a better type of bus service.

RUMANIANS NIP BOLSHEVIKI.

Boatload of Ammunition Is Turned Back After a Brisk Fight.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 15 (AP).—An attempt to send a boatload of arms and ammunitions across the Dniester River by the Bolsheviki to a point near Tighina has been frustrated after a spirited fight, the authorities here were informed by Rumanian frontier guards.

The Rumanians, knowing the time for the arrival of the boat, ambushed the Soviet party, who responded to the demand for surrender with a volley. A sharp exchange of fire took place between the Rumanians and Bolsheviki. The latter, under cover of a heavy mist and also protected by machine-gun fire of Soviet guards on the opposite bank of the river, escaped. There were no casualties on the Rumanian side.

Rumania, according to the newspaper Universul, will place the matter before a Russo-Rumanian mixed commission.

SAY STAGGER PLAN WILL AID TRANSIT

300,000 CROWD LINES NOW

Health, Civic and Labor Groups Will Aid in Drafting Schedule to Provide Relief.

The possibility of inaugurating a stagger system which would reduce morning and evening rush-hour traffic on the rapid transit systems from 30 to 50 per cent. was indicated by a report of the Committee in Charge of Traffic Census submitted at a luncheon conference given yesterday by Haley Fiske, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The luncheon was attended by members of the Transit Commission, heads of transit systems and members of the Traffic Census Committee.

"The tabulation shows that 85 per cent. of the workers begin work between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning, the 9 o'clock hour accounting for about 40 per cent. of all workers," said Dr. Louis I. Dublin, Statistcian of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who supervised the tabulation schedules. "The next two largest groups are at 8 and 8:30. The same thing is true at night between 5 and 6, only that the situation is all the more complicated by returning shoppers and theatre patrons."

The tabulations show that 300,000 persons go to work at 9 o'clock, and that it might be possible to cut that figure to 130,000, or more than half, by a stagger plan. The shifting of the 9 A. M. peak would result in reducing the load at 5 P. M. from more than 300,000 to 165,000, according to the data gathered by the Committee on Traffic Census.

It was decided at the conference that a steering committee should be appointed to cooperate with Health Commissioner Louis I. Harris in the development of a stagger plan. The committee will represent the Transit Commission, Merchants' Association, Chamber of Commerce and various labor and civic organizations. Members of the Transit Commission and officials of transit companies indicated that the plan which might be evolved would be acceptable to them and result in the issuance of necessary orders and schedule changes to take care of the redistribution of traffic. Attending the conference in addition to those named were John F. Gilchrist, Chairman of the Transit Commission; Commissioners Leon P. Godley and Charles C. Lockwood; Walter T. Edgerton, Chief of the Service Bureau; W. S. Menden, President of the B. M. T. Corporation; H. Hobart Porter, President of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, and W. G. Strait, Vice President of the New York Railways Corporation.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES DEFINE ARM SIGNALS

Warnings of Turns and Stop Will Be Effective Jan. 1 Despite Club's Protest.

Slow-moving motor vehicles are required to keep to the right of the roadway by the new police regulations which become effective on Jan. 1, according to another instalment of the new rules made public yesterday. A vehicle passing another is required to pass on its left, and it must not go to the right again until it is entirely clear of the vehicle passed.

The rules covering hand signals provide that the driver shall extend his arm upward to indicate a right turn, outward for a left turn and down and out for a stop. These signals were criticized by an automobile club last week on the ground that drivers in New York and elsewhere long ago have adopted other signals and will ignore police innovations.

The regulation covering overtaking of a trolley car stopped to discharge passengers remains unchanged. A motorist must not pass within eight feet of a stopped surface car. Following too closely for safety, coasting in neutral and driving with hands off the steering wheel of an automobile or the reins of a horse are made illegal.

Bailey Park Country Club Disbands.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 15.—An order dissolving the Bailey Park Country Club at Mount Vernon was granted by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins at White Plains today. The club took over the country mansion of the late James Bailey at Corcoran Manor and laid out a nine-hole golf course. Then the Westchester County Park Commission condemned a large part of the links for the Hutchinson River Valley Parkway and so the club members decided that the club could not exist.

TEXAS GIRL BANDIT ACCUSED OF ARSON

BELIEVED A HOLD-UP RUSE

She Gave Alarm in Roundrock Bank, but Officials Suspected Scheme and Foiled It.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 15 (AP).—A ruse by which the authorities believe Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, who held up a bank at Buda, Texas, last Saturday, intended to rob another bank at Roundrock, fifteen miles from here, resulted late today in the filing of arson charges against the girl.

Arraigned before a justice of the peace, who held court in the Roundrock Bank, Mrs. Rogers waived an examining trial.

Bond was fixed at $2,000. Mrs. Grace Bradley, mother of the girl, and her attorney hurried to Austin to obtain signatures to the bond. Meanwhile Mrs. Rogers was held in custody in the bank which, it is alleged, she planned to rob.

The day before the Buda hold-up Mrs. Rogers is alleged to have set fire to a house at Roundrock, owned by John Ryland, in an effort to lure employes out of the Farmers' State Bank there, so that she could loot the institution.

A girl answering the description of Mrs. Rogers loitered around the bank for several days last week, according to bank officials, and on Friday afternoon rushed in, shouting "Fire!"

Those in the bank, however did not fall into the trap and no attempt at robbery was made.

"We paid no attention to the girl's alarm because we had become suspicious, as she stayed around for several days, representing herself as a newspaper woman and asking many questions about the operation of the bank," said Tom Nelson, President of the bank.

After the robbery at Buda, Mr. Nelson gave the Austin police a description of the girl and the number of the automobile she was driving, which resulted in Mrs. Rogers's arrest on a charge of robbery with firearms in connection with the Buda hold-up.

Mrs. Rogers was arrested at a hospital here late today on the charge of arson while at the bedside of her husband, Otis Rogers, young Amarillo lawyer and University of Texas graduate, to whom she was married secretly a year ago. She was taken immediately to Roundrock, where the charges were filed.

John Cofer Jr., attorney for the girl bandit, announced that he would start habeas corpus proceedings here in an effort to obtain her release. She was freed on $5,000 bond yesterday on the charge of robbery as the result of a habeas corpus action in the District Court.

BUYS VALENTINO FIREARMS.

Bebe Daniels Stimulates Bidding at Sale of Screen Star's Effects.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—Motion-picture land again took an active part in the bidding on the personal effects of Rudolph Valentino as they went on the auction block here today.

Although 600 persons, among whom were few film folk, crowded the auction rooms, early sales were sluggish and bidding became brisk only when Bebe Daniels started buying the antique firearms. She bought six pieces for a total of more than $1,000.

Valentino's motor yacht, which was bid in yesterday at $2,910, was re-offered today because the first buyer failed to make a large enough deposit. It went to E. H. Kingsbury for $2,100.

REPUBLICANS WARN COL. SMITH AWAY

sidered if they were delayed until the next Congress assembled, in December, 1927, a year hence.

Advised by Curtis and Moses.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican floor leader, and Senator Moses of New Hampshire, President pro tempore of the Senate, advised Mr. Smith not to open up the issue now by accepting Governor Small's appointment as Senator to succeed Senator McKinley, but to postpone his appearance to take the oath until the beginning of the next Congress, when he could do so with the backing of credentials attesting to his election as a Senator in his own right.

It was left to Senator Watson, as Chairman of the Republican caucus, to inform Mr. Smith that opinion was rather general among the Republican regulars that he should not accept the appointment, and, if he would not yield to that advice, to notify him that the regulars had agreed they would vote to reject him if he sought to be sworn in under Governor Small's appointive commission.

A very general feeling prevails among Republicans that if Governor Small should appoint some other person as Senator McKinley's successor the situation would be greatly simplified. In this connection the name of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick is suggested. She is the widow of Senator Medill McCormick, the daughter of Senator Marcus A. Hanna of Ohio, and niece of James Ford Rhodes, the historian. She is the Republican National Committeewoman for Illinois, takes an active part in politics and was prominent in the recent political campaign.

What the Republicans fear most is that an effort by Mr. Smith to take his seat as a Senator during the brief three months of the present Congress will compel the calling of an extra session of the next Congress. While their votes, with those of other Senators, are likely to be sufficient to prevent Mr. Smith from taking his seat, there is the danger that several Democrats, perhaps an overwhelming majority of the Democratic side, and the Republican insurgent Senators will insist upon an airing of the charges against Mr. Smith that developed out of the party primary contest, in which he won the Republican Senatorial nomination over Senator McKinley.

Menace of a Filibuster.

Furthermore, there is the prospect that certain Republican regulars, headed by Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and Deneen of Illinois, will filibuster against any effort to prevent Mr. Smith from qualifying under Governor Small's appointment. The result of this might be a prolonged debate to the exclusion of other business, including the passage of the annual supply bills necessary for the support of the Government for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1927. If these supply bills are not enacted at the present session, it will be necessary for President Coolidge to call an extra session of the new Congress to pass them prior to July.

The Republican regulars and the Administration do not want an extra session. The Senate in the next Congress will be a tie as between the Republican and the combined opposition, consisting of forty-seven Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. The rejection of Mr. Smith now would mean that he would not be permitted to take his seat in the new Senate. This would leave the Republicans with one less than the combined opposition, and, on the face of things, would enable the Democrats to control the Senate's organization, which would carry with it control of committees and committee chairmanships.

Democratic Senators, however, are willing to permit Messrs. Smith and Vare to take their seats in the new Senate on the basis of the presentation of their certificates of election, with an investigation to follow as to their fitness as Senators. This would enable the Republicans to control the Senate, with the aid of Vice President Dawes, who would cast the deciding vote in the probable event of a tie.

To make this possible the Republicans would be obliged to have the support of their insurgent contingent, formerly called the La Follette bloc, and the process of bringing the insurgents back into good standing in the party fold is going on, and already has been partly successful.

The Senate's Republican regulars expect to have a hard time of it anyhow in the next Congress, with a tie as between their whole number and the combined opposition, and the attitude of the insurgents very uncertain. They fear Mr. Smith will make a bad situation worse if he brings a bitter debate, with consequent delay, by attempting to enter the Senate now, and compels the President to call an extra session of the new Congress immediately after the present Congress adjourns in March.

Smith Unwilling to Comment.

DWIGHT, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—Senator-elect Frank L. Smith declined today to say whether the warning from Washington would weigh in his decision as to accepting an appointment to succeed Senator McKinley.

It is conceded by friends of Colonel Smith and Governor Small that the former may have the appointment if he desires it, and his frequent conversations with the Governar have indicated his inclination to accept it.

The outcome of the deliberations, Colonel Smith said, could hardly result in announcement of McKinley's successor "today or tomorrow."

Small "Not Talking About It."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—Governor Small declared today he was "not talking about the appointment of a United States Senator."

When informed of the warning sent to Senator-elect Smith by Republican leaders in the Senate, the Governor repeated: "Please say I'm not talking about it."

PINCHOT SAYS VARE WILL NOT BE SEATED

Governor Calls On Pennsylvania Farmers to End the Stuffed Ballot Boxes and Big Election Funds.

Special to The New York Times.

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 15.—Governor Pinchot told one thousand State Grange members at a banquet here tonight that "Vare will never serve as a Senator of the United States from Pennsylvania." The Governor, who is an official in the grange, urged Pennsylvania farmers to help prevent Vare from becoming thefr "ambassador."

His prediction that the Senator-elect will not be seated at the next session of Congress was based, he said, on a recent trip to Washington.

"There I learned what every visitor can learn," he added, "that Republican leaders in the Senate from Republican States and Democratic leaders from Democratic States have no hesitation whatever in expressing in private conversation the conviction that Vare will never serve as a Senator of the United States from the State of Pennsylvania."

Mr. Pinchot declared the important thing was not "Vare as a person" but "Vare as a symptom, a dangerous symptom, of a disease which sorely afflicts Pennsylvania politics."

"Do you want the interests of this great commonwealth to be at the mercy of a man who stands for what Vare does?" he asked. "For I count Senator Reed out. All he represents is the Mellons and the United States Steel."

Describing alleged ballot box stuffing in Philadelphia and in Pittsburgh and stolen votes in a "town in Western Pennsylvania" which he did not name, the Governor declared the Vare election had grown into an issue of national magnitude.

"He is no longer a local issue," he declared. "By virtue of the fact that his election was partly bought and partly stolen he has grown to be what he could not have attained in any other way—a figure of nation-wide meaning and importance. When men in other States now think of Pennsylvania they first think of one man—Vare—and one thing—corruption of the ballot.

"When people speak of Pennsylvania today they think of the stuffed ballot box, the phantom voter on the registration lists and the swollen bankrolls employed to defeat the will of the people, which have become the commonplaces of politics in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and not in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia alone."

NEW QUEENS PLANT OPENED

Borough President Connolly Officiates at Jamaica Exercises.

Borough President Maurice E. Connolly, Commissioner of Public Works Michael Shugrue and hundreds of other public officials, civic workers and residents of Queens were present yesterday at the opening of the new disposal plan on Old South Road, Jamaica.

The Borough President, officiating at the exercises, said the plant, which was the most modern in the world, would eliminate a great amount of trouble in the disposal of sewage in Queens. He also told of the difficulties in getting the appropriation for the building and of the care taken by the architects to make it complete.

Explains Change in Quality of Coal.

What is now called nut coal is not the same grade as that called by that name several years ago, Joseph M. Bacon, President of the Bacon Coal Company of Brooklyn, explained yesterday in commenting on a complaint by a customer that a considerable percentage of pea coal was mixed with the larger size. By an agreement between wholesalers and operators soon after the strike settlement, Mr. Bacon said, 15 per cent. of pea coal was to be mixed with the nut coal at the mines, but due to repeated handling this percentage was often increased to 25 or 30 per cent.

USE OF NARCOSAN STIRS WIDE INTEREST

Wallis Repeats His Faith in It, Saying Only Four of the 478 Addicts Treated Relapsed.

NO CLAIM OF A SURE CURE

Of the 300 men and 178 women drug addicts who received the narcosan treatment in the city's prison hospitals in the last seven months, only one man and three women thus far had returned, Frederick A. Wallis, Commissioner of Corrections, said yesterday. Under the old methods of treatment the statistics of commitments show that fully 70 per cent. would have been back in the same length of time, he declared.

"It is not at present claimed by any one, as far as I know, that narsocan is a permanent cure for drug addiction," Commissioner Wallis said. "It is too early to determine that, but the results of the treatment up to the present have been amazing. Those who have taken it find their craving for drugs is gone and that a mental antipathy for them exists. The flesh of the patients appears firm and healthy. They have no nervousness, and appear and feel perfectly normal.

"I put the matter in the hands of some of the biggest physicians in the world. They seem to believe it is a marvelous treatment. As long as it cures men and keeps them out of jail, I am for it. All I know is that a man is in the depths of despair and down mentally, morally and physically. I don't care if the treatment is brought by angels of Heaven or hell; if it reforms and rehabilitates a man or woman, I am for it 100 per cent. These drug addicts are being restored and that's all we know."

Commissary Fund Paid for Tests.

Commissioner Wallis said the expenses of the early experiments, two years ago, had been borne by the physicians he called in, but that for the last seven months the surplus of the $140,000 Commissary Fund had been used. He is Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the fund.

There was money enough, the Commissioner said, to continue treatments until Jan. 1. So effective had they proved, and so great was their appraised value in decreasing the amount of drug addiction to a minimum, according to the Commissioner, that he plans to ask the city for funds to continue the work next year.

According to Henry O. Schleth, Supervising Warden of the Department of Correction, from $20 to $25 has been spent on each inmate discharged as cured. The medicine cost $16 for each case, he said, depending upon the weight of the patient and the length of time he has been addicted to drugs. Eight nurses and one physician are at present devoting their time to the work on Welfare Island.

The Department of Correction was in receipt of a stream of telegrams and telephone messages yesterday from persons wishing to know how the treatment could be obtained by friends or relatives. Commissioner Wallis last night issued a general invitation to physicians in New York City to visit the prison hospital on Welfare Island to see how the treatments are administered and to talk with the nurses and patients.

Told of Narcosan by Biochemist.

It was said by Mr. Wallis that his attention was first directed to the treatment by A. S. Horovitz, a biochemist of 67 Fulton Street, who had worked out the secret formula for narcosan, which he later patented.

"Horovitz said he had what he believed would form a permanent cure for habit-forming drugs," went on Commissioner Wallis. "He explained as best he could what the cure was. I am neither a physician nor a chemist and, on my own initiative I asked ten or twelve of the most prominent physicians in New York to meet me at the Academy of Medicine. I brought Mr. Horovitz to the second meeting and, at a third gathering it was decided to have a chemist make an analysis of narcosan. The analysis was made and was, as far as I know, highly satisfactory. The chemists couldn't find out what some of the ingredients were and Mr. Horovitz wouldn't tell them.

"Dr. Alexander Lambert said the only thing to do was to test the treatment. Mr. Horovitz stressed the importance of trustworthy nurses and the need that all drugs should be kept from the patients while the treatment was being administered. We tried it first at Riker's Island on twenty men altogether. It seemed a big success, but I feared the warden rather exaggerated the results. Mr. Horovitz left for Europe that Summer and the experiments were discontinued.

Invited Noted Physicians.

"We began the treatments in the workhouse prison on Welfare Island March 20, 1926. The physicians I asked to observe the effects included Dr. Lambert, a former President of the American Medical Association; Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health; Dr. Shirley Wynne, Assistant Commissioner of Health; Dr. Charles L. Dana, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the New York City Academy of Medicine; Dr. M. O. Magid, visiting gynecologist to the penitentiary and workhouse, and Dr. Frederick Tilney, President of the American Neurological Association.

"Our greatest problem has been the drug addicts. There are no crimes they seem to fear and they have been crowding our penal institutions and costing the taxpayers a lot of money. Under the old method of treatment, they have been coming back to us almost as fast as they were released."

Commissioner Wallis declared that the four patients recommitted, out of the 478 who received the narcosan treatment, all said they had not gone back to drug taking because of love for the drug but because they desired the sensation which accompanied it. He declared that narcotic peddlers waited at the Manhattan end of the Queensborough Bridge and gave drugs without charge to patients released from Welfare Island as cured. Their object, he said, was to recreate a craving which would make them steady customers of the traffickers.

It was said yesterday by Dr. Daniel S. Dougherty, Secretary of the New York County Medical Association, that the claims made for the narcosan treatment would be investigated by his organization.

It was said that the Booth Memorial Hospital, conducted by the Salvation Army, tried the serum two years ago, but abandoned experiments after the ten men who apparently had been cured suffered relapses.

Dr. Dana, one of the physicians invited by Commissioner Wallis to observe the treatment, said Dr. Lambert arranged for two wards on Welfare Island for the use of the patients, engaged nurses and watched the cases closely.

"I went over to see the patients in June several times and again later in the Fall," Dr. Dana said. "In the Fall Dr. Lambert prepared a paper which he sent to me and asked me to sign with him. I declined to do so because, while I thought his conclusions more or less correct, it would give a tremendous exploitation to a commercial organization which was selling a drug the composition of which we did not know.

"I urged Dr. Lambert not to publish the paper until something more definite of the composition of the drug was given us by Mr. Horovitz. Eventually he got a pretty fair description of the drug and modified his paper somewhat.

Doesn't Think Cure is Permanent.

"I believe that the drug is useful in relieving the distress of having a narcotic withdrawn from an addict, but that is the end of its usefulness as far as we know. It obviates the necessity of giving morphine or some other similar drug while the narcotic is being withdrawn from the patient but it is probable that in those cases, as soon as the addict goes back to his former environment, his addiction will be resumed as it was before."

Health Commissioner Harris said yesterday that the results of the treatment should be carefully weighed before a final opinion should be expressed. The reaction to the treatment, Dr. Tilney said, was quick but he preferred to wait before predicting permanence of cure.

Mr. Horovitz first announced his treatment in 1924. He said it was the result of twelve years of research here and in Europe. It was said at his office he had left town for several days. Dr. Lambert declined to discuss the treatment for publication.

TELLS OF HOROVITZ FAILURE.

Cincinnati Doctor Says Drug Tests in 1921 Were Unsuccessful.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 15.—A specific agent, supposed to be a cure for drug addicts, which was developed by A. S. Horovitz, then a bio-chemist with a local firm of manufacturing chemists, was found to be "a complete failure" when it was tried out on prisoners in the Hamilton County Jail in 1921, according to Dr. W. T. Lindsay, jail physician, who has had sixteen years' experience in the treatment of addicts.

It was announced on Tuesday that Mr. Horovitz, who now has laboratories in New York, had a remedy called "narcosan," which, in seven months' confirmatory tests in the correctional hospital on Welfare Island had cured 334 of 336 patients.

The drug tried out here had not then been named by Mr. Horovitz, who, after his unsuccessful efforts, went to New York and established laboratories to continue his experiments.

"We tried several hundred ampules of the earlier drug," said Dr. Lindsay. "As I remember, we were supposed to give two ampules a day to each patient. I do not remember how many patients were treated, but it must have been thirty or forty. In not one instance was the remedy, at that time, found to be efficacious. The prisoners returned to the old habit as soon as they were freed from jail."

Charles G. Merrell, President of the company which employed Horowitz, here, said it was his impression that the original formula was not discovered by Horovitz, but by New York physicians.

TO ASK LIFE TERMS FOR DRUG PEDDLERS

Pan-American Congress Wants Law Changed in Move to Stamp Out the Evil.

NATION'S LAXITY SCORED

Major Brewster Calls Contrast in Outlays for Dry and Narcotic Laws "Inconceivable."

It is "inconceivable that the Government should spend tens of millions of dollars on the enforcement of prohibition, which is highly unpopular in many parts of the country, and at the same time neglect its enforcement of the Federal laws against illicit sale and traffic in narcotics," Major Sydney W. Brewster, Warden of District Prisons and the House of Detention for Men, here, said yesterday in addressing the Pan-American Commercial Congress at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Following the Major's address the congress instructed its Resolutions Committee to follow out a suggestion made from the floor that a resolution be adopted calling for a more drastic law in punishing drug peddlers. The resolution will propose that convicted peddlers be sentenced to life terms.

Major Brewster said there were approximately 300 field agents in the narcotic unit on a budget of $1,250,000 and that the field force, especially in port cities, was greatly undermanned, there being but twenty-nine men in the New York district. He commented on the recent appointment of 900 agents to the prohibition force and said it would have been wiser to assign the same number of men to the enforcement of the narcotic laws.

The speaker quoted reports which showed the average age of the addict to be twenty-three years. He declared that statistics showed 40 per cent. of the prisoners in the Federal penitentiaries were drug addicts, adding that a report from Sing Sing recently was that one out of every eleven prisoners there had been addicted to drugs. Discussing the treatment given in the various city institutions, he declared that narcosan had not as yet been proved a sure cure. There was no permanent cure, he went on, although much was to be hoped for in the promotion of the new discovery.

Major Brewster, who is Secretary of the General Committee of the World Conference on Narcotics, asked that his listeners cooperate in the plan of educating the young against the perils of narcotics. He likened the drug peddler to the "rat" in a bubonic plague. He recalled cases where the peddlers had used children in the promotion of sales.

In discussing the drug addict situation in this city Major Brewster said: "It is interesting to note that out of 6,363 cases treated at our drug hospital, Department of Correction, 1,278 had been received previously for other offenses; that in the year of 1925 in the drug hospital of the Department of Correction, 1,490 cases were received, of which 429 cases were self-committed for purpose of taking the cure and 134 were convicted of other offenses but found to be in need of treatment.

"It was also found that an average of 70 per cent. of all received had previous records. Of the 429 received as self-committed, 190 received the cure for the first time, 229 received the cure two or more times and 236 had received previous sentences for possession or selling of drugs, and of the same 429 self-committed drug addicts, 125 had served previous sentences for offenses other than drugs.

Other speakers were John Mitchell, Dandridge Spotswood, John Meigs, Irving L. Goldsmith and J. R. Arturo. Dr. Clarence J. Owens presided. The final session will be held today when the Woman's Auxiliary meets and the Resolutions Committee reports.

AMAZED BY AMERICAN LIFE.

Mme. Lapauze of Paris Says City's Bigness and Vitality Thrill Her.

Mme. Marie Paule Lapauze, publisher of two French magazines and a curator of the Luxembourg Museum in Paris, who arrived here two weeks ago to study American life and institutions, was the principal guest at a luncheon yesterday at the New York Advertising Club, 23 Park Avenue.

New York, she declared, was a combination of amazing bigness and tremendous vitality, with a modern adaptation of the artistic traditions of Europe.

"I came to your country to observe for myself all the wonderful things I had heard about it, many of which I had taken with a grain of salt," she said. "But I found they were realities, and I am truly amazed at the marvelous development in modern life I find here, notably in the field of architecture."

Dr. Harris in Lecture Reconstructs Tragic Scene With Jesus at Last Supper.

LEGEND ON VESSEL THE KEY

To That, 'What Are You Here For?' Jesus Alluded, Lecturer Says, When Exposing Betrayer.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A dramatic reconstruction of the scene at the Last Supper between Jesus Christ and his betrayer, Judas, was made in a lecture at Manchester tonight by Dr. James Rendel Harris, a scriptural scholar. Dr. Harris based his version of the scene largely on the Greek inscription deciphered around the rim of a glass cup of the first century, which had come into his possession and which, as cabled to THE NEW YORK TIMES on Nov. 28, last, is supposed to be identical with that from which Christ and his Disciples drank.

The cup is only 4½ inches high and 2⅝ inches in diameter. It is a tiny thing to have outlasted so many centuries, but Dr. Harris seemed to read on it as in a crystal incidents that marked that tragic occasion when Christ and his Disciples broke bread together.

"I am going to show you," said Dr. Harris, "not the actual cup used at the Last Supper, but at least one cognate with the table furniture of that meal. By its means we shall be able to restore to reality certain incidents of the Last Supper and of the betrayal associated with it."

He explained that the honor of the actual discovery of the significance of the cup belonged to a German professor, Dr. Deissman, to whom the cup was shown by Dr. Wiegand of the Berlin Museum, who had dug up the cup in the Crimea. Dr. Deissman, after satisfying himself that the cup was a Sidonian product of the first century, had elucidated a passage of Scripture by his interpretation of the legend which in Greek letters encircled the cup. The legend, which was an encouragement of conviviality, ran:

"What are you here for? Be merry."

This had been rendered by St. Matthew in his account of the conversation between Christ and Judas.

"Jesus," said Dr. Harris, "reminded Judas of the cup out of which they had just drunk together. He did this by quoting the first part of the inscription around the cup, namely, 'What are you here for?' or, 'Friend, wherefore art thou come?' as St. Matthew had translated it. The translators of the revised version of the Scriptures had omitted the question mark, and, to cover up their error, had wrongly interpolated the relative pronoun, making Jesus' words read, 'Friend, do that for which thou art come.'

"'Is this your cup of kindness, Judas?' would be a modern parallel of Jesus' use of the first part of the cup's inscription to show Judas that his treachery was known.

"Now, you see," said Dr. Harris, "why Judas went away and hanged himself. It was a question of exposed disloyalty by the one to whom Judas had been disloyal. The exposing was done in such a simple and in such a painfully delicate way, and yet it could not have been done so well in any other way."

BRITISH PARLIAMENT TO ADOPT NEW NAME

It Will Be Known Next Session as "Parliament of United Kingdom of Britain and North Ireland."

PROROGUED UNTIL FEB. 8

King's Speech Calls for National Unity and Touches on China and the Duke's Australian Visit.

By T. R. YBARRA.

By Wireless to The New York Times.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Parliament was prorogued today, never again to meet under its present name. Instead, at its next meeting it will be known by the new title, coined as a result of the recommendations made by the Imperial Conference just held here, of "The Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland."

This seems to indicate that there will also be a change in the title of King George in accordance with the other recommendations of the conference. But on this point the Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, refused today to give a definite answer.

The prorogation was carried out with its traditional picturesque ceremonial. At 1:20 o'clock this afternoon, in the House of Lords, the Lords Commissioners, gloriously bedecked in flaming scarlet and gold, received the black rod from the official known as the "Black Rod" and took their seats before the throne. For some minutes they waited, stiff and motionless, until the shouts of "Make way for the Black Rod," "Make way for Mr. Speaker," told the assemblage that the members of the House of Commons were coming to pay an official visit to the House of Lords. As the Commons filed in the Commissioners raised their black hats in salute.

Chancellor Reads Speech.

After several bills had been hurriedly made into acts by a repetition by two clerks of the old Norman French formula of "Le Roi le Veult," the Lord Chancellor read the King's speech, allowing his voice to dwell impressively for a moment on the portion where the monarch, alluding to the industrial troubles, called upon all to forget the bitter memories of the past and to unite in trying to bring a prosperous, happy future. Then Parliament was officially informed that it was prorogued until Feb. 8.

Thereupon the members of the House of Commons returned thither and the Speaker again read the King's speech and announced the prorogation. The final ceremony consisted in the members filing past the Speaker, the hardest worked member of the House, thanking him for his faithful services during the session.

Final Session Was Busy.

Important subjects were touched upon at today's final session, but only cursorily. Asked regarding the Government's policy on the withdrawal of the Allied troops from the Rhineland, the Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, said that the British Government was consulting with the other Governments having troops along the Rhine.

He added that troops can be withdrawn before the date fixed by the Treaty of Versailles only through a special arrangement between the occupying powers and the German authorities.

To questions regarding the recent appalling number of accidents in the British air force, Sir Samuel Hoare, the Secretary for Air, declared it was erroneous to maintain that the French air force was suffering proportionately less in accidents than the British.

Sir L. Worthington-Evans, Secretary for War, declared that the deaf and dumb man lying in a hospital in Rotterdam, Holland, who is supposed to be a World War victim but unable to remember his identity, is not a British subject, though he served in the British Army.

This again brings to the fore the theory discussed at length recently that the man is an American. There was no further discussion, however, in the House today of the case, so no further information was elicited, except a statement from the Secretary of War that the man's loss of memory does not date from the war, but is much more recent.

The President of the Board of Trade, when asked whether he had power to prevent the transfer of the Leyland or other steamship lines to the United States flag, read a clause of the agreement with the International Mercantile Marine Company providing that no ship shall be transferred to a foreign registry without the written consent of the President of the Board of Trade.

Prime Minister Baldwin took little part in today's proceedings. Questioned regarding the changes in the titles of the King and Parliament he said:

"The point has been considered and when legislation is introduced in the next session to enable the contemplated change in the King's title to be effected, the Government will take the opportunity of proposing that the title of Parliament should in future be 'The Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.'"

Asked whether the King's title would undergo a similar change, Mr. Baldwin refused to commit himself.

King Pleads for Unity.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—In his speech of prorogation read by the Chancellor, King George touched on the situation in China, the recent Imperial Conference, the coal strike and the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of York to Australia to inaugurate the new federal capital, Canberra.

The Chinese situation is "being watched by my Government with the closest attention," the King said, adding: "Our country is animated by strong sympathy for that vast majority of the Chinese people whose aspirations are for settled conditions, a new era of prosperity and friendly relations with the foreign powers."

For the first time in history the King departed from the formula whereby British monarchs have referred to the Cabinet as "My Ministers." He spoke of "my Ministers from the Dominions," thereby further confirming the autonomous status of the various commonwealths as voiced by the recent Imperial Conference.

Regarding home affairs he said:

"During the greater part of the present year the nation has lived in the shadow of the most protracted and ruinous industrial conflict in its history (the coal strike). When last addressing you, I expressed earnest hope that the report of the commissioners upon the economic condition of the coal industry would, with the willing cooperation of all concerned, pave the way to a peaceful solution of this great social and economic problem.

"This hope was not fulfilled. It remains for us now to unite in effacing all the bitter memories of the past and to set our eyes steadfastly upon the future, inspired by a common impulse toward genuine fellowship and sustained endeavor, upon which alone the prosperity and happiness of my people can be firmly based."

DIGGING UP ZEUS TEMPLE.

American Archaeologist Resumes Work at Classic Nemea.

ATHENS, Dec. 15 (AP).—Although American excavations at Corinth had been suspended for the Autumn, Carl W. Blegen, acting-director of the American School of Classical Studies, has resumed work at Nemea, the mythical home of the Nemean lion, slain by Hercules.

Mr. Blegen has set ninety men at work to clear the foundations of the altar, discovered last year, which forms part of the Temple of Zeus, as well as the temple itself. In addition, he began to dig in the stadium, in which the Nemean games were held every two years, and to clear the western end of the gymnasium, adjoining the palestra, or wrestling ground.

He has also done some exploration in the prehistoric settlement in the village of Heraklela.

Vatican Labor Spurns Pay Rise Given by Pope; Major Domo's Resignation Is Reported

ROME, Dec. 15 (AP).—Labor troubles have again broken out in the Vatican. The agitation among minor employes, discontented over the apportionment of the new wage increases, culminated this evening in the report that Mgr. Samper, Papal Major Domo and Prefect of the Apostolic Palaces, had offered his resignation to the Pope after a special meeting of high prelates.

However, the Vatican denied the resignation, although the report was circulated widely in ecclesiastical circles, causing a great stir, because for a long time Mgr. Samper has been mentioned as a possibility for the College of Cardinals.

Discontent among the minor Vatican employes has been manifest for several months, but it seemed to have been allayed after the Pope granted wage increases with provision that they be retrocactive.

A few days ago, however, a group of workers refused to accept the wage arrears. They declared that those entrusted with the task of distribution had failed to carry out the work properly, and that they did not consult the foreman of the laborers, although expressly ordered to do so by the Pontiff.

The discontent effected the museum attachés, gardeners, cleaners, sweepers of the Pope's chambers and several other classes. They maintain that their increases amounted to much less than what the ushers and doormen had received.

GERMANY CLOSES DEAL FOR WORKS IN FRANCE

Building of Three Reservoir Dams on Eastern Frontier to Apply on Reparations.

By Wireless to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—Germany realized her long cherished dream to pay part of her reparation obligations today by closing a deal to undertake construction schemes in France, using German materials and German labor and crediting the project against the reparations debt. Three reservoir dams will be constructed across the Berdon Valley in Southeastern France to protect cultivated lands from Spring freshets and store the waters, which will be used to furnish power to four Departments along the French eastern frontier. One thousand men will be employed to build the dams and install the power plants, and the project will require more than two years.

Rhineland construction firms have arranged contracts with the French Departments and the unemployed in the Rhineland and the Ruhr will have preference for these jobs. The men will live in barracks, and arrangements have been made to furnish movies, libraries, hospitals and sport fields.

The transfer agent at Berlin, although knowing that such a project was planned, has not been officially notified that the deal has been closed, but he says the Agent General's Office never is informed until a deal between the parties concerned is fully completed.

Tory Shouts 'Brains' When Labor M. P. Asks Why Judge Gets More Pay.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—David Kirkwood, the fiery Scottish Labor M. P., who likes to call a spade a spade, has come a cropper in the House of Commons that is giving his political friends and foes alike a chuckle.

It happened in the course of a discussion on the appointment of two Judges with Indian experience on the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council at £2,000 a year.

Mr. Kirkwood thought this was far too much and did not mince his words. "What have these Judges got that I have not?" he roared.

"Brains!" came a stentorian voice from the Conservative benches.

The House collapsed. Mr. Kirkwood roared back that he would take the others on, one and all, on any kind of brainy prowess, but even his political friends laughed heartily.

FRANCE LACKS PLAN FOR FRANC STABILITY

Poincare Is Silent on Policy as Business Interests Clamor Against High Living Cost.

UNEMPLOYMENT GROWING

Workless Are a Factor for First Time Since the War—Trade Orders Show Large Decline.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Returning to Paris after an absence of nearly two months, one is struck by the fact, along with the sensational improvement in the value of the paper franc, that there has developed no plan for stabilization or conversion.

Only three or four months ago, when the franc was worth only about half what it is now, nearly every political leader had some scheme for saving it. Some wished to stabilize it at 8 to 1, others at 7 to 1 or six to 1, but now, if Premier Poincaré has any intention of attempting a permanent conversion, he keeps it a close-guarded secret.

It is quite apparent that the franc has recovered further than M. Poincaré expected.

The budget which is being put through Parliament this week is calculated on a basis of the franc at thirty to the dollar and 150 to the pound, whereas today the franc is twenty-five to the dollar and 123 to the pound.

The only formula which the Premier has put forth is that he is seeking stabilization in fact before resorting to official stabilization. No one here seems to understand very clearly what this means and, although there is the greatest respect for what the Premier has done to bolster up the franc, there also seems to be a very general demand that on the one hand it shall not go much higher and on the other hand that business be protected against a sudden fall in its value.

Much advice is being given to the Premier, perhaps more than he cares for, the general tone of it being that almost a billion dollars worth of gold is now at the disposal of the Bank of France which could be used to effect monetary stability.

Business Falling Off.

It takes only a cursory glance to show that the rise in the franc has greatly curtailed French business and not only has there been a considerable falling off in the export business of luxury manufacturers, but domestic business has slowed up in great proportions.

Of course this is inevitable, but the realization of what the betterment of the franc means to business is causing a good deal of worry. For the first time since the war France is beginning to feel the burden of unemployment, and this burden is likely to increase. For example, automobile industry orders have fallen away 50 per cent. over those of two months ago. Large Paris stores report that Christmas business is only slightly more than half that of twelve months ago. High priced restaurants and hotels have begun to suffer, especially the Montmartre night resorts, where champagne at 250 francs a bottle is one thing to visiting tourists when the franc is worth two cents and quite another thing when the franc is worth four cents.

Living Costs Still High.

M. Poincaré's hopes for a decrease in prices show themselves slow of realization. While many stores advertise a reduction of prices, the general cost of living has not yet come down, and in many instances it is higher than when the franc was worth about one-half of its present international value.

Naturally enough the difference is felt less by Frenchmen, whose pay remains about the same in francs, than by the foreigners visiting France or doing business with France, and this is causing a good deal of speculation as to what effect the rise of the franc will have on the tourist business in France, which, since the war, has grown to great proportions and has been a great source of wealth to the country.

The foreign commerce figures for the month of November published today cannot of course be regarded as an accurate indication of the results of the rise in the franc on the country's foreign trade, because there would not be time for the effect to be felt.

Imports show a falling off of about 100,000,000 francs from those of October, while exports fell off 800,000,000 francs. Both exports and imports stand in excess of those of November, 1925. It will take about two months for the effect of the franc's rise to show itself in the figures of the country's foreign trade.

BUSH URGES LOAN TO FRANCE.

Terminal Head Writes Dawes "It Would Be a Fine, Friendly Gesture."

Irving T. Bush, President of the Bush Terminal Company, wrote yesterday to Vice President Dawes, urging a "moderate loan" to France to assist in stabilization of the franc.

Mr. Bush says that the situation in France is now critical, and that while he has no sympathy with the theory of debt cancellation he believes it is time to help France put its "house in order," a proceeding already under the direction of President Poincaré.

"Such a loan," said the letter, "would make certain the stabilization of the franc at a time when it is trembling in the balance. It would restore to a sound basis of revaluation the last sick currency among the great nations of Western Europe. It would promote international trade and have many collateral effects which would benefit this country. It would prove to the French people that we do not hold aloof in their trouble and would be a satisfactory answer to the very considerable sentiment in this country which favors help to France, even to the point of complete cancellation of their debt. It would be an added moral obligation upon the French people to recognize their obligation to us."

Tollefsen Trio at Hunter College.

The Tollefsen Trio, consisting of Augusta Tollefsen, piano; Carl Tollefsen, violin, and Paul Gruppe, cello, played last night at Hunter College. The program began with Beethoven's Trio in C minor, Op. 1, No. 3, and a trio by Gretchaninow followed, with the usual interpretative remarks and illustrations by Dr. Henry T. Fleck.

AMERICAN WARSHIP HOLDS CHINESE AT BAY

Reported to Be Protecting Three Steamers Seized by Yang Sen for Retreating Troops.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—American naval authorities are taking strong action against General Yang Sen, prominent in the Wanhsien clash with the British, according to a Shanghai dispatch to The Daily Telegraph.

Having been completely defeated by the Cantonese, Yang Sen is now being driven into Szechuan Province. In order to facilitate his retreat he attempted to commandeer American, British and Japanese vessels.

"A British gunboat is now guarding three British ships," says the dispatch, "while an American gunboat threatens to open fire if any attempt should be made to move three American steamers which had been seized and loaded with Yang Sen's troops.

"An American gunboat, according to the latest message received here, has her guns trained on these ships, ready to fire if the order is ignored.

"Japanese vessels, however, have been seized and have transported Yang Sen's troops to I Chang."

Sun Loses Control of Chekiang.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15.—Chekiang Province declared its independence and cut the Hangchow-Shanghai Railway near Hangchow early this morning.

It appears that this movement is not so much against General Sun Chuan-Fang, the present ruler of Chekiang, as for self-protection against the Cantonese.

General Chen Yi, whom Sun had installed as Civil Governor, has not been strong enough to resist the desire of the Chekiang people for provincial autonomy, while at the same time he has been dependent on the province for money to pay his troops.

In this predicament he has been bargaining with the Cantonese not to invade Chekiang, as they were preparing to do, pledging in return that he will no longer support Sun.

It is believed that Sun is agreeable to this arrangement.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15 (AP).—The city of Hangchow is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese.

STAFFORDSHIRE POTTERY FIGURINES

"The Sailor's Return from America"

An amusing, and also typical, pair of early Staffordshire pottery figurines. Highly decorative and possessed of vivid personality, these Georgian figures, pairs and groups, so popular at the time of their inception, are also very much the vogue today.

As mantel and as cupboard decorations, especially in Colonial and Georgian rooms, early Staffordshire figurines are greatly in demand. Some pieces, in the forms of jugs and creamers, add practicality to all their other virtues.

Though every piece is a creditable example of its species, some may be had for as little as $30.00.

SOVIET WRANGLINGS HURT STATE CREDIT

Ceaseless Bickering in Moscow Is Said to Be Alarming Many Foreign Concessionaires.

OPPOSITION IS DENOUNCED

Pravda Demands That Kameneff, Trotsky and Zinovieff Submit to Party's Discipline or Leave It.

By WALTER DURANTY.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—The most vehement denunciation of the Communist Party opposition yet published appears in today's Pravda, an editorial in which demands in categorical terms that the Opposition leaders choose whether to yield to party discipline or not.

In the same edition is reported a speech of M. Kameneff, which, like his opposition colleagues, MM. Trotsky and Zinovieff, is apparently mild and reasonable, but, nevertheless, positively insistent as they, upon the rightness of the Opposition attitude.

Here comes the crux of the whole question; according to Communist law any one has the right to express his views at a party conference; but, once they are not accepted by the majority, the dissenting person or persons must accept the party ruling, or get out. This always has been the party rule and the Pravda makes it clear that no change will be made for M. Trotsky and his friends, "who appear to think themselves above the party."

Rykov Warns Opposition.

A speech of M. Rykov published today also contains a direct hint to the same effect. M. Rykov twits M. Kameneff about his statement that he is being sent off to Italy in accordance with the theory expressed in Plato's republic, that the insubordinate elements must be sent away from an ideal State.

Two years ago, says M. Rykov, when MM. Kameneff and Zinovieff disagreed with M. Trotsky they showed "platonism" by demanding his expulsion. They have now joined him in his insubordination and must not be surprised if platonism is applied to them, he adds.

In some quarters here it is thought that the Opposition leaders are deliberately challenging the Administration to expel them from the Communist Party.

But the speech of M. Kameneff, who has obviously acted in concert with MM. Trotsky and Zinovieff (the three speeches form a series each amplifying the other), indicated that the three old champions of the international revolutionary movement are honestly preoccupied by the present "nationalist" Russian policy, and the tendency to concentrate attention in the East rather than in the West.

All three are essentially "Westerners" and Internationalists, as the late Lenin was a Westerner and an Internationalist, until General Weygand rolled back the Red armies from Warsaw.

There followed, it is true, an unsuccessful revolutionary movement in Bulgaria in the Summer of 1923 and a stillborn project for a revolution in Germany in the Fall of the same year.

But the defeat at Warsaw was the real turning point which set Russian eyes looking eastward in one of the periodic swings of the pendulum that have characterized the expansion policy of this country during the last hundred years.

Polemics Disturbs State.

But the individual fate of the opposition leaders and the rights and wrongs of this prolonged dialetic wrangle are insignificant compared to the practical business damage which is being inflicted upon the Soviet State, if for no other reason than the demands it makes upon the time and energy of the country's rulers.

The early Christians might dispute about an iota in a Greek participle, or medieval Talmudic doctors argue an abstruse point for seventy hours without cessation. But they were not running an enormous country in an excruciatingly critical period when economic recovery from disastrous foreign and civil wars seems to be pushed to the extreme limit of its resources.

The effect which the opposition arguments are having upon the policy of economic collaboration with the world is becoming, frankly, disastrous. Competent foreign observers estimate the present commitments of the Soviet Union abroad (that is, credits obtained to date) at not far short of a quarter of a billion dollars. This, perhaps, is an excessive figure; but that the amount is extremely large cannot be questioned.

The Opposition brings this growing collaboration forward to support its thesis, and, for the time being, at any rate, the Administration, in its desire to refute the Opposition, tends to confuse the principal foreign concessionaires now operating in Russia.

It is also a fact that a number of foreign business firms that had satisfactory trade relations with the Soviet during the past three or four years are now inclined to restrict operations instead of extending them, although this tendency is partly based upon the fear that three good harvests in a row are too much for any one familiar with Russia to expect and that a bad crop next year may lead to a financial crisis.

This fear is perhaps unjustified, for the condition of Fall-planted grain is equal, if not superior, to that of last year; but no one can deny that the strain upon the internal resources has reached sufficient tension to warrant anxiety in the event of any marked change in the Soviet policy of economic rapprochement with the world.

SAYS MRS. CHRISTIE STILL LACKS MEMORY

Husband of Novelist Asserts She Has Only Faint Idea of Her Identity.

SPECIALISTS ARE SKEPTICAL

Question Is Raised as to Who Is to Pay for Search Costing Thousands of Pounds.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Agatha Christie was recuperating today from her eleven-day disappearance at the house of her sister near Manchester. She is being kept in the strictest seclusion.

"My wife is far too ill to be worried," said her husband, Colonel Archibald Christie, today. "How she got to Harrogate she doesn't know, except that she got there by train. She has a faint idea that she is Mrs. Christie and that I am not her brother, as she first thought, but her husband."

Although her husband states she is suffering from loss of memory, reports of the life of the missing writer of detective novels at the fashionable Harrogate hotel where she was found indicate that she got along beautifully without it. She sang, danced, chatted and generally acted like the average patron. She registered under the name of Mrs. Tressa Neele of South Africa.

Demand for Her Books Jumps.

What Mrs. Christie has suffered in loss of memory has been her gain financially. At least two newspapers are publishing her novels in serial form and book publishers have been rushing her old works to meet the demand caused by her sensational disappearance and the equally sensational search for her.

Hundreds of amateur detectives were today putting away their lynx eyes, gum shoes and Sherlock Holmes peajackets and resting from their weary trampings over the Surrey Downs. The non-detective portion of the public is enjoying a laugh at their expense because they, as well as the "regulars," did not think it worth their while to follow the obvious clue which would have led them to their quarry, since Mrs. Christie left a note wherein she said she was going to a "Yorkshire spa." She went to the best known of the Yorkshire spas.

Had Gay Time at Hotel.

While every other patron in her hotel was interested in her disappearance she herself did not recognize the numerous photographs of herself in the newspapers at the hotel, although her interest in such mysteries had been life-long.

After her husband, Colonel Christie, had met his wife in the lobby and had been welcomed by her with a "stony stare," the police examined the room, finding a score of detective novels and a bottle which they confiscated.

Thousands of people gathered at the railway stations along the Harrogate-to-London line to catch a glimpse of Mrs. Christie. At Harrogate her husband hurried her into a private compartment. He refused to permit any one to speak to her. It was noticed that she appeared to be in good humor, while her husband seemed very worried.

The Christies fooled the crowd of people waiting at the London station by changing cars at Leeds and proceeding to Manchester, where they went to the home of Mrs. Christie's sister at Cheadle.

Newspapers and medical men show reluctance to accept the case as one of lost memory. Two leading mental specialists consulted by The Westminster Gazette were agreed, says that paper, "that whatever may have been the cause of Mrs. Christie's extraordinary behavior, it was not loss of memory."

One specialist, who has an international reputation is quoted as saying, "a person who has lost his or her memory may lose all recollection of identity without losing memory of things like music but he or she would be in such a state of distress that it would be apparent to everybody and they would not calmly manufacture a new identity, as Mrs. Christie did with such completeness."

Another authority whose contributions to the pathology of the mind have earned knighthood for him gave it as his firm conviction that a person suffering from loss of memory could not act in a normal manner nor mix with the public without arousing suspicions of insanity.

Meanwhile the question is being asked, "Who is going to refund to the rate payers the cost of the extensive police search for Mrs. Christie and who is going to pay for the damage done by the searchers in the neighborhood of Newlands corner?"

GENEVA, Dec. 15—Ralph Dawson, an American, is participating in the work of the Experts' Committee on the legislation concerning bills of exchange and checks which met at the League Secretariat today.

The committee is studying the difficulties encountered by international trade owing to the divergencies of various legislations on bills exchange, as well as the relative urgency and importance of these difficulties, in order to ascertain whether and how they may gradually be reduced or eliminated.

POLISH MINISTER CALMS AGITATION ON REICH

Zaleski Minimizes Press Talk on Lifting the Military Control in Germany.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, Dec. 15.—Foreign Minister Zaleski, in an interview tonight, minimized the bitter campaign in the press against lifting the allied military control in Germany, declaring that it was not so serious as supposed by the element who heralded it as a sign of a new attack by the Reich.

"The plan made two years ago is merely being carried out," he said, "but mistakes have been made in that the Commissioners have not seen the eastern frontier, where fortifications are being constructed.

"Poland hopes that the new League Committee on Armament will be more careful than the last one and that peaceful relations will be maintained, though this is not expected."

A minority fight featured the day, with a clash last night between the monarchist factions, which indicates that all is not going as well as is desired in their quarters. Two groups assembled near Warsaw last night under the monarchist flag, one under leadership of Professor Dzierzjgowski, which clashed with a faction headed by M. Obierzierski. The furniture of an entire house was destroyed and several shots were fired, no one, however, being seriously wounded.

Both these factions are not identified with the genuine monarchistic movement.

PLEA FOR TOYS FOR THE ILL.

Dr. Harris Asks City to Aid Children in Contagious Disease Wards.

An appeal for Christmas presents for children ill in the contagious disease hospitals of the city was issued yesterday by Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health. Because of the character of their illnesses these children are isolated.

"I call upon the big-hearted people of our city to think of these little sufferers who are compelled to be confined to their beds in hospital wards on Christmas day," said Commissioner Harris. "I hope every one will contribute, as far as they are able, toward making the day as happy as possible for these children."

The General Emergency Committee, 799 Broadway, announced yesterday that a Christmas drive for the sick and needy children of the striking textile workers of Passaic would be conducted for a week, beginning Saturday. Food and clothing sent to headquarters at Room 512, 799 Broadway, will be distributed to the youngsters in the strike area.

FINED FOR WRITING OF JAIL CONFESSION

Ex-Governor of British Prison Must Pay £250 for Revealing Murderer's Story.

COUNSEL POINTS TO OTHERS

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Major Frederick Wallace Blake, ex-Governor of Pentonville Prison, was today fined £250 and costs for disclosing in a newspaper article the confession made by a murderer on his way to the gallows. The murderer was Frederick Bywaters, the ship steward who stabbed Frederick Thompson in 1922 and paid the capital penalty with Mrs. Thompson, who was accused of having incited him to commit the crime.

Major Blake was convicted under the Official Secrets act, which makes it illegal for persons holding or having held official positions to disclose improperly information which comes into their possession in their official capacity.

A strong point was made by his counsel, Doland Oliver, of the fact that other persons in higher official posts than Major Blake had disclosed official secrets and had not been prosecuted. His reference, which was interpreted to apply to certain prominent political diarists, caused a stir in the court and brought objection from the Judge.

Mr. Oliver pointed to the formidable array of forensic talent brought to bear on Major Blake by the prosecution and said it was like using a steam hammer to crush a nut. He maintained the case had been brought to court as an example.

"Everybody in this country," he said, "has for years read of people in eminent positions who have been publishing and broadcasting things and articles and news they learned when in official positions, things which at the time they learned them were deadly secrets, and they have been publishing them year after year. You may well imagine that the authorities have writhed under it and have thought to themselves 'dare we?' and have answered, 'no.'"

The Judge interrupted that there must be a limit to Mr. Oliver's illustrations.

"I will leave it," said Mr. Oliver, "with the observation that an ex-Cabinet Minister would cut a sorry figure and that an ex-Field Marshal who was once a popular hero might resuscitate his heroism and popularity if he were put into the dock."

The Judge said he would not inflict the shame of imprisonment on Major Blake, but he did not think money should have been made out of the publication of official secrets. As Major Blake had been paid 300 guineas for his article he must now pay a £250 fine and costs.

PSYCHOLOGICAL NOVEL WINS GONCOURT PRIZE

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—The Goncourt prize for the year's best novel was awarded today by the famous literary academy to Henri Deberly for his volume "Le Supplice de Phèdre."

The traditional luncheon, held annually at Drouant's restaurant, preceded the vote, ten "academicians" gathering round the table laden with the plentiful good cheer and liberal flow of France's best vintage.

The award of the prize this year was hotly contested, only going to the winner after the votes had been cast seven times, instead, as is habitually the case, of two or three, Henri Deberly finally carrying off the coveted honor by six against four.

The author was born in Amiens in 1892 and has already written several striking volumes. He leads a retired life and does not belong to any of the numerous literary coteries.

"The Supplice de Phèdre" is rather a daring book which, however, is written with steady restraint and entire good taste; it analizes a woman who discovers she is giving way to a forbidden love and has the strength of character to renounce and flee the presence of the man she would otherwise have followed. Other works of Henri Deberly are "Pancloche," "L'Impudente," and "L'Ennemi des Siens."

Another important literary award was made this afternoon when a jury composed of women writers voted Charles Sylvestre the winner of the "Femina et Vie Heureuse," prize for his book "Prodige du Coeur."

Nobel Peace Award of 950,000 Francs Will Not Be Assessed.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Foreign Minister Briand's happiness over sharing the Nobel peace prize with his British and German colleagues has been further increased by the announcement of the French tax officials that not a single penny will be deducted from the prize in taxes.

Briand's share is estimated at 950,000 francs—a sizeable fortune even today in France.

There had been much speculation as to the sum the fiscal authorities would require for taxation.

FAVORS HELP FOR CHINA.

But Strawn Says Intervention There Would Be Foolish.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, who was Chairman of the Chinese Extraterritoriality Conference, one of the President's callers today, does not believe this country should intervene in China, but should be as helpful as possible.

Mr. Strawn said conditions are so confused that no sensible person would suggest intervention. The things that seem permanent there today, he added, might be completely absent tomorrow.

"Only three things are certain in China," Mr. Strawn said—"war, because it is the most profitable industry in China; children, because they are in accordance with the Chinese religion, and poverty, which usually follows war and children."

Mr. Strawn was unable to verify reports that Great Britain might recognize the Canton Government. He said he had no information that Americans with property interests in China were urging American intervention.

AMERICAN BISHOPS DENOUNCE MEXICO

satisfaction with the Constitution they gave us and demand its overthrow; for no American can accept the Mexican theory of Government as being in accord with fundamental justice without repudiating his own traditions and ideals. The very audacity and boldness of the Mexican Government in thus appealing to us for sympathy in favor of laws and conduct at variance with our most cherished political convictions has been, perhaps, the chief reason why the fact of their opposition to these convictions has been overlooked.

"In the commonly accepted American doctrine," the letter continues, "a constitution vests a government with such rights and powers as are necessary for the proper exercise of its just functions, and at the same time forbids it to encroach upon rights of a higher order which come to men, not from the people, nor from the State, nor from any aggregation of States, but from the creator of both men and States, Almighty God. This conception is wholly in keeping with the teaching of the Catholic Church.

"The Government of Mexico, by insisting on obedience to a Constitution made without reference to justice by a handful of military rulers, contrary to human rights and never submitted to the people for ratification, insists that the individual citizen has no rights that his Government is bound to respect; that there are no limits to the powers of government. No doctrine could be more certain than that to sweep out of existence the sturdy self-reliance of a people, to sow discord within and enmity without. The power of the State, coming from God, may be bestowed by the people, but when thus bestowed, it does not and cannot include what is not within the competency of the State to accept. Had God ordained the rule of the State over the soul and conscience, He would have given the State the means to direct conscience and control the operations of the soul, since He gives means to the end. The sanctuary of the soul and of conscience the State cannot invade.

Sees Blow at All Religion.

Contrasting the religious freedom under the laws of the United States, the letter recites a list of persecutions to which the Catholic Church in Mexico has been subjected, in what is characterized as an effort to destroy religion.

"According to the present Constitution of Mexico," this indictment begins, "no religious society may enjoy the right of corporate legal existence. Officially there are no Churches in Mexico, for a Church cannot possess anything, lacks the right of petition for redress of grievances, cannot sue or be sued in the civil courts and in general is entirely without legal standing. Clergymen are disfranchised by the fact of ordination. A Church cannot own the buildings in which its public worship is held. It cannot possess endowments. It cannot take up a collection or a subscription outside the doors of the building used for religious services. That building, however, is owned by the Government, though paid for and supported by the people. The Government merely allows the rightful owner to use it at the good pleasure of State officials. All Churches in Mexico, therefore, have to be supported by collections during the services. Now Churches are mainly supported everywhere by subscriptions accepted apart from the acts of worship themselves. With us, nearly all church building is paid for in that way. This is forbidden in Mexico, not by a mere regulation, but by constitutional enactment.

"In order to make this enactment effective, a Church is not allowed to possess houses for its Bishops, priests, ministers, teachers or superintendents. Its future may not be provided for, because it cannot have a seminary in which a clergy may be trained to take places made vacant by death or incapacity. The fact that a Church uses a building is considered good ground for holding that it really belongs to that religious body. It may then be seized and confiscated. If a clergyman even rents a home for himself, the law provides that it may be seized on mere suspicion. All property devoted by religious bodies to educational or charitable purposes is subject to confiscation. In order to make it impossible for a Church to secure a building of any kind, it is provided that, in case of seizure, no trial by jury shall be allowed should its real owner appeal for justice.

Native Clergy Impossible.

"A church, therefore, cannot own anything, cannot provide for its current expenses, cannot provide for a future clergy. A native clergy is thus made impossible, a fact which ordinarily would throw the burden of the religious care of the people upon strangers. To prevent the possibility of that happening, however, the law provides that no clergyman but a native-born Mexican may officiate in any act of worship; and in consequence foreign clergy have been expelled. Thus the law first makes it impossible for the people to have a native clergy and then impossible to have a foreign clergy; while the Government keeps assuring the world of its liberality and that there is no religious persecution in Mexico.

"The effect of such laws is felt in more than the spiritual work of the church. It is also the ruin of works of education and charity. Religion fosters education. It would be true to say that not one-third of the colleges and universities of the United States would be in existence today had it not been for the educational activity of the churches. Almost every American-born statesman and scholar up to 1840 was educated in schools established under religious auspices. All religious teaching orders have been suppressed and the formation of such orders made illegal.

Sadder still is the effect of such laws on works of charity, a special field for religious efforts. Churches have always been, and still are, the principal sources of relief for the sick and the poor. More than 60 per cent. of the hospital beds in the United States are in religious institutions.

"Again, under the Mexican law the religious press is permitted to exist only on condition of giving up its liberty. The laws and even the acts of public officials cannot be criticized by a religious paper under severe penalties, not even by secular papers betraying a religious bias. Several religious papers have already been suppressed, and even certain daily papers of large circulation that were not religious but were at least sympathetic with religion. How far such laws depart from the American ideal is shown by the Virginia Bill of Rights and other similar acts.

"It is scarcely necessary to set down the conclusions that naturally flow from the contrast we have made. They are at once apparent and must convince right thinking men and women that there can be no relationship between the principles upon which the Mexican Constitution is built, the laws that embody them, the spirit with which it is proposed they shall be enforced, and the principles, laws and spirit that are held sacred by the American people."

Partisan Politics Denied.

In its second section the letter denies the charges made by the Mexican Government, which it declares to be falsehoods, that the Catholic Church has given nothing of value to the Mexican people, but, on the contrary, has done them harm by keeping them illiterate and backward for centuries. As to the charge that the Church interfered in politics, it says: "It is true the Church is the only defender the country could find against assaults by Communists and atheists on civil, political and religious liberties. It is not true that the Church engaged in merely partisan politics."

The letter closes with the following appeal:

"For the sad days of decline the Church, forbidden by law to teach and robbed of the means to carry on her mission of enlightenment, has only to show her chains and say to her enemies: 'You blame me for poverty, yet you took from me the endowments for my hospitals, my orphanages, my countless works of mercy. You blame me for ignorance, yet you closed my schools and stole my colleges, the first to light the torch of learning on this continent. You say that I have added nothing to science and art, but you destroyed the art I brought with me and developed, burned my books and scattered the results of my labor for science to the four winds of heaven. You blame me for lawlessness, yet you destroyed my missions among a peaceful and thriving Indian population and gave to them in place of Christ's gospel the thirty pieces of silver with which you bribed them to murder their fellows. You took the cross out of their hands to replace it with a torch and a gun. Show me one good thing in Mexico I did not give you. Show me one genius for whom I was not responsible. Show me one step toward the light that I did not help you to make. Take out of your country all that I put in it and see what remains. You may thrust me out, exile my Bishops, murder my priests, again steal my schools and desecrate my sanctuaries, but you cannot blot out history, you cannot erase the mark I made on you—not in a century of centuries.'"

TURATI ARRIVES IN PARIS.

His Presence Adds to the French Anti-Fascist Problem.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Signor Filippo Turati, head of the Moderate Socialist Party of Italy, whose dramatic departure from Italy caused a stir in anti-Fascist circles, arrived in Paris today from Corsica, where he landed from a motor boat last week.

Turati's party was dissolved, and his last political speech was made on March 19, 1924, after being leader of the extremist Left in Italy for thirty years.

Turati's presence here adds to the problem, already great, imposed upon the police through the presence in the country of many leading figures in the anti-Mussolini movement.

Turati's secret departure from Italy was decided upon when friends heard that he was in considerable danger from militant Fascists.

REPORTS DEVELOPMENT OF FOLDING AIRPLANES

Assistant Secretary Warner Says Navy Can Put Them in Pigeonholes of Floating Garages.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 15 (AP).—Airplanes, which fold up their wings like birds, or collapse altogether to fit neatly into pigeonholes of enormous "floating garages," were called a development of momentous importance to the navy's air program by Edward P. Warner, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, speaking tonight before the Engineers Club.

He said mother ships for small aircraft, which have been and are being built, would permit the navy to carry its air power to sea by serving as operating bases.

Great strides were being made, he added, in perfecting planes of three classes: those with folding wings, those with removable wings, and craft which could be "entirely knocked down and its parts stacked together." The last was held to be a development of great efficiency and strategic gain.

"Such advantages," Mr. Warner declared, "are not to be had without some sacrifice at other points, but there has been a distinct gain of all three sorts within the last few years."

ALGER NO CANDIDATE FOR PRISON POST

"Absurd," He Says of Report That He May Succeed Long, Whose Ousting He Urged.

DR. CHRISTIAN MENTIONED

Suggestions in Albany dispatches yesterday that George W. Alger, who investigated the State's prisons system under appointment of Governor Smith and urged in his report that James L. Long be supplanted as State Superintendent of Prisons, might succeed Mr. Long as head of the new State Department of Correction, were frowned upon last night in quarters close to Governor Smith.

It is understood that the Governor is considering some one now connected with the State Prison system for the position, but that no one has yet been sounded out on the proposal. The name heard in connection with the report is that of Dr. Frank L. Christian, Superintendent of Elmira Reformatory. Under the Hughes reorganization plan this institution will come under the Department of Correction.

Mr. Alger denied with some heat yesterday the reports from Albany.

"It is perfectly absurd," he said. "For one thing, I haven't the time to devote to the work and for another it would be terribly bad taste for me to take this position after my criticism of Mr. Long."

Mr. Alger was the principal speaker yesterday at the annual meeting of the Girls' Service League of America, 138 East Nineteenth Street. He said that more than half the criminals committed to institutions showed danger signs in early youth.

"The boy or girl with a 'grouch attitude' is more dangerous to the community than a typhoid carrier," he said. "Back of every delinquency, behind every crime, underlying every seditious utterance, there is a driving force which, if turned into the proper channels early in life, would have been a power for good. If the resentment against school or home could have been brought up into the light of common sense and wise handling the soapbox Socialist of today would be working with the same zeal for a real and abiding democracy."

Mr. Alger praised the work of the Girls' Service League, as doing "the best preventive work I have found in my long experience."

Judge Frederic Kernochan, President of the League, in his annual report declared that the League, through its departments, the Girls' Service Club, the Service Bureau, the Mental Clinic, the Employment Exchange, and Hillcrest Farm, its home for unadjusted girls, had aided 3,976 girls in the past year.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP).—Senator John Knight, temporary President of the Senate, said today that a subcommittee of the State Crime Commission is putting into practice the suggestions for improvement in the parole system recommended by Commissioner Alger.

"Under the incoming reorganization, there will be a division of parole," Senator Knight explained. "It is the purpose to centralize the parole work in this division. It is apparent that there is need for additional officers to man the division, as Mr. Alger has pointed out.

"It is undoubtedly true that the entire new organization of this division cannot be worked out the coming year. It will doubtless be necessary to continue for the present, at least, the use of the various organizations having supervision of the paroled. Ultimately it all should be taken care of by the State. As pointed out in the Alger report, parole must be based on the deliberate judgment of the Parole Board that the prisoner will make good, rather than, as now, upon his simulated conduct in prison."

$50,000 FOR JOHNS HOPKINS

Julius Levy of Baltimore Also Leaves $110,000 for Jewish Work.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 15.—Charity and public bequests for $160,000 are listed in the will of Julius Levy, filed for probate in the Orphans Court today. Mr. Levy died on Nov. 22.

The largest is $50,000 for Johns Hopkins University. The income from one half is to be used for general purposes and from the other half for the Medical School.

The sum of $25,000 was left to the Associated Jewish Charities of Baltimore, and the same amount to the Chizuk Amuno Congregation of Baltimore.

Bequests of $10,000 each were made to the Baltimore Talmud Torah Society, the Baltimore Hebrew College and Teachers Training School, the Jewish Theological Seminary of New York, the Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary of New York and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in Palestine.

Sums of $5,000 each are set aside for the Jewish Educational Alliance and the Jewish Home for Consumptives in Reisterstown.

Only the income of these bequests shall be used. The bequests are to be called the "Julius and Etta G. Levy Fund."

Bequests to the family and business associates and employes were made, and the residue goes to his widow, Etta G. Levy.

Mr. Levy was President of M. S. Levy & Sons, founded by his father.

SOPHIA MOSQUE FOR DANCES

Business Group Proposes to Transform Constantinople Edifice.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A proposal has been made to convert the famous Sophia Mosque in Constantinople into a dancing hall. A dispatch from that city says that a group of business men have made a proposal to the Prefecture of Constantinople with that object in view on the ground that the edifice is unsuitable for religious services.

The Sophia Mosque is one of the most historic religious buildings in the world. The first church was built there by Constantine the Great in 326.

It is recalled that the palace of the Sultan was transformed recently into a luxurious casino with dancing rooms.

The Greater HOOVER

Is a Thoughtful Christmas Gift To Wife, Mother, Daughter

$6.25

First Payment

SANTA often finds a Hoover at the very top of the Christmas list—especially where husbands and wives suggest their immediate needs to each other for Christmas fulfillment. And when it is not suggested—what greater thoughtfulness than for a man to relieve his wife or mother of the burden of old-fashioned sweeping.

Give her, of course, as many lovely gifts of art and beauty as your overflowing bounty prompts.

But give her, too, a gift that while lightening her heart will lighten even more her household labor and give her time for other things.

Give her the Greater HOOVER.

A Try Out on Your Own Rugs Right In Your Home—Without Obligation

Only by actual test and demonstration can you realize the amazing speed and thoroughness of the new, Greater HOOVER.

It embodies many revolutionary improvements, among them the principle of Positive Agitation. By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up an average of 131% more dirt than its illustrious predecessor—the Hoover famous all over the world.

Saves time. Saves labor. Saves rugs. Saves youth. Saves the disposition. Saves money. Costs only $75, with immediate or Christmas delivery for as little as $6.25 first payment—the remainder conveniently extended. Call, write or phone for a demonstration now. No obligation. SAYS LOST RECORDS EXONERATE GOULD

PAPERS GONE FROM FILES

Hinckley to Dispute Senate's Jurisdiction in Charges Brought to Oust Maine Senator.

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 15 (AP).—United States Senator Arthur R. Gould was exonerated of bribery charges six years ago by an investigating committee of the New Brunswick Legislature, State Senator Frederick W. Hinckley said tonight, after word had been received from Fredericton, New Brunswick, that official records of an investigation into the St. John Valley & Quebec Railway, involving Mr. Gould, were missing from the files.

Senator Hinckley said he had been unaware of this investigation until Monday when he appeared as counsel for Mr. Gould before the Senate Committee to which had been referred charges that he paid a bribe of $100,000 in 1918 to J. K. Flemming, then Premier of New Brunswick, in relation to a contract for rights to build the railroad. He intimated that the Senate inquiry might go to the United States Supreme Court on a question of constitutionality before it was ended.

Mr. Gould explained in the campaign that the $100,000 was a political campaign assessment, paid against his wishes.

Mr. Redman, Senator Gould's Democratic opponent, when informed at his Ellsworth home that the records were missing, had no comment to make, except to say that they could be authenticated under the secondary evidence rules.

Later he added that, locked in his vault, he had a copy of Senator Gould's sworn testimony, "which the world forces on the side of liberalism will help authenticate."

Senator Hinckley, upon returning earlier in the day from Washington and New York, announced that the question of the Senate's jurisdiction in the charges against Senator Gould would be raised by him before the hearing is held on Jan. 4, the date set.

CLERGY ATTEND MATINEE.

Members of Guild of St. Cenesuis Also See All-Irish Cast Play.

Two hundred members of the Guild of St. Cenesuis, the patron saint of the actor, attended the matinee yesterday of "Autumn Fires," which is being presented by an all-Irish cast at Wallack's Theatre, Forty-second Street, west of Broadway. The members of the guild, headed by Lady Armstrong, went to the theatre after a luncheon at the Hotel Astor.

There also were in attendance fifty members of the Catholic clergy and the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, Bishop Auxiliary of New York, who were the guests of the management.

At the close of the performance the Rev. Father E. F. Leonard, pastor of the Church of St. Malachi, 239 West Forty-ninth Street, and widely known as the actors' friend, stepped upon the stage and introduced John L. Shine, the 71-year-old producer of the play, who also plays the leading rôle, that of Owen Keegan.

Mr. Shine welcomed the members of the guild and the clergy and expressed his appreciation of their patronage of a clean play in "these days of salacious filth" on the stage.

TELEPHONE CABLE TO ST. LOUIS OPENED

A. T. T. Officials of New York and Chicago Participate in Ceremonies.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company's long distance telephone cable between New York and Chicago was extended yesterday to St. Louis at exercises in which officials of the company and business men of the three cities participated.

The new cable link is 344 miles long and was finished at a cost of $7,000,000 after two years of work. Although its lead-antimony sheath is only 2⅝ inches in diameter it provides space for between 500 and 600 insulated copper wires, all protected against sleet and wind storms. This enables the company to give stable service on both telephone and telegraph, for the completed cable furnishes facilities for not only 250 telephone circuits but also the simultaneous transmission of 500 telegraph messages.

The cable was officially opened by the exchange of messages between James Brown, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York; Harold W. Bixby, President of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and William R. Dawes, President of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Walter S. Gifford, President of the telephone company, in his message over the new cable said it would result in an increased community of interest, besides better service.

"I congratulate St. Louis and Chicago upon their improved telephone connections," he said, "and I congratulate New York because it has been joined more effectively with these great midwestern centres.

"For us in the Bell telephone system, the building and placing in operation of this cable is in furtherance of our aim to furnish this country at all times with the best and most economical telephone service."

Retired Lawyer Suffers a Fractured Skull—Boy Killed by Car.

William MacNeven Purdy, a retired lawyer living at 449 Park Avenue, was taken to Reception Hospital late yesterday afternoon with a fractured skull and possibly internal injuries after he had been hit by a truck at Fifty-sixth Street and Third Avenue. According to the police, Mr. Purdy was crossing the avenue when the machine, driven by Edward Tenore of 236 Hunterdon Street, Newark, ran him down. Dr. Wechsler took the injured man to the hospital where his condition was said last night to be serious. Tenore was not arrested.

Mr. Purdy is listed in the Social Register as a Columbia graduate of the class of 1869, and belongs to the University, Down Town and Badminton Clubs.

Meyer Birnbaum, six years old, of 69 Mangin Street, was instantly killed by a truck last evening, while playing with other children in front of his home. Frank Pazetti, of 729 Ninth Avenue, driver of the truck, was arrested on a technical homicide charge.

Fireman Freezes and Burns Face.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 15 (AP).—Standing on a ladder in a bitter cold wind with the thermometer registering 12 below zero, Anders Johansen, 35, a fireman, had one side of his face badly burned and the other side frozen while fighting a hotel fire. He will not return to duty for several days.

BRIDGE AUTHORITY PROPOSED BY M'KEE

He Wants City to Create Such a Body to Handle Spanning or Tunnelling of East River.

SEES IT TRAFFIC SOLUTION

Writes Walker of Financing and Building Plan—Mayor Likely to Name Survey Committee Today.

The creation of a Bridge and Tunnel Authority, empowered to arrange the construction and financing of adequate arteries over, under or across the East River, so that traffic problems between the four boroughs of the city separated by that waterway will be solved for all time, was suggested by Joseph V. McKee, President of the Board of Aldermen, in a letter received yesterday by Mayor Walker.

President McKee suggests that the special committee authorized recently by the Board of Estimate to study East River traffic problems give its immediate attention to the project of getting such a Bridge and Tunnel Authority under way, either through action by the city or by the State Legislature. The Mayor is expected to appoint the committee after today's meeting of the Board of Estimate.

"The traffic situation between the boroughs of the city separated by the East River and also that of Richmond has been a constantly growing problem of grave concern to the proper development of the city," says Mr. McKee in his letter. "Despite the efforts of city agencies concerned with that problem, we have not been able to keep abreast of the heavily increasing demands for traffic arteries between these boroughs.

"One of the primary objects of the committee recently created by the Board of Estimate is to study that situation with a view to determining ways and means for its relief. I am firmly of the opinion that the natural expansion of the city in the future will, of necessity, continue to pile a greater burden upon whatever facilities may be provided for this traffic.

"So far, many suggestions have been advanced. We have been discussing a tri-borough bridge connecting the Bronx, Manhattan and Queens; a vehicular tunnel connecting Manhattan and Queens, one connecting Manhattan and Brooklyn, also a passenger or vehicular tunnel connecting Brooklyn and Richmond, and other bridges.

"The construction of any or all greatly needed improvements presents engineering problems of no great seriousness. They do, however, involve a finahcial outlay beyond the present or near future ability of the city. In fact, any one of them is utterly impossible as far as the city's present ability is concerned to finance them. There is every reason to believe that this situation will continue for many years to come.

"I feel that a real solution lies in the creation of a separate Bridge and Tunnel Authority with powers subject to our Board of Estimate and Apportionment, not only to construct such improvements, but also to finance them.

"I believe that such a commission created and organized, either by our local powers under the Home Rule law, or by legislative enactment at Albany, would be a practical means to bring about the completion of projects adequate to give complete relief from present conditions and properly take care of the future needs of the city.

"All this could be done without the use or encumbrance of city funds.

"I hereby submit the matter for the committee's consideration."

Gold Key Christmas Gift to Marie.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15 (AP).—A six-inch, sold gold key, which was to have been presented to Queen Marie of Rumania on her contemplated visit here last November, will be sent to the Queen as a Christmas gift. It is inscribed "Key to the City of Pittsburgh, to her Majesty, Queen Marie of Rumania," and is embellished with the old blockhouse and the bust of William Pitt in relief.

SCREENS EMOTIONS TO DETECT 'CRIME'

Psychologist Demonstrates Apparatus That Registers Guilty Excitement.

HEART BEATS AMPLIFIED

Dr. Link Gives a Practical Test Before the New York Electrical Society.

Using specially devised apparatus to measure the electrical resistance of the human skin and an electrical stethoscope which enabled the audience to hear the thumping of the heart of the person under examination, Dr. A. P. Link, instructor in psychology at New York University, demonstrated to the New York Electrical Society, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, last night how science can aid in detecting and apprehending criminals.

Three persons selected from the audience were sent out of the room under sealed instructions. One of the trio chosen by lot went to a room on the tenth floor of the building, where a letter was taken out of an overcoat pocket. From the envelope $10 was removed, the letter was replaced and the "culprit" whose identity was not disclosed to Dr. Link or those in the audience, returned to the auditorium.

Dr. Link then subjected each of the three to the electrical psychology tests. The emotions aroused by the guilt of the "robber" became instantly evident on the records of the apparatus.

An electrical stethoscope, specially devised by the Bell Telephone laboratories, amplifying the heart-beat sounds more than 100,000 times, enabled the audience to hear the thumping of the heart. When the young man who had opened the envelope and removed the $10 was asked questions bearing on the "robbery" his quickened thumping of the heart when the key words were mentioned was instantly made evident.

In addition to the quickened heart beat of the one who removed the $10 from the envelope, "guilty excitement" was also demonstrated in the form of a moving spot of light thrown on a screen in full view of the audience. The spot shot clear across the screen when the person questioned became unduly excited.

Dr. Link explained that excitement lowered the electrical resistance of the skin. This, he said, was especially true when an effort was made to lie or to conceal the truth.

According to Dr. Link, this reaction is entirely outside the control of the person examined. He said this apparatus was "a complete give-away of the emotions which the robber was attempting to conceal." Dr. Link also explained a number of psychological tests, electrical and otherwise, now in use for the selection of employes either for hire or promotion. He said these tests must not be used as infallible guides but as an aid to the general common sense.

VATICAN STANDS BY FRANCE

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—The Vatican has restated its intention not to work in France for a change in the existing régime.

A letter published today, written by Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, to General de Castelnau, President of the National Catholic Federation, denies absolutely the claim of the French Royalist Action Française Party that the Vatican favors its fight against the republican régime in France. The letter says:

"The sole purpose of his Holiness, like his predecessor Pontiffs, is to unite all good men for the defense of religion, leaving aside purely political divisions and divergencies which may separate them."

EX-KAISER IS AGAIN ILL.

He Is Confined to Bed in Doorn With an "Influenza Cold."

DOORN, Dec. 15 (AP).—Former Kaiser William of Germany was confined to his bed today with what was described as an "influenza cold."

The ex-Kaiser three weeks ago suffered an attack of rheumatism, following a severe cold which he contracted while tramping about the grounds of Doorn House, his place of exile, during wet weather.

He was kept to his bed for several days, and his eldest son, former Crown Prince Frederick William, made a trip from Germany to visit him.

The former Emperor will be 68 on Jan. 27.

Children to Be Guests on Leviathan.

The management of the United States Lines will be host to about 2,000 crippled and blind school children of New York on Dec. 21 on board the Leviathan at her pier at the foot of West Forty-sixth Street. This is the annual Christmas festival aboard the ship for these children. Gifts will be presented and there will be a luncheon and entertainment.

Renew Search for Missing Girl.

At the request of Mr. and Mrs. Hopper of 8,544 169th Street, Richmond Hill, Queens, Inspector John D. Coughlin directed yesterday that the search for their daughter Florence, 14 years old, who disappeared on May 26, be reopened. The girl was a pupil at a business school. Inspector Coughlin assigned two detectives to the case.

NOTES FIRE HAZARD ON RIKER'S ISLAND

Commissioner Wade Reports That Most of 29 Buildings Are Firetraps.

ASKS GREATER PROTECTION

He Also Recommends That Work System There Be Reorganized and More Prisoners Employed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 15.—Attention is called to what he describes a serious fire hazard on Riker's Island in a report made to the State Commission of Prisons by Commissioner Frank E. Wade, who points out that there are twenty-nine buildings on the island, all of them of wooden construction, excepting a few cement buildings, most of them shacks and makeshifts. He urges that better precaution be taken against fire and says:

"The combustible nature and close proximity of the dormitories and other buildings present constant danger of fire. A fire under sufficient headway would destroy most of the buildings. The standpipes, fire alarms, fireproof doors, hose equipment and inmate fire company afford some protection. No fire engine is kept on the island. When the new dock and ferry are completed and placed in use, fire engines can be brought from the 134th Street dock. The water pressure, however, would likely fail in case of need. The present pressure is thirty-five pounds; when a hydrant is in use it falls to seventeen pounds. The water pressure and supply are inadequate and should be increased."

Another recommendation is that the temporary accommodations on Riker's Island be increased and several hundred more prisoners transferred and set to work on the dumps in place of civilian labor and in the preparation of the island for the new county penitentiary which is to be built. Commissioner Wade says that by doing this $300,000 a year could be saved.

The dumps on Riker's Island furnish the principal employment. The conveyance and dumping of city refuse is under the administration of the Department of Streets. Unloading of the scows, deposit and distribution of the refuse and salvage of materials require a large number of men. More than 100 civilians are employed in addition to the prisoners. A farm of about ninety acres is cultivated and many vegetables were raised during the Summer.

Riker's Island is in the East River, and when originally acquired, about forty years ago, it contained sixty-three acres. It was made the dumping ground for the ashes and refuse of New York City and has been gradually increased in size by the deposits until it has an area of 640 acres. A branch of the workhouse was established on it and prisoners were transferred for work on the dumps and development of the island.

The buildings were of a temporary nature because the permanent function of the island in the correctional system was not determined. At first the surplus of workhouse prisoners was transferred to it. It was afterward used for the segregation and treatment of drug addicts committed by the courts of New York City. The drug addicts have been removed.

The island has been selected as the site for the new county penitentiary. The city authorities have decided to remove the old prison from Welfare Island and build a modern institution on the island. An appropriation of $100,000 has been made for the preliminary work and plans are reported under consideration for an institution that will meet present and future needs.

LIFE SPAN GROWS, DR. EMERSON SAYS

Columbia Professor Describes Health Improvement Since He Was Born Here.

WARNS OF SMALLPOX RISE

He Tells Social Workers of Menace From "Foolish Objectors to Vaccination."

A comparison of the average span of life of a New Yorker fifty or sixty years ago and today was made by Dr. Haven Emerson, Professor of Public Health and Hygiene, Columbia University, in his discussion of medicine and social improvement last night before social workers in the Free Synagogue, 40 West Sixty-eighth Street. Commenting on the health records, just before the Civil War, Dr. Emerson said:

"When I was born here in New York my parents faced a situation which none of you have confronted in this city. At that time one of every four babies born in New York was sure to die. There were 400 deaths each year from tuberculosis among every 100,000 of the city's population. Most of these victims were either the heads or the chief supports of families.

"The Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor had to maintain the non-supporting members of these broken family units, and sometimes to provide for widow and child throughout a period of fifteen years. Only a fraction of this mortality is due to tuberculosis now. In other words, we have succeeded in raising the family unit to the longevity point where the children usually reach the age of self-support before being deprived of one or both parents. Instead of long support of such dependents it is now comparatively brief.

"At that time the average expectation of life was forty years. Now it is approximately fifty-eight years. Tuberculosis is still one of the most dangerous diseases affecting social life, though it is rated in fifth place as a dangerous communicable disease and soon will be relegated to sixth place.

"The greatest social service must depend upon preventive medicine for general health improvement, the cooperation of the individual, a relation between patient and physician. It is no use to talk unless the people are convinced of the necessity of special action of their own. The application is an individual, not a group matter."

Dr. Emerson commented on the record of 58,000 cases of smallpox in this country with the statement that if the "foolish objectors to vaccination have their way this malady is sure to increase." He said that 75 per cent. of disease was preventable.

SMILE AT PRETTY GIRL NOT WRONG, COURT SAYS

Justice Ford Refuses Separation on Flirtation Plea and Smiles at Losing Wife.

Mrs. Helene Tatelman of 1,869 Madison Avenue said her husband, Harry Tatelman, a cotton salesman, had a flirtatious disposition; but Supreme Court Justice Ford refused yesterday to grant her a separation and said:

"A man who doesn't like to look at a pretty woman has something abnormal about him. I don't know that there is anything wrong about smiling at a pretty girl. I'm smiling at you now and right in the presence of your husband."

Mrs. Tatelman, who married on Dec. 18, 1923, and parted from her husband last April, told a story of continuous quarrels over money matters and of a flirtation on the part of her husband with a pretty girl on their honeymoon trip to Montreal.

In tears, she told the Court that during their married life Tatelman had bought her only one dress and one pair of shoes. Tatelman, on the stand, said this one pair of shoes cost him $22.50, and that he never had to pay more than $8 for his own.

"It costs a lot of money to keep a wife nowadays," Justice Ford observed and, turning to George M. Curtis, attorney for Mrs. Tatelman, he said: "You know, if a lot of husbands and wives came into this court to testify as to their marital differences, the story would sound terrible. We know that most people have differences and yet get along happily."

GOV. SMITH APPEALS TO END SLUM AREAS

every one present become a "salesman" for the Bing project and said:

"I want to see the fellows with a couple of hundred dollars investing in this new plan. After all, we have only a few millionaires, but there are millions with small sums to be placed. Once one of these corporations is successful others will be started and investors will come flocking."

Mr. Bing's statement, made after Mr. James had read his report and the Governor had spoken, was as follows:

"The City Housing Corporation is very glad to offer its services to the Governor and the State Housing Board in connection with the project to rebuild tenement sections of the city. We are a limited dividend company and our activities thus far have consisted of the building of small houses and a few apartments.

"Our experience has shown that such companies can contribute toward better housing conditions and at the same time pay dividends regularly and accumulate a moderate surplus as a safety fund. We believe that the same method can be applied to the rebuilding of tenement areas. The plan suggested by the State Housing Commission is practicable, provided the city grants a limitation of taxation and provided that money for first mortgages is obtainable at 5 per cent., with reasonable amortization over a reasonably long period.

Prepared to Organize Company.

"We are prepared to organize a subsidiary company to comply with the terms of the Housing law and to underwrite at least $100,000 of the stock of such a company. We have an organization well equipped to handle the construction work of such an undertaking, as well as the management of the finished buildings and other problems that will arise, and this staff will be placed at the disposal of the subsidiary company. The incorporation of such a company will make it possible for other investors who do not wish individually to undertake construction of an entire block to purchase stock and join us in the experiment.

"Were it not for the fact that our capital is fully engaged at Sunnyside, the City Housing Corporation would be ready to make a larger investment. As further capital is made available, however, we will be prepared to undertake other operations, in any part of the city, that seem safe and practicable.

"We would suggest that wherever possible the blocks which are to be rebuilt be grouped together. The chances for the continued success of each block will be improved if the rebuilding covers a continuous area rather than being scattered in isolated units.

"With these requirements in mind, we believe that it is practicable to rebuild parts of tenement areas to rent at prices within the limits fixed by the Housing law and to maintain regular 6 per cent. dividends on the investment. We will be very glad to do our part in furthering this work."

Aaron Rabinowitz, a member of the Housing Board, declared that construction of new tenements was vital if the city was not to lose money in taxes.

"The values on the old tenements in the lower east side," he said, "are dropping rapidly, and in many cases they are now worth from 25 to 30 per cent. below present assessments."

Sidney Hillman, President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said his organization was sponsoring several cooperative developments which provided rooms at $11 a month, and that he considered the cooperative flats the logical solution of the housing difficulty.

Charles D. Heidt, representing John D. Rockefeller Jr., also told of several cooperative tenement projects which have been sponsored by Rockefeller philanthropy. These, he said, supplied flats at $12 to $15 a room, and gave a fair return on the investment.

Governor Talks of East Side.

The Governor, after listening to Mr. James's report, said he did not want to make a speech, but would talk informally. He recalled the passage of the old tenement house law and the existence at that time, on the lower east side, of what was known as "lung block," because of the number of people taken from there suffering from tuberculosis. He said that notwithstanding the law the district still had the old time tenements and "lung block" still exists.

"People are going to live where they want to live and not where some theorist tells them they ought to live," he said.

"I don't believe you are ever going to be able to reduce the population of those sections of the city," he continued. "The problem cannot be solved by telling these people they would be better off in Brooklyn or in Queens. We are not building rapidly enough in the sparsely-settled sections to take care of them and if we were we have not the transit facilities to take them there, so what is going to be done?"

Explains Law's Provisions.

The Governor went on to talk of the new Housing law and explained the difficulty in taking land, thus giving the reason for the condemnation section which the law contains. He stressed the value of Manhattan real estate and said:

"When land on Manhattan Island is no good then nothing in this country will be any good. I'm only sorry that in a few days I will have lived on the island for fifty-two years without owning an inch of it."

After saying that one thing that would be accomplished if the housing plan went through would be the ending of the trips from Times Square "to the slums" and adding, "We don't want anything of that sort of thing in New York," the Governor said:

"Now we want the men who can afford to do it who have the money lying idle or in some other investment that is not paying very well, to be satisfied with 5 per cent. on a gilt-edged security on the land of Manhattan Island. We want those men to know that when they undertake this they will not only be getting a gilt-edged security but will be doing something for the benefit of humanity, for men, for women and, above all, for the children, for it is the children who are suffering the most from the prevailing conditions. The men who come into this will help the city, they will help the State, and—particularly for those who start it—they will get a chance to share what God has given them with their less fortunate brothers and sisters."

View of $5 Rooms.

The report of Mr. James was long and contained many figures. The board's findings as to the impossibility of $5-room tenements was of particular interest, because of the attention that was given the offer of Mr. Heckscher some weeks ago, and also because Mr. Heckscher was present at the dinner in the Biltmore last night. This is what Mr. James said on that point regarding the board's findings:

"It is interesting to note that the estimated costs of construction of the Compact Type, if land were given free and the total cost were for building only, show that the minimum monthly room rents would be $7.32 in the five-story building and $7.11 in the six-story building. In order to provide room rents of $5 per room per month in the Compact Type I, the buildings would have to be erected on land which cost nothing and in addition the project would have to receive as an outright donation $8 for every square foot of land in the project."

The report explained the housing law and its purpose to supply rentals within the means of wage earners and then told of the surveys which the board had made since it began operations last July. The survey has covered 1,000 blocks in Manhattan and Brooklyn, studies have been made of land costs, construction costs and types of buildings. In Manhattan the board found 349 city blocks on which tenements of the approved type could be built for prices per room per month below the maximum allowed by the law, $12.50 a month per room on land that would cost less than $14 a square foot, or $35,000 a lot for an ordinary 25-foot lot.

"The studies I am about to describe will show that housing operations under the law are feasible on land costing as much as $15 a square foot," said Mr. James.

There were seventy-five available blocks in the congested sections of Brooklyn, near the navy yard, and in Williamsburg, the report said.

Tax Exemption Pledged.

The report stressed the fact that tax exemption on the improvements was essential to the success of the undertakings it was proposing for the two types of corporations which the law permits to operate under the Housing act. Governor Smith made it certain that this would be accomplished, saying:

"I had a long talk with Mayor Walker last night and he told me, with reference to this tax exemption, that just as soon as the Board of Estimate and the Housing Board had agreed on what was wanted he himself would introduce the bill to exempt the improvements undertaken under this plan from taxation by the city."

Mr. James concluded:

"The facts which I have presented and the data contained in the report represent but a small part of the material gathered by the board. All of this material is now available. It demonstrates to the satisfaction of the board that the law offers a practicable method of abolishing the worst housing in congested areas. It offers a means of providing in its stead sanitary, healthful dwellings, adequate to the maintenance of decent family life, at rents which wage-earners can afford to pay. The board believes that housing projects can now be undertaken on a large scale. To those who are interested in the reconstruction of the tenement house areas of New York and other cities of the State the board offers its assistance."

Chippewa Falls Power Plans.

Development of 24,000 hydroelectric horsepower at Chippewa Falls on the Chippewa River by the Northern States Power Company will commence soon, it was announced yesterday by H. M. Byllesby & Co., provided that the Chippewa Falls City Council's vote on Tuesday to annul proceedings to purchase the electric distribution system there from the Northern States Power Company is not disturbed. The project, it is estimated, will cost about $2,600,000.

30 Years on Force With Clear Record

When he walked into Police Headquarters as usual at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to take charge of the main desk of the Detective Division, Lieutenant Thomas Dillon, who lives at 140 Central Avenue, Flushing, Queens, completed thirty years as a member of the police force. From the day he entered the service as a patrolman, at the age of 21, Lieutenant Dillon never had a complaint entered against him.

YOUNG BACKS PLAN, GOV. SMITH ASSERTS

Objection to One Feature of Power Proposal Was Based on Error, He Says.

STATE FINANCING DENIED

Explains Appropriations Will Be Only to Get Projects Started, as With Port Authority.

Governor Smith said last night that Owen D. Young, Chairman of the Executive Board of the General Electric Company, was in full accord with the basic principle of the plan proposed by the Governor in his speech on Monday evening before the Survey Associates, looking to the development under State auspices of hydroelectric powers from waters controlled by the State.

Any dissent that might have been inferred from a statement made public on Tuesday by Mr. Young was based on misunderstanding of certain features of the proposal he had advanced, the Governor said. Mr. Young based his principal objection on a belief that the Governor's plan would involve the use of State funds for power projects carried forward under State auspices.

"Mr. Young apparently is laboring under the misapprehension that the State would be required to furnish from its treasury funds to be employed in the building of power plants," the Governor said. "That is not so. What I suggested was that the State, in order to get its projects under way, may have to spend some money for administration purposes and for preliminary engineering work, as was the case with the New York Port Authority. The proposed Power Authority would work on lines identical with those pursued by the former body."

The Governor explained that from the beginning the State has appropriated something like $100,000 annually to pay rent of its offices, for office supplies and salaries of its employes.

"Once the projects undertaken by the Port Authority begin to bring in money, those expenditures will go in as overhead," the Governor said. "In fact, when we turn over to the Port Authority the New York-New Jersey Vehicular Tunnel, if we decide to do that, we will be through putting up money for such purposes and the Port Authority will be on its own."

Under the Governor's power plan the Power Authority would be required to inquire into the feasibility of power development under State auspices and to determine whether the work can best be undertaken by the State or by private interests. The Governor made it known that if the Legislature should approve his plan and pass the necessary legislation at the coming session, incidentally making provision for the establishment of the proposed Power Authority, he would favor a body composed of three members, of whom one would be a big engineer, one a big business man and one a financier.

"A body so composed should be competent to pass upon that question and, if a decision in favor of State development be reached, undertake the work," the Governor said. "We may be all wrong; it may be that the work can be better done by private interests, but before we hand the thing over to private corporations I want that question answered by men of that type and I would want them to tell us also the reason why and how they have arrived at their conclusion.

Denies Project Is Too Great.

"This thing," the Governor added, "has been made to look far more formidable than it really is. Why, the proposal for a single-stage development at Barnhart Island, on the St. Lawrence, does not compare in magnitude with the work the Port Authority has set out to do and actually is working on at this very moment."

The Governor said that Owen D. Young had actually admitted that when it came to financing power projects the State probably could float tax-exempt bonds of the Power Authority on more favorable terms than such securities could be issued if the project was being financed by private interests.

"Anyhow," he said, "the question of financing, raised by Mr. Young, is not germane at this time. The question that calls for an immediate or in any event an early answer is whether the State of New York through its own agency, under a plan submitted to the Legislature to be adopted as a law, shall develop its own hydro-electric resources."

Governor Smith said that the Water Power Commission, which will take over control of the State's power resources after Jan. 1, would not have the necessary time to devote to the subject.

"The commission will be composed of Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, State Superintendent of Public Works; State Conservation Commissioner Alexander MacDonald and Attorney General Albert Ottinger," the Governor said. "Colonel Greene, of course, is an engineer, but he is a very busy man, running the Barge Canal and building $30,000,000 worth of roads each year.

Others Are Loaded With Work.

"Commissioner MacDonald, on top of all his conservation activities, has had dumped into his department the State parks, so he will have his hands full. Attorney General Ottinger is running the biggest law office in the State of New York, with seventy-five deputies trying cases ranging from a $50 fine for baking powder below standard to the Johnson Iron Works claim, which runs into millions. Where is he going to get the time for water power?"

"Do you think the Legislature will adopt your power program?" the Governor was asked.

"How could I know? I see from the newspapers that Senator Knight is opposed to the plan and says not," he replied.

Friends of Governor Smith profess to be hopeful that favorable action on the Governor's plan will be had at the coming session of the Legislature, largely because it was an outstanding issue in the campaign and the Governor won.

The Governor will remain here until Sunday. Tomorrow evening he will attend a dinner in honor of Elihu Root, given by delegates to the 1915 Constitutional Convention, over which Mr. Root presided. Governor Smith will have with him Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner, who also was a delegate.

On Monday Governor Smith will appear at Albany before the Legislative Reorganization Commission, of which Senator Walter W. Westall of Westchester is Chairman, and urge legislation necessary for the operation of the reorganization plan, which is to go into effect on Jan. 10.

PROMINENT CATHOLIC TO SUCCEED CARDOZO

Gov. Smith Will Name Court of Appeals Judge Jan. 1—Faith Not Now Represented.

Governor Smith will appoint an "outstanding Catholic" who also is a Democrat to succeed Judge Benjamin W. Cardozo as Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals. The vacancy occurs through the elevation of Judge Cardozo to be Chief Justice of the court, beginning Jan. 1. Judge Cardozo was elected Chief Judge without opposition, under a Republican-Democratic fusion agreement, and succeeds Chief Judge Frank H. Hiscock, who will retire under the age-limit at the end of the year.

The identity of the man the Governor has in mind is not known. The Governor said last night that he would make the appointment on Jan. 1. The proposal to appoint a Catholic is said to meet with universal approval, that faith not being represented at present in the highest tribunal of the State.

It was learned last night that the place had been offered to Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling, who for some years has been serving with the Appellate Division and is slated to succeed Justice John Proctor Clarke as Presiding Justice on Jan. 1. Justice Dowling expressed a preference for remaining in the Appellate Division. Warnecke J. Kernan of Utica has also been considered for the place, but could not see his way clear to give up his law practice. Mr. Kernan is a kinsman of the late Francis Kernan, who was a United States Senator and for a number of years one of the most prominent among the Democratic leaders of the State.

LINER RACES WITH SANTA.

Thuringia Loads in Lower Boston Harbor From Tug in 45 Minutes.

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Hamburg-American liner Thuringia today spent forty-five minutes in this port, and gained at least three hours in a race with Christmas, by loading forty passengers and 100 sacks of mail at Quarantine instead of coming up to the dock.

Twelve Women Admitted to Bar.

In a story in THE TIMES of Dec. 14 relative to the class of 266 who were admitted to the practice of law in New York State, it was said that the list included eleven women. This was in error. There were twelve women. In THE TIMES story, Sadye Simon of 12 Cooper Square was listed among the men.

DR. RICHMOND CALLS THIS A VULGAR AGE

Criticizes Plays, Literature, Jazz and Intercollegiate Football.

FINDS YOUNG 'HARD-BOILED'

Talks at Stevens' Alumni Dinner in Honor of Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys.

Severe criticism of many tendencies of the present day, which he characterized as "the most vulgar age any of us have ever seen," was voiced last night by Dr. Charles A. Richmond, President of Union College, at a dinner at the Astor tendered by 500 alumni of Stevens Institute of Technology to Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys, retiring President of Stevens. President Richmond was briefly answered by President John M. Thomas of Rutgers, who declared that conditions today are more wholesome than they were forty years ago.

Football came in for the first sting from Dr. Richmond's lash. "The overemphasis of intercollegiate football is nearly a national scandal," he said. "The afternoon papers today report that one Eastern university alone had gate receipts from football of almost $800,000 this Fall. If that isn't gross commercialization I don't know what is. I advocate paying the players who are bringing in such sums."

Turns Guns on Jazz.

Dr. Richmond then turned his guns on jazz and the current plays along Broadway. "Some one told me that the saxaphone more nearly than any other instrument approaches the human voice," he said. "I say that it is the voice of a human damned and deservedly so. The jazz of today is abdominal music. That's where it originates and where it appeals. A large proportion of the current plays make me want to get down on all fours like a brute after witnessing them.

"God once destroyed the world because it was so wicked. I sometimes wonder He does not destroy it today because it is so stupid. Any one who knows anything about the literature of the present day in this and other countries knows that there is a strain of cynicism running through a great deal of it. I hesitate to say it, but there is too much evidence that women seem to be taking a leading part in it. Some years ago a woman writing in The Quarterly Review said, 'The woman of the future will be distinguished by the indecency of her conversation.' I am not ready to say that this prophecy has been altogether fulfilled but from some of the books and plays that women are writing, and the social philosophy some of them are standing for, I should say that this prophecy is approaching dangerously near to fulfillment.

Sees Harm to Youth.

"The awful thing about it is that this sort of thing has penetrated into the mind of youth. Boys and especially girls are becoming hard boiled before they are 18. Not very long ago in this room a man well known in college circles declared that what every man wants is money and power. Probably he did not mean just that. Certainly we all know that if there were not thousands of men in this country who want honor and chivalry, who want to further the kingdom of God more than they want money and power, this America of ours would inevitably sink into well-merited contempt in the eyes of every other nation in the world. I am not pessimistic. In spite of all this we need not lose our faith. As Emerson says, 'Men are in all ways better than they seem.'"

President Thomas, speaking in place of Charles M. Schwab, who was called out of town, jocularly answered Dr. Richmond's criticism of football. "If he would think back to his college days and mine, and recall the major sport, then Dr. Richmond would not feel so strongly," he said. "It involved fifty-two pieces of paper and the law of averages. Football at its worst is better than poker at its best."

Dr. Humphreys was presented with a set of resolutions expressing gratitude for his service as President and confidence in him as the new Chairman of the Board of Trustees by the Stevens alumni.

TAXI MEN PLAN TEST CASE.

Will Ask Court to Define the Authority of Daly.

A test case, challenging the authority of Deputy Police Commissioner John Daly to try taxicab drivers on allegations of dishonesty in connection with the relinquishing of cabs bought through credit companies will be brought in the Supreme Court here within a week, according to Philip Hart, a lawyer of 151 West Fortieth Street.

Mr. Hart, as counsel for the recently created New York Taximen's Association, said yesterday that he intended further to bring court action for the reversal of several penalties meted out to drivers by Daly in cases wherein he conceded the Deputy Commissioner in charge of the Hack License Bureau had ample jurisdiction. He would seek to upset the rulings, he said, on the ground that they were made "unreasonably, capriciously and arbitrarily."

LINKS CANTON POLICE WITH MURDER PLOT

Witness for the State Asserts That McDermott Boasted of Immunity.

TELLS OF DRINKING BOUTS

On the Night Mellett Was Slain McDermott Said "He Had a Job to Do," Witness Declares.

CANTON, Ohio, Dec. 15 (AP).—Over the objection of defense counsel the State today introduced its first testimony tending to show that members of the Canton Police Department were in league with the underworld, which is supposed to have plotted the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, for which Patrick Eugene McDermott is on trial.

William Bitzler, a "surprise witness," took the stand to detail movements of McDermott four days prior to the shooting and testified that McDermott boasted of his contempt for the Police Department.

Two days before the slaying, July 16, McDermott said he was on a party with prominent Canton men and boasted he could do anything he liked without fear of police interference, Bitzler testified. The witness told of drinking bouts with McDermott, but said that on the night Mellett was slain "Pat" refused to join him because he said he "had a job to do."

Bitzler's testimony took McDermott to Massilon, Ohio, a few hours before Mellett was shot down, and he said "Pat" returned with money which he got from a friend.

Bitzler also testified that McDermott carried a gun constantly and that he asserted he would have a lot of money July 17, the day after the murder.

Bitzler's own criminal record, as admitted on the stand under cross-questioning, included a sentence in Pennsylvania for theft of a handbag, a sentence for drunkenness and an indictment on a statutory charge.

M. A. Robinson, ballistic expert, testified that in his opinion two guns were used in the shooting, contrary to previous theories that three guns were used. After examination of bullets found at the garage door, where Mellett was killed, and a bullet taken from the editor's head, Robinson said the weapons used were of .38 calibre, but he was unable to distinguish their type.

Thelma Davis, Cleveland, and Homer J. Connelly testified concerning McDermott's actions after Mellett was killed. The woman lived at a rooming house in Cleveland, at which "Pat" stayed until July 24, when he made a second trip to Massillon, Connelly stated. He accompanied McDermott on this trip.

The State announced when court was adjourned today that Peggy Cavanaugh, friend of McDermott's, will be called to testify tomorrow. She has admitted accompanying McDermott to Massillon when, the State charges, he was paid by Mazer for slaying Mellett.

LAG IN GETTING CAR PLATES.

Motorists Are Warned That These Must Be Obtained Before Jan. 1.

Charles A. Harnett, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, said yesterday that unless there was a marked improvement during the next ten days in the application by automobile owners for 1927 plates many motorists would be unable to drive lawfully on Jan. 1. As New Year's Day comes on Saturday, those who fail to get new plates before the close of 1926 will be obliged to wait until Jan. 3 before they can renew registration and drive their cars.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 15.—Under a law passed at the last session of the Legislature automobile registration plates for 1927 can be displayed on cars beginning today. Many autoists took advantage of the new regulation. Drivers' licenses for 1927 will not be in force until midnight of Dec. 31.

Queen's Visit Cost Baltimore $5,248.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 15.—The Board of Estimate has ordered bills for the entertainment and reception to Queen Marie of Rumania to be paid from the fund for advertising the Port of Baltimore. The bills total $5,248.15.

SHE CAME IN A TAXI BUT WALKED HOME

Found Foot Comfort at Last In This Remarkable Custom-Fitted Shoe

A woman from Park Avenue. "I have heard so much about your Grover 'Three Point' Shoes," she said. "Are they really custom fitted as easily as an oculist fits eyeglasses?"

To walk or stand correctly, your weight must be equally distributed on these 3 points. The Grover "Three Point" Shoe is the only shoe that can be custom-fitted to accomplish this.

We showed her how this remarkable shoe can be custom fitted to the foot just as a tailor alters clothes. We showed her how we fit her foot EXACTLY, and how this shoe forces her to walk right—in perfect balance—gracefully—youthfully.

She has been so well satisfied that dozens of her friends have since come to both stores.

If you seek greater foot comfort, perfect walking balance—with forty-eight styles to choose from—at no extra cost for fitting service—clip this notice as a reminder to call at the store nearest to you. Just a few blocks from subway, "L" stations and crosstown cars.

MRS. CAGNINO PICKED AS SLAYER BY BOY

ACCUSED WOMAN WEEPS

Her Lawyers Try to Show Emotional Insanity—Shooting of Her Son by Slain Man Is Admitted.

A dramatic moment in the trial of Mrs. Josephine Cagnino before Judge Max S. Levine and a jury in General Sessions for the murder on Sept. 5 of Andrew Ficarelli was reached yesterday when Christopher Lorenzo, 11 years old, left the witness stand, identified the shawl-draped defendant as the woman he had seen shoot down Ficarelli and then told his story of the shooting. Mrs. Cagnino wept following the identification and showed evidence of nervous strain.

"She had the gun," the boy testified, "and she pulled out the gun and shot him. Then she shot him again. Then she picked up the umbrella and she broke the umbrella over her knee. So then she saw the cop and she started to run away, so the cop came along and got her."

Although the shooting is said to have taken place at Goerck and Delahcey Streets while many persons were in the vicinity and just after the passing of a religious procession in which Ficarelli had marched, Christopher was the only eyewitness the prosecution could produce. He seemed not to know where Mrs. Cagnino was seated in court when he left the stand to point her out. Assistant District Attorney Joseph D. Pascocello instructed him to walk in a certain direction and an instant later, pointing his finger, the lad cried out: "Yes, sir, there she is."

Assistant District Attorney George N. Brothers, who is prosecuting the case, surprised the defense somewhat when, in his opening to the jury, he said the prosecution would admit that Ficarelli had killed Ignazio, Mrs. Cagnino's only son, six years before he himself was killed. He said also that Mrs. Cagnino had told the Grand Jury which indicted Ficarelli for first degree murder that he had killed her son, but that, following the indictment, the woman had not aided the authorities in finding Ficarelli, who was never arrested for the crime. Mr. Brothers contended that Mrs. Cagnino had seen Ficarelli on numerous occasions and had not notified the authorities because she wanted to kill him herself and that Ficarelli's murder had been cold-blooded and coolly planned.

Assemblyman Frank R. Galgano and Joseph H. Wasserman, assigned to defend Mrs. Cagnino, attempted on one or two occasions to show by witnesses that Mrs. Cagnino's mental excitement at the time of the killing and before it had been such that she was actually emotionally insane, which is the defense by which they hope to save her from conviction.

Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Norris, the first witness, testified he had found four bullets in the head and neck of Ficarelli and a bullet of a different calibre in the intestine which had been there probably for years. Detective John T. O'Donnell of the Oak Street Station testified he heard the shots and found Mrs. Cagnino bending over Ficarelli's prostrate body. She started to run as he came up, he said, but when he caught her she said: "Yes, I shot him; he killed my son." Detective Michael Fascigliano of Clinton Street Station quoted Mrs. Cagnino as having said, after her arrest that "a voice from the grave" had made her kill Ficarelli.

Assistant District Attorney Pascocello said Mrs. Cagnino had admitted to him that she had shot Ficarelli. Under questioning by defense counsel Mr. Pascocello admitted the woman had been irrational and had torn her hair and clothing.

The trial will continue this morning.

WOMAN POET, 60, HONORED AT DINNER

Lizette Woodworth Reese, Noted for 40 Years, Receives Tribute of Moderns in Her Field.

Lizette Woodworth Reese, American poet, who is 60 years old, was the guest of honor at a dinner given at the Hotel Brevoort last night.

John Farrar, who headed the committee in charge of the dinner, acted as toastmaster. Authors and poets of different modern schools paid tribute in brief addresses to the gray-haired woman, one of the last of a generation which used the word poetess, and who has been hoted as a poet for forty years. Miss Reese, in reply, expressed her appreciation of the tribute paid to her "with an humble heart."

DuBose Heyward spoke for the writers of the South, and Edwin Markham gave a message from the Far West. Messages of admiration for Miss Reese's work were read. They came from Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, who expressed herself as one of the poet's "genuine admirers"; Grant Overton, Sophie K. Underwood, Christopher Ward, Katherine Lee Bates and Princess Amelie Rives Troubetzkoy.

The other speakers were Hervey Allen, William Rose Benet, Marguerite Wilkinson and Elinor Wylie.

Three Men in Auto Escape Amid Shots After Robbing Jewelry Shop.

Two men, leaving a third in an automobile around the corner, walked up to the jewelry store of A. & J. Kraut at 174 Grand Street, Brooklyn, shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. One carried a hammer wrapped with paper and cloth with which he smashed the plate-glass window. Both men then snatched rings, bracelets and watches valued at about $4,000.

Joseph Kraut, one proprietor, ran out and called Patrolman White of the Bedford Avenue Station. White pursued the car, firing several shots, but was soon outdistanced. Few persons were in the street.

Katz, Accountant, Exonerated.

Philip Katz, a public accountant, who was on trial before Federal Judge Meekins on a charge of conspiracy to defraud creditors of the Silverstein-Wald Clothing Company, was acquitted yesterday by direction of the court. Judge Meekins said the Government had produced no evidence connecting Mr. Katz with crime or a knowledge of crime.

Pomerene Denounces Fall and Doheny in Final Plea to Jury

HOGAN CLOSES HIS PLEA.

Mr. Hogan resuming his summation began yesterday, argued that the documentary evidence proved that the naval oil policy was decided upon in October, 1921, and that the letter outlining that policy was drafted by Secretary Fall and Admiral Robison and signed by Edwin Denby, then Secretary of the Navy.

Admiral Robison had written the letter changing the policy, said Mr. Hogan, and in doing so acted as the "mouthpiece of Denby." And it was this new Denby policy, he added, which had made possible the Elk Hills lease of December, 1922, and but for the change there would have been; he declared, no Elk Hills lease.

Taking up the much discussed preferential clause in the Pearl Harbor contract, Mr. Hogan said it did play a part in the negotiations but that it did not govern the making of the Elk Hills lease.

"The war plans of the navy, the approval of Denby, the actions of Robison and the Dec. 11 contract gave us that lease for what we had agreed to do in the contract of that date," he declared.

"The preferential right is the advantage given in the April 25 contract and nothing else, not because of anything we had to do in the future because of the April 25 contract, but because of what we were going to do for the Government at Pearl Harbor.

"The Secretary of the Interior, at any time the Government decided to make leases—the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Fall, if you please, though they did not say that, but let us assume it was Fall—could set terms on which he could give us a lease of lands in the eastern part of Naval Reserve No. 1.

"Why did he not do it? If that was all that was to be done, if that was tied up, signed, sealed and delivered on April 25, 1922, why did not Fall before Dec. 11, 1922, give it to us? If he only had to sign his name to it, why did he not do it? You know why he did not do it.

"What did happen? Did you ever hear of our getting a lease before Nov. 29? We paid our money—oh, we bribed him—and then we sat down and waited from Nov. 30 to April 25 and entered into the contract.

Admit It Was Business Deal.

"We did not know what the other companies were going to do. We did not know what was in the minds of Storey and McLaughlin. How did we get it? We got it out of the navy war plans. We are not claiming that the Dec. 11 proposition was not a business proposition. It was and it should be.

"They told you that when we did get it we got a 'principality' with a prospect of a hundred million dollars' profit. Doheny testified before the Senate committee that, because of the Dec. 11 contract, his company up to December, 1924, expended $32,000,000. They have had two years to bring in what it made since then. They had every access, as you know, to our books, and we have not heard a word as to that.

"Doheny testified here, as he testified before the Senate committee, in regard to the hundred million, that when the value of the land was estimated it was estimated that within thirty or forty years, with the investment of $150,000,000 or $200,000,000, the company, not Doheny, might make a profit of that much.

"Suppose it did; where would Doheny be? Do you think that would have helped Doheny? This is a company matter. Doheny testified that the return on the investment would average 6 per cent. The Government has the finest accountants in the world at its disposal. Do you not know that when they were putting in that so-called rebuttal of theirs which blew up here last Saturday they would have brought some of their accountants before you, if that had not been true? That is all there is to that."

Assails Criticism of Cotter.

Taking up the criticism by the prosecution of the failure of the defense to put Vice President Cotter of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company on the stand, Mr. Hogan called attention to Mr. Cotter's present status as one of the counsel for Mr. Doheny. The ethics of law require, he asserted, that when the facts can be proved by other witnesses a lawyer should not take the stand as a witness in his own cause.

"Assuming for a moment," continued Mr. Hogan, "that we could have called Cotter, and he had been competent—if he was competent, he was competent for both sides—what would have happened if Mr. Cotter had stepped from the lawyer's table to the witness stand, after we proved every fact in the case by other witnesses and not by any attorneys? The switch would have been this: You would have been told that Cotter was in the class with Denby and Ambrose and the rest. You would have been asked, 'How much can you rely on a paid lawyer?'"

Mr. Hogan lauded Mr. Cotter as an honorable and conscientious attorney, "as honest a man as ever trod in shoe leather," he added.

"You cannot traduce that boy's fine character and splendid reputation in the home of his birth by any insinuations which the desperation of the case may lead counsel to attempt."

Defends Robison and Others.

Next Mr. Hogan launched into a defense of the witnesses for Fall and Doheny, who were lashed in such vigorous fashion by Mr. Roberts in his summation of the case for the Government.

"For nearly forty years," Mr. Hogan said, "on the seven seas of the world, John T. Robison served you and me. He is a 'conceited ass' now. He is 'an egotist.' He is a man who is a 'bootlicker' and a 'fawning sycophant.' He is so impressed by Mr. Doheny's wealth that he fawns upon him. Robison was called a man who pins medals on himself, a man who is filled with the importance, first of Doheny and then with the importance of Robison. Robison, who served our country, gets that treatment here.

"Then yesterday you were told that he deliberately deceived his chief, and that he lied on the witness stand. Counsel even expressed his own opinion and said, 'You heard that story that is cooked up about the appeal about Japan. I do not believe it.' All right, if he does not believe it. Then do you believe it?

"Bain, you remember, served under Wilson, Harding and Coolidge. Bain remained with the Government after all these things were known. Bain remained with the Government long after the Pan-American case was tried at Los Angeles. Bain remained with the Government until he voluntarily resigned to go to the honorable position he now holds, which he mentioned to you—Bain, the scientific man, to whom facts, and facts alone, mean something.

"The desperation of the case required that the representatives of the Government put the stamp of disapproval on every one of Bain's acts.

"I have said all I want to about Ambrose. We brought Ambrose here. We knew he was a slow-witted man, but we knew that he was an honest man.

Calls Denby "Fine and Clean."

"I have said practically all I have to say about Denby, with this addition: Denby may be forgetful. Denby, handling hundreds of things and signing hundreds of papers a day, may not be able to give prompt answers to counsel who has something written before him. Did you notice that counsel trying this case, who has lived with it, had to read his notes when wanted to question a man?

"And yet they asked a man on that witness stand, 'Can you specifically remember what you said in the letter of Oct. 25, 1921?' Always putting in the word 'specifically.' Omnipotence is the only thing that could have done that. They cannot rely on their memories here for a few minutes.

"Denby recognized that oil leases were full of dynamite, but when his duty required him to deal with them and give orders regarding them Denby gave the orders.

"A big man, a fine man, a clean man, a courageous man; he came here and he said, 'I knew that it might involve trouble, but I did it. I did handle them, and I take the responsibility for it.'

"That is Edwin Denby, not as Government counsel to win a case, made him, but as God Almighty in his infinite wisdom made him.

"These witnesses have no opportunity to reply. Government counsel might tell you that I have attacked them, and that they are not on trial, and that knowing the weakness of my case, I jumped on the lawyer on the other side. Denby was not on trial, Ambrose was not on trial, Bain was not on trial, Carey was not on trial: yet their reputations and their words were torn to shreds before you."

Mr. Hogan closed with a plea for acquittal in which he made reference to Fall.

"Everything I have said in this case I have said for Albert B. Fall, as well as for Edward L. Doheny," he said. "I am not Mr. Fall's counsel of record, but I would be proud to be. I love to think of and to dwell upon the friendship I have formed for the former Secretary of the Interior. Trouble has not changed it, trial has not broken it, the difficulties of the last few years have bound it closer together. I want you to know that every piece of evidence we adduced on the stand was adduced for Fall as well as for Doheny."

FALL COUNSEL IS HEARD.

Mark Thompson, of counsel for Mr. Fall, then made a brief plea in behalf of that defendant. He told of Fall's struggles in New Mexico, of his election three times to the Senate, his appointment as a Federal Judge by Cleveland and his service in the Cabinet of President Harding. He said that what Fall had in mind when he obtained the $100,000 from Mr. Doheny was not betrayal of his trust as a Government officer, but the commendable desire to build up a heritage for his wife and family.

Taking up the $100,000 transaction Mr. Thompson said:

"I want to say to you gentlemen of the jury that was the cleanest money that ever passed from the hands of one man to another. There was not a dollar of that money that represented anything but toil, struggle, the wresting of wealth by privation and toil in a foreign country brought back by an old prospector, Ed Doheny, to enrich the land that he loved so well. And when that money passed into the hands of Albert Fall it lost none of its pristine purity."

"Does a traitor, does a betrayer use the price of his infamy to make a heritage for his children? No, he takes this money and he gets upon the train. The first man he meets is Price McKinney, his friend, and he tells him all about it. He goes to Three Rivers where the deal (purchase of the Harris ranch) was to be closed.

"He goes to the most public place indoors in the city of El Paso, and, with open door, people passing back and forth, displays this $100,000. Was that a dirty deal and did he know it was a dirty deal? It was not."

Mr. Thompson declared that Mr. Fall falsified about the loan on learning that the note had been lost because he perceived that to be the only way to protect Mr. Doheny in the transaction.

"Did Fall lie about this?" exclaimed Mr. Thompson. "Of course, he lied about it. I say to you that so-called committee had no legal or moral right to exact from these men anything as to their personal transactions. Lie? Of course he lied, and every red-blooded man in New Mexico is proud of him for it."

Lambert Addresses Jury.

Beginning the final summation for the defense Wilton J. Lambert, also of counsel for Mr. Fall, referred to the summation of Owen J. Roberts as an act of magic that would have done credit to Houdini.

He said that, under the magic touch of Mr. Roberts, he had seen the evidence "actually taken out and besmirched" and made "lurid with suggestions of criminality and unrighteous acts of every kind."

"As to this $100,000," said Mr. Lambert, "you have it in the evidence that he could have gotten it from McLean, regarding whom there could have been no suggestion of tampering with the Government. And you have it in the evidence that he could have gotten it from El Paso. You have it in the evidence that he could have obtained it from Price McKinney. You have it in the evidence that he might have borrowed it on his farm.

"You have it in the evidence that his old friend, Doheny, in one of those intimate talks reflected so beautifully by that letter of Sept. 8, said to him: 'Why, I will be glad to help you the same as you helped me back forty years ago when you were prospering and I was digging with my pick and shovel to find an oil well right in the middle of the City of Los Angeles. I can give it to you and will be glad to.' 'Of course,' says Fall. 'I don't know whether I will need it. I will let you know if I do.' He did not even ask Doheny for it.'

Recalls Telephone Talk.

"But on the 30th day of November, 1921, after Fall had, so far as the records in the case are concerned, severed his connection with this oil situation and turned it flatly to the navy, was the first time that he telephoned to Doheny and let him know he would think of taking it from him.

"Then he calls him up and he says, not 'I want you to loan me some money, but 'about what you offered me the other day and said you would be glad to let me have. I am going West on public business. I am going out there in the interests of the United States, and I may have an opportunity to use the cash in making a bargain when I get there with the heirs there. And if you are of the same opinion, let me have it.'

"Isn't every word that was said on that subject susceptible of an innocent interpretation between these people. If it is susceptible of it, not what your or my opinion might be, or Roberts's opinion or other Government counsel; if it is susceptible of that innocent conclusion it is your duty to say, 'We can go no further with that because the law has said we must stop.'"

Mr. Lambert closed with a laudation of the private and public career of Mr. Fall, a career, he declared, "any American might be proud of."

A ten-minute recess followed, and when court reconvened ex-Senator Pomerene began the final summation for the Government.

At the start Mr. Pomerene uttered a few words in defense of Mr. Roberts, his colleague, who had been bitterly criticized by Mr. Hogan. From what Mr. Hogan said the conclusion was justified, added Mr. Pomerene, that Mr. Roberts, and not Fall and Doheny, was on trial. Mr. Pomerene denied the prosecution had sought to embarrass or in any way show discourtesy to Mrs. Doheny, a fact proven, he declared, when the Government let her leave the witness chair without asking a single question.

"Mr. Hogan complains of the Senate Committee and says it was after scandal and not after facts," said Mr. Pomerene.

"I do not agree with him. But it is history now that as a result of that investigation a situation is presented whereby it seems that the United States Government is deprived of its reserves, and Mr. Fall, trusted officer of the Government, got a hundred thousand dollars. Whatever may be the result at your hands, there can be no question about the utter impropriety of the relations which existed between Fall and Doheny.

"And he tells you this is nobody's business but Fall's and Doheny's. You are twelve American citizens.

"Do you think it is only a business transaction between an impecunious official and a very rich man when the impecunious official is acting in a trust capacity and trying to preserve or ought to be trying to preserve the property of the United States?"

Mr. Pomerene next referred to Mr. Hogan's remarks yesterday in calling as a "silent witness," the late President Harding and reading from the President's letter to the Senate in which Mr. Harding declared his faith in the honesty of the oil transactions. When President Harding signed that letter he did not know the facts, declared Mr. Pomerene.

Says Harding Tomb Is Desecrated.

"Is any man in this jury box," he asked, "going to say that President Harding approved a thing that he did not know about—approved their acts? Is there any evidence before you to the effect that he knew of that $100,000 that his Cabinet Minister had borrowed from Doheny? Is there any evidence that he knew that that property was so valuable that Doheny was going to boast afterwards that he was going to make $100,000,000 out of it?

"Warren G. Harding was your President and mine; and he was my personal friend; and I deeply regret that they have desecrated his tomb by bringing forth his shroud to cover up the infamy of this transaction.

"Warren G. Harding, if he could be called from the great beyond—oh, I think I can see the pained expression that would be upon his face when he knew what his Cabinet Minister had done, and what Mr. Doheny had done. No, no; I resent the imputation.

"Were Warren G. Harding to appear here in the spirit, the defendants would fall dead with fright after making such a suggestion as that."

Mr. Pomerene, as did Mr. Roberts, charged that an effort had been made to make Mr. Cotter appear as the real negotiator so far as the Doheny interests were concerned, when, as a matter of fact, he said, Fall was the master mind on the one and Doheny on the other side.

As did Mr. Roberts he scathingly denounced the way the $100,000 transaction between Doheny and Fall was handled, declaring that the whole thing was a bribe and not a bona fide loan.

"You will remember," continued Mr. Pomerene, "that after this transaction was over, Mr. Bain was out in California. He was a good deal disturbed. Leading lawyers out there had suggested that the whole thing was illegal. Bain gets a little excited, so he writes a letter to Fall and suggests the getting of an opinion, and after that letter is written, he hands it to my friend Cotter to deliver to his principal."

Mr. Pomerene then quoted Dr. Bain as having written: "None of us want Mr. Doheny to get into trouble."

Declares Deal Was Born in Fraud.

"Great scott," exclaimed Mr. Pomerene, "with all this array of talent that Mr. Doheny can command, with his uncounted millions and poor Bain so solicitous about Doheny, why if there is any one man in all the world that can take care of his finances it is E. L. Doheny.

"You heard this letter read. Do you remember a single word in it which Bain utters to the effect that 'I am afraid the United States of America will get into trouble'? Oh, no! No solicitude for the Government—your Government and mine, that was paying him his salary. What else, what other conclusion can be drawn than that this whole thing was conceived in fraud and born in iniquity?

"Now, it was said there was a change in the policy on Nov. 29, 1922. Up to this time Fall was advising people that there were not going to be any leases made, and at the same time this preferential right was up. There was a change of policy, says my friend Hogan. What change? Why, that they were going to consummate what they had begun. That is the only change that I know of.

"Mr. Denby said it was always his policy only to lease and to have drilled where it was necessary to protect the drainage. That is all.

"Robison says, 'Oh, if it had been drainage alone it could have waited. It did not suit our purposes; but what shall we say of Robison, Doheny, Fall—the three patriots who were acting for 110,000,000 people? English literature tells me that the Three Tailors of Tooley Street resolved that we 'the people of England' and here you have three patriots, Fall, Robison and Doheny—we the three patriots of the United States are going to protect the Government and all of its possessions.'

"Oh, they tell you that the country was in danger, Admiral Robison must have gotten himself about in the frame of mind that James Whitcomb Riley did when he said 'The Goblins will get you if you don't watch out.'

Ridicules "War Peril" Story.

"Oh, yes, they nearly got Doheny. He said, 'I talked with him. I made him see this awful peril.' Then, very much moved he said, 'I will make you a bid.' The trouble with Robison was, I take it, that he had a very good dinner, and he got excited; got a little indigestion; rifted up, perhaps, a little gas and thought he heard the belching of the enemy's guns.

"'Danger? Suppose any three of you gentlemen knew there was danger to the country anywhere, would you keep it all to yourself? Patriots! Patriots! Why when Mr. Roberts asked the Admiral, 'Did you talk with any one else?' he said 'No.' When he said 'Any one else,' I take it that was one of the secrets that was not imparted to these other bidders.

"'Did you tell Congress about the danger?' 'No.' 'Did you tell any of the committees about the danger?' 'No.' The only man in all the world that he imparted the information to that the country was in danger was E. L. Doheny. Who believes that stuff?

"Then, Mr. Doheny, when he is called before the Senate Committee to tell about this story with the note in his pocket, comes a second time and says, 'I am sorry I did not give you the information when I was here before, which was Dec. 8, that I am about to impart. I loaned the $100,000 to Fall.' 'Have you got a note?' 'Yes.' 'Have you got any record of it?' 'No.'

"Catch Mr. Doheny making a $100,000 loan and not keeping some record of it.

"Then he tore off the signature. 'Well, where is the note?' 'I don't know. I think it is up in New York, or it is in Los Angeles,' and when he comes down the third time he brings the body of the note and he says that he regarded the signature as the note; that the body of the note was not the note. He called it a note when he took it out to Los Angeles in its torn condition.

"Do you mean to tell me Mr. Doheny was telling the truth about that?

Mr. Pomerene, further attacking the war peril story of the defendants, pointed out that the Washington conference met here on Nov. 12, 1921, agreed upon the four-power pact among the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan on Dec. 13, 1921, and it at the Senate advised its ratification and consented to it on March 24, 1922, one month and one day before the oil contract of April 25, 1922, was signed.

"Would that have been done if there had been any danger?" he asked. "No, that won't do."

Quotes Poetry in Final Plea.

"You have heard the story of the bell tower of Venice, which had stood for centuries, when, finally, its very foundations were eaten away by worms and it fell. Edwin Markham tells that in verse:

"Yet all the while, in secret, without sound,
The fat worms gnawed the timbers under ground;
The twisted worm, whose epoch is an hour,
Caverned its way into the mighty tower.
And suddenly it swayed, it shook, it broke,
And fell in darkening thunder at one stroke
The tall shaft, with an angel on the crown.
Fell ruining, a thousand years went down
And so I fear, my country, not the hand
That shall hurl might and whirlwind on the land;
I fear not titan traitors that shall rise
To stride like broken shadows on our skies;
I fear the vermin that shall undermine
Senate and school and citadel and shrine;
The worm of fraud, the fatted worm of ease
And all the crawling progeny of these.
I fear the vermin that shall honeycomb the towers
And walls of State in unsuspecting hours.

"Gentlemen of the jury, Mr. Roberts and I have been charged with a very grave responsibility, as unpleasant a task as I ever undertook. We have done the best we could that the light might be known. It is with you now to determine. We leave the case with you."

Justice Hoehling began his charge to the jury at 2 o'clock. It was only half as long as expected. He explained the law of conspiracy in detail and read to the jury the approved requests for instructions agreed on between counsel and the Court on Monday. Both sides appeared pleased with the charge. It was a calm, dispassionate presentation of the legal features of the situation.

MAMMOTH OIL STOCK SOLD.

Auctioneers Dispose of 113,248 Shares at Three Cents Each.

A large block of common stock of the Mammoth Oil Company, organized in 1922 by the H. F. Sinclair interests to operate the Teapot Dome oil reserves, sold at auction yesterday for less than 3 cents a share. The sale at this figure was construed in Wall Street as establishing the almost utter worthlessness of securities which were bought a few years ago at more than $50 a share with high hopes of tremendous profits.

The auction was conducted by Adrian H. Muller & Sons at their salesroom, 56 Vesey Street. The Mammoth Oil stock sold consisted of 113,248 shares of Class A common of no par value, the entire lot bringing only $3,000.

At the time of the formation of the company it was announced that a market would be made for the stock on the New York Curb by Jesse L. Livermore. There was exceedingly active trading in the stock. Interest lagged, however, and there has not been a sale of the stock on the Curb for many months.

The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation owns about 25 per cent. of the stock of the Mammoth Oil Company. The latter company was incorporated on Feb. 28, 1922, in Delaware to develop 9,321 acres known as United States Naval Reserve No. 3, Teapot Dome, Wyoming, leased from the Government.

Following the filing of the Government's suit to cancel the lease on March 13, 1924, Judge Kennedy granted a temporary injunction restraining the Mammoth Company from operating under the lease. Receivers were appointed pending the termination of the litigation, which is still before the courts.

The names of owners of the 113,248 shares sold at auction were not disclosed.

DEAN SWAN APPOINTED FEDERAL CIRCUIT JUDGE

Head of Yale Law School Is Elevated to Bench to Succeed the Late Judge Rogers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Thomas W. Swan of Connecticut was nominated today to be United States Circuit Judge in the Second Circuit, which includes parts of New York and Vermont and Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 15 (AP).—Thomas W. Swan, nominated today to be United States Circuit Judge, is Dean of the Yale Law School. His appointment was recommended by both Connecticut Senators. The judgeship was made vacant by the death of Judge Henry Wade Rogers, former Dean of the Yale Law School.

Dean Swan was appointed head of the law school on Jan. 17, 1916, succeeding Dean Rogers, who at that time went to the Circuit Court bench. Dean Swan was graduated from Yale in 1900 and from Harvard Law School in 1903. He is the son of the late Thomas W. Swan, B. A., Yale 1869, of Norwich, Conn. He was a high stand man at Yale and was graduated from the Harvard Law School with distinction, being both marshal of his class and editor in chief of the Harvard Law Review.

After leaving the law school Dean Swan started the practice of law in Chicago and there was associated with Professor Beale of the Harvard Law School in organizing the Law Department of the University of Chicago. For two years he was a lecturer at the law school there.

RELIGIOUS OPINIONS BAR HIM FROM JURY

Radio Announcer Is Rejected in Extortion Case for Talks Against Catholics and Jews.

MAY BE STRICKEN OFF LISTS

Judge Rosalsky Recommends Action, Though Franklin Ford of WHAP Says He Can Be Fair.

Franklin Ford, studio manager and general announcer for radio station WHAP, was excused from further jury service yesterday by Judge Otto A. Rosalsky in General Sessions because of attacks he had broadcast against Catholics and Jews. He was questioned at length by Judge Rosalsky, who afterward ordered that a copy of the record of the questions and answers be sent to the Commissioner of Jurors with a request that Mr. Ford's name be stricken from the jury list.

Mr. Ford, who lives at 9 West Ninety-sixth Street and who is said to have received many complaints because of religious prejudices he has expressed over the radio, was being examined for jury service in the case of Henry J. Williams, a negro on trial for attempted extortion of $75 from Mrs. Cora Spalding, a dressmaker, of 180 West 135th Street, to whom he is alleged to have represented himself as a detective.

The motion to excuse Mr. Ford from jury service was made by Assistant District Attorney John F. Joyce and was joined in by Philip M. Goodhart, counsel for Williams. After Mr. Ford had told Mr. Joyce he would have no prejudice against the defendant because he was a negro, Mr. Joyce said:

"One of the people's witnesses is Police Inspector Thomas Ryan. Inspector Ryan is a Catholic. Now, you have talked over the radio daily and nightly and have daily attacked the Catholics. Is that so?"

Quoted Evidence, He Says.

"I have quoted evidence," replied Mr. Ford, "showing that certain teachings of the papal system, quoted from the Popes, the Cardinals and the lesser lights on history and common doctrines, such as the public school system, separation of Church and State, freedom of speech, freedom of the press and government by the people, are supposed to be governed by divine right. I have said that, but I have no personal feeling against any individual of Romanism. I consider that they are in their——"

"Are you a member of the Ku Klux Klan?" interrupted Mr. Joyce.

Mr. Ford replied he was not, and to another question answered that the sponsor of WHAP was Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, who has long been in a religious controversy with the present authorities in the Christian Science Church. He was then told that another witness for the people would be a Jew and asked if he would be prejudiced on that account. He replied:

"I am not prejudiced against Jews. I think some Jews are as good citizens as any one else. I do not attack Jews in toto over the radio. I do attack some of their activities, as I do the activities of other people, not because they are Jews, but because some of their activities are not right."

Judge Rosalsky, who had been listening intently, took up the questioning himself and asked Mr. Ford what kind of Jewish activities he had found objectionable. Mr. Ford answered:

"I think that the indecent plays on Broadway, some of which have been sponsored under their administration, are not conducive to good American citizenship. I think that the cabaret and night life that some of them carry on do not show good citizenship."

Not Preaching Hate, He Asserts.

"Are you preaching the doctrine of hate and inciting people to disorder and riot?" asked Judge Rosalsky.

"I cannot feel that I am, with due respect to the Court," Mr. Ford said. "I think that if any one takes a stand against what he considers wrong, of course, those who are hurt by that stand and are in the wrong are going to have to meet that criticism or public sentiment."

Judge Rosalsky remarked that, although he has a radio, he had never heard of Mr. Ford, except through many letters of complaint he had received recently about Ford's broadcasting criticisms of Jews and Catholics. He said the point was, could Mr. Ford, under oath, say that, as a juror, he would "know no man's face in judgment" and that the religion of any witness would not move him in the slightest degree. He asked Mr. Ford if he would take such an oath, and Mr. Ford replied: "Absolutely, absolutely," as he held his right hand aloft.

"How are we to take you at your word?" Judge Rosalsky asked.

"To that I would have to reply that you would have to use your own judgment," said Mr. Ford. "My own opinion and conscience is that I would be just as fair to any individual as any other man would be."

"Did you make a statement over the radio," continued Judge Rosalsky, "that Catholics have no religion; that they constitute merely a political institution and that they ought never to be permitted to hold public office?"

"I have said that Roman Catholicism is fundamentally a political, international system with ecclesiasticism behind it," replied Mr. Ford.

Said No Catholic Should Hold Office.

"Did you make the statement that no Catholic should be permitted to hold public office?"

"Yes, I did," Mr. Ford replied, whereupon Judge Rosalsky said that other Judges, other officials and many court attachés were Catholics and he had always found them fair-minded and faithful in the performance of their duties.

"If a Roman Catholic," volunteered Mr. Ford, "owes allegiance, as he does, to a foreign governor, a political and secular authority, his citizenship is divided, and that is the objection I have. It is not because of the person."

Declaring this was foreign to the form of government of this country, Judge Rosalsky quoted from an address he had delivered at a reception to Cardinal Hayes in January, 1925, in which he had lauded the history of Catholics in the United States and deplored efforts to discriminate against them in political and civil matters. He then excused Mr. Ford as a possible juror. Mr. Ford has been on juries before Judge Rosalsky in the past.

Mr. Ford said that before becoming studio manager for WHAP he had been in "newspaper work" outside of New York City.

A WARM moon through Florida palms—the gleaming shores of Monaco from the deck of a Mediterranean steamer—the radiant sun of California—the green Nile gliding through Egypt—the mystic depths of India—the languor of the South Seas—the impetuous color of Spanish America—the temperate rich beauty of America's southern states—the magic that wings from Shenandoah to Yosemite; enchantment! Waiting beyond the bleak walls of winter—an enchantment described and laid before you in this week's number of The Literary Digest.

Recreation that restores health and courage! "One vacation a year is not enough for those who live at the tension of modern city life", says an eminent New York physician, adding, "To conserve health and to maintain maximum efficiency a semi-annual period of relaxation is becoming essential". And it is to serve this need, to describe accurately and with detailed information how and where relaxation may be found beyond the stress and grind of winter, that this travel number of The Digest is edited. Open the windows of your imagination! Before you choose the place to spend your precious days of freedom, cast your eyes, with The Digest editors, over the wonder spots of the winter world.

The Literary Digest—
A Travel Guide to the World

THE bracing centers of winter sport as well as the warm South and the beguiling tropics are included in this remarkable survey. Page after page of description and information literally set the whole world before you—the railroad and steamship lines, the scenic features of the routes, the special cruises for which great steamers have been chartered this winter—everything that you need to know before deciding how and where you will seek—enchantment!

Every number of The Literary Digest, through every week of the year, brings you important news and information from the corners of the world. It is literally our task, in the famous words of Addison, "To confirm the tidings as they roll, and spread the truth from pole to pole". But twice a year—winter and summer—our editors bring this summary of travel information before you. These issues are ones to buy and keep. Add to them the information supplied by the weekly advertisements in The Literary Digest of the great steamship and railroad companies, and you can never be at a loss when you come to the question—"Where shall we spend our vacation?" The Literary Digest throughout the year carries a greater volume of transportation advertising than any other general magazine. These advertisements in themselves constitute a veritable travel directory for every season and every part of the world.

Ask your newsdealer for this Winter Travel Number of The Digest. For ten cents (or for the small subscription of $4.00 for an entire year) you can bring the world to your fireside. Don't delay—for enchantment lies just beyond the wintry walls of your home!

ORMISTON INDICTED BY LOS ANGELES JURY

But Arrest in Chicago of Mrs. McPherson's Former Radio Man Is Postponed.

NOW SET FOR TOMORROW

Fugitive Warrant Is Issued and After It Is Served Extradition Will Be Sought.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15 (AP).—Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive radio man in the Aimee Semple McPherson case, was indicted on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury today.

The indictment contained a long outline of the alleged conspiracy, based on the disappearance of the woman evangelist on May 18 and the appearance of the radio man and a mysterious woman companion at Carmel the next day.

Presiding Judge Keetch assigned the Ormiston case to the same department which will try the evangelist and her two women co-defendants. Judge Keetch also issued a bench warrant for Ormiston. Bail was set at $10,000.

Prepare to Ask Extradition.

Officials who had asked the action to facilitate his return from Chicago found their plans legally blocked, however, since Ormiston still was in the hands of private investigators.

Before an officer can be sent to Sacramento to ask Governor Richardson to issue a requisition for him the District Attorney's office said it would be necessary that Ormiston be placed under arrest. In a legal sense he was still at large.

Ben Cohn, chief investigator, said he will start for Sacramento tomorrow night and be in readiness to go before the Governor Friday if Ormiston was arrested that day in Chicago.

Chicago Postpones Arrest.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP).—The arrest of Kenneth G. Ormiston was postponed today until Friday. Ormiston had a cold, it was explained, and was out of the city. His attorney, Edward H. S. Martin, notified Police Chief Collins that the former broadcaster would be produced at 11 A. M. Friday.

At that time, unless present plans are changed, a fugitive warrant issued today in the Municipal Court on the basis of a writ sent here from Los Angeles charging conspiracy to obstruct justice and subornation of perjury will be served on Ormiston.

He was to have been produced today, but Chief Collins said the police would not go out of their way to find him. That official expressed himself as having a somewhat less than casual interest in the case and asserted that if Ormiston was as much sought as he had been led to believe District Attorney Keyes would have indicated more interest in Ormiston's apprehension. Chief Collins asserted that Keyes was in Philadelphia when Ormiston was found in Harrisburg and that his failure to make an appearance here when Ormiston was returned to Chicago had not served to excite Chicago police over the urgency of Ormiston's arrest.

REBELS MARCH ON MANAGUA

Liberals Report Defeat of the Forces of the Government.

SAN SALVADOR, Salvador, Dec. 15 (AP).—Advices received here from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, the seat of the Liberal Government set up by former Vice President Juan Sacasa, say that Liberal forces have begun an advance along the entire front.

The advices state that a rebel column has left the Atlantic Coast and is advancing on the Department of Matagalpa in the direction of Managua, which is the capital if Nicaragua and the seat of the Conservative Government of President Adolfo Diaz.

A detachment of Government troops was reported to have been defeated in the Department of Nuevo Segovia, resulting in the capture of many prisoners by the rebels as well as a quantity of war material.

The reports state that the Liberal forces are advancing into the interior and are dominating the entrance to the town of Jinotega. Other columns are reported to have begun an advance on Leon and Chinandega.

ART SALE BRINGS $6,875.

Auction of Paintings in the Whitman Kenyon Collection Ends.

The sale at the Anderson Galleries of the late Whitman W. Kenyon's collection of American and European paintings, water colors and drawings closed last evening. The receipts totaled $6,875 for the two sales.

The Metropolitan Galleries obtained aCorot, Ville d'Avray, for $650. An old catalogue description on its back says that it is from the d'Ennery collection. The same buyers also paid $200 for a cattle scene by Van Marcke and $100 each for a classical landscape by Verboom and "Sweet Idleness" by Countat and $190 for a "Scene on the Nile" by F. A. Bridgman.

E. F. Collins, agent, bid in "Hercules and Omphale," by Boulanger, for $310, a landscape by George Inness for $210 and "The Indian Princess," by A. Riedel, for $160. K. Alexander paid $150 for "The Mandolin," by L. Bakalowicz, and M. A. Newhouse & Son, Inc., paid $100 for "Preparing for the Ball," by Neuhuys.

Dinner for Prof. George White.

The twenty-seventh annual dinner of the George White Alumni Association will be held tonight at the Hotel Astor as a tribute to Professor George White and to celebrate the aged teacher's ninetieth birthday. Professor White taught and served as a principal in New York public schools for more than half a century and many of New York's leading citizens were his pupils.

Mrs. John J. Cody of 147 East Eighty-sixth Street is secretary of the Association and in charge of the arrangements.

Lawyers to Honor C. B. Whitman.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The District of Columbia Bar Association will give a dinner and reception tomorrow night at the Mayflower in honor of Charles Seymour Whitman, former Governor of New York, now President of the American Bar Association. Among those who will attend are Attorney General Sargent, several members of the United States Supreme Court, Judges of various district courts and some of the leading lawyers of the East.

COLD WAVE IS LOST ON ITS WAY HERE

Light Snow Comes Instead of Sharp Drop in Temperature as Predicted.

The cold wave which gripped most of Canada and the Middle Western States and sent the mercury tumbling down below the zero mark in those places, failed to materialize in this city yesterday. The lowest temperature of the day was only 24 degrees, recorded at 7 A. M. The reason given by officials of the local Weather Bureau was that the low pressure area which centred over the Great Lakes and Canada failed to reach this neighborhood as had been predicted.

In place of the extreme cold a light snowfall spread over the city late yesterday afternoon and during the evening. By midnight less than half an inch had fallen, and the prospects then were that it would stop before morning. Before midnight the snow had stopped after less than half an inch had fallen, and the prospects for today were fair and slightly colder. By "slightly colder," the Weather Bureau explained that the mercury should not drop below 20 degrees. For Friday, the forecast is increasing cloudiness with very little change in temperature.

The zero weather, which since Sunday night held most of the Central and Western States as well as Canada in its grip, eased a little yesterday, but not sufficient to make the difference very noticeable. Another twelve hours of biting cold with the mercury hovering between sub-zero and ten above, was predicted for the Middle West last night. Some slight reaction to a rising temperature was promised in the Great Plain region and a part of the Midwest section by afternoon.

In Chicago and the Chicago forecast region, the temperature started upward from the low mark of 3 below at 7 o'clock in the morning. At 8 A. M. it was up to zero and at 3 P. M. it had reached 10 and stayed there for several hours. The descent began again with the dusk and during the night hours the thermometer hovered around the zero mark again. Five deaths were reported in Chicago as the result of the cold. Sixteen deaths in other parts of the Middle West are attributed to the cold.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP).—Navigation on the Great Lakes officially closed today because of ice. Two Buffalo grain carriers which cleared Sault Ste. Marie today, will be the last to arrive here, shipping men said. About seventy-five freighters now in Buffalo harbor will be used for Winter grain storage.

EGYPT TO AID COTTON MEN.

Government Yields to Demand for Intervention in Market.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Dec. 15.—After a warm debate in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon the Premier surrendered to the demand of the Zaghulist majority that the Government should intervene in the cotton market. The extent and nature of its intervention is left to a special committee to decide.

A ministerial crisis thus has been averted, but the situation is complicated, the Government scheme of advances to cultivators remaining in force.

three Deputies is to be appointed to carry out the Government's decision. Buying is to be confined to futures at present.

Dispatches through London early this month said the economic situation in Egypt was growing worse in consequence of the slump in cotton. Frantic appeals, it was added, were being made for the Government to intervene in the cotton market, and a proposal to stabilise the price was under consideration.

The Egyptian Chamber of Deputies on Dec. 9 adopted a bill limiting the cotton acreage to one-third of normal for three years.

PRESENTS MEDAL TO BYRD.

Philadelphia Geographical Society Honors First Airman to Reach Pole.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 15.—Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, the first airman to reach the North Pole, was presented tonight with the highest medal of honor bestowed by the Geographical Society of Philadelphia. At a dinner of the society, Henry G. Bryant, one of its Past Presidents, decorated Commander Byrd with the Elisha Kent Kane Medal, which has been used in the past to honor Peary, Scott and Shackleton.

Commander Byrd related the adventures of his party on last Spring's polar expedition.

Among the guests was Mrs. Marie Anigheto Peary Stafford, daughter of Admiral Robert E. Peary, who, she said, predicted before his death that the North Pole would next be conquered by air. Captain Robert Bartlett, Peary's skipper on all of his arctic expeditions, also spoke.

TENNYSON SPURNED $5,000.

Londoners Recall How Poet Refused Money for Christmas Poetry.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Christmas card poets, whose products are now on display in the holiday novelty shops, are again telling the story of how Tennyson declined the largest offer ever made for poetic greetings to adorn Christmas cards.

It is common gossip among the poets and artists here that at the time Tennyson was Poet Laureate a leading London firm of Christmas card publishers offered him 1,000 guineas (a little over $5,800) for twelve sets of verse of eight lines each, to appear under his name.

Tennyson, believing the offer incompatible with his position as a poet, and especially as Poet Laureate, declined the proposal with thanks.

ROTA OFFICIALS DISTURBED.

Express Surprise at Frequent Unfounded Annulment Reports.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Dec. 15.—Inquiries at the Sacred Rota tribunal today failed to disclose the slightest confirmation of reports that the divorced wife of Richard Washburn Child and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin had made applications for the annulment of their marriages.

Officials of the tribunal are disturbed and surprised at the frequent repetition of such unfounded reports. They believe, they said, that the reports are circulated by persons, who, trusting in the Rota's rule of secrecy, think they can do so with impunity.

TEST BAUMES LAW IN LIFERS' APPEAL

Counsel for Men Sentenced as Fourth Offenders Raise Constitutionality.

DEBATE TURNS TO PRAISE

Pecora and G. Z. Midalie, Who Were Scheduled to Argue, Applaud Act at Women's Meeting.

A test of the constitutionality of the Baumes law came before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday on appeal by counsel for Joseph Gowasky and Theodore Hemerlein, now serving life terms in Sing Sing after pleading guilty to attempted burglary in the third degree last September, admitting that they had been convicted of felonies three times previously. As fourth offenders they were sentenced for life by Judge Mancuso in General Sessions.

Counsel for the prisoners, in challenging the constitutionality of the Baumes law, said their clients were questioned concerning their previous records without knowledge that the District Attorney intended to proceed against them under the new law. Because they were not cautioned that anything they might say would be used against them, James Marshall, attorney for Hemerlein, asserted that their rights were invaded.

Samuel Backlaw, attorney for Gowasky, characterised the Baumes law as a piece of legislative iniquity and referred to remarks by General Sessions, Judge Collins when sentencing a negro laborer to life imprisonment, that five years was ample punishment and that the law forced him to act contrary to the dictates of his conscience. Comments by Dean Pound of the Harvard Law School on "legislative justice" as "unequal, uncertain and capricious," and "highly susceptible to the influence of passion and prejudice," were also quoted.

Other technical constitutional questions were raised, one being that no person shall be held to answer for an infamous crime unless by action of the Grand Jury, and that the defendants in the present cases were sentenced as fourth offenders without such action.

Upheld by Highest Court.

Assistant District Attorney Taylor, in charge of criminal appeals, asserted that the Baumes law was modelled upon a West Virginia statute which has been held constitutional by the United States Supreme Court in the case of Graham against the State of West Virginia. He asserted that the higher courts of New York cannot upset the law without running counter to the ruling of the highest court in the land.

The Appellate Division Justices reserved decision.

What was scheduled as a debate on the merits of that part of the Baumes act whereby offenders convicted for the fourth time of a felony shall be sentenced to life imprisonment resolved itself last night at the Hotel Majestic into a symposium in which the two chief speakers voiced their approval of the drastic provisions of the law.

At a meeting under the ispices of the Business and Professional Women's Republican Club, Assistant District Attroney Ferdinand Pecora who was announced as the affirmative speaker, and former Assistant District Attorney George Z. Midalie, who served under former Governor Whitman in the district attorney's office, both praised the act.

DINNER AT $100 A COUPLE.

600 to Attend Testimonial to Federation Drive Leaders.

More than 600 persons have reserved places at $100 a couple for the testimonial dinner next Sunday night at the Hotel Astor to John Block and Jack Mack, division heads of the ready-to-wear trades in the tenth anniversary campaign of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, it was announced yesterday.

Oscar Abel and Jacob Sperber are the associate chairmen of the dinner committee.

Federation Tithe Day was observed yesterday at four stores of the Huyler Company, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Isaac Kubie, associate Chairman of the Women's Division. Mrs. Sidney C. Borg, Chairman of the Women's Division, and a committee of other women prominent in philanthropy acted as hostesses.

Fannie Brice and members of the "Gay Paree" and "Countess Maritza" companies were among those who served as waitresses. One-tenth of the proceeds in the four stores was devoted to the campaign.

PATROLMEN TO BE COPYISTS

Twelve Are Assigned to Motor Bureau to Trancribe Records.

Twelve patrolmen were assigned by Inspector John D. Coughlin yesterday to copy 1927 motor records at the State Motor Vehicle Bureau for the use of the Police Department. This work was previously done by the State Motor Vehicle Bureau and the news that policemen were assigned to the task led to a report that it signified a "break" between Police Commissioner George V. McLaughlin and Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett, but the report was denied.

Mr. McLaughlin said he did not know that policemen had been assigned to the job and that he supposed it was a routine matter. Mr. Harnett was out of town, but it was said at his office that policemen were assigned to the task because the Police Department earlier in the year did not have enough money to pay for the printing of stationery so that applicants could fill in information for the Police Department.

BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

just Published

—for Love, Roses, and Romance

—and time will be an endless wooing to you—to HER! if you—if SHE! but read, recall and play the plot of life prompted by "The Doctor's Wooing."

Every man the world over wants to woo—and win the woman he loves.

Every man the world over wants a wife, a home—a baby!

Every woman the world over wants to be wooed—and won by the man she loves.

Every normal woman the world over, from savage to patrician, wants a husband, a home—a baby!

Nine men in ten who fail in love lose head with heart—become "nutty." But a woman!—why, in this, the age of the glorified leg, frescoed features and overeducated head, your Juliet's gray matter refuses to jell. Her cardiac organ is quite subjective. A clever doctor (probably the tenth), thanks to force of study, of practice, retains his balance, handles the lady's heart via her head, wins over all rivals and hence is your best exemplar for successful wooing.

You, too, will be wooed—and won by artistic Rhoda, supernally beautiful Rhoda, and lovable ardent Dr. Ben, in

THE DOCTOR'S WOOING

By Charles Phillips
(Professor of English, University of Notre Dame.)

"The Doctor's Wooing" strikes a level far above that of most romantic fiction. It shows the utmost clearness and smoothness of narrative and style. The story is more than a facile triangle story. It is interesting, appealing, and pleasant.—N. Y. Times.

"The Doctor's Wooing" is the finest piece of romantic writing produced in this country in years—so wholesome, so refreshing, so engaging, and so strong.—Margaret Anglin.

The story carries an exciting rush of incident. Mr. Phillips in this clean, quickly moving story writes clearly with an occasional touch of poesy, with a warm appreciation of music and of wild nature, and with a fine appraisement of human values.—Edwin Markham in Literary Digest Book Review.

THE MAN OF DESTINY
by Emil Ludwig

We are happy to announce the publication of NAPOLEON. We have strained every publishing resource to have it ready for the American public this year, and are proud to be able to present it in a binding and format worthy of a truly notable book.

NAPOLEON is the current European sensation. It is undoubtedly one of the dozen or so great biographies in literature and the biography of NAPOLEON.

Few books offered this year, offer such beauty inside and outside for gift giving. Give it to your best friends—particularly that friend so often neglected—yourself.

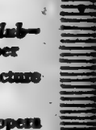
MORE MILES
by Harry Kemp



MORE MILES is the source book of the great revolution in modern living and thinking that has silently taken place in the last ten years. The influence of Greenwich Village and allied centers through the country, their trends in artistic and political thinking have been far greater than anybody could have prophesied—greater than the rebels themselves hoped.

Harry Kemp played a signal part in this life. His MORE MILES, tells the story of this powerful and misunderstood force in American life with vivid authenticity, for it is itself a part of it.

"They don't write such English nowadays. The book is charming."—The New York Herald Tribune.

U. S. Senator DAVID I. WALSH of Massachusetts:

(the only book he has ever endorsed to the public)

"'My Unknown Chum'—I cannot too strongly express the pleasure and companionship I found in this excellent book. It is all that is claimed for it—even more. It is not only a companion but a friend."

Give

MY UNKNOWN CHUM

to those you love—and to yourself for Christmas, for Life

Clean literature and clean womanhood are the keystones of civilization, and MY UNKNOWN CHUM "is the cleanest and best all-around book in the English language."

It is the Chum of thousands; once read it will be your Chum all through life—at home and abroad. When your Daughter, your Son, are old enough to think, travel and fall in love, insistently commend "MY UNKNOWN CHUM" to them. They will be grateful for your thoughtfulness.

The essay-story of a beautiful English girl and wife will remind many a youth and man of what he owes to womanhood in these topsy-turvy times.

It fulfills to the letter Lord Rosebery's definition of the three-fold function of a book—"To FURNISH INFORMATION, LITERATURE, RECREATION"

—you will agree with—

SIR PHILIP GIBBS that "'My Unknown Chum' is delightful."

EX-MAYOR JAMES LOGAN, Worcester, Mass., Vice Chairman Y. M. C. A.: "A friend gave me a copy of 'My Unknown Chum' and since then I have given away about ten or twelve copies. I recently made a trip to San Francisco and took 'My Unknown Chum' with me for a second reading from cover to cover, a thing I have not done for thirty years, i.e., read a book the second time. It is wonderfully interesting."

JOSEPH M. JENNINGS, President The Old Corner Bookstore, Boston: "'My Unknown Chum' is a classic in every sense of that much abused term. It is truly a literary comrade. We urge it upon all who seek the best in literature."

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK, Chief Justice of Canada: "'My Unknown Chum' is a wonderful book. I can repeat some of the pages almost by heart. I buy it to give to those I love and to friends who can appreciate a good book."

DR. WILLIS FLETCHER JOHNSON, Literary Editor, North American Review: "He writes in English, so pure, so perfect, so unfailingly felicitous in every word and phrase, and period, that the sensuous charm of his speech is commensurate with the intellectual and spiritual appeal of his thoughts."

SIR THOMAS WHITE, Canadian Minister of Finance: "I have read 'My Unknown Chum' many times over with great pleasure. What a beautiful, simple, clear style, deep human sympathy and insight it exhibits! It is indeed well named, for it is truly a chum to those who love literature."

THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO., largest wholesale booksellers: "'My Unknown Chum' is a wonderful book—appeals to the cultivated classes. Has a remarkable sale. We sell more copies than we do of many 'best-selling' novels."

CARDINAL GASQUET, one of the world's foremost scholars: "I have read 'My Unknown Chum' with the greatest possible pleasure."

"Life is too short for reading inferior books."—Bryce

MY UNKNOWN CHUM

("AGUECHEEK") Foreword by HENRY GARRITY

NOTE: When you travel at home or abroad "My Unknown Chum" (if you've read it) will surely go with you—and return with you. If your son, your daughter, are at University or College, send them "My Unknown Chum." They will like it—need it, now, and surely so when later they begin life's battles with our fast-decaying civilization. Read the book yourself first and return if not an ideal comrade for them and you.

BERENGARIA LEAVES THREE HOURS LATE

Filling of Liner's Tanks With Fresh Water Holds Up Sailing for England and France.

COL. HARVEY A PASSENGER

Former Ambassador Is Making First Trip Abroad Since His Retirement in 1923.

The Cunard liner Berengaria, carrying 2,800 passengers, sailed yesterday afternoon at about 5:30 for Cherbourg and Southampton. She was delayed three hours by taking on fresh water. She was the last big liner to leave this country in time to reach Europe for Christmas. In her third class were 425 Italians, who expect to spend Christmas in Italy.

Among those on board was Colonel George Harvey, former Ambassador to the Court of St. James's. He was accompanied by Mrs. Harvey. He said that this was his first trip abroad since his retirement as Ambassador in 1921.

Colonel Harvey was asked to give his views on the League of Nations, the World Court and the possibility of the re-election of President Coolidge. He said that he thought that the League was a good thing, "that we ought to stay out of it." He said that he favored entrance into the World Court with reservations.

Coolidge's Fate With People.

"President Coolidge has nothing whatever to do with the matter," he said in answer to the question regarding his re-election. "If the people want him, he will be unable to refuse re-election. If they don't, he is through."

Edna Purviance, who starred in the Chaplin film "A Woman in Paris," sailed. She would not reveal her plans and declined to discuss the recent rift in the Chaplin household.

"All I know," she said, "is that Chaplin has abandoned, for the time, everything. He is not turning a hand to anything now."

Another passenger was Rebecca West, English author. She said that she considered American writers more significant than English ones. She is on her way to England to spend the holidays with her relatives.

Lord Loch and Dr. Walter Seton, who have been in America to obtain funds to establish an American historical chair at the University of London, were passengers. They also laid the basis for establishing a Ramsay laboratory for the university. They said that they succeeded in raising $150,000, and the Ramsay laboratory will require $100,000 more.

NEW HARVARD EATING HALL.

Lowell Offers $100,000 Structure If Students Will Support Club Tables.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Dec. 15.—Harvard University is to have a $100,000 dining hall operated on the club table basis for undergraduates provided the students show sufficient interest in the project to warrant its support, according to an announcement made by President Lowell before an informal meeting of the student body here today.

President Lowell discussed the plan from a social point of view, stating that under the club table system various groups of men eating regularly together formed life-long friendships, more time was taken at meals and eating became more a pleasure and less a hurried, routine task.

Dr. Alfred Worcester, Professor of Hygiene at the university, spoke in favor of the idea from a physical and medical viewpoint. He called attention to the fact that out of 845 men who were excused last year from classes because of illness, 151 suffered from indigestion. This condition would be largely remedied if a new dining hall were built and the club table system operated in it successfully, he said. Experience had shown that men who took their meals regularly and ate slowly possessed far more endurance than those who did not.

Many of the restaurants now used by the student body were not conducted under the most sanitary conditions, he added.

FINDS LOW HEELS ARTISTIC.

Professor Exhibits Sensible but Stylish Shoes to Barnard Girls.

Women's shoes can be artistic and stylish and still be fitted to the foot with straight lines and low heels, according to Professor Edward Matthews of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, who displayed yesterday a variety of footwear as part of the third annual Health Week program of Barnard College.

He said Antioch College has been experimenting for three years to determine the proper kind of shoes for women to wear to present a modish appearance and still conform to orthopedic health rules. All the shoes he showed yesterday were designed by Antioch students and made by experts. They were of various designs and shades and only one pair had heels more than an inch high.

A fashion show will be held this afternoon in which twenty Barnard girls will take part. Another group will show the evolution of clothes from the Grecian period to the present day.

Dr. Grenfell Starts Back to Labrador Post, Declaring There Is No Odious Theatre There

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Traveling third-class, Dr. W. H. Grenfell, missionary-doctor and explorer of Labrador, and his wife left London today to return to Labrador, by way of New York.

"I am going back to Labrador for three years or more loaded with gifts," he said. The most wonderful gift of all is the yacht Foam, whose owner, Captain Kirby, is volunteering to command the vessel in the Frozen North in order to maintain our hospital services around the Labrador coast. It is not an easy task looking after the health of scattered settlers and Eskimos."

Dr. Grenfell described one perilous call to a sick person he had made.

"While crossing an ice floe going to a sick Eskimo fifty miles away, the floe broke up and I found myself, the sledge and eight dogs floating on it when night came," he said. "It was terribly cold and there was no way of taking exercise on the floating ice. The only way to avoid freezing to death was to kill three dogs, skin them and use the skins to keep me and the remaining five dogs warm. I got the five dogs to settle around me, then wrapped the skins around the outer dogs and we remained huddled together till rescued next day."

Dr. Grenfell said he always traveled third-class because he objected to using money for anything but the welfare of the people of Labrador. He was disappointed in London theatres.

"I went to a show last night," he said, "and I was never so repelled in my life as by that odious mixture of sex and stupidity. We do not have that in Labrador."

RASMUSSEN SAILS HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Then Will Go to France and Spain to Study Caves of the Stone Age.

SEEKS TO TRACE ESKIMO

Hopes to Prove North Greenland Race Is Modern Equivalent of the Cro-Magnons.

Dr. Knud Rasmussen, Danish explorer and member of the Putnam expedition to North Greenland last Summer, sailed yesterday afternoon on the Cunard liner Berengaria. He is on his way to Denmark to spend Christmas. He will then go to Southern France and Northern Spain, where he will study the caves occupied by the Cro-Magnons or men of the Old Stone Age. He feels that he will be able to prove that the Eskimo of North Greenland are the modern equivalent of the race which made the Aurignacean paintings and who lived 25,000 years ago.

"Professor Boyd Dawkins of Scotland believes that the Cro-Magnons and the Eskimo are members of the identical race," said Dr. Rasmussen. "I, however, am inclined to think that they are simply parallel. That is to say, I think that they are spiritually like-minded and have the same civilizations.

"I found caves at Thule, near North Star Bay, in Northwestern Greenland, and also at Etha which were occupied by the Tunit, a race related to the Eskimo, as recently as 200 years ago. Furthermore, a comparison of the flint tools, such as harpoons, bow straighteners, hammers, knives and so-forth, used by the Eskimo, with those made by the Cro-Magnons shows them to be almost identical.

"Incidentally, the possibility that the two races are similar offers an interesting suggestion. The popular theory is that the cave man was cruel, pugnacious and bloodthirsty. We picture him as a ferocious creature, the man with a club, and at the same time we imagine him to have been of very low intelligence. But we know the Eskimo to be different. He is timorous in the presence of nature and of his gods, and he is a man of song with a poetic nature. If we discover that the two races are the same we will have to revise our conception of the cave man."

Dr. Rasmussen, who has been honored recently by both the American Geographical Society and the National Geographic Society, is himself part Eskimo. His father was a Danish missionary in Greenland and his mother was half Eskimo.

He has just completed a book entitled "The Spiritual Life of the Eskimo," which will be translated into English shortly and published in this country.

ROYAL DIVORCEE TO REWED.

Former Kaiser's Daughter-in-Law to Marry Ex-Officer.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—Ex-Princess Eitel Friederich of Prussia, who recently won a divorce from the ex-Kaiser's second son, will be married soon to Herr von Hedemann, an ex-officer of a dragoon regiment.

The former Princess, who is a daughter of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, formerly one of the richest families in Germany, chose as her second matrimonial venture a noble family instead of royalty.

Herr Hedemann's and the Princess's acquaintance dates back to more than a score of years when, as a young subaltern, he was detailed for duty in her royal residence.

The Princess, who upon remarriage will drop the present title, has given up the idea of becoming a movie star.

Tinney in Navy Yard Hospital.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 15.—Frank Tinney, comedian from Earl Carroll's "Vanities," is under observation and treatment in the Philadelphia Navy Yard Hospital to avert an indicated nervous breakdown, it was learned tonight. Hospital authorities, after repeated denials, admitted that Tinney had came here Monday to take a rest and recover from his recent severe illness in Detroit. They declared that his condition was satisfactory, although no one except his brother, Joseph Tinney of Philadelphia, was permitted to see the actor.

ASKS $5,000 TO RESTORE $300,000 STOLEN GEMS

Man Caught by Detectives Who Hand Package to Him and Receive Fake Jewels.

In response to a letter received by the A. R. Lee Insurance Company of 15 William Street, in which the writer said that if the company would send a representative clad in a light cap and a black and white muffler to meet him in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral with $5,000, he would turn over the $300,000 worth of jewels stolen from the home of Myron C. Taylor, at 16 East Seventieth Street, which the company had insured, two detectives went to the appointed place last night.

At the hour named in the letter, 9 o'clock, Theodore Balduc of 33 East Fifty-first Street stepped out of a taxicab and, according to the detectives, took a package from them containing paper and handed them another, supposed to represent the stolen gems, but in reality containing imitation stones worth about $1.50.

Balduc was put under arrest and when the detectives searched his room they said they found an unmailed letter to a friend in Canada, saying that Balduc would be up to visit him with a "swell coupe and lots of dough."

Balduc was charged with attempted grand larceny. The detectives said they did not believe he had anything to do with the robbery, but had merely tried to make a little "holiday money" by a ruse.

CITY BREVITIES.

The French Institute will give a reception and tea at 20 East Sixtieth Street in honor of Mlle. Yvonne Printemps and Sacha Guitry next Tuesday afternoon.

"American Art as Viewed Through French Eyes" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered at the Advertising Club, 23 Park Avenue, by Madame Henri Lapauze today at luncheon.

The Santa Claus Association, Knickerbocker Building, Broadway and Forty-second Street, has issued an appeal for support.

An appeal for support of the Guild for the Jewish Blind, 250 West Seventy-second Street, signed by J. I. Wilson, Chairman, has been issued. It is desired to enlarge the home in Yonkers.

The United Neighborhood Houses will have a luncheon at the Hotel Pennsylvania Saturday, Jan. 15. The speakers will be Dr. Will Durant and Dr. George E. Vincent. Dr. John L. Elliott will preside.

Syud Hossain, Indian journalist and lecturer, will lecture on "What Is Islam?" at the Labor Temple, Fourteenth Street and Second Avenue, this evening.

Fire Commissioner Dorman approved yesterday the proposal of the firemen to hold the annual Fire Department ball at Madison Square Garden Jan. 15.

The Dickens Fellowship of New York will give its annual Christmas party tomorrow night at the National Arts Club, 119 East Nineteenth Street, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Howard Duffield will speak on the Christmas stories of Dickens and the Rev. Raymond Lalor Forman will read the "Christmas Carol." All lovers of Dickens are invited.

A course will be given by the Radio Club of City College to persons interested in obtaining amateur radio licenses, it was announced yesterday. Instruction also will be given in the International Morse Code.

A Menorah debating team is being organized at City College. The first contest will be with the team of Harvard University on Dec. 26 in the Great Hall of the college.

A farewell dinner was given last night at Governors Island by the Service Company of the Sixteenth Infantry to Captain Jay E. Gilfillan, who is leaving the Sixteenth Infantry to join the Sixty-fifth Infantry at Porto Rico.

BIND TWO IN PLANT, FLEE WITH ALCOHOL

NO WARRANT FOR WISSEL

After binding and blindfolding a revenue inspector and an employe in the alcohol denaturing plant of William J. Higgins in the rear of 1,346 Clinton Avenue, the Bronx, armed thieves escaped yesterday in a truck on which they had loaded fourteen barrels of pure alcohol and four barrels of denatured alcohol.

William Bader, the revenue inspector, had been stationed in the plant because of litigation between Higgins and the Federal Government regarding a renewal of his license to withdraw alcohol. The employe was Thomas Bradley of 1,641 Undercliff Avenue, the Bronx.

The two victims said they answered a knock at the unlocked door of the plant and three armed men entered, threatening to kill them if they made "one false move." They were then bound with sash cord the robbers had brought with them and blindfolded with handkerchiefs.

While Mayor Henry Wissel and Chief of Police James A. Dinan of Edgewater, N. J., were awaiting the service of warrants upon them yesterday as a result of their indictment with thirty-one others on a liquor conspiracy charge, it was said in the office of United States Attorney Buckner that no warrants would be issued and that the defendants would be expected to appear for pleading Tuesday without further notice.

Mayor Wissel and Chief Dinan, together with Edward Pickering and Alexander F. Flannery, Edgewater detectives also indicted, said they had received no official notice of their indictment and knew nothing of it beyond what they had read in the newspapers.

Padlock decrees were issued by Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow yesterday against eighteen alleged liquor-selling resorts. Mrs. Augustus Stadelman of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was fined $500 and a sentence of three months' imprisonment was suspended. She was charged with contempt of court in violating an injunction issued to restrain her from selling liquor.

The padlock decrees issued were as follows:

For one year each—Hotsy Totsy Club, 754-756 Seventh Avenue; Behrens (Grand View Hotel), Rockland Avenue, Congers, N. Y.; Vismeister, 45 East Eighteenth Street; Roumanian and Bessarabian Restaurant, 46 East Third Street; Ciarduilo, restaurant, 1,000 Columbus Avenue; Cryan, 3,301 Broadway; Klein, 502 Brook Avenue, the Bronx; Power, 493 West 207th Street.

For six months each—Kennedy House, 85 Main Street, Yonkers; Hucker (Hotel Unionville), Unionville, N. Y.; Schafer, 4 Greenwich Street; Pike Hotel, 301 Pike Street, Port Jervis, N. Y.; Buscito, 92 Cortlandt Street, North Tarrytown, N. Y.; Tucci's Cafe, 86-88 Cortlandt Street, North Tarrytown; Venice Restaurant, 500 City Island Avenue; Patty's Inn, Tarrytown Road, Greenburgh, N. Y.; Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 340 East Forty-seventh Street; Kreutzer, upstairs at 101 Chambers Street.

The cases were handled by Assistant United States Attorneys Nat J. Harben and Lowell W. Wadmond.

$90,000 a Year for Cigarette Show.

After several private exhibitions a cigarette factory in the heart of Times Square at Broadway and Forty-fifth Street will be opened to the public today. It has been established by the American Tobacco Company, and shows two machines in full view from the sidewalk, each having a capacity of 500 cigarettes a minute. An interesting point about the exhibit is that the tiny corner showroom in which it is held costs the American Tobacco Company $90,000 a year for rental alone. This, in proportion to the space used, is said to be one of the highest rents in the city.

FORD TOWNSMEN OBJECT TO HIS DANCES

Led by Churches, 200 Dearborn Parents Protest Teaching Them in Schools.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Dec. 15.—The old-fashioned dances sponsored by Henry Ford and taught in the schools of Dearborn, his home town, have caused a preacher and 197 residents there to protest on the grounds of morality. The same kind of objections are made to Paul Jones, quadrille and lancers that are so frequently offered against the wrigglings of the Charleston and black bottom. The School Board contends that the old-fashioned dances are harmless morally and helpful physically. A public exhibition has been arranged for Thursday evening to decide the dispute.

A petition demanding that the teaching of the dances be stopped in the schools was presented to the First Evangelical Church of Dearborn a month ago by Dr. Frederick C. Krumling, who has an eight-year-old daughter attending the public schools. It was also circulated in the First Methodist Church, after which a committee led by Dr. Krumling went to members of the School Board and called their attention to the fact that there were already more than 200 signatures on the petition and that the board could no longer overlook the matter.

"I understand that children are forced to take the dancing lessons or forfeit their credits in physical training," said Dr. Krumling. "This has already happened, I have been told, to one high school girl who had religious reasons for opposing all forms of dancing. If the petition is ignored I shall try to have the courts decide whether the School Board can continue to countenance the classes, despite the objections of people who pay the expenses of the schools."

ARMED MEN IN MEDIA PROTECT GIRL'S SLAYER

They Guard Roads and Jail With Firearms and Tear Bombs After a Warning of Mob.

Special to The New York Times.

MEDIA, Pa., Dec. 15.—This peaceful town of 2,500 inhabitants was transformed like magic tonight into an armed camp, as scores of Delaware County special deputy sheriffs, reinforced by State Troopers, awaited an attack by persons who warned Governor Pinchot today that they would drag Ollie Strickland, girl slayer, from his cell and "string him up."

Sheriff Isaac W. Johnson received a similar warning this morning from a source he considered so reliable that at once he began defense preparations. Then he received a telegram from Governor Pinchot repeating the warning and urging him to act promptly. The plot also threatened negro residents of Lynwood and Chester, according to the Governor.

Tonight the jail corridors bristle with rifles and shotguns. Tear gas bombs are stacked. All roads entering Media are guarded and automobile parties are halted and questioned.

Since the murder of Miss Emily Collins in Lynwood, a Chester suburb, on Dec. 8 many threats have been heard against Strickland, who confessed and was indicted the day after the crime.

BULK OF FROST ESTATE GOES TO HIS FIANCEE

Mrs. Helen E. Evans Received $345,337 Under Will of Late Corporation Lawyer.

Elihu B. Frost, corporation lawyer, long interested in submarine boat companies, who was divorced in Paris in 1924 from Mrs. Eva L. Frost, and then became engaged to Mrs. Helen E. Evans, but died on Aug. 22, 1925, before the ceremony could be performed, left an estate appraised yesterday at $507,292 gross, and $350,337 net. He had debts of $89,924, while administration expenses of $59,261 accumulated due partly to claims made against the estate. One was by Mrs. Essie P. Graham, formerly employed as housekeeper by Mr. Frost, who asserted that he had promised to provide $150,000 for her. She accepted $6,250 in settlement.

The will gave to Mrs. Evans, who lives in Providence, $345,337, in addition to $150,000 in cash paid her a few months before Mr. Frost's death. She said the bulk of this money was used, with his knowledge, to improve her country home at Rehoboth, Mass. In addition to the cash, Mr. Frost had given $40,000 in real estate at Peekskill and $65,000 in mortgages to Mrs. Evans. The appraiser fixed no tax on these gifts, because it was proved that Mr. Frost was in good health, was planning to be married, and had no expectation of death at the time he made them.

Mr. Frost gave nothing to his adopted daughter, Mrs. Eleanore [illegible] Craig, wife of Lieut. Commander [illegible] thur B. Craig, U. S. N., on the [illegible] that she had received $150,000 during his life-time, and shortly after the adoption. A contest was filed, but the will was admitted to probate last [illegible]

The bulk of the estate consisted of securities amounting to $[illegible] which was Mr. Frost's equity in stocks and bonds largely of Standard Oil companies amounting to many [illegible] $1,000,000, for which he owed his brothers $577,537. The appraisal showed that he owned many worthless stocks, including shares in mining, oil and industrial companies, and held many shares of the Nautilus Torpedo Boat Company, also found to be worthless. He had established a trust fund of $119,905 in Standard Oil stocks, from which he had the income until his death.

The "Emigrant Awards" to School Children of New York City

A PHONOGRAPH RECORD FOR YOU!

FREE—If you are a depositor, or become one before December 31st. A Personal Talk in Your Own Home by the President of America's Largest Savings Bank.

As a Christmas and New Year greeting to our depositors, and to encourage children of depositors to enter the Emigrant Award competition, Mr. John J. Pulleyn, the President of this Bank, has had a phonograph record made of his New Year wishes to you.

If you are a depositor, or become one before Dec. 31st, you can have one of these records simply by asking for it the next time you come to the bank.

Let Mr. Pulleyn speak to you and your children in your own home. Don't fail to ask for this autographed record! It costs you nothing—but it will bring to you in the most personal and vivid way, the good wishes of this Bank and its officers—and the hope for your children's success!

If you are already a depositor, you can send for this record on the coupon below. Just put on it the number of your passbook, with your name and address!

THE Emigrant Awards—in sums from $100 to $5, and totaling $1,000—have been created to help in the great civic task of educating the children of New York in thrift and financial foresight.

There are two sets of awards—one for high school and one for elementary school students. Special awards will be made for each Borough of New York, as well as for Greater New York.

The awards will be determined by the following judges:

DR. GEORGE J. RYAN, President of the Board of Education of the City of New York.

REV. JOSEPH F. SMITH, Superintendent of Parochial Schools in the City of New York.

DR. JOHN H. FINLEY, Associate Editor, New York Times; former State Commissioner of Education.

The decision of the judges will be rendered on or before March 1st, 1927, giving the awards to those children who write the best 500 word compositions on the following subject:

"How Our Family Can Make Money in 1927"

Any student who was registered this year in a public, parochial or private school within New York City is eligible. To obtain full particulars, call at either our Grand Central Branch (43rd St. and Lexington Avenue) or at our main office, 51 Chambers Street, or send the attached coupon to either office.

Parents or guardians may send in coupons for their children.

Both offices are open daily from 9.30 to 3 (Saturdays to Noon) and the Grand Central Office remains open on Mondays till 7 P.M.

Tuesday, February 1st, 1927, is the last day on which compositions may be submitted.

DENIALS EXCHANGED IN TALLEY DEFAULT

Singer's Manager Takes Blame, Saying He Refused to Permit Concert Without Payment.

MONEY TANGLE EXPLAINED

Miss Govers Says She Was Never Asked to Pay in Advance Before—Return Engagement in Dispute.

F. C. Coppicus, manager for Marion Talley, the Metropolitan Opera singer, whom he refused to permit to give a concert at New Rochelle on Tuesday night because the full amount of the contract price was not forthcoming, said yesterday that he and not Miss Talley was to blame for the action. He said the only money offered him was the personal check of Miss Veronica Govers, a teacher of music in the New Rochelle College for Women, and that Miss Govers refused to say if her check would be met and refused to give him a promissory note for the rest of the amount.

Miss Govers said yesterday she had never been asked to pay in advance before, although she had been arranging concerts for twelve years, and that if Miss Talley's attitude had not created such an unfavorable impression the balance would have been made up immediately by the personal checks of some of her well-to-do friends in the audience. She said the trouble was that the house was less than half full, there being only about 500 persons present. She was asked if an attempt would be made to get Miss Talley to return, and she said she did not think Miss Talley would draw 50 cents again.

That was yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Coppicus sent out copies of a telegram, which Miss Govers admitted sending, showing that Miss Govers had telegraphed him on Tuesday night, after the disagreement over money, saying: "Our patronesses have guaranteed the Marion Talley contract. Do you want to let her sing here on Jan. 11?" When Miss Govers was asked about this she denied ever having said that Miss Talley would not draw 50 cents and that she would not be asked to return.

"When Miss Govers refused to pay me the money due on this contract I refused to allow Miss Talley to sing," said Mr. Coppicus. "The artist does not enter into this transaction at all. Miss Talley was at the high school auditorium and ready to sing. My refusal to allow the concert to take place is based on my own personal belief that Miss Govers could not have fulfilled her part of the contract."

TOMBS HEARING TOMORROW.

Wallis to Sift Charges of Neglect Against Keepers in Recent Break.

Frederick A. Wallis, Commissioner of Correction, will begin hearings in his office at the Municipal Building at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow on charges of neglect of duty and infringement of the rules on the part of keepers at the Tombs Prison, and other department employes in connection with the attempted escape of prisoners which resulted in the death of five persons Nov. 3. The hearings will be private.

Russell A. Tarbox, Assistant Corporation Counsel, will sit with Commissioner Wallis as will representatives of the State Prison Commission and the Prison Association of New York. The hearings are the result of the investigation conducted by Commissioner Wallis. Information gathered by the District Attorney's office and the report of the November Grand Jury which investigated the matter will be presented.

GOVERNOR MOORE BETTER.

Hurt in Train Accident, but Had Said Nothing About It.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 15.—It developed today that Governor Moore did not escape without injury in the train crash near New Brunswick on Monday night. Although he said nothing about it, the Governor's head hit the back of his seat and he suffered yesterday from a pain at the base of his neck.

On the advice of his physician the Governor canceled a speaking engagement at Newark last night and submitted to treatment. Upon reaching his office today, after a night of rest, he reported that he no longer felt pain.

Princeton Triangle Show Opens.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 15.—The Princeton Triangle show made its first appearance of the season tonight at the Trent Theatre in "Samarkand," a comic operetta, the plot of which is laid in Persia. With a cast of seventy-eight men, performances will be given tomorrow night and Friday night. On Saturday the Triangle Club will start on its Christmas trip, which will cover over 2,000 miles. Among those taking leading parts are Hugo L. Bell, Frank A. Baker, M. S. Reichner, William Brenton, James D. Bartlett, Avery Sherry Jr. and F. Gary.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Hangman's House" will open tonight at the Forrest Theatre. In addition, Cecile Sorel will act "L'Aventuriere" at the Cosmopolitan, and "The Dybbuk" will be revived at the Neighborhood Playhouse.

The opening of "The Bottom of the Cup" at the Mayfair Theatre is announced for Wednesday night, Jan. 5.

"The Black Cockatoo," by Samuel Ruskin Golding, will open in Mamaroneck on Dec. 23. It will probably come to New York the following week.

Louise Glaum, the film actress, is said to be contemplating a stage appearance in a play as yet unselected.

"Seed of the Brute" will close at the Comedy Theatre this week.

Marion Harris, well-known in vaudeville, will have the principal feminine role in "Yours Truly," in which Leon Errol will be starred.

"Mendel Spivack," a play by Semion Yuchkewitch, will be produced by Maurice Schwartz at the Yiddish Art Theatre, opening Dec. 24. In the meantime, the run of "The Tenth Commandment" will be interrupted tonight for a single performance of "Ghosts."

"Junk," a play by Edwin B. Self, which Seagreen and Vroom are producing, will open out of town on Dec. 30 and is announced to come to New York during the week of Jan. 3. Sydney Greenstreet and Emma Dunn are featured in the cast.

The Shuberts are preparing a revue called "A Night in Spain" for the Century Roof. Harold Atteridge will do the book and Jean Schwartz the music.

"In This Room," in which Louis Wolheim appeared recently in Chicago, will be seen in New York shortly after the first of the year. Donald Gallaher, the producer, also announces a play called "Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Garrity."

The Actors' Theatre will give a dinner and entertainment at the Biltmore Hotel on Jan. 23.

"Princess Turandot," recently seen at the Provincetown Playhouse, will reopen Monday at the Greenwich Village Theatre in a revised and recast version. The attraction will be under the management of Isaac Don Levine and Maurice Sherman.

'TOSCA' AND 'LA JUIVE' ARE SUNG IN A DAY

Tokatyan Gets Unexpected Ovation in Puccini Opera—Jeritza and Scotti Share Honors.

"Tosca" and "La Juive" tempered the pre-holiday interval at the Metropolitan yesterday afternoon and night, the "jinx," if there was one, having transferred its activities to the matinee. This was a first time for Puccini's powerful melodrama in seven weeks, nearly a third of the entire opera season, yet the great house was not wholly filled. The popular apathy was attributed in about equal measure to the current fortnight's Christmas shopping and to the fact that prices were advanced for the Wayside Day Nursery's benefit to a $10 scale.

Mme. Jeritza's return to the rôle of her first sensational success in New York was greeted with enthusiasm. The Viennese prima donna was in expansive mood and spared no detail of her dramatic impersonation of the Roman singer. Mr. Scotti, the best Chief of Police Rome ever had, shared the honors of the day, while the youthful Tokatyan in the tenor rôle surprised the house into an ovation. The new cast comprised also Miss Flexer, Messrs. Ananian, Malatesta, Paltrinieri, Reschiglian and d'Angelo, and Mr. Serafin conducted.

Miss Ponselle, in "La Juive," sung for the third time last evening, joined with Martinelli as Eleazar in ensembles of singing to the delight of a large subscription assembly. Miss Mario, Messrs. Tedesco and Picco sang under Hasselmans's leadership. There was a special demonstration over the young tots of the Ballet School in Halevy's elaborate dances.

NINA MORGANA IN RECITAL.

Metropolitan Soprano Stirs Enthusiasm in Carnegie Hall.

Nina Morgana, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, gave a recital at Carnegie Hall before a large and enthusiastic audience. Kathryn Kerin was at the piano.

Miss Morgana's first group consisted of Italian songs of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and airs by Gluck and Mozart. Nothing could have served her purpose better. Her easy production, her clear articulation, and the variety of her expression, were fully appreciated, and prolonged applause followed every number on the program, leading to more than one repetition. The first to earn this distinction was Gluck's lovely air "Vieni che poi sereno," a fine example of legato singing, which Miss Morgana imbued with grace and charm. It was a matter for some regret that she decided to repeat this air, for Mozart's "Non so piu' cosa son," which came next, did not get its full complement of sparkle and color.

Having done homage to the classics, Miss Morgana with much appropriateness and still more success, offered a group by modern Italian composers and two Italian folk songs. These songs displayed the singer in the most favorable light and were vehemently applauded. She might easily have sung all of them over again so greatly did her audience like them. She contented herself with repeating Puccini's "E l'uccellino" and giving a double encore at the end of the group.

In the third group Miss Morgana repeated Ravel's "Flûte Enchantée," and was recalled for an encore after Saint-Saëns's "Guitares et Mandolines." A group of songs by American composers closed the program.

TWO PIANISTS HEARD.

Sigismond Stojowski and Frank Sheridan Play Sonatas.

Sigismond Stojowski, a Polish pianist and composer long resident in this city, returned to the stage of Aeolian Hall last evening in a dual program of sonatas, the Opus 109 of Beethoven and that of the "Funeral March" episode by Chopin. He was heard by an audience of musical quality and cordial appreciation. Prefaced by a prelude and fugue of the no longer out-moded Mendelssohn, his progress added later pieces by Debussy, the American MacDowell and the player's countryman, Paderewski, as well as Stojowski's own variations on a Cracovian theme.

Frank Sheridan, pianist and teacher in New York, gave a second recital last night at the Town Hall, also with two sonatas, Mozart's in A. and Schumann's in G minor. He made an interesting selection of American works, two by D. G. Mason, the "Acqua Paola Fountain" of the late C. T. Griffes and the "Novelette" and "Wild Hunt" by MacDowell. In conclusion Mr. Sheridan added a liberal half-dozen short works of Chopin.

ELIOT MEMORIAL ISSUED BY 'CRIMSON'

Supplement Contains Hitherto Unpublished Letter of Educator on Religious Belief.

TELLS OF IDEALS AND PIETY

Religious Policy Represented His Underlying Conviction, Not Merely "Matter of Expediency."

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 15.—The Harvard "Crimson," issued today a twenty-page supplement as a memorial to the late Charles William Eliot, President Emeritus of the university. The supplement contains articles on the great educator and his work, a large collection of portraits, two hitherto unpublished letters, and tributes written by well known Harvard graduates.

Among the articles are "The Influence of President Eliot upon Education in America," by Donald Staley Gibbs, '27, Editorial Chairman of the "Crimson" and "Patient, Sagacious Leadership," by Henry Wyman Holmes, '03. Among the tributes were those of the Right Rev. William Lawrence, '71, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, Professor Byron Satterlee Hurlbut, '87, of the Harvard English Department and Dr. Arthur Twining Hadley, former President of Yale University.

One of the two letters was written to President Eliot by George Herbert Palmer, now Alford Professor of Natural Religion, Moral Philosophy and Civil Polity, Emeritus. The other is President Eliot's reply. Both were written in 1894. In his letter Professor Palmer said:

"Without you I should not have known myself; I might have missed my work, and certainly should have conceived it in different terms. No living man has had a larger share than you in shaping my ideals and powers. At the first I saw how significant you were to be to me and—though disliking—I set myself early to study you.

"My comprehension was slow and resisted. Few members of the faculty have voted against you more times than I. * * * Smoothly and with no violent change, I passed through distrust, tolerance, respect, admiration, liking, into the hearty friendship—I might say the love—which makes it a delight to work with you now, either in opposition or alliance."

In his reply Dr. Eliot wrote:

"Your letter today tells me much which is contenting and new to me; but there are two points in it which give me especial satisfaction. The first is your statement that you like to work with me, whether in opposition or alliance.

"That seems to me a rewarding outcome of a long association. The other is your remark about my relying "on the eternal for personal strength." I belong to the barest of the religious communions and I am by nature reserved except with intimates and even with some of them. I feel glad that what has been, I believe, a fact in my inner life these thirty years past has been visible to a close observer in my official career.

"I should not like to have it said by the next generation, as has often been said by my contemporaries, that I was a man without ideals and without piety. That would not be good for Harvard. Your sympathetic discernment is therefore a solace and support. It has been hard to have people suppose—even some of my friends—that my interest in the religious policy of the university was a matter of expediency and not of conviction. I am glad that you have inferred from habitual conduct an underlying conviction."

MUSIC NOTES.

Antonio Meli, a young Italian-American baritone just back from his studies overseas with Mascagni, will be the guest of his old teachers at Public School 20, at Rivington and Forsyth Streets, tomorrow afternoon.

A chorus assisted by 150 children from the Preparatory Centres maintained by the Institute of Musical Art, will appear at the Institute on Saturday afternoon in a Christmas program with Maurino Thompson and Lillian Dochman.

The Guild of Vocal Teachers has announced the establishment of a Bach Cantata Society, limited to fifteen young artists, under Philip Gordon. Voice trials will be held Saturday afternoon at the studio of Anna E. Ziegler.

The Instituto de las Espanas will give an evening of Spanish music Saturday in the McMillin Theatre of Columbia University, with Elizabeth Carew and Florence Bryant, Maria Montero's dancers, Rubi Gutierez and the Usandizaga String Quartet.

COOLIDGE INVITED TO TRENTON FESTIVAL

With 13 Governors, He Is Asked to Attend Sesquicentennial of Battle There on Dec. 29.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 15.—President Coolidge and the Governors of the thirteen original States are expected to come to Trenton on Dec. 29 for the sesquicentennial celebration of the Battle of Trenton. There is to be a monster parade during the afternoon, followed by a public dinner at which the President is expected to speak.

Captain Siegfried Roebling, grandson of the late Colonel Washington A. Roebling, has offered to Governor Moore the use of the Roebling mansion, on West State Street, for the entertainment of Mr. Coolidge and the visiting Governors. In accepting, Governor Moore said that he would give a luncheon there for his guests and that as many of them as desired to remain over night would be invited to do so.

Elaborate preparations are being made both for the parade and dinner. The entire National Guard and Naval Militia of New Jersey will be mobilized and regular army units are expected to be in the procession. The New York Old Guard is to have a representation, as will the famous Philadelphia cavalry outfit. Former Governor Edward C. Stokes is to be toastmaster at the dinner.

Ex-Private Heads Legion Post.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Charles A. Hughes was unanimously elected to succeed Kenneth Cameron as Commander of New Rochelle Post No. 8, American Legion, at the meeting of the post held today. During the World War the new Commander was a private in the Engineer Corps and is the first man of this rank to lead the local post.

RADIO BRINGS PROFIT TO EDISON COMPANY

Williams Asserts $1,000,000 More Income Comes From Increased Use of Current.

SAYS USERS STAY UP LATER

Charging of Batteries Also Brings Larger Income, He Declares at Commission Hearing.

The widespread use of the radio has increased the annual income of the New York Edison Company about $1,000,000 through the frequent charging of electric batteries and because those who have radios are often sit up long past their usual bedtime.

Arthur Williams, Vice President of the Edison Company in charge of commercial relations, told of the company's added income because of the radio while testifying yesterday before the Public Service Commission on a complaint that the company's rates were too high. Part of the work of Mr. Williams is to increase the patrons of the company and to induce patrons to use more current.

Some of the expenditures of the company are the cost of broadcasting the speeches of some of the company's officials and the cost of "Edison Hour," consisting of entertainment broadcast by various stations. These costs have been criticized by Assistant Corporation Counsels M. M. Fertig and Joseph P. Morrissey. These costs have swelled the going value of the company, which is part of the basis on which rates are fixed. William L. Ransom, of counsel for the company, lead to a discussion of the matter yesterday by asking Mr. Williams questions relating to these costs.

Mr. Williams said that the company's expenditures for radio programs represented a most desirable branch of the business-getting activities of the company. He explained that investigations made by the company indicated a growing tendency among radio owners to stay at home at night. Mr. Morrissey asked the witness whether the radio had not taken the place of the saloon and Mr. Williams replied that he believed it had. Mr. Williams proceeded to explain how the increased consumption of electric current benefitted the company by saying:

"We find that many complaints about the lighting bills are more easily satisfied because, when a customer complains about his bills, we ask him if he has a radio. If he says that he has, we remind him that perhaps the radio induces him to sit up later, with the result that more light is used. In practically every case we find that this explanation satisfies the complainent. The increased use of radios brings us about $1,000,000 more revenue, as far as we have been able to estimate it."

MRS. MARSHALL ARRAIGNED.

Hudson Woman Pleads Not Guilty to Jail-Breaking, Kidnapping Charges.

Special to The New York Times.

HUDSON, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Margaret Henderson Marshall pleaded not guilty today in the County Court here when arraigned before County Judge John C. Tracy on two indictments charging her with jail-breaking and attempted kidnapping.

It was while she was held in the Columbia County Jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of the attempted kidnapping of her own son, who had been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. G. Harold Harder of Claverack, that she escaped from jail and has been at large until yesterday, when she was recaptured in a Yonkers hospital, where she had been employed.

Her counsel, George C. Inman, applied to the Court today to have bail fixed for Mrs. Henderson Marshall on the two charges on which she was arraigned. The Court fixed next Monday for a hearing on the question and remanded her to the Columbia County Jail.

Bar Committee Therefore Won't Confer With Law Faculty.

The Committee on Character and Fitness of candidates for the bar in the Second Judicial District, from which Herbert Fordham recently resigned, declined an invitation, yesterday, from Dean William P. Richardson of the Brooklyn Law School to confer with the Faculty of the school on the subject of general knowledge and culture of aspirants to the legal profession.

Jesse Fuller Jr., Chairman of the committee, said that when a man was certified to practice at the bar he was generally capable as far as legal knowledge was concerned. He said he thought the general culture of a candidate for the bar was something to be considered by the elementary and high schools and the colleges preparing prelaw students.

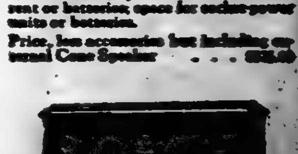
Melody

THERE is a wonderful purity and sweetness to the tone of a Stromberg-Carlson Receiver—and upon tone depends the real enjoyment of radio.

The splendid tonal performance of Stromberg-Carlson Receivers; their volume and their ability to pierce interference in order to select the station desired, is due to their scientific electrical construction.

The "total shielding" of every coil in the new 5-tube Receivers, permits total neutralization of each radio frequency stage—with consequent freedom from distortion of the notes, caused by interference between the coils. The shielding of the coils also helps make these receivers remarkably selective because it prevents local pick-up on the coils themselves and enables you to tune out nearby, loud, powerful broadcasting stations almost as well as you tune out distant stations.

No. 502 Receiver, Art Console, 5-tube, coils shielded; operates from house current or batteries; space for socket-power units or batteries.
Price, less accessories but including external Cone Speaker . . . $[illegible]



No. 501 Receiver, Treasure Chest, 5-tube, coils shielded; operates off either house current or batteries.
Price less accessories . . . $[illegible]

Effective Shielding

Shielding, to be effective, must be good electrically as well as mechanically. Good shielding produces an efficiency per stage impossible in an improperly shielded receiver. Good shielding gives greater amplification, greater volume and true, undistorted melody.

CATHOLICS LAUNCH NEAR EAST DRIVE

CARDINAL TELLS AIMS

Says Pope Desires to Aid All the Stricken Areas in Combining Relief Agencies.

The Catholic Church in America launched a nation-wide campaign yesterday, at the expressed wish of Pope Pius XI, for the relief of Catholic relief agencies throughout the Near East and Russia. Cardinal Hayes made the first move in this city when he conferred with representatives of the City, State and New Jersey dioceses at the Catholic Charities building, 477 Madison Avenue.

Orphanages, schools, hospitals, food stations and other relief agencies will benefit from the present campaign, which will take the form of a membership drive aiming at 1,000,000 members who will contribute $1 or more apiece. Until recently Catholic relief efforts in the Near East have been scattered among various Catholic orders, but now all have been coordinated and amalgamated into the Catholic Near East Welfare Association, with headquarters at 480 Lexington Avenue.

Cardinal Hayes indicated yesterday that the Near East relief campaign was one in which he was deeply interested. "We are gathered to launch a movement which will doubtless be of historic importance," he told the delegates. "In answer to the post-war needs of the world the Supreme Pontiff is organizing in a systematic manner all the relief agencies of the Catholic Church in America, working in behalf of Russia and the Near East. It matters little to the Pope that many of these sufferers in Eastern Europe are not of the household of the Catholic faith."

In charge of the relief enterprise is Professor Edmund A. Walsh, Vice President of Georgetown University and President of the Association. Professor Walsh announced yesterday that Sunday, Jan. 23, would be set aside in all Catholic churches of the United States to further the present campaign. Regional meetings will be held in other cities this month, that in Philadelphia in charge of Cardinal Dougherty and that in Boston under the direction of Cardinal O'Connell.

SUES MRS. H. P. WHITNEY.

A suit for $80,672 has been brought against Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney in the New York County Supreme Court by Miss Katherine Minahan of Orange, N. J. The plaintiff alleges in a summons and complaint served on Nov. 10 last that the sum asked represents her services in interesting a number of influential persons in the last three or four years in a war memorial designed by Mrs. Whitney to be placed in New York Harbor, to correspond to that erected last year at St. Nazaire. The proposed memorial, according to Miss Minahan, was to be of heroic size, representing the launching of a boat manned by American sailors and soldiers, with an allegorical figure representing American industry.

Mrs. Whitney, through her attorney, Charles J. Lane of 261 Broadway, has entered a general denial of all the allegations. Mr. Lane declined to comment on the case, except to say that it would not be up for trial before many months, probably two years, and that in his opinion the plaintiff had no grounds for action. Miss Minahan was active in the negotiations preceding the erection of the St. Nazaire memorial, and said yesterday that she had been instrumental in putting through several other war memorials in this country. Her attorneys are Denman, Ecker & Scotti of 26 West Forty-fourth Street.

Dies With $1,463 Tied to Her Legs.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 15 (AP).—With $1,463 in bills tied to her legs with strings Mrs. Bessie Greenberg, 70, was found dead in her room today, a victim of accidental gas poisoning. The woman's only estensible support had been $8 weekly from two children on a court order. A rubber tube used to supply gas to a cook plate had been disconnected without shutting off the gas.

CAPPER SAYS FARMERS NEED LARGER PROFITS

Too Much of the Money Paid by Consumers Goes to Middle Men, Kansas Senator Declares.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, principal speaker at the Kiwanis Club's annual "Western Day" luncheon yesterday at the Hotel McAlpin appealed to his audience for closer cooperation between Western agricultural and Eastern industrial interests. He described the predicament of the farmer, and declared that agriculture in the United States was not receiving the protection from the tariff and other Governmental agencies that it deserved.

"The kernel of the whole agricultural problem," he said, "is in the difference between the value of what the farmer sells and what he buys. While the official figures show that what the farmer sells will bring only 34 per cent. more than before the war, the average selling price of non-agricultural commodities which the farmer must buy is 59 per cent. higher.

"Last year, the producers received about $10,000,000,000 for the products of the farm. The consumers paid approximately $20,000,000,000 for these products. The spread between producer and consumer was entirely too great.

"The dealers, distributers, speculators, commission merchants, carriers, toll-takers in between, make more out of the products of the farm than the producers themselves. The problem of agriculture, therefore, is one of marketing, not of production."

About 200 were present.

BRONX TRADE BOARD ELECTS

J. M. Haffen Chosen President for Fourth Term—1927 Plans Laid.

After the most active and resultful year in the history of its existence, according to reports of Bureau Chairmen, the Bronx Board of Trade at its annual meeting yesterday elected officers and directors and adopted a program of increased activities for 1927.

John M. Haffen was re-elected President for a fourth term. Others re-elected were Frederick A. Wurzbach, Vice President; Charles E. Reid, Executive Secretary, and Theodore S. Trimmer, Treasurer.

LECTURE IN MACKAY HOME.

Priest Will Begin Series on English Reformation on Jan. 6.

A series of talks on notable women of the English Reformation period, with some reference to the position of the Roman Catholic Church on the indissolubility of marriage, will be made by the Rev. Cornelius J. Clifford, rector of St. Mary's Church of Whippany, N. J., in New York during the next six weeks. The first will be on Catherine of Aragon, first wife of Henry VIII, and will be delivered at the home of Clarence H. Mackay, 3 East Seventy-first Street, on Jan. 6.

The others will be given on succeeding week-ends at the homes of Mrs. Alfred Chapin, 12 East Sixty-second Street; Mrs. Herbert Johnson, 15 Washington Square; Mrs. J. Rich Steers, 27 East Sixty-seventh Street; Mrs. Elisa Walker, 33 East Sixty-ninth Street, and Mrs. Cornelius Tiers, 26 East Ninety-second Street.

Among the patronesses are Lady Armstrong, Mrs. John Agar, Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Hamilton Fish, Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert Jr., Mrs. Joseph Dixon Ewing, Miss Louise Iselin, Mrs. John B. Ryan and Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien.

ATTENDANTS HONOR WAGNER

Present Jeweled Cufflinks to Former Justice.

Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner was the recipient yesterday of a jeweled set of studs and cuff links, presented by attendants with whom he had come in contact as a Justice of the Supreme Court, at a reception in the rooms of the Appellate Term. The presentation was made by Justice Mahoney, who spoke of his long personal friendship with Justice Wagner, whom, he said, he had known since boyhood.

Mr. Wagner, in a brief speech of appreciation, said he would be back later to practice law and to do "a little missionary work" for the court attachés, who were not as well paid as they deserve to be, he said. For the first time in twenty-two years, he said, he was off the payroll.

Former Miss Clendenin Sues Baron Tornow For Annulment of Marriage, Charging Fraud

Legal steps have been taken on the ground of fraud to annul the marriage of Miss Florence Marjorie Clendenin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clendenin of 32 East Sixty-fourth Street, who eloped two weeks ago with Baron George Tornow, a former Colonel in the Russian Imperial Army, and left him during the wedding dinner, a few hours later.

The preliminary papers in the annulment suit were served on the Baron late Monday afternoon in the offices of the Clendenin attorney, George W. Whiteside, 120 Broadway, in the presence of the Baroness, counsel for the Clendenin family announced yesterday. At the time, according to Mr. Whiteside, the Baroness told her husband that there would not be any reconciliation and that she was determined to proceed with the annulment.

A terse statement issued by the Clendenin attorney gave the reason for the suit. It read:

"The representations which induced Miss Clendenin to marry Baron Tornow were very soon found by her to be false. Had they been so known to her before the wedding, it would not have taken place. The law regards misrepresentation as a fraud and permits an annulment of a marriage obtained on misrepresentation."

Baron Tornow said yesterday that he was hopeful that the matter would be adjusted and that the marriage would not be annuled. He consulted with his attorney, George S. Reynolds of 52 Vanderbilt Avenue, in the afternoon as to his possible action in the suit.

Earlier in the day, Mr. Reynolds said that the parents of the Baroness were keeping her under guard and preventing her from living with her husband or talking to him over the telephone. He said that the Baron had visited his bride's parents just before the wedding and had apparently overcome any objection they might have had against him.

The Baron supplemented his attorney's remarks with the assertion that he could not understand why his bride had left him and why her parents were opposed to the marriage. He denied that he had misrepresented anything regarding himself to his bride or her family.

He said that he told the Baroness prior to the wedding about his previous marriage. In applying for the marriage license, the Baron said he was a widower. Friends of the Baron said that his first wife died in Russia, leaving the Baron with a son, who is now about nine years old.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Dec. 15.—Direct testimony in the suit of the Pauchogue Land Corporation against the three members of the Long Island State Park Commission for the determination of damages in the commission's expropriation of the 1,500-acre Taylor estate and to have the expropriation declared invalid, was completed here today before Justice James A. Dunn and a jury in the Suffolk County Supreme Court.

The State Park Commission took the land, which is in Islip Township on Great South Bay, in December, 1924, for a park and fixed its value at $250,000. A State appropriation made for it that month was declared invalid because there was insufficient money to pay for the land, and a second appropriation was signed by Governor Smith in September, 1925, when August Heckscher gave $250,000 to meet the payment. The Pauchogue Land Corporation, which bought the land a few days before it was taken over, charged it was worth more than $250,000 and that the commission's action was invalid because at the time it was made there was no money with which to pay for the land.

The testimony today was intended to establish the value of the property. Warren C. Haff, Charles O. Doxsee, John J. Gibson, Edgar S. Clock, John W. Ehn, Carleton Brewster and William A. Schwab, real estate dealers of Islip, testified that the value of the property in December, 1925, was about $800,000 and that in September, 1925, it was about $1,250,000. Kirk Bagshaw, an employe of the County Treasurer's office, testified the land was assessed at $325,000 in 1924 and 1925.

The defendants sought to controvert this with testimony by Harold C. McNulty, an officer of E. A. White, Inc., real estate dealers, who dealt in land near the Taylor estate. Mr. White testified that he considered $230,000 a "fair value" for it in 1925 and that in 1927 it was worth "perhaps $5,000 more."

The only other witness for the defense during the day was Robert Moses, President of the park commission, the other members of which are former Justice Townsend Scudder and Clifford L. Jackson. He testified that the tract was chosen because it was almost diagonally opposite the State park on Fire Island, which permitted the operation of a ferry between the two parks; because town parks in Suffolk County were congested and town officials disapproved their use by non-residents, and because it furnished an opportunity to create a game preserve and a large public playground with bathing beaches which might be connected by boulevards.

The trial will be continued tomorrow.

CITY COLLEGE ALUMNI MEET.

Dr. Robinson Tells of Plan to Hold Commencement at Night.

Unique commencement exercises "to dramatize to New York its investment return from City College," are being planned by the college for next June, Dr. Frederick B. Robinson, acting President, told the annual meeting of the Alumni Association in the Hotel Imperial last night.

Contrary to precedent, the exercises will be held at night beneath the floodlights of the City College stadium, instead of in the college hall. Vari-colored lights will illumine massed students, faculty, alumni and guests. The exercises will be short, and an attempt will be made to have them interesting to the general public.

"The fathers of most of our students have been unable to see the exercises heretofore," Dr. Robinson told the alumni, "because of work by day. The college has outgrown any indoor commencement."

GETS CRUTCHES AT AUCTION

Aged Cripple Offers 25 Cents at Police Sale—All Bidding Ceases.

A pair of crutches, one of 265 lots offered at the annual police sale of unclaimed articles, yesterday, was bought by an aged crippled man, who hobbled up to the stand of State Senator Thomas F. Burchill, acting as auctioneer in the basement of police headquarters, and in a quavering voice bid twenty-five cents for them. All bidding ceased as the old man made his bid and when the crutches were handed to him he discarded the cane he had used, tucked a crutch under each arm and made his way out.

The police auction netted $3,597.25, the high price of $100 being bid for a "lot of rags." The lot consisted of a number of unclaimed suits, dresses, coats and other garments.

Free Dinner for Biggest Family.

The Hotel Roosevelt announced yesterday that it would serve a free Christmas dinner to the largest family of Americans in New York City. The only conditions of the offer are that the family shall include only mother, father and children; that they reside in one of the five boroughs, and that they be Americans. Applications are to be sent to the hotel not later than Dec. 22.

ST. MARK'S HOSPITAL LAYS A CORNERSTONE

The cornerstone of the $600,000 public wards building of St. Marks Hospital, at Second Avenue and Eleventh Street, was laid yesterday afternoon. About 200 persons were present. Mayor Walker was represented by Assistant Corporation Counsel Montrose Strassburger and James Sullivan, Assistant Commissioner of Education, congratulated the hospital trustees on behalf of the State. Henry E. Meeker, President of the Board of Trustees of the Hospital, presided.

Maxmillian M. Ruttenau, who has been with the hospital since it was founded thirty-seven years ago, read a history of the institution. After the speeches the cornerstone was lifted into position and a silver trowel was wielded by Mr. Meeker. In the stone were placed Mr. Ruttenau's history of the hospital, the first badge given to a nurse and five copies of local newspapers.

Among those present were Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the Viennese surgeon; Dr. Benjamin Tilton, Dr. Leonard Webber and Dr. Charles Putnam, who have been staff members of the hospital. The arrangements were in charge of Dr. John F. Bresnahan, medical director of the hospital.

The new building will be five stories high and will add 110 beds to the hospital.

Boston Cashier Is Acquitted.

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—George R. Keough, 19, former acting cashier of the Boston office of Thomas Cook & Son, and his assistant, John J. Brennan, were found not guilty today of conspiracy to steal $37,000 from the company and of making false entries. They were arrested in April and had been on trial for a week. The defense admitted that Brennan had made bookkeeping errors, but argued that there was no intent to steal. Auditors at first said the shortage was $47,000, but this was reduced later.

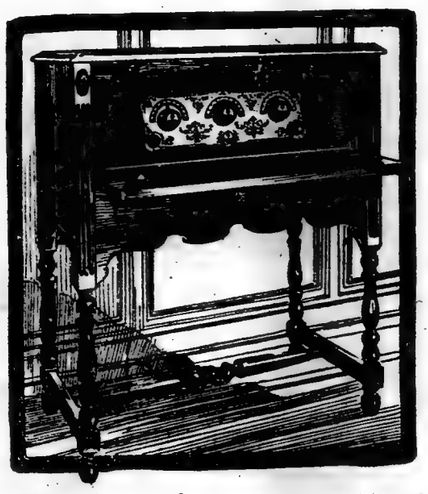
The Gift Magnificent

Before you make YOUR Gift of Radio, come in and experience the almost miraculous REALISM of Dr. Fulton Cutting's "Wonder Instrument of Radio"—the

COLONIAL Power Receiver

NO BATTERIES — NO SEPARATE ELIMINATORS



ONLY the golden words of accomplishment can describe the wonderful performance of the Colonial Power Receiver. Its TONE is so NATURAL, the reception so PURE that no ordinary radio terms apply.

Operating on electric light power exclusively, it achieves all that radio engineers have been attempting for years. In selectivity, in distance, in ease of operation, it equals everything ever claimed for highest priced radio. But head and shoulders above these qualities is its NATURALNESS of TONE, made possible by the amplifying power of approximately twenty-five watts, as compared with from four to five employed by the ordinary receiver.

The tubes operate at higher efficiency. Tuning with the automatic SINGLE-KNOB control is easier. The operating cost is but ONE CENT an hour—the power never runs down. In every respect this is the commercial perfection of batteryless radio.

In all the world there is no such radio value—nor such a wonderful Christmas gift. Come in today or tonight and get the FACTS—a demonstration will convince you.

Power!

Power—for the NATURAL amplification of all tones—for delicate phrasing, for smooth crescendos and diminuendos, for the pure, COMPLETE reception of the actual performance hundreds and thousands of miles away.

This is COLONIAL Power—impossible to obtain in any practical way except with electric light current.

Cunningham
RADIO TUBES
C-11 and CX-12
for Compactness

These general purpose dry cell tubes, Types C-11 and CX-12, are especially suited to sets wherein filament battery space must be held to a minimum. They are excellent detectors and audio frequency amplifiers. The filament may be heated from a single dry cell. C-11 and CX-12 are identical except for their bases. CX-12 has the standard CX base; C-11 is for replacement purposes in the older types of dry cell receivers.

Consult your radio dealer. He will tell you the right combination of Cunningham Radio Tubes for your receiver.

C-11, CX-12 and thirteen other types in the orange and blue carton.

THE NEW SENATORIAL SENSITIVENESS.

The power of the Governor of Illinois to appoint a successor to the late United States Senator McKINLEY is unquestioned. Governor SMALL, in fact, announced defiantly the other day that it was purely his affair and that he would name FRANK L. SMITH, if he wanted to. That gentleman is better known as the Senator-elect from Illinois for the Seventieth Congress, whose expenditure of a large sum of money in the direct primary caused a scandal and threatened to raise a question about his being seated in the Senate. Perhaps he thought, and possibly Governor SMALL thought, that his appointment to fill out the remainder of Senator McKINLEY'S term would obviate all these unhappy discussions about his fitness. There would be no charge of impropriety or corruption in the matter of his choice by the Governor. And once in the Senate for the remainder of this Congress, he might so impress and charm his colleagues that they could not find it in their hearts to exclude him from the next Congress.

This pretty Illinois dream is rudely shattered by Republican messages from Washington warning Governor SMALL not to appoint SMITH, and telling SMITH that if he is appointed he will not be admitted. When Senator WATSON of Indiana finds it necessary to take this high tone, and to display such unaccustomed squeamishness about his associates in the Senate, one can see how great a change has come about. One can see also the alarm of the Republican Senators lest a political controversy be precipitated which will block the public business and force an extra session of the new Congress. Whatever the true explanation, the event itself is full of significance. It implies that the party of moral ideas has at last become so frightened that it is willing to let a few moral ideas play about for a time in the Senate.

FORD INDISCREETLY DEFINITE.

For several years HENRY FORD has been making charges about international bankers and Jewish financiers, which he advisedly left general and vague. He apparently acted in accordance with the rule of the English statesman who said, "Never make a definition, for if you do they will always pin you down to it." But on Dec. 11 Mr. FORD fell into the blunder of making one of his assertions precise. It was that "the international Jew is in direct control of all financial centres of government, including the United States Federal Reserve System." Here at last was something tangible. It has been made the basis of a resolution introduced in Congress, and referred to the Committee on Rules, to appoint a select committee for the purpose of demanding from Mr. FORD what evidence he has, if any, to support his accusation. As the Federal Reserve is the creation of Congress, and under its control, the jurisdiction which the House has in the premises, if it chooses to exercise it, cannot be questioned.

Certainly if one turns to the list of the names of the officers and members of the Federal Reserve Board, and of the twelve Reserve Banks, it will be hard to find a single one which even appears to bear out HENRY FORD'S main deliverance. PLATT, MILLER, HAMLIN, JAMES, CUNNINGHAM—such is the frightful Semitic flavor of the Federal Reserve Board. And the names of the officers of the Federal Reserve Banks are like unto them—HARDING, STRONG, MACDOUGAL, YOUNG, BAILEY, and so on. To be sure, Mr. FORD, or the gentleman who does his anti-Semitism for him, may be tempted to say that these well known and honorable men are only puppets and tools of "the international Jew." But if he were to do so directly, he might be at once sued for libel, in a way to make it as inadvisable for him to visit other cities in the United States as he now finds it to come to New York, where a court summons awaits him in vain.

The whole matter runs in importance beyond any question merely affecting the Federal Reserve. His inadvertent attack upon the latter gives Congress a proper occasion to examine him, if it wishes, but an exposure of him on that one point would have larger implications. It would hold him up before the country as one willing to use his position and the artificial hearing which he gets because of his great wealth to indulge in miscellaneous abuse of people whom he does not know, and whom he does not dare to specify by name, thereby creating in the minds of ill-informed people the impression that they are in danger of being made the victims of plots and conspiracies and oppressions of one kind and another. In this way he has unquestionably wrought great harm among many simple-minded citizens. Serious men do not think of his charges except as an example of folly or obstinate prejudice and freakishness on his part, but the fact remains that his course in this affair has been such as to create suspicion and distrust in ignorant minds easily inflamed. If he were called to book by Congress for such rash and unpatriotic behavior, it would do a lot of good. It might even do HENRY FORD some good.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH FIGHTING SHIPS.

The new edition of JANE'S "Fighting Ships" makes it plain that Great Britain is not concerned at present about the Washington Treaty ratio as it affects her fleet. The battleships Ajax, King George V, Thunderer and Centurion have been taken off the list of those that, to use the words of the treaty, "may be retained by the British Empire." The first three are to be made ready for sale; the Centurion will be turned into a target ship. It will be six months at least before the new battleships Nelson and Rodney, which are to replace the four battleships at the bottom of the treaty list, can go into commission. The agreement speaks of the completion of the replacement battleships, not of commission:

> On the completion of the said two ships, the Thunderer, King George V, Ajax and Centurion shall be disposed of as prescribed in Chapter II, Part 2.

It may therefore be assumed that technically the Nelson and Rodney are finished products. Counting the battle cruisers Hood, Renown, Repulse and Tiger as capital ships, Great Britain still has eighteen in commission, and is on a parity with the United States. In gun power the latter will be stronger than Great Britain until the Nelson and Rodney fly the flag. None of the British battleships now in commission has a main battery of 16-inch guns. Three of the American battleships, Colorado, Maryland and West Virginia, are equipped with eight 16-inch guns. The new edition of JANE gives full details of the Nelson and Rodney, which will be the most formidable battleships afloat. They will have nine 16-inch guns in their main batteries, triple-mounted forward, an arrangement that greatly improves fire control. Moreover, the magazines and engines are protected by heavy bomb-proof decks. Putting the big guns forward affords space aft for a considerable number of airplanes. Nothing is said about speed, but, as the main armor belt is unusually thick for a British battleship, the Nelson and Rodney will probably be no faster than the Marylands, which were designed for twenty-one knots. It has been no secret that the British ships would be well provided with airplanes. Altogether, they should be more powerful—that is to say abler fighting ships—than the United States or the Japanese Navy possesses.

JANE tells more about American battleship reconstruction plans than our Navy Department has given out for publication. It was known that the Florida, Arkansas, Texas, New York, Wyoming and Utah would be converted into oil burners, but increased under-water protection and better facilities for handling airplanes were only vaguely spoken of. There is a full description of the monster airplane carriers, Lexington and Saratoga, which are not yet finished. Details of belt and bulge protection are unofficial. Nothing is said about speed in the London dispatch, but it will exceed that of the British carriers. As a matter of fact, they stand comparison badly with the wonderful Lexington and Saratoga, which will be fast-moving bases for many planes.

Washington reports that JANE fails to do justice to the new American light cruisers building and planned, but it is too early to say that the errors made, which relate chiefly to batteries, are very important in comparisons of respective values. Only two of the American 10,000-ton cruisers will carry ten 8-inch guns, the heaviest calibre allowed by the Washington Treaty. The other six will probably be equipped with nine of these guns. The more guns the less speed, unless armor is very light. It is a difficult problem to design a swift cruiser of 10,000 tons and give her nine or ten 8-inch guns. What our Navy Department is worrying about most is the number of cruisers, in which Great Britain has so big a lead that the 5-5-3 ratio doesn't apply and probably can't be made to apply.

SPADE WORK FOR PEACE.

At first sight the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to General DAWES would be a departure from tradition. Hitherto the distinction has been conferred on publicists who have written in behalf of peace, on individuals who have organized movements and institutions for the promotion of peace, on the institutions themselves, on statesmen who have intervened to end wars, on other statesmen who have labored to prevent war. General DAWES fits into none of these categories. He was not the chairman of a peace society or peace congress, but of a committee of experts. The Dawes committee's official business was not with international good-will, but with such unsentimental problems as annual reparation schedules, currency stabilization, balanced budgets, foreign loans, railroad mortgages, coal deliveries, cash transfers, rates of exchange. The annual reports of the Agent General for Reparations under the Dawes plan are predominantly the reports of a chairman of a board of directors to his stockholders. They are the balance sheets of a going concern.

Actually, the work of the Dawes committee has been the greatest factor in European peace since the signing of the Versailles Treaty. We may go further than FRIDTJOF NANSEN, who has said that the Dawes plan was an important contribution to the policy of peace which led to the Locarno Conference. BRIAND, CHAMBERLAIN and STRESEMANN deserve their own Peace Prizes, but without the Dawes plan there would have been no Locarno. The Dawes committee brought Europe and European statesmen out of the blind alley into which they had plunged through interminable harping on abstract possibilities and impossibilities. Germany could and must pay this much reparations. Germany never could and never would pay that much reparations. It was a debate which filled the air with a priori psychology and metaphysical statistics. Even the hard-headed bankers' committee at Paris, preceding the Dawes committee, made the error of ruling that Germany could not pay or would not pay unless reparations totals had been fixed so and so.

The impasse was shattered by the Dawes committee when it abandoned abstract generalizations and prognostications for a policy of try and see. It did not bother with the total of reparations which officially stands at the amount fixed by the London Conference. It set out to discover how much Germany could pay and would pay by testing capacity and good-will from year to year. The results have been such as might have been foretold from human nature. The reparations problem is being solved by the process of paying reparations. Good-will has been created, not by sitting around and waiting for a change of heart in Germany and France, but by substituting action for brooding. The debtor who pays on account without finding himself ruined, the creditor who receives payment on account without feeling himself cheated, are being educated to the proper mood for a final settlement. Officially, the reparation totals of 1921 stand. Actually, no one doubts that drastic modifications in the total will follow upon a notable change in the European temper.

FOREIGN POLICY BY TANTRUM.

In the language of high diplomacy "re-orientation" means new friends and new enemies. On the face of the dispatches, two members of the Central European family are now engaged in re-orienting themselves with a speed and completeness calculated to make the beholder dizzy. A painful impression has been created in Poland by the allied decision to terminate military control in Germany on Feb. 1. By way of retaliation, Warsaw is now in the mood to discover that Soviet Russia has all along been a good friend and a possible ally. "The differences between Poland and Russia are not great, after all." On the subject of Italy and Albania, similar startling discoveries dawn upon angry Yugoslav eyes. How are Italian ambitions in the cis-Adriatic to be countered? By realizing that Yugoslavia, after all, has friends at Berlin and Vienna. The fact that Yugoslavia's existence was rendered possible by Germany's defeat, the fact that a large section of Yugoslav territory was formerly Hapsburg territory, must not be allowed to stand in the way. Belgrade discovers all at once that it would be an excellent thing to have Berlin annex Vienna and make the German frontier coterminous with the Yugoslav frontier. And that is not the only answer to Italy. Given half a dozen Central European and Balkan States, there is no limit almost to the permutations and combinations which excitement can conjure up.

From Belgrade our correspondent describes this state of mind as a new outbreak of "Balkanism." Fortunately, he also reports that the Yugoslav Government is not likely to do anything rash and that there is plenty of time to stop the drift back to the old, fatal Balkan checker game. His mere enumeration of simultaneous brainstorms at Belgrade is enough to show that radical changes of policy are not waiting just around the corner. Belgrade wants a German-Austrian union and Belgrade wants to lean heavily on France. How one can lean on France and favor the Germanic Union against which France is dead set has not been made clear. Similarly Poland cannot make friends with Soviet Russia and continue to lean on France, seeing that Moscow is the sworn enemy of the new Continental order of which France is the stanchest champion.

In pre-war days such about-faces of national policy were easier, though even before 1914 friendships and alliances, as the historian sees them, were not determined by bursts of temper but by long-time forces. Today the fundamentals count more than ever. Some time must elapse before Belgrade finds herself sincerely in love with Berlin and Vienna and her sentiments reciprocated. Poland will think twice before throwing over French support and embracing the Red Army which five years ago was at the gates of Warsaw.

SMALL POTATOES.

Representative GARNER has gone to Texas to receive the homage of his adoring fellow-citizens for his Tax Reduction bill. Part of his holiday will be spent in hunting. One hopes that he will be luckier than in his chase for Republican signatures to the petition to be circulated for the exhumation of his bill from the Ways and Means Committee. That pursuit is said to be already abandoned. The Republicans have agreed to continue the policy of debt reduction, which is also tax reduction, impersonal, independent of votes. It seems to be satisfactory to conservative Democratic journals. Forty million dollars a year sliced from interest charges looks good enough to them. President COOLIDGE blundered in his hasty refund proposal. Why couldn't the Democrats be content with that? Why did they have to make a much more serious blunder, one that revives the too often justified suspicion that they have a genius for doing the wrong thing?

They burned their fingers once by becoming the gulls of the Lafollettians. Now they are eager to join with the Republicans, if enough Republican dupes are to be found, just to make a row, to start an "impassioned" futile debate. The most that they could hope for would be to delay the necessary business of Congress. Even if they could put the Garner scheme through the House, they know it would fail in the Senate. Such is the "non-partisan" tax reduction of these Democratic sages. Incapable of looking before as of looking after, they take no heed of the lean years sure to come. So long as there is a surplus, it can be used to reduce taxation by reducing the debt. Rashly cut down taxes, and, when receipts wane and a deficiency succeeds, leave, perhaps to Democratic hands, the pleasant and popular task of jacking up taxes.

The Democrats of the Garner stripe are visibly trying to "play to the gallery." They are treating a grave national policy as if it were a matter of the size of dog licenses in Jim Hogg County. They merely want to stir up a mess and put the Republicans "in a hole." It is a curious method of increasing confidence in the Democratic Party, of winning for it that indispensable independent vote, notoriously so infatuated with catchpenny political shows and finance for politics only.

RAPID-TRANSIT PLANS.

At last an agency has come forward ready to shoulder the responsibility of working out a unified transit plan for the city. The Transit Commission is charged by the law with that very duty. If any additional justification for its entry upon the scene were needed, it could be found in the failure of the City Administration to reach an agreement. Controller BERRY has consistently refused to vote for new appropriations for subways until the Board of Estimate should come to a definite program. Commissioner DELANEY made a move in the direction of concord; but the minute he followed it up by a suggestion for saving the Mayor's face and the five-cent fare by applying tax revenues to subway construction, the Controller asked rather hotly what right the Chairman of the Board of Transportation has to speak on city finance.

Perhaps he does know more about subways than about finance; just as the Controller probably knows more about finance than about subways. Surely the taxpayer would not relish piling another load upon the budget. This latest incident is eloquent of the continued dissensions within the Administration, and of the timeliness of the Transit Commission's intervention.

From the Mayor's point of view it would seem particularly desirable to get action of some sort, because of its effect at Albany. The city has an axe to grind. It wants the Legislature to pass again the constitutional amendment extending the city's debt limit $300,000,000, so as to enable the city to go ahead with the present program of subway construction. But with the existing confusion, the Legislature may be inclined to go slow. If the city gave convincing proof that it was done with bickering and meant business, this hesitation could be removed. But it may work out just the other way. If the Transit Commission does go ahead with the development of a comprehensive plan, and if that plan should contemplate a reorganization of the city's transit systems on a self-sustaining basis, the need for such an extension of the debt limit might vanish altogether. That would be a consummation devoutly to be wished.

CHRISTMAS TREES.

The United States Forest Service is authority for a statement which will add to the Christmas cheer. Christmas trees are not necessarily enemies of conservation. Within reason, their use may be even beneficial. This is in answer not to sour-minded Scrooges, but to those who are disturbed by the thought that they may be taking the trees from economic uses of greater good to man. But the Forest Service makes the observation that, after all, economic use is not necessarily the highest use: "There is no other use to which the trees could be put that would contribute so much to the joy of man as their use by children on this great holiday of the year."

There is a movement under way to use young living trees instead of cutting down great evergreens of the forest—trees that will not only blossom in the symbolism of the Christmas season, but also carry the glinting freshness of the pines and their fragrance through the Winter and, later on, add their strength to the young growth of the forest or transfer their beauty to the garden or the field. The living tree has its special Christmas ministry to the sick and other shut-ins, but it does not dim that service of cheer and comfort by fading into an unsightly remnant of itself. It remains the burning bush that is not consumed.

In the original home of the Christmas tree, Germany, the holiday custom may be continued with the cut trees, and yet with benefit to the highly developed national forests. The foresters go through the young growth and mark the trees that may be removed. They see to it also that the cutting is done without harm to the other trees left to grow into timber. So we may still keep Christmas and our Christmas trees.

How the race has clung to the memory of the forest, though man has wandered from it and remembers only "the shadows of the tall moving trees," is suggested by JAMES LANE ALLEN in his "Bride of the Mistletoe":

> And the forest still reaches out and twines itself around our deepest spiritual truths: home—birth—love—prayer—death: it tries to overrun them all, to reclaim them. Thus when we build our houses, instinctively we attempt by some clump of trees to hide them and to shelter ourselves once more inside the forest; in some countries, whenever a child is born, a tree is planted as its guardian in nature; in our marriage customs the forest still riots as master of ceremonies with garlands and fruits; our prayers strike against the forest shaped in cathedral stone—memory of the grove, God's first temple; and when we die, it is the tree that is planted beside us as the sentinel of our rest. Even to this day the sight of a treeless grave arouses some obscure instinct in us that it is God-forsaken.

Those to whom the Christmas trees come with messages of cheer should remember that there are homes, to which even such a tree cannot bring comfort or help. The Hundred Neediest need friends, "as trees walking," who will give them that which will sustain life, keep them warm in the Winter's cold, heal their sickness, care for their children and keep death from the door. Such friends, those who contribute to the Hundred Neediest Fund, provide through the charitable societies which undertake this service. No family should find itself quite happy around its Christmas tree that has not first done something for those who not only have no Christmas tree, but can have no Christmas cheer if left in their misery and want.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Putting New Jersey on the Map.

Published at Somerville, The Journal of Industry and Finance, dedicated to "selling" New Jersey, opens its first number with the following extract from a current novel:

> From ocean to ocean, and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, there is no State in the Union so little known as New Jersey.

The new publication finds a measure of truth in a statement that should excite wonder, for New Jersey is celebrated for many things—the glories of Atlantic City, the fair beauty of the Delaware, the Pennsylvania Railroad, Washington's Headquarters, the Camden Bridge, Asbury Park, Bradley Beach, the toothsome clam and the free lance mosquito. Moreover, it is the corridor between New York and Pennsylvania, and millions of automobiles throng its highways every year.

What The Journal of Industry and Finance really means is that New Jersey has been the Cinderella of the Eastern seaboard, shy and diffident about its resources, shunning the limelight of publicity. "Either," it says, "because we have lacked the will or the ability to tell the world about ourselves, we have passed unnoticed to a large extent."

What The Journal intends to do—and it has made a good beginning—is to present the manufacturing, financial and labor facilities of New Jersey to a discriminating world in a handsome publication issued every month.

Daylight-Making in Henhouses.

To those who have looked askance at the efforts to induce hens to lay more eggs by artificially prolonging "daylight," and have felt that it was in a sense reprehensible thus to take an unfair advantage of the unsuspecting birds, the news that this process has increased the Winter's yield of eggs fivefold on an Iowa farm will come as a matter deserving attention.

Speaking before the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. R. F. PACK told of an instance in which, by artificial lighting, this single henhouse had an output of 4,530 eggs, whereas while unlighted the yield had been only 805. The additional cost was slight.

Mr. PACK, who is manager of the Northern States Power Company, was describing various ways in which electricity can be utilized by farmers. He believes that they have not yet begun to understand the potential value to them of hydroelectric power. He foresees a time when barns will be equipped with electrical devices for threshing, elevating and grinding grain, and for hoisting hay. He also forecasts the installation of electric milkers, and of electric labor-saving devices in and about the farm kitchen.

The extensive use of machinery in farm work, which twenty years ago was done largely by hand or by horsepower, had not only greatly increased production but has released men for other tasks. There is every reason to believe that with the increased development of cheap hydroelectric power electric labor-saving devices will be more commonly used. It is a question both of cheap production and of educating the farmers to the advantages of the new methods.

Good Sense and Beauty Contests.

An echo of the beauty contest discussions is heard from Australia. Here the season is practically over. Except for a few hardy musical comedy girls who have their pictures taken in bathing suits, appearing to enjoy a romp in the snow, the beauties are hibernating. So long as they remain in retirement, argument about the ethics, taste and morality of such contests will languish. When the girls come out in the Spring, conferences on their manners and characters will begin again.

Meantime, a sturdy protest against the world tour of "Miss Australia" comes from Melbourne. It is said by a writer in one of the papers there that the young woman cannot be representative of the girls of her country, for they are distinguished by modesty and dignity. She may be representative of her class—"girls seeking publicity and easily earned advantages."

The mania for competitions of this sort has grown greatly. It is world-wide, and includes all sorts of absurd rivalries. Winners are thrust into the limelight for no sound reason, and do not stand up well under the publicity they receive. The Australians appear to think that the standards of girls who do not compete will be lowered or at least confused by the attention which the competitors receive. But sensible young women are not going to be disturbed by such events, and those who are not sensible cannot be prevented from envying the winners anyhow.

New Light on Cromwell.

According to the venerable story, OLIVER CROMWELL wanted to be painted as he was, wart and all. Recent ransacking of the Venetian archives uncovered some warts on his face, or character, as discerned by the representatives of Venice in London during the middle of the seventeenth century. Now the inquiry has been extended to the diplomatic records at Genoa.

That republic was represented in London from 1651 to 1665 by FRANCESCO BERNARDI. His official letters were not confined to public business, but reported all kinds of gossip and scandal. A sample of the latter is given in the account by the Genoese of the talk regarding CROMWELL'S suspicious relations with the wife of General LAMBERT. BERNARDI wrote:

> Those favors and intimate courtesies with which his Highness courted the lady of the aforesaid officer may be presumed, notwithstanding her beauty and meritorious parts, to have been designed to discover the schemes of her husband, while he, for his part, induced his wife to such complacency in order to penetrate the schemes of his Highness, for LAMBERT always aspired to the Government after the death of his Highness.

There are many comments on the supposed desire of CROMWELL to be made King. The Genoese Resident thought it impossible that "so dextrous and naturally politic a person as his Highness" could have allowed the members of the House of Commons and others to go on urging him to accept the Crown, unless he had intended to do so. However, in the end he was content with the title of Lord Protector.

BERNARDI notes how CROMWELL when firmly established as head of the Government left off his pose as being a plain man of simple tastes. When his daughter was married in 1657, the banquet in her honor set forth "as many dishes as there are days in the year." The Genoese added that "of the bright dresses and liveries it is not necessary to speak, when only the shirts of the bride were twelve dozen of Hollander fabric costing £30 to £40 trimmed with lace at £10 to £30 a skein. After wearing them one day she distributes them among her dearest friends."

Salvation Army Relief.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There are three points in connection with the 1926 Christmas Appeal of the Salvation Army to which I should like to invite the attention of your readers.

The first is that the distribution of food and toys the day before Christmas is in no sense indiscriminate. The 25,000 persons who are to receive dinners, and the 5,000 children who are to receive toys, have already been selected and investigated.

The second is that we do not make these people happy for a day. We see every case through and make certain that clothing, fuel and other necessities, as well as constructive advice about employment and home management, are provided.

And the third point, which is perhaps the most important this year, is this: the improved economic condition of the country, the bettered employment situation and the quite genuine but too-much heralded "wave of prosperity" has not removed the necessity of Christmas and Winter relief work.

So may I suggest that your readers be as generous this year, if not more so, as in the past. Checks should be made payable to the Salvation Army and mailed to the Christmas Relief Fund, the Salvation Army, 122 West Fourteenth Street.

A RETROSPECT OF THE DEBT

There Was Little Thought of Repayment When We Gave Money.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

How many persons, I wonder, have read "America and the Debts: An English Defence of American Policy," by George Glasgow, in the December Harper's? It is an article to make us pause in our too common and careless acceptance of the thought that it is a subject for politics only. Its bitter, stinging irony cuts deep, for there are many of us who think that our demand for payment, no matter on what terms, is wrong.

We look back on those tragic days of war that began in 1914, and we recall that we wanted to help, and help generously; it was a need of our innate humanity. We were the minority, I know, but the minority, at last, became the majority, and we entered the war, late, but with the whole country aflame. Nowhere was there a thought of money or debts being paid back; and this widespread generous spirit was retroactive, it reached back to the beginning in 1914. We felt we were all together in a common cause in which we were to bear our share of lifting the heavy burden. No one thought of whining. What had happened before we entered the war was looked upon as payment of our debt, to date, to our Allies. They had paid in lives and suffering; we had given a portion of the necessary money, and we all said we gave gladly. Let us look back fearlessly and honestly to the spirit of those days, to what was said, and written, and felt, and we shall remember this is true.

But after the war was over the heavy hand of politics crashed down and the "staircase wit" of greed spoke out, and now we see the result—just and generous Uncle Sam has become "Uncle Shylock."

The average man and woman will never feel the difference whether the debt is paid or not. When the payments come now, we do not know it unless some mention is made of it in the papers. But Europe knows, and nears the breaking point under the burden. The country does not need the money, and it is grinding our old friends and Allies into the dust to pay it, and so why should we nationally do a thing which we should be ashamed to do personally? There is not one of us who would willingly hit a man when he is down.

If one thousand men could be picked at random from the streets of New York and asked to make a clear, concise statement of what the economic effect would be upon our national and private life if the debts were paid, and also if they were not paid, it is almost a certainty that nearly every one of the one thousand would fall utterly, no matter which side he took. Some, without doubt, would have a great deal to say, but if they were pinned down to facts their eloquence would dwindle to mere parrot talk founded on a vague memory of the headlines and the noisy clamor of politics.

I frankly admit I could not do it. I am arguing from appearances, that the country does not need the money, and Europe does; that the people, originally, never had a thought of its being repaid; and that it is a dreadful thing to have America lose her reputation for fairness to make a politicians' holiday. My faith is still strong that history will repeat itself, and, as in the war days, when the minority became at last the majority, so in these days of pseudo peace the belief of the minority will at last become that of the majority, and then the debts will be canceled.

Commander Byrd's Position.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The renewed flare-up between Amundsen and Nobile brings into pleasant contrast the attainments, methods and character of that American who first flew over the Pole, Commander Richard E. Byrd.

Byrd's feat, and particularly the way in which he has handled himself subsequently, is genuinely unique. He seems almost the only major explorer of today who contrives to keep out of rows, criticism and backbiting. And to know Byrd himself is to comprehend the reason why. A fearless flier and an imaginative explorer, he is something more. Essentially he is a gentleman, and an extraordinarily modest one, with a rare ability to keep his head on his shoulders and his feet on the ground.

His generosity to his associates and his contemporaries is inspiring. He voices nothing but praise for the others. He has remained deaf to the unkindnesses which certain of his rivals, and even his associates, have voiced. And that has endeared him to the American public, which reveres in his good sportsmanship as much as it admires his heroic attainments.

A Politico-Religious Suggestion.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

How dreadfully upset everybody seems to be about Governor Smith's religion! What if he had no religion!

John Brooks Leavitt wants Governor Smith to declare he will never "put the Pope above the Constitution." Why not have all the non-Catholic candidates declare they will not cringe to the Methodist church organization and the Anti-Saloon League?

MUMMERS.

For this hour I am one man—
I see the white beautiful light of the moon,
Of the moon shining upon the snow;
The black, sharp shadows cast upon the snow by the trees,
The trees that lift their uncovered arms like those of an Arab dancer's;
I discern in the warm rose tints of her finger-tips—the ultimate twigs—faint, first harbingers of Spring,
The lance of a crocus
Appearing from the bastions of brown earth
Is the envoy to announce its coming—
And I am silent
As the moonlight,
As the snow,
As are the shadows upon the snow.

* * * * * * *

The hour passes—
I am another—
I see only figures,
Row upon row;
In addition,
In subtraction,
In multiplication,
In division;
I see fractions,
Eighths, halves, quarters;
I talk of prices,
Of the price of silk and of steel,
Of coal and of cotton,
Of the cost of labor and of production,
Of percentages of profits—
Which is the real man,
Which the mummer?

$642,830,000 PAID BY BRITAIN ON DEBT

This Total Is Reached by Current Remittance of $92,960,000 on Interest and Principal.

DEBT REDUCED $95,000,000

English Correspondent Comments on Feat in Face of Difficulties—No Thought of Cancellation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Sir A. Maurice Low, Washington correspondent of The London Morning Post, cabled a dispatch today to his newspaper in which he called attention to the fact that Great Britain already had paid $642,830,000 to the United States on its British war-time debt to this country. He indicated also that inquiries made by him at the British Embassy had demonstrated that there was no intention on the part of his Government of asking to be excused from carrying out its obligations. The dispatch follows:

"The British Government today paid the American Treasury $92,960,000, being $87,960,000 on the semi-annual interest on the war debt and $5,000,000 on the reduction of the principal. It will no doubt be as surprising to the British people as it will be to the Americans to learn that, including this payment made today, the British Government has already paid to the American Government $642,830,000 on the debt, no mean achievement in the light of the economic and other difficulties Great Britain has had to meet since the debt-funding agreement was made early in 1923.

"During the war Great Britain gave demand notes to the United States, having a face value of $4,074,854,854.61, on which was charged interest at the rate of 4½ per cent., which made the interest accrued and unpaid up to Dec. 15, 1922, $629,836,106.99, or a gross total of British indebtedness to the United States of $4,704,654,468.43.

Payments at Higher Interest.

"It has been the general belief in both the United States and Great Britain that the highest rate of interest charged by the United States was 3½ per cent., 3 per cent. for the first ten years and 3½ thereafter, but the United States was paid 4½ per cent. on the principal of the debt when the settlement was made. This resulted in the British Government making two payments to the United States in 1922, one in October and the other in November, amounting to $160,000,379.69, which included accumulated interest at 4½ per cent. After this payment was made Great Britain still owed the United States $4,604,853,085.74. To reduce the total to round figures, a further cash payment of $4,128,085.74 was made, leaving the gross amount of British indebtedness $4,600,000,000, for which bonds were issued by the British Government and are now held in the American Treasury.

"Payments began in 1923, when on June 15, $60,000,000 was paid on interest. On Dec. 15, a similar amount was paid and $23,000,000 on principal. In 1924 two payments of $62,000,000 each were made on interest and $25,000,000 on principal.

"In 1925 semi-annual payments for interest were $68,310,000 and $34,000,000 was paid on principal. This year the interest payments have been semi-annually, $87,950,000, and the payment on principal has been $25,000,000.

From Other Nations $3,830,000.

"Summed up to date, Great Britain has paid to the United States $87,830,000 as interest and the debt has been reduced by $95,000,000. These colossal figures are additionally interesting when it is recalled that, while Great Britain paid to the United States this year $135,000,000 as interest plus $25,000,000 on account of reduction of debt, from all other debtor nations the United States received in round figures only $20,000,000.

"The American press has frequently discussed the probability of his Majesty's Government asking for a cancellation of the debt or a revision of the agreement. The British Embassy, when asked if there was a probability of this being done, referred the inquirer to the statement made by Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, last August. In substance Sir Austen said that while England was indebted to the United States the amounts owing to England for conceded what she owed the United States. England was prepared to wipe the slate clean of all the obligations among the Allied and Associated powers, but, as that solution did not commend itself, no British Government would think it becoming its dignity or compatible with its honor to ask to be excused from its obligations. It will make no complaint. We will discharge our obligations,' he concluded. The British Government recognizes that the loans were made and used for war purposes and they are being repaid in accordance with the terms of the agreement made between the two Governments."

POSTAL BUILDING LIMITED.

Office Must Take In $20,000 a Year to Qualify, Mellon States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—In allocating new postoffice buildings under the $150,000,000 building plan, the Treasury is considering only cities that have annual postal receipts of $20,000 or more, Secretary Mellon testified today before the House Buildings Committee. He said there were 2,300 towns coming within this class and of this number the buildings in 1,400 towns needed enlargement.

It was brought out that $48,000,000 of the $100,000,000 provided for buildings outside of Washington would be needed in six cities alone—$15,000,000 for New York, $12,000,000 for Chicago, $6,000,000 for Philadelphia, $5,000,000 for St. Louis, $4,000,000 for San Francisco and $3,000,000 for Lexington, Ky.

Other officials of the Treasury estimated that not more than 300 buildings all told could be constructed under the act.

CAN'T AGREE ON POSTAGE.

Joint Committee Will Make No Rate Change Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—A definite prediction that there will be no postal rate legislation at this session of Congress was made today by Senator Moses, Chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee which has been studying the question for more than a year. Because of sharp differences of opinion among members as to a permanent schedule, he said, the committee would report that it had no recommendations to make.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee, however, plans to submit a minority report recommending the 1920 rate on second-class matter; return to the one cent rate on third-class matter, and abolition of the two-cent service charge on parcel post packages.

MGR. ALFRED EDWARD BURK.

Founder of Catholic Church Extension Society Dies in Rome.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Ontario, Dec. 15.—Word has reached here of the death in Rome today of Mgr. Alfred Edward Burk.

Mgr. Burk was very well known here for his organization work. He came from Prince Edward Island to Toronto many years ago, selected by Bishop McEvay to found the Catholic Church Extension Society and to cooperate with the same movement, which was then under way in the United States. The aim of the organization was to aid settlers in the West. He began this work in 1911, at the same time settling here and acting as editor for the Catholic Register.

When the society had a solid footing Mgr. Burk went to Rome in 1916, his work being taken over by Mgr. O'Donnell, now Bishop of Calgary. Mgr. Blair is now carrying on the work of which the late Mgr. Burk was the pioneer. The late Monsignor was a periodical visitor in Toronto.

WILLIAM CORRY DEAD AT 84.

Cincinnati Man Was Former Vice President of Chrome Steel Works.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 15.—A cold contracted about seven weeks ago resulted in complications which caused the death today of William Corry, eighty-four years old, at his home here. Mr. Corry had been Vice President of the Chrome Steel Works of Elizabeth, N. J., for twenty-two years but had retired from active business.

Mr. Corry formerly had lived in Cincinnati, for many years having been superintendent of the old Herring-Hall-Marvin Company, safe manufacturers. He left that position twenty-three years ago to become associated with the Elizabeth steel plant. When he retired a year ago he returned to Cincinnati to make his home. He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Mr. Corry leaves only his widow, Mrs. Mary Coughlin Corry.

ALFRED KING DIES AT 86.

Friend of Lincoln Sponsored Raising of Battleship Maine.

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., Dec. 15 (AP).—Alfred King, friend of President Lincoln and sponsor of the raising of the battleship Maine from the bottom of Havana harbor, died at his home here today at the age of 86.

Mr. King was responsible for the placing of tablets inscribed with the Gettysburg address in hundreds of public schools throughout the country and in the Philippine Islands. He also was active in bringing about construction of the Maine monument in Havana.

He was born in Maine and enlisted there in the Union Army during the Civil War, and to that State his body will be sent for burial.

Memorial Rites for Patrick Ward.

The annual memorial service for the late Patrick Ward and members of the Ward family was held yesterday at St. Malachy's Church, Forty-ninth Street, west of Broadway, at 10:30 A. M. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Edward F. Leonard, pastor of St. Malachy's. The Rev. Martin A. Fitzpatrick, pastor of St. Agatha's Church, Brooklyn, was deacon; the Rev. Father Sylvester, O. F. M., was sub-deacon; the Rev. J. B. O'Reilly of St. Malachy's Church was master of ceremonies and the Rev. Edward A. Wallace, pastor of St. Margaret Mary's Church, Manhattan Beach, was in the sanctuary. Professor Joseph Davis was the organist and choir leader, and Mrs. Thomas Keating, Florence Betsch, Warren Terry and Edward Wendelken sang in the choir. The solo "Calvary" was sung by Mrs. Thomas Keating.

Mrs. Edith Taylor Wilford.

Mrs. Edith Taylor Wilford, wife of Herbert E. Wilford, head of the Department of Latin in James Madison High School, Brooklyn, died yesterday at St. Catherine's Hospital, Brooklyn, after an operation. Mrs. Wilford was 39 years old. She was born at Andes, N. Y., and went to Elmhurst with her husband in 1906. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Donald Pond and Louise Wilford; a sister, Mrs. G. E. Dennison of Hackensack, and her mother, who was visiting her at the time of her death. Mrs. Wilford's home was at 1,747 East Twenty-sixth Street, Brooklyn, where funeral services will be held.

LOTON HORTON DIES IN FRANCE AT 72

President of Sheffield Farms Co., Touring With His Wife, a Victim of Pneumonia.

BORN ON A DAIRY FARM

Loton Horton, President of the Sheffield Farms Company since its organization in 1902, and for more than fifty years engaged in the business of supplying milk in New York City, died yesterday at Nice, France, according to a cablegram received by his sons last night. Mr. Horton was 72 years old. He had been visiting in Europe with Mrs. Horton and was planning to return to this country when he was stricken with pneumonia. For several years past he had been troubled with a weak heart, and it is believed that this was a contributing factor to his death.

Mr. Horton's city home was at 135 Central Park West. In addition to his widow, who was Miss Tillie Spieker of Zurich, Switzerland, whom he married in 1917, he is survived by four sons, Daniel S., Ralph, Chauncey and Jerome Horton. Mr. Horton was married three times.

Mr. Horton was born on an Orange County (N. Y.) dairy farm in April, 1854. His mother died when he was three years old and his father died seven years later. Young Loton Horton was bound out to an uncle by marriage, who had agreed to provide a home and educate him in return for the interest on $2,500, Loton's share of his father's estate, which was in a savings bank.

The young farmer boy knew nothing of the details of this agreement. He spent his time on the farm doing the chores which seemed never-ending, and as he grew he was doing the work of a full fledged hired man. When 16 years of age young Horton became disgusted with his situation.

He had a long talk with his Uncle "Tim," a brother of his father. The upshot was that he left the farm where he had been working and went to Middletown to live, with the understanding that he was to be permitted to attend school in town.

Starts as Milk Wagon Driver.

At the end of the school year young Horton came to New York City to drive a milk route for another uncle. The conversation which determined Mr. Horton's future did not seem particularly pregnant with possibilities at the time. His Uncle Chauncey said: "Bub, how'd you like to drive a milk wagon in the city this Summer?"

Loton would and did. Mr. Horton used to take delight in telling of his experiences as a raw, gawky country boy on a city milk route. The only way he remembered his way was to count the blocks and houses, and he said that it was several weeks before he realized that his route crossed and recrossed the same streets.

When his first month's collections were checked up it was found that he had turned in more for one month than preceding drivers had turned in for a three-months period. Young Horton returned to Middletown for two more sessions of school and at 18 came to the city to take a permanent job on the milk wagon.

When he received his money at the age of 21 he bought a route which he used as capital for joining the partnership of the Slawson brothers, who were also his uncles. He continued with this concern and in 1901 bought out the business after the death of two of the brothers.

The following year marked the greatest forward step for Mr. Horton in the matter of handling milk. That year marked the consolidation of the Slawson Company, the T. W. Decker Company, a business dating back to 1841, the Sheffield Farms Company and the Tuthill's Sheffield Farms Company. The assets of the combination were only $135,000. Today the company has more plants than it had routes in those days.

Louis B. Halsey, a lawyer, who had turned to dairying, operated the Sheffield Farm. He was years ahead of his competitors and in 1897 brought a German chemist to operate the first pasteurization machine. Halsey had developed a herd of pure Jersey cows and was constantly experimenting with better methods of handling. He devised a scheme for freezing blocks of skim milk and putting a large block into each can of rich milk. Thus the milk arrived sweet and pure.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland's Tribute.

It was this farm which gave the name to the vast organization which now distributes milk throughout New York City. Mr. Horton became interested in the pasteurization process and employed it for his own milk.

Although he had very little formal education Mr. Horton was recognized by his associates as a man with an extraordinary capacity for study. He knew both men and the progress of ideas. He had been at the forefront in all measures to develop better methods of handling and caring for milk from the time it left the farmer until it reached the consumers here.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland paid him high tribute at a dinner in 1922 when Mr. Horton celebrated the anniversary of his fiftieth year in the business, when he said, "No man in New York City has done as much to reduce the death rate of children."

Mr. Horton had been under fire several times because of charges that he was at the head of a "milk trust" and artificially controlling prices. The Mayor's Committee conducted an investigation in 1917, and in 1919 there was a Federal, State and city investigation after an increase in prices had been announced.

Mr. Horton also had a prominent part in breaking the strike of drivers in 1921. He obtained an injunction against intereference, which stripped the milkmen of the power to harass dealers, and this proved an effective weapon in winning the strike for the company.

Jimmy Gernan, Columbia Employe.

James Gernan, for four years a night watchman at Columbia University, died late Monday night at his home, 100 West 109th Street, it was learned yesterday. Mr. Gernan, known as Jimmy by students in the men's dormitories, had suffered for many years from asthma. He was 59 years old. He leaves his widow and two daughters, Dorothy and Elizabeth. The funeral will be held Saturday at 10 o'clock from the Ascension Rectory, 221 West 107th Street.

Services Held for James Shewan.

Funeral services for James Shewan, President of James Shewan & Sons, Inc., were held yesterday morning at his late residence, 630 Park Avenue. The Rev. William S. Winans of the Central Congregational Church of Brooklyn officiated. Many relatives, friends and business associates were present. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

C. R. ERWIN, PIONEER IN ADVERTISING, DIES

Chairman of Board of Erwin, Wasey & Co. Was Among First to See Value of Press Ads.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Charles R. Erwin, a pioneer advertising man, died late yesterday of heart disease at his Winter home, Winter Haven, Fla., after an illness of several weeks.

He was Chairman of the board of Erwin, Wasey & Co., the firm which he founded in 1915, two years after he had retired from the presidency of Lord & Thomas. He was an organizer of the American Association of Advertising Agencies and one of the first agency men to be charged with the expenditure of a million-dollar advertising appropriation.

Mr. Erwin was born in Chicago and was a member of the Chicago Club, the Chicago Athletic Association, the Racquet Club and the Akron (Ohio) City Club. He leaves his wife, eight daughters and a son.

Charles Roswell Erwin began his business career in a bank at Alton, Ill. From there he went to Chicago as an official in the Commercial National Bank, with which he continued until he became associated with Lord & Thomas in the advertising field. His withdrawal in 1915 marked the formation of his own company with two associates, Louis R. Wasey and Will T. Jefferson, under the firm name of Erwin, Wasey & Jefferson. Mr. Jefferson withdrew in a few years to give his attention to investments in California.

The firm continued under its present name and began a rapid expansion, opening its New York office and after the war entering the foreign field. At present there are branch offices in eighteen cities in Europe in addition to main offices in London and Paris, besides the Chicago and New York headquarters.

Mr. Erwin was active in reorganizing several large concerns which had been hit by post-war deflation. He was one of the first to recognize the tremendous asset of good-will produced by newspaper advertising on a large scale and employed it extensively in his rehabilitation of the business of his clients.

In recent years he had withdrawn more and more from active participation in the details of his advertising business and contented himself with general direction of policies. He had become a large investor in citrus growing in Florida and this took more and more of his time.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Winter Haven, Fla.

DORA SUTHERLAND KILLED.

One of Seven Well-Known Sisters Hit by an Automobile.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP).—Word was received here today of the death of Dora Sutherland, 62 years old, one of the seven Sutherland sisters, in Los Angeles last Friday. Henry F. Bailey of this city, a nephew, received the message, which stated the woman had been struck down by an automobile when crossing a street.

Only Mary and Grace of the well-known group of show women survive. They reside in Los Angeles. The Sutherland sisters were born on a farm at Warren's Corners, near Lockport, which is still in the family's possession.

JAMES KING HOYT DEAD.

Steel and Iron Merchant Dies at His Park Avenue Home at 65.

DR. PAUL HAUPT DIES; NOTED PHILOLOGIST

Johns Hopkins Professor of Semitic Languages Was With University 44 Years.

MADE BIBLICAL RESEARCH

Contributed to Ancient History of Jews in 600 Works—Received Many Scholastic Honors.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 15.—Dr. Paul Haupt, W. W. Spence Professor of Semitic Languages and Director of the Oriental Seminary at Johns Hopkins University, died today at the Johns Hopkins Hospital after an illness of ten days. Death was caused by septemia, followed by pneumonia.

Recognized as one of the leading philologists of the world and noted as a Semitic scholar, Dr. Haupt had been connected with the Hopkins Faculty for forty-four years. Among his students were men who later attained world prominence.

Born at Gorlitz, Germany, Nov. 25, 1858, he received his early education there. He took the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Leipsic in 1878. Later he did post-graduate work at the Universities of Leipsic and Berlin.

Joined Hopkins in 1883.

Dr. Haupt then became associated with the Faculty of the University of Göttingen. In 1883 he became a member of the Faculty of Hopkins as Professor of Semitic Languages.

While still in Germany, Dr. Haupt's fame as an Assyriologist began to spread. Until very recently he returned to Europe every Summer to continue his studies of biblical events. In his more than 600 works he is considered to have made many important contributions to the ancient history of the Jewish people.

He did extensive research work in the district where the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah are supposed to have stood and was among the first to voice the opinion that the ancient cities had been destroyed by earthquakes, not miracles. He also stated the belief that the Christian tradition of Calvary was wrong.

In 1923 his colleagues and students presented to the university an oil painting of Dr. Haupt, done by his son, Eric G. Haupt. In futher commemoration of his fortieth anniversary as teacher at the institution, there was dedicated to him a book of Oriental studies to which more than forty celebrated scholars contributed. The book was edited by the late Dr. Aaron Ember, then Associate Professor of Semitic Languages at Hopkins, and Dr. Cyrus Adler, President of Dropsie College, Philadelphia.

Among the best known of Dr. Haupt's works are "Sumerian Family Laws," 1879; "The Babylonian Nimrod Epic," 1884, 1891, and the "Akkadian Language," 1883. He was also editor of several scientific journals and in 1898 edited the Polychrome Bible.

Received Many Honors.

Dr. Haupt's work brought him honors from many universities and scientific societies and orders. The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him by the University of Glasgow, and he was Associate of the Society of Oriental Research, Knight of the Royal Prussian Order of the Red Eagle and Honorary Curator of the collection of Oriental antiquities, United States National Museum.

Dr. Haupt, who lived at 215 Longwood Road, Roland Park, a suburb of Baltimore, had been twice married. His first wife died shortly after their marriage in 1884. In 1886 he married Miss Minnie Giede of Albany, N. Y., who survives him.

He is survived also by two sons, Eric G. Haupt of New York and H. Harold Haupt of Wilmington, Del., and a daughter, Miss Istar Haupt.

WILLIAM J. McNICHOL DIES.

State Senator From Philadelphia Was Son of Republican "Boss."

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 15.—State Senator William J. McNichol of Philadelphia, a son of the late James P. McNichol, who for years was "boss" of the Philadelphia Republican machine, died at 10:30 this morning in his suite at the Chelsea Hotel here. He had had kidney disease for five years and his resistance was weakened by an attack of acute indigestion last March.

His wife, two children and two brothers, Daniel and Edward McNichol, the latter head coach of the University of Pennsylvania basketball team, were at his bedside when he died.

Senator McNichol was 41 years old. He succeeded his father in the Senate when the latter died in 1918. He also had followed his father in business, entering the contracting and paving business after graduation from college. He was President of the McNichol Paving and Construction Company when he died.

Senator McNichol's father, known familiarly as "Strawberry Jim," was one of the picturesque figures in Pennsylvania politics for years. His nickname came to him when he was testifying before a committee of reformers. He challenged its knowledge of conditions and said: "I've been up and down the financial line. I used to have baked beans for breakfast in June and now I can have strawberries in January if I want them."

THE DOCTORS ARE SAYING OF CANCER

Of These the Poor

Are cared for as a remnant by the Servants of Relief personally.

REMEMBER

That there are many cancer incurables; remember that there are many penniless ones.

The little crowd of these whom we house and nurse should have a fireproof Home, and we have begged for it for four years.

Cash on hand December 1, 1926, $95,448.12. Expended since July 1, 1926, $83,630.24. Additional amount needed, $122,000.00.

We beg our friends to contribute to the new Home in memory of MOTHER M. ALPHONSA, who worked so faithfully for the poor.

The Servants of Relief for Incurable Cancer,
Mother M. Rose Huber, O. S. D., Secretary
Rosary Hill Home,
Hawthorne, Westchester County, N. Y.

"Dinna Ye Mind" How Your Sweet Old Mother Used to Say

"A green Christmas means a White Easter and a windy Saint Patrick's Day!"

Truly the words of the old mother have a long life. They keep on coming back and coming back.

"The mither's breath is aye sweet"—

A full-grown young daughter is saying, proud and happy to have a mother living to give a present to this Christmas!

President Harrison's old Indiana friend, Lew Wallace, who wrote "Ben Hur," once said, "God may have thought He could not be everywhere, therefore He made mothers."

HELP FROM MANY SOURCES

Extent of Relief Depends Upon Response to Appeal—Total of $112,686 Now in Hand.

Contributions of $14,984.03 yesterday increased the fund for the Neediest Cases to $112,686.41, which is approximately $120,000 less than last year's total of $260,996.36, when 365 cases were relieved.

The largest contribution was for $1,000, received from "E. H. H." Another contributor sent $1,000 anonymously, $750 of it for the Neediest Cases, to be recorded as "In Memory of S. L., Dec. 12." The remaining $250 was designated for the United Jewish Aid Societies of Brooklyn. This was forwarded to the society.

The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick sent a large contribution yesterday with the following letter:

The Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in the City of New York.

Dec. 14, 1926.

Hundred Neediest Cases:

By direction of the Committee of Charity of this society I am forwarding herewith Treasurer's check for $600 for this great work which you are doing. Please credit this amount as follows:

Charity Organization Society......$200
Catholic Charities..........200
N. Y. Association Improving Condition of the Poor..........200

Yours very truly,
NICHOLAS J. BARRETT,
Treasurer.

Ninety-seven contributions were received in memory of dear ones.

"I am enclosing one dollar," wrote "A Cripple," "which I wish to be given to the crippled boy of Case 47. Having been a victim of infantile paralysis in 1916 myself, and having had to be on crutches with my legs in braces since that time, I realize how worthy it is to help this boy."

From an Unusual Source.

Department of Education,
Evander Childs High School.
Dec. 15, 1926.

Hundred Neediest Cases:

I am enclosing herewith check for $30 from the Lost and Found Bureau of the Evander Childs High School for Case 17.

This money is collected from careless students who lose their possessions and who are asked to pay a nickel when they claim their property. One of the senior boys was asked to read your list of cases and select one that especially appealed to him as suitable for school children to help. The six little boys (with a widowed mother), all pupils in our public schools, seemed to him especially appealing. I therefore take great pleasure in turning this money over to that case. Very truly yours,

ALICE G. VAN SANTVOORD,
In Charge of Bureau.

Other large contributions were George L. Bourne, $200; Abraham & Co., $300; S. C. Thompson, $250; Georgine H. Thomas, $200; A. M. Putney, $200, and C. W. S., $200.

Among contributors of $100 were M. L. Malevinsky, Thomas A. Buckner, Mrs. A. M. Goebel, Gertrude A. Helwig, Bertram A. Stroock, Sigsbee Graham, Mrs. Grace G. Etherington, S. Wilbur Corman, Vernon Lynch and "Jim" Merrill, A. Scudder, Mrs. C. V. Bourne, Billy Bourne, Henrietta Rawlster, Irene and Philip Steckler Jr., E. D. and F. W. Stehr and Leila L. Thompson.

No Cost to Administer Fund.

Contributions purchase the necessities of life for the most afflicted and destitute families in New York. Every cent is used for the family, no deduction for expenses of any kind being made in connection with the administration of the fund. All the immediate needs of the family are met. Every effort is made to insure it a better future.

Contributions designated for specific cases are used for those cases. When the full amount required for any one case has been received, however, the excess benefits families whose needs have not been met. When no specific case is designated the contribution is placed in a general fund, which provides first for the cases that do not receive the full amount asked. After the first 100 cases have been taken care of, further contributions are used for additional needy cases. Last year 265 additional cases were thus provided for.

M. L. Malevinsky—Will you please divide the enclosed check equally between the six organizations on behalf of whom you are appealing. To one who knows the tragedy of illness, the difficulty of securing intelligent medical direction, the helplessness of the average individual in the face of trial, the pangs of poverty, your work appeals strongly. Then, too, you are spreading the current of cooperation among all classes and creeds.

Office Staffs Send Help.

Office Employes—Enclosed please find money order for $12. It is with pleasure that the office employes of E. Greenfield's Sons have endeavored to help the worthy work you are carrying on. We regret that the amount is not larger, but inasmuch as we have many calls for help at this time, we try to donate to each worthy cause.

The Staff—In sympathy with your splendid plan to bring cheer to the unfortunate ones, please accept the attached donation of $35 from the staff of the Fifth Avenue office of Thomas Cook & Son.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Clark, Allentown, Pa.—Please apply the enclosed amount to the case which seems the least provided for among the Hundred Neediest Cases. They are all so pathetic it is difficult to designate any one in particular.

Mrs. Emily Rothmann—My husband, William J. Rothmann, who was one of the contributors to the Hundred Neediest Cases for some time, has passed on during the past year, but before he died he asked me not to forget the Neediest Cases at Christmas, so I am sending this donation in His name who said, "Help one another."

F. Margaret Thacher, Providence, R. I.—Enclosed check for $5 in memory of Elizabeth Horne. I should be glad to have it applied to some old person.

Hewitt H. Howland—The number of the case has escaped my memory, but I cannot forget the old couple living in dread of separation. Will you kindly apply this small contribution to the relief of their pitiful necessities, in the hope that they may live out together what of life is left to them.

Ysabel Bodman—Will you kindly apply this check as you see best? I leave it to your discretion, as I find it impossible to choose between the different kinds of misery. I only hope it will go a long ways toward alleviating a part of the distress.

E. P. F.—This is noble work and I feel confident will meet the success so well deserved.

Duncairn, Pa.—The noble work in behalf of the Hundred Neediest deserves the support of those who wish to experience the joy and thrill that comes to those who lend a hand in such work.

Helping a Worthy Cause.

Georgine H. Thomas—It is always with fresh admiration that I am sending my contribution to that noble appeal for the Hundred Neediest Cases Fund. It is the most admirable and practical way of reaching those who are in the most terrible need of help, those who are too proud to beg and run the risk of starving in the midst of plenty.

Robert and Aline Greenberg—Last year about this time I sent you a dollar for the Hundred Neediest Cases. This year my little sister, Aline, is grown up and adds her dollar to it.

C. A. Cool—Please accept this $5 for the Hundred Neediest Cases. Would like it applied to Case 19 for the old grandmother who is all alone. I only wish I could send more.

Fred C. Mabee—Please accept the enclosed post office order for $3 from our family. As our youngest son, 5 years old, said, "We are glad to share our small amount of money with those who have even less."

Mrs. Henry Loomis Nelson, Montgomery, Ala.—I enclose my check for $10 with the wish that it were a hundred times as great. The fund is a wonderful charity and I rejoice to know that its activities increase so overwhelmingly from year to year. I think I would like my small contribution to go toward helping some aged and infirm person, because it seems to me that the old and feeble make a less forceful appeal to the public imagination, especially at Christmas time, than the infants and young children.

E. D. and F. W. Stehr—The public owes a debt of gratitude for the inauguration of this wonderful charity movement.

F. Maude Parkinson, Saratoga Springs—The enclosed small contribution is sent with best wishes for Case 50, "In Loving Memory of Casimir," and hopes that this worthy cause may go way over the top.

Mrs. W. C. Kaufman—I want to have a small part in this magnificent work you are doing. I have been in comfortable circumstances and have been blessed with health during the past year, and I want to help some one less fortunate than I. I have tried to pick out a case for my contribution, but they are all so appealing that I cannot do so.

A Privilege to Help.

Mrs. Marian M. Treadwell—Enclosed please find my contribution to this noble cause. It is a real privilege to be allowed to help ever so little and you may use the enclosed amount wherever it will do the most good. It is with my best wishes for the success of this wonderful work.

Mrs. W. Roscoe Bonsal, Lenox, Mass.—Enclosed is my check for $50 to be used as you wish for one of the Hundred Neediest Cases. I congratulate you on this wonderful work and wish you the greatest success.

Betty Fromm, 3,657 Broadway—I have been saving up this money for a case. Part was given to me for my good report card this year and I would like to give it to Case 28. I am 8 years old. I am in Class 3A rapid, and I would be very glad if I could help this little girl and her mother.

Olga Bauer—In memory of my dear beloved mother I send this bit to be used for Case 96 with the sincere hope that the mother and her seven children may not be forced to part.

Lillian S. Pomeroy.—The enclosed check is sent in memory of Dorothy Vivian Hartman. Kindly put it toward Case 8 or any other case not provided for. This small contribution always makes my own Christmas happier and I feel sure that my friend, in whose memory it is sent, would be glad to know that some one in the city she loved so well was being made happier because of a thought of her.

George W. Winger, Springfield, O.—I hand you my check for $10 to be applied as your judgment would suggest in relieving the distress of the poor in your city. This is such commendable work that, if the appeal did not strike home to our hearts, the disposition to encourage you in the good work would call forth a response.

St. Paul's, Calicoon Centre, N. Y.—Enclosed please find check for $5. This is "birthday money" from the St. Paul's Sunday School.

Mrs. W. K.—My little daughter Evelyn Byrd Kobbé has saved the amount of the enclosed check which she wishes applied to Case 96. If this case has been taken care of, please use the money for any other, as they are all so very worthy.

A. G. E.—A. G. E. is sending a very small sum for the Neediest Cases and would like her contribution to go to the little girl and the gaunt dog "whose eyes have a heart-breaking look." It is very little. Would it were many times more, but all I can give now to such a fine work.

Gloria and Edwin Fox—I read your paper about the many poor children and I wish to send them $10 from my brother Edwin and myself.

D. B. C., Providence, R. I.—Enclosed please find $1 to help swell the fund just a little bit. I wish that I could send more, but am afraid that it is impossible this year. May the fund "go over the top," so as to brighten the lives of our unfortunate brethren.

Mrs. Louis H. Blackman—I enclose check for $60 for the Hundred Neediest Cases to be used where most needed. This is my seventh annual Christmas contribution.

The following contributions have been received: Michael Winburn, $100; Mrs. William Archer Purington, $20; Lockwood Barr, $10; Julia Lathers, $15; Mrs. Madeleine A. Cohn, $30. These were incorrectly acknowledged in previous lists.

Girl's Wages of $14 a Week Support This Needy Family

CASE 40.—A Young Waitress Struggling to Support a Family of Seven.

While her father was well, Mabel took piano lessons and looked forward to becoming a professional musician. Her teacher said that the girl's talent and industry made the hope possible. But now her father is in a hospital, a chronic sufferer from heart trouble. Forsaking her dreams, Mabel has given up music and is working as a waitress for $14 a week. She is the sole support of her mother and five small sisters and brothers. They all live in two rooms close to the waterfront in Erie Basin, surrounded by coal yards and shipyards, the tenement an ancient structure long ago abandoned to the very poor. Three of the children should have constant medical attention.

Amount needed, $950.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. (Telephone Triangle 0710.)

The following are cases whose needs have not been met by designated contributions:

CASE 47.

Her Husband Is Dying and Her Son Is Paralyzed.

Victor had infantile paralysis when he was 9 months old. He is 9 years old now and is almost totally paralyzed on the left side. He has just enough control over his left foot to brace it at an odd angle as he shuffles along. He cannot play with the other boys. But Victor's future is only one of the problems of his family. His father, a machinist, is dying in a tuberculosis hospital. Donald, 7, suffered a broken arm and is just recovering. The mother, an energetic woman, has tried to provide for them by opening a candy booth with the help of a distant relative. She works night and day, but her earnings can be reckoned in pennies. As a last resort, when everything else failed, she appealed for charity.

Amount needed, $300.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. (Telephone Triangle 0710.)

CASE 91.

With Their Father in Prison, Eight Are Left in Distress.

Frederick is in an ungraded class. He is 15, but has a mentality of 8. He is so tall, thin and white and has such flaming red hair that they call him "Candles" at school. Because he is so backward it will be years before he has the education required by law and can go to work. His father is in prison and may be removed to an insane asylum. At home are his mother and his six younger brothers and sisters. There are only two beds in the house. The mother and four sisters sleep in one, lying crosswise. The three boys sleep in the folding bed in the kitchen, which is closed in daytime to serve as a shelf. The kitchen is the mother's workshop; there she sews on coats which she hauls to and from the factory in a baby carriage. She earns $8 a week. They are without food, clothes, furniture and necessities of every kind.

Amount needed, $1,250.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. (Telephone Triangle 0710.)

CASE 44.

A Neglected Child of 3 Who Cannot Walk or Talk.

Jane, going on 3 years, cannot walk or talk yet. She moaned almost constantly for months. She is improving a little now and has strength enough to sit in a chair and rock from side to side. Physicians do not understand her condition, but know that it comes from past neglect and malnutrition. Her mother died when she was born. Her father became crippled by infantile paralysis. Her grandmother, a very aged woman, did her best, but she could not give the sickly child proper attention. Jane should have nourishing food, sunshine and constant care.

Amount needed, $325.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the State Charities Aid Association, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 1454.)

CASE 41.

A Stricken Father, an Ill Mother and Four Children.

When Buckley had a stroke, in June, his wife had to become the breadwinner. She had one special talent, that of being a good mother. She was able to capitalize it. She found work in a day nursery, where she earns $40 a month. She left her well-trained little daughters, Katherine, 14, and Elsie, 13, in charge of the home. They do the housework and look after their invalid father and after Joan and Frankie, 8 and 10. They managed to get along during the Summer, when there was no fuel to buy. But early in the Fall the mother was taken sick and had to go to the hospital. She is at home again, but is forbidden to work for two months. Their plight is extremely serious.

Amount needed, $700.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

CASE 90.

A Widow Who Cannot Earn Half Enough for Her Two Daughters.

They had saved for years. The father thought he saw a chance to improve their condition and he put all the money into a trucking business. A few weeks later he died of heart disease. When his affairs were wound up the widow found herself penniless. She has taken up sewing to support herself and the two children, Susan, 8, and Ellen, 6. But she has been able so far to earn less than half of what is necessary. She must have help.

Amount needed, $590.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Charity Organization Society, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 4066.)

CASE 89.

A Family of Five, in Want After the Death of the Father.

He had been a chef, earning $75 a week, until sickness compelled him to stop work. His savings were used up during his long illness, which ended in his death from dropsy. A week after his death the widow was taken to a hospital for a second operation for cancer. Four children were left at home: Cordelia, 12; Nathan, 9; Pauline, 7; Helen, 2. Unless help comes they will have to be removed to institutions.

Amount needed, $840.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

CASE 84.

Two Boy Workers Find Their Burden Too Heavy.

"They are starving and about to be dispossessed," wrote a neighbor. The visitor found it to be true. George, 18, and Milton, 16, had gone to work as office boys when their father died, but they cannot earn enough for themselves, their mother and the three younger children—Alexander, 14; Charles, 12, and Sophie, 7. George and his mother are both under medical care for extreme anemia.

Amount needed, $725.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, 114 Fifth Avenue. (Telephone Ashland 5380.)

CASE 74.

Two Helpless Children Waiting for Homes and Parents.

It was once a happy home for the seven children. Then the father grew ill of cancer and died. The mother worked day and night until lung hemorrhages began. She was sent away to a sanatorium, from which she never returned. The five older children have been provided for. The younger ones, Carter and Boyd, 4 and 6, are on the "waiting list" for adoption. They are very much run down and must have months of good care.

Amount needed, $700.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the State Charities Aid Association, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 1454.)

CASE 38.

Want May Separate This Mother and Her 8-Year-Old Daughter.

Mrs. Calder and her 8-year-old daughter, Virginia, live in a single room furnished with only a bed and a chair. They are allowed to cook on the kitchen stove of a family downstairs. Mrs. Calder has a weak heart. She supports herself and Virginia by fashioning tassels, lamp shades and silk flowers at home. They go to bed early to save light, and they eat almost nothing. The mother's heart condition makes it steadily more difficult for her to work at all. It has been suggested that she may have to give up Virginia, who is her only comfort and all that she lives for. "I can't give her up," says the mother. "I will work harder." But unless outside help comes the two must part.

Amount needed, $500.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the State Charities Aid Association, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 1454.)

CASE 58.

Aged and Crippled, He Strains to Support a Feebler One.

A nurse at a clinic who was treating a man of 64 for arthritis found him to be suffering more from lack of nourishment than from the disease. At her request a visitor went to his home. She found him living with an aunt who was 80, blind in one eye and very feeble. For several days they had had nothing to eat except soup made from a ham bone which a neighbor had given them. He had earned his living as a carpenter until arthritis crippled his hands. A kind-hearted man, he had taken care of his old aunt for thirty years. His work had long been intermittent because of his illness. Recently it had stopped altogether, and they were literally starving when their plight was discovered. He is able to earn a little money at present cutting out tiny wooden elephants, lions and giraffes for Noah's arks. He earns $3.85 a week when the arthritis will let him, but that is hardly a third of what they require to keep alive and to keep together.

Amount needed, $700.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

Checks should be made payable to the "Hundred Neediest Cases Fund." Contributions may be sent to The New York Times, Times Square, New York City, or to the following organizations which present the cases:

Rogers 'Working Reasonable,' Compared With the Chorus

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Co.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 15.—Miss Marion Talley wouldn't sing 'cause she didn't get her three thousand. That just reminds me, Pittsburgh hasn't handed me my one-hundred-dollar bill for tonight yet, and there won't be a Vare vote-buying joke told till I get the hundred in my paws. If New Rochelle wants opera for the first time and Pittsburgh wants high-brow humor for the first time, let 'em dig up for it.

Yours for a mixture of commerce and art. WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—One of our Follies chorus girls got $50,000 out of Pittsburgh last week. I think Marion and I are working reasonable.

'GENTLEMAN' CROOK BOASTS OF CRIME

HE IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Police Fail to Confirm Avowed Plan to Rob Queen Marie and Rockefellers.

An imposing English crook, with a high forehead and high ambitions, fell into the hands of the police early yesterday morning and by his capture Chief Inspector John Coughlin believes there have been cleared up a number of cases involving a mysterious stranger who sought entrance at night to east side apartments, usually through a window. The intruder succeeded in most cases in frightening women and being himself frightened away empty handed.

The man is Jo Alderson, 27 years old, six feet one in height and of medium weight, with a somewhat classical cast of countenance and an English accent which served to corroborate his statement that he has been in this country only twelve weeks. He admitted being convicted of a burglary in England and last night his fingerprint classifications were cabled to Scotland Yard so that his record there may be available today. He has no record here.

Alderson talked freely with the police and his loquacity led to reports that he had planned to rob the Queen of Rumania and the home of John D. Rockefeller. But the police said there was nothing to corroborate these statements of Alderson.

Alderson jimmied a window of the apartment of Samuel Frothingham at 1,326 Madison Avenue early yesterday morning, entered the place, picked up jewelry and then was discovered. He jumped out the window, more than ten feet above the area paving and that, for the nonce, was the last seen of him.

Found Behind a Barrel.

The woman who discovered the intruder roused the house and the telephone operator, and a squad of detectives soon arrived from the East 104th Street Station. In the party were Detectives Kent, Lane, Carroll and Drago and they advanced in pairs into the areaway. Alderson was spotted trying to hide behind a barrel and at the command raised his hands so far that Mr. Frothingham's gold cigarette case fell out of his lower waistcoat pocket.

The police say they also found a bracelet set with fifty small diamonds and worth about $1,500, a diamond ring, a gold matchcase and a gold barpin. Alderson, who made no protest, was locked up and appeared later at the line-up at Police Headquarters.

Alderson told Inspector Coughlin that in London he was known better as Alderson Marks, although his name was Alderson, and he had worked in the English metropolis, he said, as a "reception clerk" in hotels. His proper occupation he said was that of a "tea taster." He has traveled, having been in Australia and Egypt.

He admitted he had been convicted of a burglary at Gosport, outside London, and that through influence he received a suspended sentence, being placed on parole for two years. He found it boresome to report regularly, however, so he came to America. Since then he has done three "jobs," Inspector Coughlin says. He took an overcoat from a department store in which he worked for a while and the management objected, so he left the place. He has been living in a room at 2,441 Crescent Avenue, Astoria, but a search of the room disclosed nothing.

Alderson admitted the overcoat he was wearing was not his. The initials in the hat, a costly tan fedora were "W. D. M." There had been a name in the overcoat but he had torn it out. The first name, he remembered was "Carl," but he had totally forgotten the last name of the club member who had owned the coat. He said that he had gone into a Fifth Avenue club to listen to the radio report of the Army-Navy football game and, coming out, had brought the hat and overcoat with him.

Visited Biltmore, He Says.

The man said he had done one job at the Hotel Biltmore two weeks ago, getting to a window ledge from the fire escape in the tenth floor and later leaving the hotel with $120 in cash and $200 in jewelry. At a house on a side street off Park Avenue he had taken three suits of clothes and a gray overcoat and a small bag. He could not remember the number of the street or the number of the house.

In Harlem Court, nothwithstanding his narrative of accomplishments, Alderson pleaded not guilty and was held by Magistrate Corrigan for the Grand Jury without bail. The police figured later that he had admitted about a dozen attempts at burglary, and about half a dozen persons were taken to the 104th Street Station to try and identify him. They all failed.

However, the police believe they have the man who has occasioned a large number of complaints on the East Side, uptown, in the last four or five weeks. In several reported instances the intending burglar has jumped from a window or a fire escape, to an area, and disappeared. There has been a sharp watch kept around Park and Madison Avenues for the man.

Alderson was taken to Brooklyn and looked over by Mrs. O'Donahue of 24 Prospect Park West, victim of the so-called "oath" burglar. The woman said he was not the thief who robbed her of more than $9,000 in jewels early Saturday morning.

$430,000,000 PAID ON INCOME TAXES

INCREASE FOR FISCAL YEAR

1926 Total of $2,190,000,000 in Federal Levy Receipts Is a Gain of $208,000,000.

DEBT RECEIPTS $96,500,000

Eight Nations Remit on Interest and Principal—Treasury Retires $450,000,000 in Certificates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—An estimate was made at the Treasury today that income taxes, corporation and personal, for the month, including the quarterly instalment due Dec. 15, would reach at least $430,000,000, or about $75,000,000 more than was collected in December, 1925. Receipts of the same classes of taxes in September, another quarterly payment month, totaled $442,000,000 as compared with $361,000,000 for September, 1925.

While all of the operations involved did not take place today, receipts and disbursements of the Treasury, which are dated as of Dec. 15, aggregate more than $1,000,000,000.

The receipts include the taxes collectible of $430,000,000, payments by foreign nations of about $96,500,000 in interest and principal on their war debts and receipts from the distribution of $339,000,000 in new short term certificates.

The chief expenditure item is represented by the retirement of about $450,000,000 in short term certificates maturing on Dec. 15.

The actual income taxes received to date have come up to the best expectations of the officials and they believe that the total for the four quarters of the fiscal year ending on June 30, 1926, will be at least $2,190,000,000, as has been estimated. This would be an increase of approximately $208,000,000 over the similar receipts for the preceding fiscal year.

Income tax receipts for the first six months of the fiscal year 1927, July 1 to Dec. 31, 1926, it is now estimated will exceed the actual receipts for the same months of the fiscal year 1926 by about $150,000,000.

The Treasury announced today the receipt of payments amounting to $96,518,417.98 from eight foreign Governments under the agreements for the liquidation of their war-time indebtedness. The payments were described as follows:

Great Britain—The eighth semi-annual payment of interest, $67,950,000, and the fourth annual instalment of principal, $25,000,000. The total of $92,950,000 was paid in 3½ per cent. Treasury certificates of indebtedness, Series TD 1926, which have been canceled and retired and the public debt reduced accordingly.

Belgium—Third semi-annual payment of interest on the post-armistice funded indebtedness, $1,000,000, was made in cash.

Czechoslovakia—The third semi-annual instalment of principal, $1,500,000, was made in cash.

Esthonia—Fifty thousand dollars in cash on account of the second semi-annual payment. The balance will be funded in accordance with the option given in the debt settlement.

Finland—The eighth semi-annual payment of interest, $132,945, and the fourth annual instalment of principal, $48,000. The total of $180,945 was made in cash.

Hungary—The sixth semi-annual payment of interest, $28,442.98, and the third annual instalment of principal, $10,230, the total of $38,672.98 being paid in cash. Of the payment on principal $230 was on account of principal of the temporary bonds given on June 15 and Dec. 15, 1924, and June 15, 1925, for one-half the interest accruing on those dates on the bonds originally issued under the debt settlement.

Lithuania—The fifth semi-annual payment of interest except that part to be funded. The payment of $46,800 was made in cash. The remainder of the interest, amounting to $44,575, will be funded in accordance with the option given in the debt settlement.

Poland—The fourth payment, $750,000, was made in cash. The remainder will be funded in accordance with the option given in the debt settlement.

DOUBTS FATHER WED COOK.

John B. Ditmars Testifies in Fight for $100,000 Estate.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 15.—Two sisters and a son of the late John B. Ditmars, powder manufacturer, petitioned Judge Henry Ware, in Orphans' Court here today, to set aside the powder maker's will, which leaves his $100,000 estate in trust to the family's former cook, who is referred to in the will as "Mrs. Catherine Ditmars." The three petitioners got $500 each.

John B. Ditmars of New York, the son, testified today that his father and mother had separated many years ago and later were divorced.

"I went to see my father and found him living with our former cook, Kitty Gallagher, who now claims to be his widow," he said. "I don't believe father ever married again."

The elder Ditmars, who died in Haddon Heights a year ago, left $500 each also to Mrs. Gladys Reed of New York and Mrs. Catherine C. Walford of South Pasadena, Fla., sisters, who are plaintiffs with their nephew.

150 CHILDREN REVEL AT THE HIPPODROME

Out of the tenements of the lower east side to the door of the Beekman Street Hospital they came yesterday noon—150 eager children for a treat at the Hippodrome promised by E. F. Albee and the social service of the hospital. And although each child had been a patient at some time during the year, the net impression gained from the crowd that crammed into two Fifth Avenue buses was one of sprawling, bubbling health.

The children were excitedly noisy. In fact, so much so that the doorman at the Hippodrome made ready to receive them when they were two blocks away. Once at the theatre, three-fourths of the children tumbled into seats to watch a movie depicting the actions of doughboys in France. The rest dashed for Toyland, where the Keith-Albee elephants, Mary and Jane, were eating hay, oblivious of the coming attention.

Throughout the afternoon Toyland vied with the regular entertainment as a lodestone. A banty rooster in Toyland, erstwhile dignified and silent, conceived an inferiority complex and started crowing. It was gently ignored in favor of the more interesting animals, which included a wooden rocking horse.

Upstairs the children giggled at Ed and Tom Hickey, two elegant gentlemen; gaped at the elegancies of "Les Folies Rouges" and fondly adopted Felix, the Aesop Film Fable cat. During the performance the two social service workers in charge of the youngsters, the Misses Edna Pfleiderer and Eugenie Weiss, rested to save their breaths for the last part of their task.

The performance was over at 5 o'clock. The youngsters were gathered together and piled again into the buses. And then, through the snowstorm, back to the tenements, convoyed by two policemen on motorcycles.

SELIGMANS GIVE A DINNER.

A Musicale Follows at Their New York Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman, who are leaving for Casa Mia, their villa at Palm Beach, on Jan. 6, gave a dinner last night at their home, 30 West Fifty-sixth Street. A musical program followed, the soloists being Ernesto Vallejo, violinist, a protégé of the Philippine Government, and Mme. Antoinette Huested, contralto.

A few extra guests came for the music. Among those at the dinner, which was served at two tables, were Rear Admiral and Mrs. Charles P. Plunkett, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damrosch, Colonel Thomas H. Birch, former American Minister to Portugal, and Mrs. Birch; Mr. and Mrs. John Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lewisohn, Prince and Princess Georges Matchabelli, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte and Miss Beatrice Pratt.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Severo Mallet-Prevost, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Kerrigan, Miss Madeleine Liebert, Mrs. George Beer, Miss Katherine van Heukelom, Mrs. Vasser Hough, Gaston Liebert of the French Diplomatic Service, Count Sala, Baron Moeller, Count Tarnowski, Monroe Douglas Robinson, Frederick Strauss, Judge Richard Lydon, Captain F. M. Guardabasi and Andres de Segurola.

Larchmont Plans Christmas Fete.

The community Christmas tree in the Station Park, Larchmont, which has been donated by the Garden Club, will be formally presented on Christmas Eve at 7:30, Mrs. Louis James Lucas, Publicity Chairman of the club, announced yesterday. The Woman's Club, the Men's Club, the Choral Society and the Lions Club are cooperating in a community celebration on the occasion of lighting the tree. Christmas carols will be sung, with about seventy members of the Choral Society as leaders. The ceremony will be brief to enable the children of the community to participate.

CAPT. LANSDOWNE'S WIDOW TO REWED

Wife of Late Officer Who Died in Shenandoah Wreck, Sept., 1925, to Marry Next Spring.

FIANCE JOHN CASWELL JR.

He Fought in War and Was Made a Lieutenant—Couple, Who Met Last Fall, to Live in New York.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of Captain Zachary Lansdowne, who was killed in the wreck of the naval dirigible Shenandoah on Sept. 3, 1925, will re-marry in the Spring of 1927. Her engagement to John Caswell Jr. of New York and Boston was announced today by Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Creed Fulton Cox of Fort Bragg, N. C.

The wedding will take place in Washington at the home of Mrs. Lansdowne's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. William Beverly Mason, 1,738 M Street, Washington, where Mrs. Lansdowne was staying at the time she was interviewed by Captain Paul Foley of the Navy, whose visit resulted in her appearance as a witness before the Naval Court of Inquiry.

Mrs. Cox is the mother of Mrs. Lansdowne, who was formerly Margret Ross of Warrenton, Va. Mrs. Lansdowne met Mr. Caswell during a house party at Asheville, N. C., last Fall. The couple will go to Europe on their wedding trip and live in New York.

Mr. Caswell received an A. B. "war degree" at Harvard in 1920. Entering the A. E. F. as a sergeant, he returned from France a First Lieutenant in the 101st Engineers. He fought in the front line at all the final engagements of the American campaign.

He is a member of the University, Tennis and Racquet, and Essex County Clubs and is a Mayflower descendant, living at 122 East Fifty-first Street, New York.

Mrs. Lansdowne married her late husband in 1921, following her début in Washington, and was with him in Germany during 1922 and 1923 while he was American Naval Attaché at Berlin. Their daughter, Peggy, now 4 years old, was born in Germany and lives with her mother here, at 1,740 M Street. Captain Lansdowne's son by his first marriage, Mackie, 11 years old, lives with grandparents in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Lansdowne achieved national prominence during the Navy Department's investigation of the Shenandoah disaster, when she testified in defense of the name of her husband, who, she said, had advised against making the flight in which the dirigible was wrecked. Her testimony also included the sensational charge that a naval official had asked her to give "canned" evidence. No court exonerated the official in question of this charge.

Mrs. Lansdowne is a linguist, an accomplished horsewoman and a popular member of the junior naval set in Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis.

Three Games Launch Amateur Hockey Season at Garden

AMATEUR HOCKEY OPENS AT GARDEN

3,000 See New League Launched With Benefit for Press and Sports Boys.

ST. NICKS TAKE OPENER

Knickerbockers and Crescent A. C. Teams Also Win—Mayor Walker Presents Trophy.

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

The new Metropolitan Hockey League opened its season at Madison Square Garden last night before a crowd of 3,000 persons when a triple-header was played for the benefit of the press and sports boys of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The garden was handsomely decorated for the occasion and there was plenty of hockey for everybody, the last game, between the Crescent A. C. and Seventh Regiment, not being finished until after midnight.

It was one of those colorful evenings, the members of the Seventh Regiment, in uniform, assisted by its band, being on hand to cheer on the regimental hockey team, the Yonkers kilty there to render real Scottish airs and Mayor Walker dropping in to watch the games from a box and present the championship trophy to the new league.

The first game, between St. Nicholas and the new Canadian Club sextet, was won by the St. Nicks, 1–0; the Knickerbocker Hockey Club defeated its old rival, the New York A. C., by 5 to 2, and the Crescents beat the Seventh Regiment.

There was no scoring in the first period of the first game, between the St. Nicks and the new sextet representing the Canadian Club of New York. The pace was slow while the players warmed up, most of the color being furnished by the Canadian Club's uniforms, white with green stripes with a maple leaf on the chest.

There was some rough checking and Tervin of the Canadians and Hallock and Carson of the St. Nicks, were put off for roughing. Hallock, first defense for the St. Nicholas team, was struck in the mouth by a hard-driven disk and had to leave the ice.

The pace was somewhat brisker in the second period, and in a heavy melee by the St. Nicks half a dozen men were down in front of the Canadian net, but no goal resulted from the scramble.

Then Reid and Watkins carried the disk down well for the St. Nicks, and the latter scored the first tally of the game on a hard shot from in front of the net. Watkins counted in 11 minutes 11 seconds of play.

The Canadians rallied hard as the period drew to a close, but they could not jam the disk in for the tying score, and the St. Nicks won.

Knicks and N. Y. A. C. Clash.

The clash between those torrid rivals, the Knickerbockers and the New York A. C., started in at a brisk clip, with plenty of rough checking and high rush up and down the ice. Webster, New York A. C. defense man, nearly got away and, taking the rubber down alone, scored on a nice shot from in front of the net in 6:21.

The rough-riding Knicks soon tied up the score. Turk Smith dodged cleverly through the entire Winged Foot team and passed to Gagne, who easily beat Price with the shot. The tally was made in 8:51.

With only a minute of the first period to go, Sutton flashed down the ice and scored another for New York A. C. on an angle shot that trickled through Lewis's skates, making the count 3 to 1 in favor of the Winged Footers. The goal was made in 19:02.

The Knickerbocker-New York A. C. second period began at a rough clip and Towne of New York and Gillespie of the Knicks were soon put off for roughing. Then Gagne tied up the count for the Knickerbockers by scooping in the disk on a lucky shot from a face-off thirty feet in front of the New York net. The goal was made in 8:05.

The Knicks attacked strongly and were soon out in front with three more tallies in quick succession. Gillespie scored twice, in 8:05 and 8:26. Hughes put in the third in 10:26. New York rallied desperately, but the game ended without further scoring, and the final count was Knickerbockers 5, New York A. C. 2.

The Crescent A. C. showed some good teamwork in the first period of its game against the new Seventh Regiment sextet, the third contest on the program.

Thompson Scores Twice.

Watson Thompson was full of running and scored twice for the New Moon outfit, counting in 7:22 and again in 9:44. The regimental skaters could not tie it up and the period ended with the Crescents ahead, 2–0.

Thompson kept right on going in the second period and scored another for the Crescents in 9:50 with Every also counting for the New Moons in 14:32.

The military skaters could not break through and the game ended with the count Crescents 4, Seventh Regiment 0. The line-ups:

Tonight's Schedule.
Boston vs. Canadiens, at Montreal.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Chicago Black Hawks advanced to within one point of first place in the American Division of the National Hockey League tonight, when they swamped the New York Rangers, 6 to 2. At no time did the Rangers have a chance against the Black Hawks, who scored 3 goals to the visitors' 1 in the opening period.

The Rangers seemed unable to get started on the small Coliseum rink and were outclassed in every department of the game. Mickey Mackay's goal in the third period was the feature of the game, while Bill Cook starred for the Rangers, scoring both of the visitors' goals and playing well throughout the entire game.

Hawks First to Score.

Irvin was the first to score for the Black Hawks when he took a pass from Mackay and shot past Winkler in 4:40. Hay added another marker for Chicago following a pretty piece of skating by Cully Wilson, who worked the disk through the entire Ranger team and then passed to Hay directly in front of the net, the latter scoring in 10:05.

Bill Cook for the Rangers took the rubber out of a mixup in front of the Black Hawk goal and scored the only New York goal of the period a minute later. Mackay, however, added a third goal for the Hawks when Irvin dug the disk out of a jam near the Ranger goal and passed to Mackay, who drove it into the visitors' net in 1:20.

The Black Hawks ran away from the Rangers in the second period. Chabot was sent in at the start of the period, but Chicago scored twice. Babe Dye sent one of his rifle shots into the net from the right side of the rink and about thirty feet out in 6:15. Irvin then scored the Hawks' fifth goal in 12:30 from directly in front of the goal, following a pass from Rabbit McVeigh.

Mackay Adds Another.

Mickey Mackay scored Chicago's sixth goal in the third period, skating through the entire Ranger team and driving past Chabot in 6:06. It was the greatest play of the game. Using four men on the attack, the Rangers scored their second goal of the game when Bill Cook jockeyed Lehman out of position and drove into the net in 12:15 after a pass from Johnson.

AMATEURS TO BOX IN GARDEN TONIGHT

Met. A. A. U. Will Hold Bouts in Eight Classes—Toveriski at 102d Medical Armory.

Many of the district's foremost amateur boxers are scheduled to compete in the Metropolitan A. A. U.'s one-night tournament which will be held tonight in Madison Square Garden, with bouts in the eight classes from flyweight to heavyweight. Three bouts will be held in each class and it is also planned to stage several special contests. One of the largest crowds ever to witness an amateur tournament is expected to view the matches.

The welterweight division is expected to produce the most exciting boxing. In this class the entries include John Reinberger, Yonkers, who was former navy titleholder; Joe Irene, Holy Name Club; Juan Mathias, Joe LaSalle, Roy Flowers and Oscar Ryndgren. The middleweight division has attracted entries from Eddie Herbst, former national junior champion; James Morris, Harry Carlson and Charles Adams. In the heavyweight class Rosario Boutot, New York State champion, and Douglas D. Simpson, formerly of Cambridge University, are among the entries. The first bout is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

A card of six six-round bouts is scheduled for tonight at the 102d Medical Regiment Armory. The principals will be Alex Toveriski vs. Rhoma Halsell, George Ward vs. Sailor Grande, Kid Rash vs. Steve Jennings, Frankie Konchina vs. Jack Tilyou, Kid Keyes vs. Lucas Rayes, Willie Jackson vs. Willie Hohn.

JOHNSON RESTORED TO FORMER POWER

American League Owners Vote to Return Their President to Advisory Board.

FAVOR APRIL 12 OPENING

Committee Not to See Landis Until Heydler Men Reach Chicago Today for Joint Meeting.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP).—The American League today restored President Ban Johnson to the full power and authority which the club owners took from him two years ago at the behest of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Seven of the eight club owners elected Johnson to the Major League Advisory Board, which both the big leagues are prepared to insist upon reviving. Two years ago, the American League magnates, with the exception of Phil Ball of St. Louis, voted a strong recommendation of the Commissioner and an equally strong criticism of Johnson. Today all the club owners, except those of the Chicago White Sox, restored Johnson to full sway.

Since the time of the Landis endorsement, when Frank Navin of Detroit replaced Johnson on the Advisory Board, the Commissioner has taken no notice of the two major league representatives who were supposed to counsel him on league matters. The National League representative has been President John Heydler throughout the Commissioner's seven-year term.

Landis Again Endorsed.

In adopting the Johnson resolution, the club owners repeated their endorsement of Landis for another seven-year term, but no mention was made of an increase in salary. Ball was the club owner who offered today's Landis resolution and E. S. Barnard of Cleveland seconded it.

Then Clarke Griffith of Washington arose to offer the resolution restoring Johnson to the Advisory Board position, and giving him the League's backing in the Landis dispute. Phil Ball seconded the resolution and all the club owners except the representatives of the White Sox gave their assent. Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, was at home indisposed, but his son and his club secretary declined to cast the Sox vote.

Ball also is the prime mover in the league committee appointed yesterday to confer with the Commissioner on restoration of the Advisory Board to full activity. His associates are Barnard and Colonel Jacob Ruppert of New York, but they had made no effort yet to seek the Commissioner, pending the arrival of the National Leaguers tomorrow morning for the joint major league session. The Heydler circuit has a similar committee with a like purpose, and the scene of the conference is expected to be the joint session over which the Commissioner will preside tomorrow.

Landis Remains Secluded.

Efforts to learn the Commissioner's reaction to these moves to share his supreme authority, have been unsuccessful, as he has remained secluded in his hotel with a slight cold.

Until the all-important matter of the renewal of Landis's contract had been threshed out, the player trading market was largely occupied with dickering between new managers and getting terms to be submitted to the club owners after the league business affairs had been settled.

The American Leaguers failed to finish their business sessions tonight, and called another meeting tomorrow morning, to finish work on the numerous proposals for addition to their constitution. One amendment was approved, to give Johnson authority to hold a one-game post-season play off in case of a tie between two teams for the League pennant.

The longer schedule was aproved, opening April 12 and closing Oct. 2, with 154 games, but final decision was left to tomorrow's joint meeting.

In the text of the resolution endorsing Landis for re-election, the American Leaguers passed the initiative to the National League in taking a joint vote on the Commissioner at tomorrow's session.

"Resolved, that the Hon. Kenesaw M. Landis be re-elected as Commissioner of Baseball, upon the termination of his present term," the text said, and League spokesmen indicated that none of the Johnson group would start any discussion of the Commissioner's re-election tomorrow. Landis's present contract expires Nov. 12, 1927, before another regular joint session is due.

National Leaguers Entrain.

With several deals still on the fire the annual business and social gathering of the National League broke up yesterday morning and the delegates entrained for Chicago, where there will be a joint meeting of the major leagues today.

President John A. Heydler expressed great satisfaction with the action of the American League in endorsing Judge Landis and appointing a "steering committee" to function with a similar body from the National League.

Breadon Reported Ready to Trade Hornsby; Giants and Cubs Loom as Leading Bidders

Rogers Hornsby looms as the central figure in one of baseball's biggest prospective deals, it has developed as a result of the National League meeting here, The Associated Press reports.

Unless Hornsby recedes from his contract demands on President Sam Breadon, the star second baseman and manager of the world's champions will be placed on the market next month, according to information which reached the magnates. At least two clubs, the Giants and Cubs, gave indications of opening negotiations for his services.

Neither Breadon nor other club owners would discuss in detail what was characterized as "the most serious split in baseball" as they departed yesterday. Significance, nevertheless, was attached to the fact that Manager John McGraw of the Giants canceled a Twentieth Century Limited reservation to occupy the same Pullman with Breadon on a Pennsylvania train.

It is a matter of common baseball gossip that McGraw and his own second base star, Frank Frisch, have been at loggerheads. The Giants' leader would jump at a chance to replace Frisch with Hornsby, not only as a move to strengthen the club's infield, but also to provide a counter metropolitan attraction to Babe Ruth.

"Breadon and Hornsby are of the type that is hard to bring together," said one man close to the situation. "Both are determined, hard-headed men and the breach between them is wide. Hornsby demands a new contract as manager for three years at a salary said to exceed $50,000. Breadon is willing to raise the pay check to $30,000, but that is as far as he will go. Furthermore, he cannot see a three-year contract."

The disagreement between President and player-manager dates back over a long period and includes other questions than that of salary. One element of the controversy involves Branch Rickey, Hornsby's predecessor as manager and now an officer of the club. Hornsby's contract as a player has one more year to run, but his contract as manager has expired.

TILDEN WILL PLAY IN RIVIERA TENNIS

To Sail Jan. 20 for Busy Court Campaign, It Is Announced in Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—William T. Tilden, former national tennis titleholder, will sail for Europe on Jan. 20 to take part in tournaments on the Riviera and in the Wimbledon championships.

This was officially announced tonight by Paul W. Gibbons, President of the Philadelphia and District and Middle States Lawn Tennis Associations.

According to Gibbons, Tilden will compete in the Metropole, Gallia, Nice, Carlton, Cannes, Monte Carlo and Mentone tournaments and the hard-court championships in Paris.

It is also likely that he will be seen in title events in Germany and Italy before leaving for England for the Wimbledon competition.

"Tilden is in excellent condition for the tour," Gibbons declared last night. "I became convinced that he was ready to assume the burden of regaining his tennis crown when he played in the exhibition matches at the Penn Athletic Club recently."

DUNCAN PRACTICES ON CALIFORNIA LINKS

Scottish Pro Limbers Up in 5-Ball Match—Sanderson and Williams Score 73s.

Special to The New York Times.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 15.—George Duncan of Scotland was among the golf professionals who arrived here today in time to practice over the Del Paso Country Club course, which will be used for the Sacramento $2,500 tournament, starting on Friday.

It was Duncan's first golf workout since his arrival in America, and he contented himself with limbering up. He played a round in a five-ball match with Bobby Cruikshank, Johnny Golden, Tommy Armour and Al Espinosa.

The amateur-professional four-ball competition, scheduled for Friday, will be played tomorrow, according to the latest decision of the Tournament Committee. If this plan is followed the open tournament will consist of eighteen holes Friday, eighteen Saturday and thirty-six on Sunday. The program originally called for thirty-six Saturday and thirty-six on Sunday.

Two of the lowest cards reported today in practice by professionals from the New York district were 73 by Harold Sanderson of Hollywood and the same total by Dan Williams of Shackamaxon.

The Del Paso course is characterized by spacious fairways, which permit considerable roaming off the tees, particularly for hookers. The greens are narrow and deep.

Harry Cooper, winner of the $5,000 Del Monte tournament last Sunday, will not compete, nor will George Von Elm, national amateur champion, nor Leo Diegel. All three returned to Los Angeles after the Del Monte tournament ended.

GOLDBERG DEFEATS MARINO

Wins Decision in Feature Bout at the New Manhattan S. C.

Henny Goldberg, Brooklyn welterweight, pounded out a victory last night over Joe Marino of Staten Island, in their six-round bout, which was the fature at the New Manhattan S. C. Goldberg received the decision after clearly demonstrating his superiority over Marino. The Brooklynite slipped down in the first round, but recovered and went on the offensive. He had Marino groggy at the bell ending the third round and floored the Staten Islander for a count of nine in the fifth session. Goldberg weighed 146 pounds and Marino 148¾ pounds.

In the semi-final of six rounds Phil Tobias of the east side received the decision over Joey Ferrentino, South Brooklyn flyweight. Eddie Goldberg, St. Louis lightweight, carried off the decision over Pete Nebo, Spaniard, in their six-round battle and in the first bout of six rounds Sammy Ferranti, Harlem bantamweight, won the decision over Charlie Caserta of the Bronx.

GIBSON GETS SUBPOENA.

Named Co-defendant With Tunney in Mara's Suit for $18,000.

Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, yesterday was made co-defendant with the world's heavyweight champion in the suit to recover $18,000 from Tunney instituted by Tim Mara, local sportsman in and professional football promoter, for alleged breach of contract. Gibson was served with a subpoena which is returnable in twenty days.

Al Corbett Stops Pete Harmon.

Schwartz Held to Draw.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 15 (AP).—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, New York flyweight, and Dixie Lahood, local bantamweight, fought a draw here last night.

JERSEY LIFTS BAN ON PHIL ROSENBERG

Action Only Temporary, but Will Allow Champion to Box at Charity Show Monday.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

The threatened disqualification of Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, world's bantamweight champion, from a ten-round bout with Petey Mack on the Christmas Fund card in the Fourth Regiment Armory, Jersey City, on Monday night, yesterday was adjusted. Through the intercession of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, and on the plea of Promoter Humbert Fugazy that the boxing program was being held for a worthy charity, Inspector Platt Adams of New Jersey's Boxing Commission consented to lift the suspension of the title holder and permit Rosenberg to engage in the forthcoming bout.

At the same time, however, Inspector Adams made it plain that the exception was made for this one contest and that after Monday Rosenberg would be barred from fighting in New Jersey, in accordance with the lifetime suspension imposed on the champion by the Illinois Boxing Commission for his refusal to fight Bud Taylor in Chicago last Summer.

Jack Delaney, world's light-heavyweight champion, is to tackle Bud Gorman, husky Kenosha (Wis.) heavyweight, in the feature ten-round bout on the charity card. Delaney is expected here this afternoon to close training with a session at Stillman's Gymnasium, where he will be assisted by Georgie Ward, Elizabeth welterweight, and Jack Warren, negro heavyweight, as sparring partners.

Rosenberg has been training for the match with Mack in which his title will not be involved, since it was closed at catchweights.

That excessive weight will be no bar to Paul Berlenbach's boxing Tommy Loughran was the announcement made yesterday by Promoter Fugazy, following a visit from the Philadelphia light-heavyweight, who is signed to battle Berlenbach for Fugazy. Loughran came to this city yesterday to confer with Fugazy on the proposed Berlenbach bout, and advised the promoter of his willingness to tackle the former world's light-heavyweight champion at catchweights.

PULL-UP RECORD TO SILVER.

Chins Himself 30 Times in All-Around Meet at 92d Y. M. H. A.

Jack Silver set a new record for pull-ups in the weekly all-around competition at the Ninety-second Street Y. M. H. A. which started last night. By chinning the bar thirty times he surpassed the previous record of twenty-eight made by L. Weissman in 1916. Irwin Sher was second in this event with twenty-six pull-ups.

Sher placed in each of the four events held. He was fourth in the 60-yard dash, first in the 100 and second in the 880.

The summaries:

60-Yard Dash—Won by G. Eberstein; H. Lipkowitz, second; W. Beizis, third; I. Sher, fourth. Time—0:7 4-10 seconds.
100-Yard Dash—Won by I. Sher; M. Brown, second; P. Litzner, third; M. Goldsetin, fourth. Time—12 4-5 seconds.
880-Yard Dash—Won by M. Brown; I. Sher, second; J. Axelrad, third. Time—2:26.
Pull-ups—Won by J. Silver, 30; I. Sher, 26, second; S. Eperstein, 20, third.

They have been approved by the Athletic Council and Faculty Committee, but must receive the sanction of the faculty board. Hockey dates include a game with Yale at New Haven Jan. 11. Yale is also on the eight-game football schedule, which follows:

Sept. 24, Massachusetts Agricultural College at Brunswick.
Oct. 1, Yale at New Haven; 8, New Hampshire at Durham; 15, Wesleyan at Brunswick; 22, Colby at Brunswick; 29, Bates at Brunswick.
Nov. 5, Maine at Orono; 12, Tufts at Medford.

COOK ELECTED CAPTAIN.

Is Named Leader of the Mass. Aggie Eleven for Next Year.

AMHERST, Mass., Dec. 15.—Albert C. Cook of Waverly, a junior, has been elected captain of the 1927 Massachusetts Aggie football team, it was announced today. He has won his letter for two seasons. As a sophomore he played end, but this season he was used at fullback.

In addition to his work on the gridiron, Cook is a member of his class basketball team, which tied for first place in the recent interclass series, and he is a candidate for the varsity hockey team this Winter.

C. C. N. Y. RIFLE TEAM WINS.

Beats Maine in Telegraphic Prone Match, 498-496—5 Perfect Scores.

The City College rifle team won a telegraphic prone match from the University of Maine by 498 to 496, according to results received yesterday. Three perfect scores were hung up by the Lavender nimrods against two for the New Englanders. Halpern and Feinberg both turned in their fourth consecutive perfect score.

The summaries:

2D BOUT IN 2 DAYS HAS FATAL ENDING

Berglund Succumbs in Hospital at Minneapolis After Being Knocked Out.

HIS OPPONENT IS RELEASED

Body of French Boxer Who Died in Hartford Tuesday to Be Sent to His Home.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 15 (AP).—Harry (Berg) Berglund, Minneapolis light-heavyweight boxer, who was knocked out in the last round of a scheduled six-round bout here last night, died at a local hospital early today.

Berglund was knocked down fifteen seconds before the scheduled end of his bout with Carl Augustine of St. Paul. His head struck the mat with considerable force.

Augustine was released after being held in custody over night. Berglund died from a cerebral hemorrhage, the coroner ruled.

Was First Pro Appearance.

Berglund, who was 21 years old, had taken part in numerous fights as an amateur, but last night's fight was his first as a professional.

His death was the second in successive days to follow a boxing contest. Charles Pegulihan, French light-heavyweight, died yesterday at Hartford, Conn., following a bout with Elmer Friedman.

In last night's fight Berglund was knocked down in the first round, but recovered, and as the fight progressed appeared the equal of Augustine; at times he was even more aggressive. Both men were blood-spattered from the pummeling they received when they answered the bell for the sixth round. With the final bell only 15 seconds away, Augustine shot over a hard left which dropped the Minneapolis boy.

Berglund's death is the first that has occurred in a professional ring in Minnesota since boxing was legalized in the State in 1915.

George Dawson, Secretary of the Minnesota State Boxing Commission, said today he had investigated the fatal bout and "was satisfied that it was an unavoidable accident such as might have happened in any athletic sport."

Sending French Boxer's Body Home.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 15 (AP).—The body of Charles Pegulihan, French boxer who was fatally injured in a bout with Al Friedman of Boston, here Monday night, will be taken back to France aboard the French liner Paris sailing from New York Dec. 23. The expenses will be met from a fund now being subscribed by Hartford residents. Following announcement by Medical Examiner H. N. Costello that the boxer's death had been caused by hemorrhages of the brain brought on by severe blows on the head, State Athletic Commissioner Thomas E. Donohue said that every precaution had been taken before the bout and that it was an "unfortunate accident."

Robert Eudeline, former manager of Eugene Criqui, and now associated with French boxers in America, said today he is severing all connection with the sport and will return to France with Pegulihan's body.

While Friedman is being held on a charge of manslaughter and his case has been continued until Dec. 23, this is regarded here as a formality, as boxing is a legalized sport in Connecticut and Pegulihan was fatally injured in the course of a regularly conducted boxing match.

Columbia Grammar Resumes Track.

For the first time in three years Columbia Grammar School will have a track team. The petition for a team was sanctioned at a meeting of the General Organization yesterday. Although a schedule has not been drawn up as yet, the squad's initial appearance is expected to be in the De La Salle meet on Jan. 11.

Henry Sommers Defeats Medley in Duel at Jefferson Park

BATTLE IN MUD WON BY HENRY SOMMERS

ONLY ONE FAVORITE SCORES

Rasuli Is Lone Choice to Earn Brackets as Form Topples—Lieutenant Rust Victor.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 15.—Splashing through the slop in a thrilling stretch duel, F. M. Grabner's Henry Sommers took the measure of Frank M. Kelly's Medley in the race for the St. Mary's Purse, a six-furlong dash for the two-year-olds that featured the card at Jefferson Park this afternoon. Medley was the odds-on favorite in a field of half a dozen smart juveniles, while the winner was the third choice and paid his backers the nice price of $14.20 for each $2 ticket in the mutuels.

D. Smith had the mount on Henry Sommers, which carried 108 pounds and ran the distance in 1:19 over a course that was at about its worst of the meeting.

Conditions were anything but pleasant. On top of a continuous downpour a cold wave struck here and the going was deeper than ever. Because of the track conditions scratches were heavy and the fields, as a rule, were small. It was a tough day for those who tried to pick winners, only one favorite coming through. D. Smith took the riding honors with two winners, piloting Rasuli in the second in addition to Henry Sommers in the feature.

Henry Sommers has run some good races in the slop and was right at home this afternoon. Medley broke on top and led the field, which was well bunched. He raced down Red Leather and then had to fight it out with Henry Sommers, which had been held off the pace during the early running. It was an exciting battle down the stretch, the two contenders leaving the others well in the rear. Smith rode a strong finish, got Henry Sommers on even terms with the leader and flashed past the winning post with a lead of half a length. H. Brooks's Jack of Clubs was five lengths back to take third money.

The first winning favorite of the afternoon was J. P. Partridge's three-year-old gelding Rasuli, which scored over five others in a claiming dash of six furlongs. Rasuli won despite an indifferent ride by D. Smith. The gelding broke in his stride and then his jockey took him back. He worked up back of the pace of Miss M. Kelly's Orestes II and went to the front when the latter tired. Smith rode a weak finish, but Rasuli closed gamely, just holding on to beat E. J. Holland's Ballot Brush. H. Mart's filly Quin Chin was a poor third. The winner paid $4 for $2.

Another favorite was defeated when J. T. Johnson's four-year-old gelding ran fourth in a field of eleven in the claiming race at a mile and a sixteenth, the winner of which was the Southland Stable's Lieutenant Rust. This four-year-old Luke McLuke gelding gained his second victory in as many starts at the meeting and he also paid his numerous supporters the good price of $24.60 for each $2 investment.

Earl of Balfour Heads Golfers Who May Meet U. S. Seniors

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The probability of another international contest between the United States and Great Britain in 1927 was announced today at the formation of a senior golfers society, which will be opened to players no younger than fifty-five. Lord Lurgan, who was elected a Vice President, said that a team representing the United States Seniors' Golf Association was planning to come to England and would be invited to play the British seniors at St. Andrew's. The Earl of Balfour was elected President of the newly formed society.

ANTONIO HOME FIRST IN HAVANA SPRINT

Ambassador Crowder Sees Bud Fisher's Colt Win Mariel Purse by a Length.

Special to The New York Times.

HAVANA, Dec. 15.—The silks of Bud Fisher were again carried to victory here today, his English-bred colt, Antonio, winning the Mariel Purse, a five-and-a-half furlong dash, by a length. The colt raced close to the pacemakers, Mo Lay and Summer Time, to the stretch turn, where he slipped through on the inside and took the lead. He easily held off Ascetic and Helter Skelter, which finished behind him in the order named, in the final drive.

General Enoch Crowder, American Ambassador to Cuba, and his party witnessed the triumph of the American-owned colt as guests of the Havana-American Jockey Club.

HOPPE AGAIN WINS TWICE, HAS 343 RUN

Beats Matsuyama, 400 to 46 and 400-228, in 18.2 Play—Now Leads, 2,308-809.

Willie Hoppe won both of the blocks played at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday in a continuation of play in his 18.2 handicap balkline billiard match with Kinrey Matsuyama, national junior 18.2 balkline champion. The score at the end of the sixth block is 2,308 for Hoppe and 809 for Matsuyama. The match is of twelve blocks and Hoppe is playing for 4,800 points as against 3,600 for Matsuyama. To be up with his handicap Matsuyama should have 1,800 points at this stage of the game.

Hoppe played sensationally to win both blocks yesterday. He again made brilliant high runs. The best of these was one of 343, which he got in the afternoon, when he ran out. Hoppe won this block by the score of 400 to 46. The match went only three innings. Hoppe ran 49 in his first turn at the table and then got a cluster of 8. Matsuyama ran 17 and 29. Then Hoppe came to the table for the third time and ran 343.

In the evening block Hoppe ran 80 in his first turn at the table. This, added to his 343 in the last turn at the table in the afternoon, gave him a run of 423 without a miss. It is the highest continuous run of the match and surpasses Hoppe's previous record run of 410, which also was a combination of an afternoon and an evening run. The run of 343 is also the highest single one made in the match to date and one of the highest made in 18.2 balkline play.

The score of the evening block was 400 to 228. Hoppe's high run in this block was 218. Matsuyama showed a distinct improvement in his play and made a high run of 138, which compared with one of 29 in the afternoon block. The night block required seven innings.

Hoppe's grand average for the match is now 82 12-28. Matsuyama's grand average is 29 26-27.

AFTERNOON.
Hoppe—49 8 343—400.
Matsuyama—17 29—46.

EVENING.
Hoppe—80 0 31 7 8 218 56—400. Grand average—82 12-28.
Matsuyama—0 14 39 138 28 8—228. Grand average—29 26-27.

H. HAMMER RUNS 132.

Herbert Hammer defeated James Lewis in the third game of the 18.2 Class A championship tournament last night at the Hoppe Billiard Academy by 300 to 224 in twenty-two innings. At the end of the ninth inning Hammer trailed by 105 points. In the tenth inning Hammer ran 51, and in the fourteenth he made 132, the best high run of the tourney. Lewis's high run was 45.

In a three-cushion handicap tournament Charles Pall defeated Cliff Disbrow, 26 to 19, in fifty innings. Giles defeated G. Johnson, 20 to 9, in thirty-five innings, and O. H. Houghton defeated George Bell, 24 to 8, in thirty-six innings.

James Driscoll turned back George Gibson, 300 to 99, in an English billiard tournament game in thirty-six innings. The high runs were Driscoll 32, Gibson 11.

6 ILLINOIS TRACKS FORM RULING BODY

Representatives of the Leading Race Courses Join Hands to Control Sport.

WILL GIVE OUT ALL DATES

Also Will Adjust All Difficulties—Stuyvesant Peabody Named President.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP).—Representatives of the six race tracks in Illinois today formed a permanent organization to control horse racing in the State, with the possibility that the supervision will be extended to all the leading tracks in the Middle West.

A President and Executive Committee were chosen to organize the new association, select a name, and lay plans for exercise of full power over the six courses.

Stuyvesant Peabody of Chicago was named President. He represents the Lincoln Fields track, with which Colonel Matt J. Winn is associated. Robert M. Sweitzer, Washington Park track, was named Vice President, and Charles W. Bidwill, Hawthorne Park, Secretary. These three, with C. Bruce Head, representing Fairmount Park, East St. Louis, and Clifford Trimble, representing Aurora and Peoria, compose the Executive Committee.

They will have power to give out the racing dates for all the clubs, and settle all difficulties. The question of presenting a new racing bill to the Illinois Legislature was discussed, but no decision was reached.

TRAPMINT CAPTURES OCEAN SIDE HANDICAP

Mrs. R. F. Carman's Colt Scores as His Rider Pleases in the Tijuana Feature Race.

Special to The New York Times.

TIJUANA, Mexico, Dec. 15.—Mrs. R. F. Carman's Trapmint won the Ocean-side Claiming Handicap at six furlongs here today as the colt's rider, T. Burns, pleased. The son of Trap Rock overhauled Booze Beyer in the stretch drive and held a three-length advantage over the pacemaker at the finish. Unionville, the choice, was third. The winner paid $20.60 for each $2 straight ticket.

LOW LOSES TWO MATCHES.

Is Beaten by Dr. Jennings and Knapp in 18.2 Tourney.

J. Low dropped two games in the Class C 18.2 balkline billiard tournament at Daly's Billiard Academy last night. Dr. H. G. Jennings defeated him in the first game and E. Knapp conquered him in the second. Jennings won by the score of 150 to 140 in 51 innings. The winner has a high run of 21, while the loser's best run was 17. In the second contest Knapp triumphed, 150 to 120, in 41 innings. Knapp had a high run of 21 to 13 for Low.

Cappiello Defeats Lambert.

A. J. Cappiello defeated J. A. Lambert in an amateur three-cushion Class C tournament game last night at the Claridge Academy by the score of 30 to 15. The match lasted seventy-nine innings, and the high runs were Cappiello 4, Lambert 2.

BRATTON SWIM CUP IS WON BY CUSHMAN

Flushing Star Turns In Best Corrected Time for 100 Yards in N. Y. A. C. Pool.

LEE IS IN SECOND PLACE

Kojac of Boys' Club Gets Prize for Fastest Performance—Zorilla Misses 220-Yard Record.

Hal Cushman of the Flushing Y. M. C. A. won the annual 100-yard swimming handicap for the classic Bratton Cup, the feature of the opening water carnival of the season in the seventy-five-foot pool of the New York A. C. yesterday evening.

As customary, the fixture was run off under sealed handicaps. All contenders were started from scratch and their individual times taken, then the allowances deducted. Cushman, who received 7 seconds, covered the century in 0:59 4-5, and achieved the best corrected time, 0:52 4-5.

George Kojac of the Boys' Club, the scholastic ace, captured the prize offered for the fastest actual time made in the event. He returned 0:56 2-5. George Fissler of the New York A. C. was next best with 0:56 4-5.

Alberto Zorilla, all-around champion of Argentina, now affiliated with the New York A. C., but competing unattached owing to A. A. U. residence rules, attempted in a 220-yard free-style handicap to break the metropolitan record, but, although he beat the listed mark of 2:23 2-5 by Walter Spence of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., he just missed the new standard of 2:21 1-5, claimed for George Fissler a few days ago.

Zorilla's time was 2:21 2-5. Despite his brilliant feat the young South American failed to overcome allowances of 14 and 22 seconds bestowed upon his fellow-clubmen, Leo Giebel and Raymond Ruddy, who gained the places in the order named.

The summaries:

100-Yard Swim for Bratten Cup (Handicap)—Won by Hal Cushman, Flushing Y. M. C. A. (7 seconds), corrected time 0:52 4-5; Edward Lee, New York A. C. (4 seconds), second, corrected time 0:54 3-5; Joseph Farley, New York A. C. (3 seconds), third, corrected time 0:54 4-5.

220-Yard Swim (Handicap)—Won by Leo Giebel, New York A. C. (14 seconds); Raymond Ruddy, New York A. C. (22 seconds), second; Alberto Zorilla, New York A. C. (scratch), third. Time—2:30 2-5.

Fancy Diving, 10-Foot Springboard (Handicap)—Won by Tom Hirschfield, unattached (scratch), 85.3 points; Maurice Gimonet, New York A. C. (8 points), 85.2 points, second; Max Vogt, unattached (12 points), 74.1 points, third.

50-Yard Swim (Novice)—Won by Cornelius Weed, New York A. C.; Ogden Dalrymple, unattached, second; John Dayton, Brooklyn Sports Club, third. Time—0:27 4-5.

JAKE SCHAEFER SAILS.

Hopes to Meet Conti, Grange and Horemans Abroad.

Young Jake Schaefer, world's 18.1 balkline champion, sailed yesterday on the Berengaria for France. He was accompanied by Mrs. Schaefer and Martin Espinosa of San Francisco, who will direct his tour abroad. Schaefer's first stop will be Paris, where arrangements have been made for a few exhibitions against well-known French balkline players. He hopes to meet Roger Conti, former European champion as well as Felix Grange, present champion, while in Paris. His tour, which will last two months, will take him to Belgium, where he hopes to meet Edouard Horemans; to Switzerland, Germany and England.

Overtures were made to Charles C. Peterson of St. Louis to accompany Schaefer but business pressure at home prevented Peterson from making the trip. Peterson, who has been lecturing and giving fancy shot exhibitions at the Hoppe Academy for the last two weeks, expects to leave for St. Louis tomorrow.

Wilco Date Conflict Threatens Met. A. A. U. Split

MET. A. A. U. FACES BATTLE OVER DATE

Wilco A. A. Protests Action Rescinding Sanction for Its Track Meet on Feb. 11.

BYRNE CALLS IT A MISTAKE

Date Must Go to the Knights of St. Antony—Hirshon Ready to Appeal to National Body.

Local Amateur Athletic Union circles are on the verge of a split which promises to be one of the most serious breaches in the history of the organization. The situation involves the plans for the Wilco A. A.'s annual indoor track meet and the action of the Registration Committee of the Metropolitan A. A. U. in declining to sanction the games for Feb. 11, the date originally requested.

It became known yesterday that the Feb. 11 date has been awarded to the Knights of St. Antony for a meet at the 106th Infantry, the old Twenty-third Regiment, Brooklyn, after the recall by the Registration Committee of a sanction for this date issued to the Wilco organization. Chairman Stephen A. Byrne of the Registration Committee explained that the Wilco sanction was issued by mistake in justifying the recall of the date award and claimed that subsequently a notification of a meeting of the Registration Committee, at which it was proposed to adjust the conflict, was ignored by Hugh Hirshon, Chairman of the Wilco A. A. Games Committee, whereupon the date was awarded to the Knights of St. Antony.

As the situation stood yesterday the Feb. 11 date was definitely awarded to the Knights of St. Antony so far as the Registration Committee is concerned, and the Wilco organization was confronted with the alternative of selecting some other date for its games, which have constituted one of the outstanding attractions on the local board floor calendar for the past six years.

Hirshon to Appeal.

Chairman Hirshon, maintaining that he has not been officially notified of the withdrawal of the sanction, declared his intention of carrying the matter on appeal to the Metropolitan A. A. U. Board of Managers, and, in the event of adverse action by that body, to the Amateur Athletic Union's National Board of Governors. "If it takes me until next Summer to get a decision."

"I want to learn why a duly recognized sanction granted and signed by the Chairman of the Registration Committee has been arbitrarily taken away," said Hirshon. "There positively will not be a change in date so far as we are concerned. There is a principle involved and we will fight to the end. We have gone to considerable expense on the strength of the sanction. Our meet is not one which can be launched and promoted within the space of two months. Accordingly we have signed a contract with the Thirteenth Regiment Armory in Brooklyn for the Feb. 11 date and our printing contract has been let. Invitations have been issued to prominent athletes to participate in the games and endless other details have been launched.

"I don't say we'll sue the Amateur Athletic Union unless the matter is straightened out, but there's no telling how far we'll go in our fight to protect our interests and uphold what we believe to be right. We stepped aside graciously one year in deference to the New York A. C. when that club could get no more suitable date than the one on which we had decided, but we have no intention of stepping aside in the present case."

Hirshon asserted he received the sanction soon after the Metropolitan A. A. U. annual meeting last September and added that his organization was entitled to some consideration in view of the support it accorded track athletics and amateur boxing, and by reason of the fact that the Wilco club has been a leading organization in undertaking the promotion of elaborate track and field meets.

No Possibility of Conflicts.

The possibility of the two meets being held in conflict is precluded by the rule that the Registration Committee cannot issue sanctions for conflicting meets in the same borough. This plan is observed, Chairman Byrne said, out of a desire to advance the interests of amateur athletics.

"The Wilco sanction was issued by mistake, evidently in the erroneous belief that it was a sanction for an amateur boxing tournament or for a road race," said Chairman Byrne. "When the mistake was discovered we communicated with the club requesting the return of the sanction and our request was complied with. Notification of a meeting at which it was planned to eliminate a conflict was sent the Wilco club with an invitation that the organization be represented. No representative of the club appeared at the meeting and we therefore decided to proceed with the matter and awarded sanction for Feb. 11 to the Knights of St. Antony. We are against sanctioning meets in the same borough where conflicts are presented. So far as the Registration Committee is concerned the Wilco club will have to select some other date or not run at all."

Hirshon announced he had written the Registration Committee requesting official notification of the recall of his original sanction and added that unless he receives such notification shortly he will proceed with plans for his meet, ignoring the announced sanction for the Knights of St. Antony.

Wide to Make His Debut Here In K. of C. Indoor Track Meet

Edwin Wide, Sweden's middle-distance runner, who conquered Paavo Nurmi, will make his first competitive appearance in this country at the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus, indoor track meet to be held in the 106th Infantry Armory, Brooklyn, on Jan. 8, if present plans materialize. An invitation to enter the two-mile K. of C. feature yesterday was radioed to Wide by Dr. Joseph A. Viverito, chairman of the games committee. Wide, a schoolmaster in Sweden, is expected here Jan. 2 to study American educational conditions.

CRESCENTS WIN 5TH IN CLASS A SQUASH

HARVARD CLUB VICTORIOUS

Holds 2d Place Behind Brooklynites by Conquering Yale Club, 5 to 2, Despite Hyde's Absence.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

The first half of the metropolitan Class A squash tennis season came to a close last night with the Crescent A. C. holding first place by defeating the Princeton Club, 7 to 0, and the Harvard Club maintaining its hold on second place with a 5 to 2 triumph over the Yale club.

The victory of the Crescents on their own courts was their fifth of the season, and they have finished the first half of their schedule without a setback, to the great surprise of the squash tennis world, for they were completely out of the running last season. With Edward Larigan showing remarkable improvement, George Davidson holding down the No. 2 job handsomely and Charles M. Bull finding himself at No. 3, the Brooklynites have defeated every other team in the league, including the Harvard club, the champion.

Larigan Beats Brackenridge.

Larigan met Gavin Brackenridge in the No. 1 match and won by 15—12, 15—5. Armin W. Riley, S. M. Sperry and Edwin Muller were the three Princetonians to win games. Riley took the first one from Bull, only to lose at 7—15, 15—9, 15—11. Sperry put up a terrific battle against B. H. O'Connor, who won at 18—13, 9—15, 17—14, and Muller carried J. C. Tredwell to 15—9, 12—15, 15—10.

The Harvard Club played the Yale Club on the Crimson courts without the services of Fillmore Hyde, who has not played in the line-up all season. Illness has kept the champion off the courts with the exception of his appearance in the Princeton Club invitation tournament, and his performances in that event showed that he was not in his best physical condition.

C. F. Fuller, former Class B man, substituted for Hyde and made a surprisingly good showing against Tom Coward, winner of the Princeton tournament, taking the second game and pressing the Yalensian closely in the third before submitting, 15—7, 14—18, 15—10. Coward was not inclined to take matters too seriously and Fuller made the most of his opportunity, placing his shots neatly and keeping on top of the ball.

Cross Wins in Class A Debut.

Harry K. Cross, Yale's fine-looking Class C player, took another step up the ladder when he made his first appearance on the Class A team and defeated Murray Taylor, 15—8, 15—10. William Rand Jr. of Harvard, who defeated Hyde in the Princeton invitation, played at No. 2 and triumphed over Otis Guernsey, but only after dropping the opening game. The score was 9—15, 15—9, 15—9. Hewitt Morgan of Harvard gave an impressive exhibition of clever placing in defeating Auguste J. Cordier, 15—5, 15—5.

The summaries:

Harvard Club 5, Yale Club 2.

Thomas R. Coward, Yale, defeated C. F. Fuller, 15—7, 14—18, 15—10; William Rand Jr., Harvard, defeated Otis L. Guernsey, 9—15, 15—9, 15—9; Hewitt Morgan, Harvard, defeated Auguste J. Cordier, 15—5; 15—5; G. M. Rushmore, Harvard, defeated Douglas M. Bomeisler, 15—3, 15—4; H. K. Cross, Yale, defeated Murray Taylor, 15—8, 15—10; F. S. Whitlock, Harvard, defeated H. V. Crawford, 17—14, 11—15, 15—8; G. B. Woods, Harvard, defeated Francis Day, 15—3; 18—17.

Crescent A. C. 7, Princeton Club 0.

E. R. Larigan, Crescent, defeated Gavin Brackenridge, 15—12, 15—5; G. G. Davidson, Crescent, defeated H. B. Chaplin, 15—9, 15—5; Charles M. Bull, Crescent, defeated Armin W. Riley, 7—15; 15—9; 15—11; B. H. O'Connor, Crescent, defeated S. M. Sperry, 18—13, 9—15, 17—14; J. C. Tredwell, Crescent, defeated Edwin Muller, 15—9, 12—15, 15—10; E. W. Kleinert, Crescent, defeated E. L. Maxwell, 15—12; 15—9; Andrew Baxter Jr., Crescent, won from H. G. Davis by default.

Makes Three Yale Club Teams In First Year in Squash Tennis

Harry K. Cross, who formerly wore the Blue of Yale on the football field, earned a place among the select few squash tennis players who have played in all three classes of the Metropolitan League championships in a single season when he made his first appearance last night in the Yale Club Class A lineup and defeated Murray Taylor at 15—8, 15—10 at the Harvard Club. This is the first season that Cross has played tournament squash and he does not even enjoy a ranking. He immediately jumped to first place on starting with the Yale C team. Then he appeared on the Class B team and proceeded to go to the top, and now he is No. 5 on the Class A team.

HARVARD MEN SCORE IN SQUASH RACQUETS

Blank Cornell Graduates, 5-0, in Intercollegiate Tourney at University Club.

An intercollegiate squash racquets tournament was launched at the University Club last night with members of the club playing on teams made up of graduates of various universities, including Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Cornell, Williams, Harvard Law and the "All-Collegians." In the opening match last night the Harvard team defeated Cornell, 5 matches to 0.

A. E. Ellis, former metropolitan champion, played No. 1 on the Harvard team, while A. H. Lockett, who donated the Lockett Cup for the intercity competition among New York, Philadelphia and Boston, was at No. 3. Ellis defeated E. E. Anderson at 15—10, 18—13, while Lockett triumphed over J. W. Ross, 15—3, 15—10.

The Cornellians won only two games in the five matches, G. M. Schurman taking one and H. A. McDonald the other in his match with R. Cameron Rogers, won by the latter by 18—18, 15—7, 15—3.

The summaries:

A. E. Ellis, Harvard, defeated E. E. Anderson, 15—10, 18—13; L. I. Grinnell, Harvard, defeated G. M. Schurman, 15—11, 11—18, 15—0; A. H. Lockett, Harvard, defeated J. W. Ross, 15—3, 15—10; R. Cameron Rogers, Harvard, defeated H. A. McDonald, 13—18, 15—7, 15—3; Horace Green, Harvard, defeated L. Bennett, 15—10, 15—7.

OVERCOATS IN THE NEW YORK MANNER

Let it blow!

SNOW, wind, hail and sleet . . . let them come!

They hold no terrors for the man who wears an overcoat "in the New York manner".

Snugly encased in his covering of soft, thick Irish fleece or hardy Scottish tweed, he sheds the icy arrows of the gale and laughs in the face of its fury!

We've every kind of coat . . . from the slim and carefree slip-on to the heavy storm ulster . . . in pure wool fabrics of our own choosing.

Athletics at Yale Yield $853,369 Gross; Football Alone Drew $740,876

YALE SPORTS BRING $853,369 FOR YEAR

But Surplus of $183,078 Is Exhausted in Real Estate, Interest and Other Items.

$740,876 FOR FOOTBALL

Only Major Game to Pay Own Way

Nets $388,868—Minor Sports Show Deficit of $61,729.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 15.—Yale had a successful year in athletics according to the annual report of the Athletic Association which was made public today by General Manager Harold Woodcock. The revenue from all sports was $853,369 and the expenses were $670,291. This left a surplus of $183,078 on June 30, 1926, the end of the financial year.

Both receipts and expenditures mounted to new totals, while the surplus remaining is about the average for several years. Tonight Mr. Woodcock pointed out, however, in a statement commenting upon his report, that even the surplus of $183,078 was consumed by administrative salaries, capital cost of real estate, insurance and interest, but that, because there was a surplus of $3,329 last year, there still remained an actual surplus of $1,402.

"The balance sheet showing the assets and liabilities for the year and the previous year, for comparative purposes," said Mr. Woodcock, "indicate that the financial status of the Athletic Association is better for the year ending this last June by $111,968."

Football the Leader.

While football was the only major sport that paid expenses, hockey, which was played by a homeless team because of the lack of a rink, showed a surplus of $309. The rifle team, which had a revenue of $39.50, showed expenses of only 26 cents and therefore a surplus of $39.14.

The football surplus was $358,968. The receipts were $740,876 and the expenses $381,908. The baseball deficit was the smallest of any of the major sport teams, totaling only $8,385. The game showed receipts of $96,826 and expenses of $97,211.

The track team had a deficit of $44,-945. The receipts were $10,452 and expenses of $54,797. The crew received only $5,077 but its expenses were $66,-322, showing a deficit of $61,245. This was the largest loss of any of the athletic teams.

The four major sports, football, baseball, rowing and track athletics, produced a total revenue of $815,034, a total expenditure of $570,227, with a new income or surplus of $244,807. The minor sports showed a revenue of $38,-338, expenses of $100,064 and a deficit therefore of $61,729.

Basketball a Loser.

Basketball had a gross revenue of $6,391, with a deficit of $8,738; boxing, a gross revenue of $1,751 and a deficit of $4,134; fencing, a revenue of $4,945 and a deficit of $5,781; golf, a deficit of $1,146 with no revenue; the Gun Club, a deficit of $779, without revenue; lacrosse, a revenue of $811 and a deficit of $7,674; polo a revenue of $1,378 and a deficit of $1,626; soccer, a revenue of $369 and a deficit of $7,723; squash racquets, a deficit of $2,712, without revenue; swimming, a revenue of $5,760 with a deficit of $7,155; tennis, a revenue of $2,738 with a deficit of $5,277.

The total of $670,291 in expenses was divided into $261,348 for payments to visiting teams and $408,943 as direct expenditures.

ST. JOHN'S IS BEATEN BY UNION, 30 TO 23

Brooklyn Five Makes Strong Finish After Trailing at Half-Time by 18 to 5 Score.

Special to The New York Times.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 15.—The Union College basketball team defeated St. John's of Brooklyn tonight by a score of 30 to 23 in a hard-fought contest. This was the thirty-second consecutive victory in intercollegiate games on its home court for the Union team. Union taking the lead from the start, led at half time, 18 to 5.

The second half showed the St. John's team at its best and with only six minutes left to play had drawn up to within one point of the Garnet score. Bednowitz, whose exceptional guarding and shooting featured the game, then scored on a long shot for Union, closely followed by successive baskets by MacDowell and Skane, completing the scoring.

The line-up:

UNION (30).		ST. JOHN'S (23).
Gribbon	L.F.	Flanagan
MacDowell	R.F.	Selferd
O'Neil	C.	Freeman
Bednowitz	L.G.	Feeney
Maybe	R.G.	Gallagher

Goals from field—Union: Gribbon (2), MacDowell (2), O'Neil (2), Bednowitz (4), Skane. St. John's: Flanagan (2), Freeman (2), Feeney (4), Selferd, Collins.

Goals from foul—Union: MacDowell (3), Maybe (2), Gribbon, O'Neil, Bednowitz. St. John's: Freeman (2), Flanagan.

Substitutions—Union: Mendes for Gribbon, Skane for Maybe, Mackie for Mendes, Brignoli for Mackie. St. John's: Kleinman for Flanagan, Collins for Freeman, Shulman for Gallagher.

Referee—Tilden. Time of halves—20 minutes.

VERMONT CAPTURES OPENER

Defeats Montreal A. A. A. by 38-16 in Slow Contest.

Special to The New York Times.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Dec. 15.—The University of Vermont basketball team opened its season here tonight by defeating the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, 38 to 16, in a slow contest. The Canadians lacked scoring power and while they worked the ball around nicely in back court, their attempts to pierce the locals' defense were weak.

The lineup:

VERMONT (38).		MONTREAL (16).
Prentice	L.F.	Small
Post	R.F.	Lamb
Marvin	C.	Melville
Estabrook	L.G.	Atchinson
Price	R.G.	Gruneau

Substitutions—Vermont: Moody for Post, Pike for Prentice, Morse for Pike, Morgan for Marvin, Whitcomb for Estabrook, MacKay for Price. Montreal: Godsell for Lamb, Laidlaw for Small, Day for Atchinson.

Referee—Cassidy. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Football Officials Consider Three Changes in the Rules

But Followers of Sport Doubt That Any Radical Revision Will Be Made in Regard to Point-After-Touchdown, Forward Passes and Fumbles.

By RICHARDS VIDMER.

In a few short weeks the Football Rules Committee is going to come together and do something or nothing about the rules which govern the great intercollegiate game. When they get through everybody still will be able to recognize the game as football. There will be no difficulty about that. For the general opinion prevails that football is a pretty good game just as it stands.

There may be a few changes, however. Several suggestions have been made since the close of the 1926 season—as at the close of every season—with the motive of bettering the game, if such is possible, which those who saw some of the thrillers of the last Fall may doubt.

Three phases of the rules are certain to come in for a great deal of discussion and consideration whether anything is done about them or not. One is in regard to the point after touchdown, which has been rather unsatisfactory for many years. Another is concerned with the frenzied flinging of forward passes by a defeated team. The third has to do with fumbling.

All three of these points have been discussed widely by coaches, players and experts since the last season ended. Of the three, the point after touchdown has received the greatest consideration. Some advocate doing away with the point after touchdown entirely, maintaining that many games are lost and won on the success or failure of one man.

A glance at the records for the past campaign show clearly enough that many important contests hinged on the ability of one man to kick a place kick or a drop kick for the one-point margin. However, doing away with the point after touchdown entirely would increase the number of tie games considerably and that, too, is something to be prevented.

There are two suggestions regarding this particular method of scoring that might be considered and adopted to the betterment of the game. One is to put the ball on the twenty instead of the five yard line after a touchdown and let the scoring team kick for it. From 26 or 27 yards a goal from field becomes something more than a matter of course. There's an uncertainty and interest involved from that point.

This, of course, wouldn't do away with the fact that the burden would rest on one man and therefore perhaps the other suggestion would prove more popular. That is, to put the ball on the five or even the three yard line and let the attacking team attempt to score in one play by any method except a field goal. Then the burden of making that extra point would rest on the entire team and the play still would contain the elements of interest.

The effort to curb the forward pass by penalizing a team five yards for more than one unsuccessful attempt during a series of four downs failed to accomplish its purpose last season. Teams that were behind at the end of the first half or the end of the game threw passes in just as much profusion as ever, taking the penalty without a murmur in their hope of getting away a thirty or forty yard heave.

Most football men, however, agree that the rule did help a little in curbing the number of passes in the middle of the halves, and it probably will be left just as it is.

In regard to fumbling there has been some agitation, of a rather mild nature it is true, to prevent a team from scoring on its opponent's misplays. During the past season several games were decided by a player picking up a fumble and scoring a touchdown.

The reformers would make it impossible to advance the ball after recovering an opponent's fumble. The ball would go over to the side recovering, but it would stay at the point where it was recovered. This might prove a popular change, but it would eliminate the possibility of one of the greatest thrills in football.

In view of the popularity of the gridiron game last Fall, it might be just as well to leave it as it is. Which is just about what will happen. With the exception of the three possible changes discussed above, the rule makers and revisers will have little to talk about.

It won't make much difference to Coach Lou Young down at Pennsylvania what rules his team plays under. He's going to have enough to worry about in any event, for the schedule makers have handed him as hard a task for 1927 as any team ever attempted to accomplish.

All Penn has to do next season to have an undefeated team is to beat Navy, Penn State, Chicago, Columbia, Harvard and Cornell, besides two or three others.

And, speaking of schedules, Bill Roper is going to view the 1927 campaign from a different angle than usual. Heretofore Bill has been satisfied to beat Harvard and Yale. If he won the other games, it was very satisfying, but the rival members of the now defunct Big Three were his main objective.

"Next year we've got to win them all," Bill declared recently. "Of course Yale will be the big game, but just beating Yale isn't going to make up for a lot of early-season defeats."

Incidentally Roper thinks that Jake Slagle's ability wasn't fully appreciated during his college career, though the praises of the little Tiger back were sung from coast to coast. Roper ranks Slagle with Heston, Eckersall, Coy, Thorpe and one or two others as the best backs of all time.

YALE QUINTET WINS FROM ST. LAWRENCE

Advantage Gained in First Half Enables Elis to Triumph, 26 to 25.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 15.—Yale tonight scored a 26 to 25 basketball victory over the St. Lawrence University five. Yale showed surprising offensive strength in the first half, leading 16 to 10 at intermission.

Although the home quintet was outscored, 15 to 10, in the second half, its margin was just large enough to assure victory.

Simmen, centre, starred for Yale with four baskets, and Burkman for St. Lawrence with five floor and two foul baskets. St. Lawrence's inability to toss goals from foul stifled its hopes of victory, eight being missed.

The line-up:

YALE (26).		ST. LAWRENCE (25)
McNulty	L.F.	Burkman
Ward	R.F.	Keller
Simmen	C.	Daley
Charlesworth	L.G.	Welti
Carmody	R.G.	Emblidge

Goals from field—Yale: Ward, McNulty (2), Simmen (4), Charlesworth, Carmody (2). Reeves. St. Lawrence: Burkman (5), Emblidge (3), Welti (3).

Substitutions—Fodder for McNulty, Billhardt for Ward, Reeves for Charlesworth.

Referee—Hayes. Umpire—Crawford. Time—20-minute halves.

PRINCETON IS VICTOR OVER LAFAYETTE FIVE

Miles, Guard, Is High Scorer as Tigers Triumph, 26-22—Lead, 18-9, at Half Time.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 15.—Coach Al Wittmer kept the huddle system under cover as his Princeton basketball team won tonight over the Lafayette quintet, 26 to 22, in the final game before the Tigers take to the road for the four games scheduled for the Christmas vacation.

Mike Miles, halfback, during the Fall and guard on the basketball team in the Winter, was the high scorer, with 9 points to his credit. The Tiger team is using the five-man attack, and although Miles and Captain Andrews are guards, they spent most of the action in the Lafayette territory.

The score at the half was 18 to 9, Princeton leading. Much of the scoring in the second period resulted from numerous fouls, called when the game became rough.

The line-up:

PRINCETON (26).		LAFAYETTE (22).
McCabe	R.F.	Bush
Hendricks	L.F.	Leisenering
Foot	C.	Hauser

STUYVESANT BEATS BOYS' HIGH, 17-15

Breaks Rivals' String of Five Basketball Victories and Pushes Own to Four.

NEWTOWN CAPTURES SIXTH

Finishes Fast to Down James Madison, 36-27—De Witt Clinton Defeats Englewood, 36-33.

The Stuyvesant High School basketball team scored its fourth consecutive victory of the season yesterday afternoon when it defeated the Boys' High School five, 17 to 15, in a close game played on the Brooklyn court. Romney and Markowitz, Stuyvesant forwards, starred in the victory, which broke the Boys' High winning streak of five games. Glickman was the outstanding star for Boys' High.

Stuyvesant used no substitutes and was pressed so hard by the Brooklyn players that there was never a chance to relieve the regulars. From a slow start, the Stuyvesant team worked up to a 9 to 5 lead at half time. Romney and Markowitz, each of whom scored two field goals, were largely responsible for the Stuyvesant lead in the first half. Boys' High rallied strongly in the second half, but did not have enough punch to overcome the Blue lead.

The line-up:

STUYVESANT (17).		BOYS' HIGH (15).
Romney	L.F.	Glickman
Markowitz	R.F.	Arginsky
Walker	C.	Lefft
Herman	L.G.	Wolfman
Smith	R.G.	Warshower

Goals from field—Stuyvesant: Romney (2), Markowitz (2), Walker, Herman. Boys': Arginsky (2), Warshower (2), Glickman. Peskowitz. Goals from foul—Stuyvesant: Romney (4), Markowitz. Boys': Peskowitz (2), Lefft.

Substitutions—Boys': Peskowitz for Wolfman.

Referee—Carroll, Boys' High School. Time of halves—15 minutes.

Newtown Takes Sixth in Row.

The undefeated Newtown High School basketball team scored its sixth victory of the season by defeating the James Madison High School quintet, 36 to 27, on the Newtown court yesterday afternoon. Displaying the same strong attack that has carried it ahead thus far this season the Newtown team earned a lead of 13 to 11 at half time. In the second half, Newtown worked up to a 17 to 11 lead, due to the fine playing of Hamill and Seewagen and then jumped into a lead of 24 to 17.

At this point Coach Barcley threw in three substitutes and James Madison rallied strongly, making ten points before the end of the game, while the Newtown seconds could only add two.

The line-up:

NEWTOWN (36).		JAMES MADISON (27)
Hamill	L.F.	H. Balber
De Phillipe	R.F.	Drucker
Gute	C.	Aronson
Seewagen	L.G.	S. Balber

Goals from field—Newtown: Hamill (4), Gute (3), Seewagen (3), Pugh (2), De Phillipe (2, McElroy. James Madison: H. Balber (4), Drucker (3), Aronson (2), S. Balber (2), Grossman. Goals from foul—Newtown: Gute (3), Seewagen, Pugh, Grynwald. James Madison: Zolbowits (2), Grossman.

Substitutions—Newtown: Vuola for Hamill, Ferris for De Phillipe, McElroy for Seewagen, Gynwald for Pugh; James Madison: Zolbowits for H. Balber.

Referee—Marinaro, Savage School. Umpire—Johnson, Newtown H. S. Time of halves—15 minutes.

Johnstone Excels for Berkeley.

With Howard and Johnstone, forwards, starring, the Berkeley-Irving School basketball team defeated the Loyola School quintet, 20 to 11, on the Berkeley court yesterday afternoon. Howard and Johnstone each scored three field goals. The latter also made three foul goals. Berkeley-Irving showed a smooth passing attack which earned a 7-to-3 lead at half time.

The line-up:

BERK-IRVING (20).		LOYOLA (11).
Howard	L.F.	McHale
Johnstone	R.F.	Bowe
Brown	C.	Buckhout
Norrington	L.G.	Parker
Rosenberg	R.G.	Drummond

Goals from field—Berkeley-Irving: Howard 2, Johnstone 3, Brown, Norrington. Loyola: Bowe, Buckhout, Parker, Drummond. Goals from foul—Berkeley-Irving: Johnstone 3, Norrington. Loyola: McHale, Bowe, Drummond.

Substitutions—Berkeley-Irving: Hutchinson for Brown, Brown for Hutchinson. Loyola: Maloney for McHale, McHale for Maloney.

Referee—Shaw. Time of quarters—8 minutes.

De La Salle Wins Third.

The third consecutive victory for the De La Salle Institute basketball team was scored yesterday afternoon when it defeated the Bishop Loughlin Memorial High School five, 25 to 12, on the court at the Ascension Parish House. Caniglia excelled in the victory which was easily scored after a closely contested first half.

The line-up:

DE LA SALLE (25).		LOUGHLIN (12)
Caniglia	L.F.	Whalen
Conboy	R.F.	Carroll
Manning	C.	Dwyer
Fullam	L.G.	Cushman

LEHIGH MAKES AWARDS FOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

Regular Insignia Go to 15 Players and Manager—Nine Contests on Completed 1927 Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 15.—Lehigh's Board of Athletic Control today awarded letters and ratified the 1927 football schedule. Fifteen players and the manager received the regular varsity award.

Varsity awards were made to William Littell, William Crane, Herbert G. Harmon, Merwyn Hand, Kurt W. Thum, J. Levitz, John Ford, Eugene O'Callaghan, John Hayes, Thomas Burke, V. A. Concilio, Herbert Cresswell, Jack Wilson, G. M. Simes, C. Sahnow and H. T. Martindale, manager. Special awards for faithful service were made to Chuck Farrell, T. Lynch, R. Gould and W. E. Martin.

The minor "L" award to freshmen went to Wilson, manager; Lentz, Gidding, Lincoln, Schourbrun, Dowell, Spangler and Hallock, assistants, and Wilde, Blackmar, Moore, McMahon, King, Galanos, Weber, Turgar, Pratt, Jackson, Gilbert, Webb, Bullard, Oller, Davidowitz, Johnson, Lehr, Bennett, Silverman, Pierce, Stewart, Daly, Gordon and Crolius.

The completed schedule for 1927 includes nine games, three away from home. The clash with St. John's College of Brooklyn Sept. 24 will open the season and the annual battle with Lafayette on Nov. 19, also listed for the home gridiron, closes the campaign.

The schedule:

Sept. 24, St. John's at home.
Oct. 1, Ursinus at home; 8, Delaware away; 15, Swarthmore at home; 22, Villanova at Philadelphia; 29, Muhlenberg at home.
Nov. 5, Bucknell at home; 12, Rutgers away; 19, Lafayette at home.

Glick to Box Ballerino.

Matchmaker Tom McArdle has arranged three ten-round bouts for the New Broadway Arena, Brooklyn, Monday night. Joe Glick will tackle Vincent Ballerino, former junior lightweight champion, in the main event. Jack Synder will engage Bobby Garcia in the semi-final, and in the first contest Joe Ryder will oppose George Nickfor.

Rutgers Five Loses to Columbia; Lehigh Bows to Fordham

COLUMBIA DEFEATS RUTGERS FIVE, 32-31

Smothers Late Rally and Wins Keenly Waged Struggle on Home Court.

ROTHENFELD SAVES GAME

Blue and White Forward Twice Averts Disaster by His Accurate Shooting.

The Columbia University basketball team won its first game and the Rutgers University quintet lost its first game of the season in the Columbia gymnasium last night. The score was 32 to 31 and the game was fast and rough all the way. A crowd of about 500 spectators saw the local team overcome the visitors' early lead and then maintain a slender advantage to the end of the game.

A completely changed line-up which moved like clockwork was largely responsible for the Blue and White success, although it was the individual brilliance of Jack Rothenfeld which twice saved the game for Columbia. Rothenfeld, in the final minutes of the game, scored two field goals to maintain the lead over the fast-charging Rutgers team.

Courtney, varsity centre, did not start the game, and it became known that he had been ordered by his physician to remain out for the remainder of the season. Rieger was moved from forward to centre to replace Courtney. Lorch was shifted from guard to forward to fill Rieger's place and V. Smith, a substitute, got into the game as a regular guard. Any misgivings which this radically changed line-up might have inspired in the minds of Blue and White supporters were quickly dismissed.

After a bad few minutes at the start, during which Rutgers ran up a 5 to 0 lead, the Columbia machine got going and never was headed. Although never in the lead by very much of a margin, Columbia always had the punch to stay there despite the sensational playing of Alton, Rutgers forward, and his teammates. Alton was the greatest player on the floor last night and was the high scorer of the game.

He scored six field goals and three foul goals and three times came within a point of taking the lead from Columbia. Columbia was ahead, 16 to 10, at half time. Riskin started the scoring for Rutgers in the second half, adding a field goal and a foul goal. With the score 16 to 13 Reiger made three field goals in succession, and Lorch added another to make the score 28 to 15. Here Rutgers rallied and brought the score to 24 to 19. Rothenfeld and Rieger then added field goals, but again a sensational Rutgers rally almost evened the score. Alton led his mates as they brought the score to 28 to 27.

With only a few minutes to play, and the crowd in an uproar, Rothenfeld added a field goal to put Columbia ahead, 30 to 27. Then Alton talked to make the count 30 to 29. Again the crowd rose with the expectation of a last minute victory for Rutgers. Rothenfeld, however, landed another basket from the field and made the score 32 to 29. Alton made two foul goals in the final minute, which brought the score to 32 to 31, but there Columbia held fast until the contest ended.

The line-up:

COLUMBIA (32).		RUTGERS (31).
Rothenfeld	L.F.	Alton
Lorch	R.F.	Mark
Rieger	C.	Rhorbach
Madden	L.G.	Holmes

Substitutions—Columbia: A. Smith for Madden. Rutgers: None.

Referee—Walsh, Hoboken High School. Umpire—Kinney, Yale. Time of halves—20 minutes.

BROWN QUINTET TRIUMPHS.

Gains Early Lead and Defeats New Bedford Textile, 43-13.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 15.—Brown scored its second basketball victory of the season tonight when it defeated New Bedford Textile here, 43 to 13. Brown scored twelve points before New Bedford made a goal from the floor and was leading, 25 to 8, at the half. Allison made five of his six baskets on the tap off to Frost and return.

The line-up:

BROWN (43).		NEW BEDFORD (13)
Frost	L.F.	Francis Tripp
S. Heller	R.F.	Rawcliffe
Allison	C.	Schofield
H. Heller	L.G.	Bruce
Heffernan	R.G.	Fred Tripp

Goals from field—Brown: Allison (6), S. Heller (5), Heffernan (3), Frost (2), Slater. New Bedford: Schofield (2), Rawcliffe. Goals from foul—Brown: Heffernan (5), S. Heller (2), Frost, Parker. New Bedford: Lovosky (2), Rawcliffe (2), Fred Tripp, Brotherson, Francis Tripp.

Substitutions—Brown: O'Brien for Frost, Slater for S. Heller, Stoneman for Allison, O'Hare for H. Heller, Parker for Heffernan. New Bedford: Lovosky for Fred Tripp, Brotherson for Bruce, Adams for Francis Tripp. Referee—Roy Howard, Rhode Island State. Time—20 minute halves.

Gets Freak Hole-in-One, Buys Treat, but Shot Is Overruled

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP). — British golfers are puzzling over a freak hole-in-one and a question of golf etiquette at the same time. A player's tee shot rolled past the flag, up the sloping back at the back of the green and into a rabbit hole. By a local rule the ball was picked out and dropped without penalty. It rolled down the sloping green and into the cup. Observing time-honored custom, the player tipped his caddie handsomely and bought refreshments for his friends, only to be told later that a referee would not have allowed the hole because a golfer is not supposed to gain any advantage other than a fair lie when dropping a picked-up ball. If the ball could not have been dropped without rolling, experts ruled, it should have been placed in a fair lie by hand.

FORDHAM IS VICTOR OVER LEHIGH FIVE

Maroon Avenges Last Year's Defeat by Winning, 31 to 27, Before 1,500.

ZAKSZEWSKI LEADS ATTACK

Dougherty Also Nets Four Field Goals and One Foul—Smith Stars for the Losers.

Fordham secured revenge for its defeat at the hands of Lehigh last year by triumphing over the visitors, 31 to 27, in a closely played game at the Maroon gymnasium last night before a crowd of 1,500. The Maroon exhibited a close defense which forced the Pennsylvanians to resort almost entirely to long distance shooting.

The Brown and White guarding also was close, and although the Maroon managed to break through occasionally, its shooting was hurried. Jim Zakszewski and Frank Dougherty were the stars for the home team. Each tallied four baskets and one foul. However, Zakszewski held his man scoreless while running up his total while Smith, the Lehigh forward, matched Dougherty's four with a quartet of baskets of his own.

Lehigh commenced the scoring against the second team when Hesse netted a foul goal, but this lead was short-lived. Landers sank a field goal and DeLany rimmed another and then the ball moved around without a tally until the varsity entered the fray. Almost immediately the first team registered a basket. Dougherty moved the count up to 7 to 1 and then Smith dropped in a brace of field goals to make the score 7 to 5. Adams made a foul, but C. Schaub and Billmeyer quickly evened the score at 8-all.

After Dougherty's basket Fordham pulled away and White also dropped one to give the Maroon a four-point lead at 12 to 8. C. Schaub netted a foul, but Zackzewski balanced this with a pair of dazzling field goals. Smith's shot from the floor brought the score up to 16 to 11 as the half ended.

Lehigh started off the scoring in the second half, when Billmeyer dropped in a field goal, but Zakszewski, Dougherty and Leary netted the ball from the floor in rapid succession to give Fordham a substantial lead. Hess tallied twice, but White shot a field goal to bring the score up to 23 to 17. Smith matched this with another goal from the field.

Dougherty dropped in two baskets and C. Schaub sank one to make the score 27 to 21. Adams and Zakszewski brought the Fordham total up to 31. Two baskets by C. Schaub and one by Billmeyer concluded the Lehigh registering and the final count remained at 31 to 27.

The line-up:

FORDHAM (31).		LEHIGH (27).
Schneider	L.F.	C. Schaub
Landers	R.F.	Smith
De Lany	C.	E. Schaub
Reardon	L.G.	Hesse
Woods	R.G.	Billmeyer

Goals from field—Fordham: Zakszewski (4), Dougherty (4), White, Landers, Adams, De Lany, Leary; Lehigh: Smith (4), C. Schaub (3), Hesse (2), Billmeyer (3). Goals from foul—Fordham: White (2), Adams, Zakszewski, Dougherty; Lehigh: C. Schaub (2), Hesse.

Substitutions—Fordham: White for Schneider, Adams for Landers, Zakszewski for De Lany, Leary for Reardon, Dougherty for Woods; Lehigh: Ziendarski for Smith, Smith for Ziendarski.

FORDHAM FRESHMEN WIN.

Triumph, 17-13, Over Xavier Five, Halting 7-Game Winning Streak.

The seven-game winning streak of the Xavier High School quintet was halted last night when the Fordham freshmen gained their third straight victory, 17 to 13, in the preliminary game to the Fordham-Lehigh clash at the Maroon gymnasium. The Xavier five is coached by Tex Landry, who starred for the Fordham varsity last season. At half time the score stood 11 to 5 in favor of the yearlings, but Xavier rallied in the second half and came within two points of the Maroon at 15 to 13. Denzer's basket placed the cubs firmly in the lead.

The line-up:

FORDHAM F. (17).		XAVIER (13).
Taillon	L.F.	Paeone
Mulvey	R.F.	Crowley
Denzer	C.	Quinn
Nellan	L.G.	Linisky
Anglin	R.G.	Craig

Substitutions—Fordham Freshmen: Edwards for Taillon, Dillon for Edwards, Taillon for Dillon, Sheedy for Anglin, Anglin for Sheedy. Xavier: Brock for Paeone, Paeone for Brock, Craig for Quinn, McMorrow for Craig, Quinn for McMorrow.

Referee—Ed Hastings, Cornell. Time of quarters—Eight minutes.

Pennsylvania Colleges Form Their Football Little Three

READING, Pa., Dec. 15 (AP).—A Pennsylvania Little Three football conference, similar to that of Amherst, Williams and Wesleyan has been formed by Schuyler, Albright and Lebanon Valley colleges and will begin operation next Fall. All games of the conference will be played in the Schuylkill Stadium, Reading, according to announcement tonight by Robert B. Pawling, Director of Athletics at Schuylkill. Dates for the games have not been announced.

YALE'S SWIM TEAM BEATS CANADIANS

Downs Dominion College Champions in Elis' Pool by 47 to 15

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 15.—Yale defeated the Canadian intercollegiate championship swimming team composed of McGill and Toronto University mermen, here tonight, 47 to 15.

The visitors won only a single first, Gibbons of McGill taking the fancy dive in a close competition from Walsh of Yale.

Captain Bunnell of the Yale football and swimming teams won the fifty-yard event in a keen finish from his team mate, Pope. Sanford's exhibition in the furlong swim for Yale was excellent. Greer, in the 100-yard backstroke outclassed his field and won easily.

The summaries:

50-Yard Swim—Won by Bunnell, Yale; second, Pope, Yale; third, Lorenzo, McGill. Time—0:25 1-5.
220-Yard Swim—Won by Sanford, Yale; second, Dorn, McGill; third, Langner, Yale. Time—2:27 2-5.
Fancy Dive—Won by Gibbons, McGill; second, Walsh, Yale; third, Vaden, Yale.
100-Yard Back Stroke—Won by Greer, Yale; second, Nebo, Toronto; third, Thompson, Toronto. Time—1:10 3-5.
100-Yard Breast Stroke—Won by Taliffero, Yale; second, Redpatch, Yale; third, Lawrenson, Toronto. Time—1:16 1-5.
100-Yard Free Stroke—Won by Mayers, Yale; second, Scott, Yale; third, Blattsberg, Toronto. Time—0:58 4-5.
200-Yard Relay—Won by Yale (Clarke, Meaney, Sullivan and Claytor). Time—1:42.

STEVENS FIVE VICTOR.

Beats Upsala Quintet in Game at East Orange by 36-23.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 15.—Stevens Tech defeated the Upsala College quintet here tonight in a hard-fought game. The visitors won, 36-23, by a rally in the final half. At the end of the first period the score was deadlocked 17-all, but the Stevens drive was too much for the home team in the final session.

The line-up:

STEVENS (36).		UPSALA (23).
Meinhold	L.F.	Forsberg
Aschoff	R.F.	Law
Kerr	C.	Parsons
Smith	L.G.	Johnson
McWatt	R.G.	Sjostrom

Goals from field—Stevens: Aschoff 5, Kerr 4, Meinhold 3, Smith 2. Upsala: Forsberg 4, Parsons 5, Law, Sjostrom. Goals from foul—Stevens: Aschoff 6, Meinhold, Kerr. Upsala: Parsons.

Substitutions—Stevens: Turner for Meinhold, Kramer for Aschoff, Moxon for Kerr, Brister for Smith, Penn for McWatt. Upsala: Spose for Johnson.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Day of Mixed Advances and Declines in Stocks—Money 4½, Franc Higher.

The really noteworthy movements in yesterday's markets were the continued strength and activity in bonds, whose "averages" rose to the highest since April, 1913; the easing-off in call-money rates to 4½ per cent.; a quarter-cent rise in cotton, carrying the spot price to the highest price of the present month, nearly ¾ cent above the month's lowest, and a renewed though more gradual rise in the franc, which nearly touched the 4-cent price again. In the stock market, no change in character of movement occurred. One set of stocks was bid up while another set was falling under the weight of sales by recent professional speculators for the rise, helped along as usual by operators for the decline.

A poor sort of pretense has been made, both by Wall Street gossips and b professed chroniclers of the movement, to ascribe to news or "rumor" the shifting of spasmodic bidding from one group of speculative shares on Monday to another on Tuesday and still another on Wednesday. But such alternation has not the least relation to the news. It is merely part of the game; for, although the exhibition is being conducted b trained experts, no prestidigitateur can reasonably be expected to keep more than four or five balls in the air at the same time.

The notable strength in the investment bond market continued, affecting again both domestic and foreign loans. In the foreign field, Italian 7 per cents rose ⅝ point, making a total advance of 2½ p ints in a week. Mr. Morrow's very striking analysis, published yesterday, of the constituency which takes these bonds, probably gave to many people a new idea of the kind of investment demand which is absorbing them. When it is proved that, in five of the typical and lar est issues of new foreign loans in this market during the four past years, the percentage taken by subscribers for $5,000 or less ranged from 42% to 63, and that the percentage of such buyers to the total number of subscribers ranged from 79½ to 91, the change from pre-war days in the attitude of the average American investor toward foreign loans would seem to be complete.

Not very long ago, it was frequently argued that these purchases, being presumably made for the higher rate of interest and in defiance of dangers which surrounded political and financial Europe, ought to be subject of public warning. Yet the events of 1925 and 1926 have made it look as if the investors had read the political and financial future more correctly even than the statesmen. There has perhaps been no more surprising an incident in this year's markets than the failure of the French Republic's bonds to fall more than a point or so on the New York Stock Exchange during the crisis of July, when even Paris bankers began to despair of saving the French Treasury from insolvency. But the next four months have proved rather conclusively that the market was right and the Paris bankers wrong.

Yesterday's statement of the country's foreign trade in November shows how curiously fluctuating a thing our "monthly balance" nowadays is. In March the excess of our imports over exports, $68,480,000, was the largest in our history; it compared with a $68,276,000 export surplus in March of 1925. But in November the excess of exports over imports, $105,000,000, is $34,000,000 greater than in the same month of 1925. Whereas exports in March were less by $79,247,000 than a year before, November's exports overtop last year by $33,000,000. Even the imports make a different comparison. In March they exceeded 1925 by $57,500,000; in November they were less than last year.

One explanation for these inconsistencies is that whereas cotton exports last March, not only because of lower prices but because 220,000 bales less were sent abroad, fell $41,500,000 short of their value of March, 1925, November's export is shown by the "cotton-consumption statement" to have been greater by 279,000 bales than in 1925. It nearly reached the highest recorded monthly shipment. The second obvious cause is increase of more than $15,000,000 in last month's wheat exports over the preceding November. Possibly it may be inferred that, contrary to much recent reasoning, large American crops have their economic advantages.

THE protection of the food supply of a large city is so vital that the cold storage business becomes an essential industry.

BLODGET & CO. JOIN STONE & WEBSTER

$10,000,000 Company Formed for Investment Business of Both Houses.

BRANCHES WILL BE MERGED

Bayard F. Pope to Be Head of New Organization—Other Officials From Each Concern.

Formation of a $10,000,000 investment house was announced yesterday with the news that Stone & Webster, Inc., and Blodget & Co. have consolidated as Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., and will commence business on Jan. 1, 1927. The corporation is a combination of the securities department of the former firm and the investment house of the latter. The engineering and construction, management and investigation departments of Stone & Webster, Inc., will not be affected by the merger.

Bayard F. Pope, now a partner of Blodget & Co., will be President of the new corporation. Other officers and directors will be drawn from each participating concern. They are C. E. Ober, H. R. Hayes and R. H. Carleton, Senior Vice Presidents; T. T. Whitney Jr., P. L. Warren, J. D. Thomas, R. H. Von Dusen, A. C. Denmore, J. E. Baker and A. E. Griffin, Vice Presidents; F. T. Pratt, Secretary, and Howard F. Neill, Treasurer. The directors will be these officers, except Mr. Pratt and Mr. Neill, together with C. A. Stone, E. S. Webster, H. G. Bradlee, G. O. Muhlfeld, F. F. Royce and F. H. Cabot Jr.

The main offices of the new concern will be at 120 Broadway. The branches that have been maintained by each company in Chicago and Boston will be merged under the new plan and will be under the direction of Mr. Ober and Mr. Von Dusen. Other offices in Providence, R. I.; Hartford, Conn.; Rochester and Albany, N. Y., and Portland, Me., will be included in the combination and will continue operation.

Blodget & Co. were organized in Boston forty-one years ago. Until the World War most of their business was in New England, but in the last ten years their office in this city has increased its business and distribution several hundred per cent. Stone & Webster, Inc., was established in 1889 to engage in engineering and construction. Four years later it undertook the operation of public utilities and has been outstandingly successful in this field. The inclusion of a securities department was an outgrowth of this operating business.

"Stone & Webster, Inc., has built up a substantial securities business over a period of many years," said Charles A. Stone, Chairman, "which, combined with the banking business of Blodget & Co., will give the utmost diversified experience to the new corporation. While this new concern will be operated in an entirely independent capacity, it will have at its elbow the comprehensive engineering and construction and analysis service of Stone & Webster, Inc."

Commenting upon the consolidation, Mr. Pope said:

"The amount of new money needed annually reaches a figure almost beyond belief. The largest part of this huge sum must be obtained on long-term securities taken by investors, either individually or collectively through deposits in savings institutions or premiums paid to insurance companies. This has made it necessary for security and banking houses to offer service national in its scope in order to fulfill their obligations both to the investor and to the thousands of municipalities, utilities, railroads and industrial companies which are depending on such houses to secure the needed funds for refinancing and development. Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., will be in a position to meet these needs of both interests. We realize that the security dealer is absolutely dependent on the confidence of the investor-at-large, and in order to deserve this confidence and to expand the service which we can render to the fullest extent we have effected this combination."

Mr. Pope was graduated from Harvard in 1908 and went to the banking house of Mason, Lewis & Co. of Chicago. This company was dissolved in 1910 and he joined Blodget & Co. He was charged with developing the office here about ten years ago. He was vice director of publicity in New York for the Liberty loans. He became a partner in Blodget & Co. in 1919. He is a director in the New England Power Association, the General Public Service Corporation, the Engineers Public Service Company and the Virginia Electric and Power Company.

COMPANIES ANNOUNCE CHRISTMAS BONUSES

Empire Trust to Pay Employes 16½ to 27% of Annual Salaries —10% by C. W. Hill Co.

Christmas bonusss for employes were announced yesterday by a number of firms and institutions. One of the largest was that made by directors of the Empire Trust Company, who voted a cash bonus to employes, which together with the bonuses payable under the company's pension plan, will aggregate for the year from 16½ per cent. to 27 per cent. of annual salaries, depending upon length of service.

The Granite National Bank announced plans for a bonus to be paid employes on Dec. 23, for an unstated amount. In a formal statement made by the company, it was said that the report of the cashier had been so satisfactory that it was found possible by the directors to declare a bonus.

The board of the Bankers Trust Company has authorized the payment of a Christmas bonus equivalent to 8 per cent. of the annual salaries paid to employes.

Directors of the Charles W. Hill Company have declared a Christmas bonus of 10 per cent. of salaries received during the year by all employes.

The Bank of Rockville Center and Trust Company will present to each employe a Christmas gift of 20 per cent. of his annual salary. The directors also announced a semi-annual dividend of 12 per cent., which places the new combined stock, issued last February when the capital was increased to $100,000 on a par with the old stock.

Pennsylvania Gas Stock Offering.

A. C. Allyn & Co., Inc., are offering today at 95 and accrued dividend, to yield 7.37 per cent., a new issue of 10,000 shares of Pennsylvania Gas & Electric Corporation $7 cumulative preferred stock of no par value. The issue is redeemable in whole or in part on any dividend date on thirty days' notice at $110 a share and accrued dividends.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

United States Steel common was the outstanding feature of yesterday's advance on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading in this issue was heavier than it has been in some time, total sales running to more than 200,000 shares. One factor in the day's trading activity undoubtedly was the decline in call money from the renewal rate of 5 per cent. to 4 per cent. The Stock Market was not uniformly strong throughout the day, there being occasional periods of weakness as profit-taking appeared. The general list moved heavily around the close of the first hour under heavy selling pressure, but stocks which were supported soon resumed the advance.

Feeding a Market's Imagination

It is not at all unusual that such stock markets as those of the last few days should bring to light any number of stories to account for particular moves in this or that stock. The first question which Wall Street asks when this or that stock begins to move is, "What is going on?" Naturally, some sort of answer is furnished, even though it comes out of the imagination of a customer's man. Two cases in point were presented yesterday. One was a report of the merger of the Commercial Cables and the Radio Corporation of America; another, a rumor that the Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Steamship Company would be absorbed by the International Mercantile Marine. These two rumors, picked up in most of the brokerage house gossip, did not last any longer than it took for them to reach the ears of officials of either company, authorized to issue denials.

Views as to a "Reaction"

While the attitude of a good portion of the Wall Street community toward the present stock market is that it is "too good to be true," many leading commission houses took pains yesterday to emphasize that none of the signs that usually foreshadow a reaction has yet appeared. The market, they held yesterday, has absorbed profit-taking in such a manner as to indicate that the buying power has not yet approached exhaustion. The short interest, it seemed to be generally agreed, is being eliminated rather fast, but the process is far from complete. The uncovered short interest alone should supply sufficient motive power for a fairly active market for some days, according to some opinions.

***

With the Recording Angel

One of the biggest operators in Wall Street, who frequently carries a good-sized block of stock and who usually, when he acquires this stock, takes on a few hundred shares in the name of of his wife, is grumbling about the advance in Texas Land Trust, which, incidentally, reeled off a gain of 320 points yesterday. "These big gains in that stock are getting me in bad," he said yesterday. "Almost every night my wife, who knows nothing at all about the stock market, goes over the stock list and usually finds gains ranging from 50 to 200 or 300 points in this particular stock. Then she wants to know why I haven't some of that instead of such stocks as Steel and General Motors, which only move 2 or 3 points a day. I find it most difficult to explain. How can I have an answer ready for her?"

***

Investment Rails Strong

The higher-priced railroad shares of an investment character showed unusual activity in yesterday's trading. Bankers explained it as due to switching from industrial holdings by a few of the important groups. There was also said to be a strong indication that the railroads' heavy tax bill, which this year will require as large a fund as will be paid out to stockholders, may be materially reduced in 1927 and thereafter. States and municipalities are showing a tendency to follow the Government's lead in reducing taxes. They are also, according to this view, thinking twice now before entering upon new expenditures.

Money in Large Supply

A reduction in interest rates on Federal Reserve funds shared attention yesterday with the generally easier tone in the money market. The rate on Reserve funds recently had gone as much as 1 per cent. over the rediscount rates. Yesterday it was slightly below the rediscount level. The heavy accumulation of funds in connection with the mid-month financing was the principal explanation of the drop from 5 to 4½ per cent. in the call money rate. The funds paid off on Government maturities became available for use in the market, while the payments of taxes and other items will not become effective at the banks for several days. Ease was apparent also in the time money market.

Pressure on Sterling Ends

The further advance in sterling exchange, which brought the rate yesterday to the highest level that it has reached in two months, was regarded as evidence that the supply of commodity bills in the market had been pretty thoroughly cleaned up and that the year's worst pressure on sterling had definitely passed. British buying this year was later than usual, partly because of the lateness of the cotton and other crops in this country and partly because the ordinary commodity purchasing was held back to give the right of way to coal imports necessitated by the strike. A firm range of sterling rates is generally expected by bankers from now until well into the Spring. The reports in London cables of £459,000 gold bars taken from the Bank of England yesterday and £803,000 on Tuesday were not explained. The cables stated that the destination was not given. Until three or four weeks ago London was sending gold freely to Berlin.

Investing Christmas Bonuses.

If precedent is followed, the large Christmas bonuses now being distributed in Wall Street will have an effect on several sections of the investment market. Many employes receiving cash put at least a portion of it into Liberty and other bonds, while many firms making holiday distributions do so in the form of gilt-edged securities. As is usual at this time of year, investment houses report large orders for bonds of small denominations, particularly in the Government group. This has contributed to the high prices established in many of these issues.

A Problem in "Broadcasting."

The action of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in divesting itself of its radio broadcasting properties has caused some conjecture in Wall Street as to what will be the ultimate fate of the transatlantic wireless telephone system which the company is developing. In disposing of its broadcasting facilities, A. T. & T. apparently was following a policy indicated when it segregated the merchandising business of its manufacturing agency, the Western Electric. It would appear that, as a company operating in interstate commerce under rates fixed by numerous official bodies, A. T. & T. wished to concentrate its activities on the communications field. That it should be able to experiment in the radio field is explained by the comparatively loose form of regulation under which the company operates. It is thought possible that in order to avert trouble the company may dispose of its radio telephone development as soon as possible, the logical recipient being the Western Union system.

MONEY.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 15, 1926.

Accumulations in the local banks against corporate disbursements and Government financing brought a measure of relief to the market for Stock Exchange demand loans; and with the passing of the heavy withdrawals the rate eased to 4½ per cent. at midday, after starting and renewing at 5. Street loans were placed at 4¼. Time money was quiet and unchanged at 4½@4¾ per cent. Business continued mostly against renewals. Commercial paper and acceptances developed no variations.

Detroit City Gas Company

First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series "B", 5%.

Dated October 1, 1925 — Due October 1, 1950.

Interest payable in New York City April 1 and October 1 without deduction for any normal Federal income tax now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 2%. The Company will refund upon proper application any Pennsylvania Personal property tax not in excess of four mills and any Massachusetts income tax not to exceed 6% per annum. Tax exempt in Michigan to residents of that State.

This offering consists of bonds already issued and does not involve any new financing by the Company.

ISSUANCE AUTHORIZED BY THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

The Detroit City Gas Company, in the opinion of counsel, has the corporate right, without limit as to time, granted under the general laws of the State of Michigan, to conduct its business in the City of Detroit and other communities served. An ordinance contract with the City fixing rates to be charged for gas expired October 31, 1923, and in the absence of a new agreement between the City and the Company, the latter is charging rates fixed by itself under authority of a decision of the Supreme Court of Michigan. The question of rates, in the opinion of counsel, may be submitted to the Michigan Public Utilities Commission, as provided in the statutes of Michigan.

BUSINESS

The Detroit City Gas Company does all the gas business in Detroit, Michigan, the fourth largest city in the United States and in some adjacent territory, serving without competition a population estimated to be in excess of 1,350,000. The Company and its predecessors have rendered service without interruption since about 1854 and over this long period the business has shown a record of development which establishes it as one of the foremost gas companies in the United States.

SECURITY

The mortgage securing these bonds is, in the opinion of counsel, a direct first lien upon all the fixed properties, rights and franchises of the Company, with the exception of that part formerly owned by the Detroit and Suburban Gas Company, an acquired company, representing about 2% of the total value of the property, which is subject to the lien of a closed mortgage under which there are outstanding $930,000 bonds. The sound value of the Company's properties is more than twice the total amount of bonds outstanding.

EARNINGS

The income account of Detroit City Gas Company for the 12 months ended October 31, 1925 and 1926 is as follows:

	12 mos. ended Oct. 31, 1925	12 mos. ended Oct. 31, 1926
Gross Earnings	$14,600,742.23	$16,049,328.78
Operating Expenses, Maintenance & Taxes	10,443,730.37	11,689,459.01
Available for Interest and Depreciation	$ 4,157,011.86	$ 4,359,869.77
Annual Bond Interest Requirements		1,356,500.00

Net earnings for the twelve months ended October 31, 1926, as given above, were equivalent to 3.21 times annual interest requirements on the Company's entire funded debt. These net earnings were obtained under rates which are the lowest for manufactured gas in the ten largest cities in the country.

MANAGEMENT

The operation of Detroit City Gas Company is under the supervision of American Light & Traction Company, which owns all of the outstanding stock of Detroit City Gas Company, excepting directors' qualifying shares. The American Light & Traction Company is one of the largest public utility holding companies in the country.

We offer these bonds when, as and if received and accepted by us and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary bonds exchangeable for definitive bonds will be ready for delivery on or about December 28, 1926.

Price: 100 and accrued interest to yield 5.00%.

REAL ESTATE SEPARATE

Committee Negotiating With Line's Bondholders for Cash to Meet Requirements.

A plan to bring the Second Avenue Railroad Company out of receivership for the first time since 1908 was made public yesterday by the committee representing holders of the road's receivers' certificates. It is proposed to buy the road at auction on Jan. 12 and then to form two corporations to control severally the real estate and railway properties of the company. Sentiment among owners of the railroad's bonds is said to favor the plan.

In the announcement of the plan, the committee pays tribute to the work of Charles E. Chalmers, who was appointed receiver in 1920, in maintaining the property. If the property had been liquidated then, it says, certificate holders would have received negligible amounts. The road now requires no funds except to settle claims. Certificates and interest charges to Nov. 1 amount to $3,942,420.

"The operating condition of the road justifies the proposed lifting of the receivership," said Mr. Chalmers yesterday. "It was a hard job rehabilitating the line, but it also was a pleasure. We think now that we have a pretty good railroad for any one whose business takes him far enough east to come into our territory."

Surplus For This Year.

Mr. Chalmers is the fourth receiver of the road, the three others being now dead. The road showed a surplus after charges of $88,000 in the year to Sept. 30.

The proposed real estate corporation would have a bonded indebtedness not to exceed $750,000 secured by a first mortgage on the car barn property and a capital issue of 31,400 shares of no-par stock. This lien would be placed on the land and improvements only to the extent necessary to meet cash requirements in the event that such funds were not provided by the consolidated mortgage bondholders. The stock would be exchanged for receivers' certificates in the ratio of ten shares for each $1,000 certificate.

The proceeds of the first mortgage loan, if placed on the property, would be used to the extent necessary to purchase an amount of the proposed street railway corporation's first lien 6 per cent. thirty-year bonds to provide cash for the latter corporation's operation. If the committee was able to bid in the road at a price within the amount of the certificates found to have been expended in preserving and operating the road, the amount of the first mortgage loan would be confined to cash requirements.

Looking to Bondholders.

"The committee has been conferring with representatives of the consolidated mortgage bondholders on sundry proposals looking to the providing by them of the 'cash requirements' in exchange for an interest in the railway corporation," says the statement of the certificate holders' committee. "This would save the car barn property for the certificate holders free from lien. The principal obstacle has been the difficulty of arranging a contract to obtain power for operation. There is still a possibility that the consolidated mortgage bondholders will provide said 'cash requirements'."

The proposed railway corporation would acquire the property, rights, interests and franchises of the Second Avenue Railroad Company, exclusive of real estate. It would have a bonded indebtedness not to exceed $750,000 of first lien 6 per cent. thirty-year bonds, callable at 102½, and a capitalization of 31,400 shares of no-par stock. This stock would be exchanged ten for one for certificates in the event that cash requirements were met by a mortgage on the real estate. However, if they are met by bondholders, this stock would be divided between bondholders and certificate holders in amounts to be determined by the committee.

The Second Avenue railway runs from 129th Street on Second Avenue to Chrystie Street, Grand Street, the Bowery and Worth Street to Broadway, and has branches in First Avenue, Avenue A, Fifty-ninth Street, Eighty-sixth Street and Ninety-sixth Street ferry. The company was incorporated in 1853.

The committee of receivers' certificate holders comprises George E. Warren, Chairman; Albert A. Jackson, George E. Barstow Jr., Herman D. Kountze and John F. B. Mitchell.

$1,670, A RECORD PRICE PAID FOR A STOCK

Texas Pacific Land Trust Shares Soar 320 Points in Day—Doubled Since Nov. 8.

An advance of 320 points in the shares of Texas Pacific Land Trust certificates on the Stock Exchange yesterday brought them up to $1,670 a share, the highest price at which any stock ever has sold on the Exchange. As an evidence of the scarcity of the supply of these securities only 222 shares were sold on the Exchange yesterday, all in ten-share lots. The low price for the day was $1,410 and the high and closing was $1,670.

The Texas Pacific Land Trust certificates have more than doubled in price since Nov. 8. On that day they sold on the Stock Exchange at $830. The corporation owns a vast amount of land, much of it oil producing, in Texas and New Mexico, and its certificates, of which a small number are outstanding, represent sole ownership, the dividends being determined at the end of the year by the number of certificates outstanding. These are being gradually bought in and retired by the company itself.

The former record price for a security listed on the Stock Exchange was $1,575 at which Atlantic Refining Company shares sold prior to the declaration of a 900 per cent. stock dividend in 1922. There is no speculation in these certificates, and the fluctuation in price is merely due to the filling of bids made for the stock.

Guaranteed 8% Bonds

We endorse each bond guaranteeing interest and principal, which we collect and pay promptly. Bonds are secured by first mortgages on centrally located office buildings, commercial property, hotels and apartments in Florida worth twice amount of loan, as determined by independent appraisals. We sell individual 8% mortgage loans known as "standard life insurance company loans." Many insurance and trust companies purchase our securities. Our company, established seven years ago, specializes in first mortgage loans. Interest payable New York City if desired; titles insured by New York Title and Mortgage Company. THE Republic of Chile unconditionally guarantees by endorsement, payment of principal, interest and sinking fund.

Moreover, the institution itself is engaged in a business of fundamental character, loaning only on first mortgages on improved property. These loans are well diversified and represent less than 25% of the aggregate appraised value of the properties mortgaged. For over seventy years the bank has had an excellent record and has always met its obligations.

RECORD PRICES PAID FOR ERIE PREFERRED

Demand Attributed in Wall Street to Effect of Van Sweringens' Plan.

NO DIVIDENDS SINCE 1907

The first and second preferred stocks of the Erie Railroad advanced to new high records yesterday in an unusually large turnover of the shares involved. The first preferred reached 53 and the second preferred, 49¾. No dividends have been paid on either class of stock since April 2, 1907.

Approximately 35,000 shares of the first preferred were purchased and 2,300 shares of the second preferred, in a market that was assumed to be stimulated by progress in the plan of the Van Sweringen brothers for a railroad consolidation as indicated by their reported intention to place John J. Bernet, President of the Nickel Plate, at the head of the Erie.

Additional confirmation was obtained of the intention of Frederick D. Underwood to retire as President of the Erie at the first of next year and official announcement to that effect is expected this week. Mr. Underwood refused yesterday to discuss his retirement. He directed his secretary to say that he had "not resigned yet."

Weanwhil Wall Street is anxiously awaiting the next move of the trunk line promoters, which is expected soon. The impression exists in some circles that this move will be made before the first of the year, and that the postponement yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission of a hearing on the application of the Chesapeake & Ohio to acquire the Chesapeake & Hocking had an important bearing on it. The commission had set Dec. 20 as the date to hear the petition of the Chesapeake & Ohio to lease the newly created Chesapeake & Hocking, but yesterday it announced a postponement until Jan. 20. It is understood that the commission let it be known to interveners in the case that good reasons existed for change in the time.

Cities Service Earnings Rise.

Gross earnings of the Cities Service Company in November were $2,274,189 against $1,557,063 in November, 1925. Net to common stock and reserves was $1,438,844 against $839,051, an increase of 7.15 per cent. Gross earnings for the year to Nov. 30 were $24,465,506 against $19,399,943 in the preceding period. Net to common stock and reserves was $14,769,216 against $11,214,712 or $3.82 per share of $20 par common stock against $2.99.

Central America Railway Earnings.

The International Railways of Central America report October gross earnings of $347,706 compared with $477,253 in that month of 1925. Ten months' gross was $5,830,570 compared with $5,216,242. The balance applicable to common stock at the end of the ten-month period was $1,164,858 compared with $1,027,228 at the end of the same period last year.

Buys His Ninth Membership In Commodity Exchanges

Jerome Lewine of H. Hentz & Co. acquired yesterday his ninth membership in leading commodity exchanges, when he purchased a seat on the New York Cocoa Exchange. He holds personal memberships in the New York Cotton Exchange, the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, the Liverpool Cotton Association (associate membership), the Chicago Board of Trade, the New York Produce Exchange, the Rubber Exchange of New York, the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The firm of which Mr. Lewine is a member holds membership in eleven exchanges. H. N. Baruch, one of Mr. Lewine's partners, is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and Edmund J. Fitzgerald, another partner, holds a seat on the New York Curb Exchange.

CHICAGO MEN ELECTED TO N. Y. RAIL BOARD

Fifth Av. Coach Co., Owners of Common Stock, Denies Transfer of Control.

Election of eight Chicago men to the Board of Directors of the New York Railways Corporation, all of the common stock of which was acquired last May by the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, was taken in the financial district yesterday to indicate a return in a measure to power of the Chicago group which up until last May had had control of the coach company.

The eight men whose election to the board was announced yesterday are John Hertz, who was made Chairman of the board; John A. Ritchie, President of the Chicago Motor Coach Company; Alfred Ettlinger, Vice President of Lawrence Stern & Co.; Albert D. Lasker, Edward N. D'Ancona, Charles A. McCulloch, Stuyvesant Peabody and Leonard S. Florsheim.

An executive of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company denied last night that the election to the board of the New York Railways Corporation constituted a transfer of control of the company back to Chicago.

"It will be remembered," the executive pointed out, "that last May all of the common stock of the New York Railways Corporation was acquired by the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, and this could hardly indicate that control of the concern had passed out of present hands. It is a certainty that the number of New York men on the board of the corporation is twice that of the Chicago men, and there has been nothing said to me of any changes in the financial position of the company nor in the personnel of the governing body."

Trust Company Elects F. W. Walz.

Frederick W. Walz, formerly Treasurer of the New York Trust Company, was elected a Vice President of the company yesterday and placed in charge of the branch at Madison Avenue and Fortieth Street. He will succeed James G. Blaine, who has been elected to the presidency of the Fidelity Trust Company of New York. Theodore C. Hovey, formerly Assistant Vice President, will succeed Mr. Walz as Treasurer.

AMERICANS TO GET BARCO CONCESSION

Colombian Cabinet Reported to Have Voted Restoration of Oil Agreement.

STOCKS RISE ON EXCHANGES

Settlement of Disputes Placed in Hands of the Minister of Internal Development.

Cabled advices were received in the financial district yesterday from Bogota that the Cabinet of Colombia by unanimous vote had designated the Minister of Fomento, in charge of commerce and internal development of the republic, to act upon the matter of settling the controversy relative to restoration of the Barco concession to American oil companies. This concession was canceled on Feb. 3, 1926.

It is understood that all disagreements between the companies and the Government have now been settled and that the concessions will be restored to the companies by Governmental decree within a short time. The cable news brought a sharp upturn in the South American oils, notably Gulf Oil, American Maracaibo and Carib Syndicate on the Curb Exchange, as well as the South American oils on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Barco concession, in which several American companies have an important interest, was granted by Colombia to General Virgilio Barco on Oct. 16, 1905, to terminate on Oct. 31, 1955. The concession authorized the exploitation of petroleum, coal and asphalt deposits in North Santander, embracing a territory of 2,000 square miles and including the famous Maracaibo basin along the Colombian and Venezuelan frontier. General Barco held the concession thirteen years and then assigned it to the Colombian Petroleum Company, of which the Gulf Oil Company owns 75 per cent. and the Carib Syndicate 25 per cent. Under the terms of the sale of the concession, a 15 per cent. royalty was payable to General Barco's estate, and this 15 per cent. was diveded into 100 units, fifty of which were purchased by the American Maracaibo Company from the son and one of the heirs of the late General Barco. This company now controls 56 per cent. of the 15 per cent. royalty, or approximately an 8.4 per cent. royalty on all oil produced from the concession.

The balance of the holdings are scattered throughout South America. The Roman Catholic Church owns 5 per cent., which it has declined to sell; the village of Cucuta owns 1 per cent., and descendants of General Barco have most of the remainder.

The district is believed to be one of the most prolific in oil deposits in the world. Among the companies having holdings or leases in the territory are the Royal Dutch, which is engaged in development, and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, through a subsidiary, the Andean Petroleum Company. The Gulf Oil Corporation, controlled by Pittsburgh interests, is reported to have plans for an expenditure of $50,000,000 for the development of its portion of the concession. Oil men estimate such an investment would not be justified by the production of less than 50,000 barrels of oil a day.

New Issue

$7,000,000

New York Water Service Corporation

First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series "A"

Dated November 1, 1926 Due November 1, 1951

Principal and semi-annual interest, May 1 and November 1, payable in New York City. Denominations of $1,000 and $500; registerable as to principal. Interest payable without deduction of any Federal income tax not in excess of two per cent. Refund of Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Kansas and California taxes, not to exceed four mills. Maryland taxes not to exceed four and one-half mills, Kentucky, West Virginia, and District of Columbia taxes not to exceed five mills. Michigan exemption tax not to exceed five mills, Virginia taxes not to exceed five and one-half mills, and Massachusetts income tax not to exceed six per cent., to resident holders upon written application within sixty days after payment. The New York Trust Company, Trustee.

Business: The properties comprising the New York Water Service Corporation System will supply various communities in New York State with water for domestic and industrial purposes. The total population of the territory served is estimated to be in excess of 450,000. The localities served include the Flatbush and Woodhaven sections of New York City, Haverstraw, Grassy Point, Stony Point, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, Norwich, and numerous communities suburban to Syracuse. White Plains and North White Plains are also served at wholesale.

	Year ended Sept. 30, 1926	Year ended Dec. 31, 1925
Gross Revenues	$1,415,667	$1,335,497
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes, other than Federal Income Tax	706,721	674,711
Balance	$ 708,946	$ 660,786
Annual Interest on the Corporation's entire Funded Indebtedness (this issue)	$ 350,000

The above earnings do not reflect the savings that will be effected by the elimination of executive salaries under the former individual managements, nor other economies which will result under the operation by the Corporation.

Security: This issue of First Mortgage Bonds, which constitutes the only funded indebtedness of the New York Water Service Corporation System, will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the physical properties of the System consisting of land, water mains, reservoirs, pumping stations, and other equipment. The value of the property under this mortgage, as appraised by various engineering firms, on the basis of reproduction cost less depreciation, is estimated to be in excess of $13,555,000. The land owned in New York City alone has been appraised by Charles F. Noyes & Co., Inc., at over $2,800,000.

Growth Table:

	Gross Revenues	Miles of Mains	Hydrants	Customers
1921	$ 903,815	330.83	3,175	48,903
1922	1,014,615	337.06	3,229	51,333
1923	1,093,677	344.22	3,299	56,879
1924	1,206,253	352.13	3,408	63,722
1925	1,335,497	358.26	3,532	72,617
Sept. 30, 1926	1,415,667	364.29	3,606	80,861

Management: The New York Water Service Corporation System will be operated by the Federal Water Service Corporation, which controls and operates one of the largest groups of water works systems in the United States. It will have the benefits of an expert technical and operating staff, long experienced in the water works field.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of the sale of these Bonds will be used to retire all funded indebtedness outstanding in the hands of the public against the properties and to partially reimburse the Corporation for necessary improvements, betterments and extensions to the properties and for other corporate purposes.

Flatbush Water Works Company First and General Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds due May 1, 1931, may be presented in payment for these bonds on a 5% discount basis on December 20, 1926, or at any time thereafter at the option of the undersigned.

These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. White & Case.

PARTNERS

WE invite you to become our partner in the ownership of sound, substantial, profitable apartment structures. You and your fellow investors will be half-owners and will share in profits equally with us.

If you own a bond secured by a building, your income is limited to a fixed amount of interest. As a part-owner there is no set limit to your profits.

FIRST — you will own a preferred investment which pays you 6% cumulative dividends.

THEN — as earnings of the property accrue, your money will be paid back to you in 10 equal installments.

AFTER THAT — you will retain a permanent pro rata ownership—you and your fellow investors owning half, Mahlstedt-Steen owning the other half.

Mahlstedt-Steen buildings are erected for permanent ownership and income, not for speculative profits. The Mahlstedt-Steen organization plans them, builds them, manages them, for your benefit equally with its own.

The following information is summarized by Mr. H. A. Clarke, Vice-President, from his letter to us:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY: Pennsylvania Gas & Electric Corporation, either directly or through a subsidiary, owns practically all of the Common stocks of a group of public utility companies supplying manufactured or natural gas, either at wholesale or retail, in 45 communities in Pennsylvania and New York. Among the communities so served are York, Pittston, Port Allegany and Westfield, Pennsylvania, and Addison, Elmira and Corning, New York. Electric light and power, gas and street railway service are supplied in Moncton, New Brunswick, and vicinity. The Corporation also owns 75% of the Common stock of the Southeastern Ice Utilities Corporation, supplying manufactured ice, practically without competition in 11 communities in Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. The territories served by the operating companies have an aggregate population in excess of 575,000, and are the centers of important agricultural and industrial territories.

CONSOLIDATED EARNINGS: For the twelve months ended October 31, 1926, consolidated earnings of Pennsylvania Gas & Electric Corporation and its subsidiaries, including those of property about to be acquired, were as follows:

Gross Earnings (including non-operating revenues)	$4,239,830
Operating Expenses and Taxes, including current maintenance and income taxes	2,911,062
Net Earnings	$1,328,768
Balance of Net Earnings after deducting annual interest charges and dividends on funded debt and preferred stocks of subsidiary companies, amortization and net earnings applicable to Common stocks of subsidiary companies held by the public	$ 847,871
Annual Interest Charges on Fifty-Year 6% Gold Debentures	144,000
Balance for depreciation, depletion and dividends	$ 703,871
Annual Dividend Requirements on $1,000,000 7% Preferred Stock and 10,000 shares $7 Preferred Stock (this issue)	140,000

$1000 and the FRENCH PLAN

The investment of $1000 in any French building gives you a share in the ownership and participation in the profits of an exceptionally sound income-producing property. The FRENCH PLAN insures the following unusual advantages:

1.

SAFETY—Your investment is safeguarded by the entire net income from the operation of the property—not only for the payment of interest—but until every dollar of your original investment has been repaid to you in full.

2.

INCOME—Your investment pays 6% cumulative interest plus return of your original investment.

3.

RETURN OF CAPITAL—Your original investment is returned to you in ten equal retirements. Relatively, your investment under The FRENCH PLAN is a short-term investment.

4.

PROFIT—After the repayment of your original investment—plus 6% interest—you receive 50% of the net profits from the property without one dollar of your original investment!

NOVEMBER'S EXPORT SURPLUS IS LARGE

Increased $27,400,000 Over October and $33,000,000 Over November, 1925.

EXPORTS UP, IMPORTS DOWN

Department of Commerce Ascribes Result to Larger Wheat Exports —Total Value of Cotton Exports Little Changed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—November exports from the United States, which were worth $481,000,000, were greater than the exports of any preceding month since October, 1925, and gave a trade balance of $105,000,000 to the United States for last month.

November imports were $376,000,000, or slightly below the imports of October and November, 1925.

"Exports in November, 1926, showed an increase of $23,000,000 over November, 1925," the Commerce Department said today.

"While the figures are preliminary, and few details are as yet available, it is known that this increase occurred in the face of a reduction, due chiefly to lower prices, of approximately $27,000 in the value of raw cotton, exported during the month. In other words, commodities other than cotton showed an increase of about $60,000,000. This increase was quite widely distributed among different commodities.

"The only precise information we have as to an important contributing factor is the figure for wheat, which showed an increase of somewhere between fifteen and twenty million, as compared with November, 1925.

"The increase in exports of about $25,000,000 from October, 1926, to November was also very generally distributed among numerous commodities."

Imports of coal for November were $16,737,868 and exports were $7,727,196. For the eleven months including November the country's gold imports amount to $196,500,396, while its exports are $108,511,537, leaving a net gain of gold for the year to date amounting to $87,988,859. For the same period in 1925 the gold movement had run against the United States with an excess of exports amounting to $135,614,896. Silver exports for November were $6,783,688, as compared with imports of $3,814,205.

November foreign trade in merchandise for a series of years compares as follows (+ indicating excess of imports, — excess of exports):

Year.	Exports.	Imports.	Excess.
1926...	$481,000,000	$376,000,000	—$105,000,000
1925...	447,803,577	376,451,290	— 71,372,287

1920...	674,888,311	221,888,488	— 453,213,864

1926.	Exports.	Imports.	Excess.
Nov.	$481,000,000	$376,000,000	—$105,000,000
Oct.	455,955,944	378,350,366	— 77,604,579
Sept.	448,723,636	343,478,904	— 105,244,731
Aug.	395,620,586	356,604,867	— 49,015,719

Exports and imports of merchandise for the eleven months of the present year compare as follows:

Year.	Exports.	Imports.	Excess.
1926.	$4,347,000,000	$4,061,000,000	—$286,000,000
1925.	4,441,808,656	3,831,375,456	— 610,333,200

1920...	39,389,767	56,994,756	+ 17,605,089

The movement compares with other recent months as follows:

1926.	Exports.	Imports.	Excess.
Nov.	$7,727,196	$16,737,868	+ $9,010,682
Oct.	1,115,004	8,443,866	+ 7,328,862
Sept.	23,080,558	15,932,966	— 7,147,592
Aug.	29,743,113	11,978,690	— 17,764,433

The largest monthly gold exports since the war were $83,972,840, in June, 1919; the exports of $73,488,505 in January, 1925, were the second in amount. Largest monthly gold imports, $116,762,001, were in October, 1920.

Year.	Exports.	Imports.	Excess.

HUNGARIAN BANKER TELLS COUNTRY'S GAINS

Bela Alapi, Here to Seek Closer Financial Relations, Praises Work of Jeremiah Smith.

Bela Alapi, Managing Director of the City Savings Bank Company, Ltd., of Budapest, who is in New York to promote closer financial relations between Hungary and the United States, declared yesterday that cooperation by American and British interests, together with the supervisory activities of Jeremiah Smith, League of Nations Commissioner, had been mainly responsible for the great economic improvement that has taken place in Hungary in the last year.

"Not only has the Hungarian budget been balanced, but a surplus of about $10,000,000 will be shown for the year 1926," said Mr. Alapi.

"The improved credit situation is shown by the fact that in about fourteen months the discount rate of the National Bank of Hungary has been reduced from 18 per cent. to 6 per cent. Currency stabilization is attested by the fact that after Jan. 1 the only currency unit to be quoted will be the pengo, which will have a par value of 17.49 cents.

"The industrial situation is illustrated by the fact that in Budapest, a city of more than 1,000,000 population, in which virtually all of the industries of Hungary are concentrated, there are only 15,000 unemployed."

Mr. Alapi's bank is one of the eleven in Hungary which are authorized to issue mortgage bonds and municipal bonds. Its securities are outstanding in several European centres. Mortgage bonds and stock of the bank will be offered to American investors shortly.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

New High for Sterling as Buying Continues—French and Italian Rally.

Another active market for sterling on good buying orders from the other side helped the pound to a successive high for the movement at $4.84½ for cables yesterday. Dealers said the source of the inquiry was excellent, that it came from the banks and that none of it was speculative.

There was likewise a better absorption of the French and Italian descriptions, and while at the outset there was a little realizing in continuation of the selling on Tuesday, this was shaken off in the later trading and both came back vigorously. The franc closed at 3.99 cents, compared with 3.97¼ previously, and the lira at 4.47¾ cents, as against 4.46¾ on Tuesday.

Brussels dispatches that the Belgian Government would soon permit the free movement of capital failed to affect the belga, which remained firm around 13.90⅝ cents, unchanged. Scandinavians and Spanish were irregular, but the Swiss, German and Holland all improved. Silver currencies were lower. South Americans showed no variations.

Hearing May Be Reopened or New Action Brought Against Present Management.

AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 15 (AP).—Reopening of Laura L. T. Weiss's suits against the present management of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and its $35,000,000 refinancing plan of 1921 was made possible today by a ruling of Judge S. D. Kenfield that the cases had not previously been settled in Common Pleas Court.

A journal entry made by the late Judge William J. Ahern Jr. stating that the suits were adjudicated was a "clerical error," the Court ruled. Judge Kenfield held that the suits merely were held in abeyance and can be taken up in court again.

Today's ruling, it was believed, will result either in a request for immediate reopening of the hearing, which would bring evidence in the Weiss suit again before the court, or the filing of a new action. It was indicated that the present ruling will be used by stockholders interested in the common stock voting trust in pressing other actions now pending here and in the State Supreme Court in Columbus.

Recently President Litchfield of the Goodyear company submitted a refinancing program to stockholders designed to eliminate control of the company now vested in a bankers' committee, headed by Clarence Dillon of New York and John Sherman of Cleveland. The proposal also would do away with all voting trusts in the common, prior preferred and preferred stocks, the proposal was blocked by the common stock trustees. F. A. Seiberling and his associates act as voting trustees for a large block of the common stock.

The decision was regarded here as a victory for Mr. Seiberling, who was President of the company, and his associates who are sponsoring actions now pending in the State courts to set aside the 1921 refinancing plan and to oust the present directors of Goodyear. He and his associates recently were named in a suit in Federal court at Toledo asking that they be enjoined from exercising duties as common stock voting trustees. The defendants were served with notice of an injunction today.

GERMAN TAX ON LOANS AIMS AT REGULATION

Dr. Max Winkler Explains Origin —Holds American Bankers Responsible in Part.

Commenting on the intention of the German Government to refuse further exemption from the existing 10 per cent. coupon tax on all German loans, Dr. Max Winkler, Vice President of Moody's Investor's Service, yesterday said few persons realize that it was largely because of certain transactions between German borrowers and bankers, for the most part American, that the decree was handed down.

"It is, of course, generally known," Dr. Winkler said, "that relatively heavy borrowing on the part of German States, municipalities and corporations has been looked upon with a certain degree of disfavor by German officials, including Dr. Schacht, head of the Reichsbank. It was for this reason that the Advisory Bureau for Foreign Credits was created to pass upon applications for loans to be contracted in foreign markets. Whenever, in the opinion of the bureau, such loans were not likely to be of a productive character application was rejected, and in that case internal borrowing was resorted to.

"In several instances, however, municipalities and communal districts have obtained foreign credits, largely on short term, through the sale of internal treasury notes to foreign bankers without the approval of the bureau or Government sanction. In addition, certain loans, the flotation of which was restricted expressly to the home market, had been turned over to foreign bankers for sale abroad. The decision to levy a 10 per cent. tax on all loans is therefore expected to put a halt to such operations, which, if they should increase in magnitude, may some day endanger the currency position of Germany, but will not preclude the granting of tax exemption to foreign loans which, in the opinion of the bureau, are of a distinctly productive character."

CHEMICAL MARKET EASIER.

Trade Review Lays Change to Tonnage Importance of Items.

Numerous price changes came to bear in the market for chemicals last month, and the trend was slightly easier, more on account of the tonnage importance of the items which were lowered than the number of downward revisions announced, according to Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering. Curtailment of deliveries to certain consuming industries, such as the fertilizer, automobile tire, and glass trades, was reported during the month.

"Contract business in caustic soda and soda ash involved a large tonnage and the outlook for production and consumption of these chemicals in 1927 is favorable," the periodical reports, "Increased production of ammonia has kept values in a state of flux and stocks of chlorine have also been rather large. Lead and zinc pigments have sold off partly because of lower producing costs and partly because of keener competition. Higher prices obtained for tin salts, in sympathy with the metal. The higher import duty on methanol has strengthened the domestic market on all wood distillation chemicals and higher prices were named by producers."

Eureka Vacuum Plans New Stock.

A special meeting of stockholders of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Company has been called for Dec. 28, to vote on an increase in capital stock from 250,000 no par shares to 500,000 no par shares. No information was forthcoming from executives of the company in connection with the increase, but it is believed that it has been proposed in order to pave the way for a substantial stock dividend early in 1927. One member of the board said it was not proposed for new financing, but that, if authorized, it would place directors in a position to pass along to stockholders some of the increased earnings.

CONTINENTAL AND COMMERCIAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, CHICAGO, TRUSTEE

A letter of Mr. John J. O'Brien, President of the Company, to summarized as follows:

Company Standard Gas and Electric Company's system comprises one of the large organizations in the United States embracing the operation, management and engineering of public utility properties. The present operated and subsidiary public utility companies furnish electric power and light, gas or other services in important commercial, financial and industrial centers located in prosperous sections in nineteen states. The communities served, numbering 1,316 and having an estimated population of 5,600,000, include the cities of Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville, Oklahoma City, Muskogee, Ardmore, Sioux Falls, St. Cloud, Fargo, La Crosse, Eau Claire, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Menominee, Salinas, Monterey, Casper, Marshfield, Kalispell, Medford, Klamath Falls, Pueblo, Tacoma, San Diego and Stockton.

The present operated and subsidiary utility companies have an aggregate installed hydro-electric and steam electric generating capacity of 1,492,976 horsepower; installed daily gas manufacturing capacity of 107,720,000 cubic feet; a total of 40,641 miles of transmission and distribution lines, and connected electric load, all purposes, of 2,392,267 kilowatts. They serve a combined total of 1,485,332 customers, and for the twelve months ended September 30, 1926, had a combined total electric output of 3,406,575,448 kilowatt-hours, and total gas output of 59,255,398,500 cubic feet.

Total gross earnings of the present operated public utility companies for the twelve months ended September 30, 1926, were $145,889,060, and net earnings, before depreciation and depletion, $61,484,290.

The Company also owns a controlling interest in Shaffer Oil and Refining Company and subsidiaries, having an established position in the oil industry, with complete production, refining, transportation and distributing facilities, and which, together with its subsidiaries, for the twelve months ended September 30, 1926, had gross earnings of $20,784,945 and net operating earnings of $6,051,767.

Earnings Collectible earnings of Standard Gas and Electric Company for the twelve months ended September 30, 1926, were $8,525,968, or over 3.55 times the $2,400,000 annual interest requirements on the entire funded debt of the Company presently to be outstanding. These collectible earnings are the amounts actually received or in the process of collection and do not include any income from the Company's investment in Shaffer Oil and Refining Company common stock, nor Standard's proportion of undistributed earnings of operated and subsidiary companies.

Consolidated earnings of the system for the twelve months ended September 30, 1926, applicable to interest charges of Standard Gas and Electric Company, were $14,295,800, or over 5.95 times the annual interest requirements of $2,400,000 on the entire funded debt of the Company presently to be outstanding. These consolidated earnings include $1,578,000 income applicable to the Company's common stock holdings in Shaffer Oil and Refining Company.

Purpose of Issue The proceeds from the sale of this issue of $10,000,000 6% Gold Debentures, due December 1, 1966, will provide funds to reimburse the Company for expenditures made or indebtedness incurred for the purpose of acquiring additional common stocks of San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company and Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, securities of Standard Power and Light Corporation, and for other corporate purposes.

Equity Junior to the funded debt of the Company presently to be outstanding are dividend-paying stocks outstanding with the public, which have a total present market value in excess of $120,000,000.

We offer these Debentures for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to the approval of our counsel.

The Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation has 400 more dealers throughout the country than it had a year ago. Its foreign organization also has undergone expansion and dealers are being appointed in large centres of India.

SHAFFER OIL PAYS AN EXTRA DIVIDEND

Wipes Out All Its Unpaid Accumulations, With 19¼ Per Cent. on Preferred.

RAILROAD TO PAY $5 EXTRA

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Announces Dividend on Capital Stock—Mount Vernon Bank in List.

Extra dividends were announced yesterday by several firms. The largest of these was of 19¼ per cent., declared on the preferred stock of the Shaffer Oil and Refining Company. This wipes out all unpaid accumulated dividends on the issue and in addition the regular 1¾ per cent. quarterly dividend was paid. At the same time an initial dividend of $7 a share was declared on the common stock. A majority of the shares of this corporation are owned by the Standard Gas and Electric Company.

Directors of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, the third largest subsidiary of the New York Central, yesterday declared an extra dividend of $5 on the company's capital stock, in addition to the regular semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent. on these shares. Directors of H. M. Bylesby & Co. declared an extra cash dividend of $1 a share on the company's Class A and Class B common stock, and a stock dividend on Class A common stock A at the rate of 1-25 of one share for each share now held.

The first National Bank of Mount Vernon yesterday declared an extra dividend of 5 per cent. in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent. now being paid. Preferred stockholders of the West Coast Oil Company will receive an extra dividend of $3 a share in addition to the regular quarterly of $1.50.

The John R. Thompson Company, restaurant proprietors, declared three monthly dividends of 30 cents each on the common stock.

Playing Safe in the Second Mortgage Industry

—write for descriptive booklet

The introduction of standardized discounts and new methods of capital turnover into the Second Mortgage Industry has made the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation the largest institution in this rich field. It has a record of safety, unique even in the mortgage industry. In all the history of the Company it has never had a single foreclosure or mortgage in default.

The United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation was established to combat unstabilized and speculative conditions in the second mortgage field. It founded its business on the Home—the time-tested rock of mortgage strength, directing its operations principally to small amortized second mortgages on home properties in the rich suburban sections of New York City. It refused mortgages on large business buildings, groups of houses, uncompleted properties and real estate developments. All of its appraisers are substantial stockholders in the Corporation.

Such a demand has come for this Company's services that the stockholders recently voted an increase of capital. Subscription books are now open for this new stock.

This issue of additional capital stock affords the first public opportunity to acquire ownership in this successful mortgage Corporation. This should be of interest to those looking for an opportunity of safe and profitable reinvestment of capital in January. A new book, "Sharing Second Mortgage Profits With Investors" explains how the investor may share in the unusual profits of this successful and fast growing Company. MUNICIPAL BONDS

$400,000
LEE COUNTY, FLORIDA
Special Tax School District No. 1
(Includes entire City of Fort Myers)
6% School Bonds

Dated May 1, 1926 — Due May 1, 1929-1956

Principal and semi-annual interest (May and November 1st) payable in Gold at The Bank of America, New York City. Denomination $1,000.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Real Value of Taxable Property, estimated		$85,000,000
*Assessed Valuation, 1926		5,491,000
Total Bonded Debt, including this issue	$930,000
Sinking Fund	41,057
Net Bonded Debt		888,943

Population, officially estimated - 23,500
Area of School District - 90 square miles

*The extremely low basis on which the assessed valuations of School Districts in Florida is determined—in this case being only about one-ninth of the actual valuation—is readily shown by the fact that the assessed valuation of the City of Fort Myers alone, which is entirely within the District, was $32,353,720 for 1926, which is over three times the assessed valuation of the entire District. Based on the actual valuation, the total bonded debt is only 1%.

The CITY OF FORT MYERS, County Seat of Lee County, is located on the West Coast in the southern part of the State and is very strategically situated, being the only city of any importance in that section and the most important city on the West Coast south of Tampa.

LEE COUNTY, FLORIDA, SPECIAL TAX SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1, includes the entire City of Fort Myers (Directory population July, 1925 - 14,967), and considerable adjacent territory. The bonds are full and direct obligations of the entire District and are payable from unlimited ad valorem taxes levied against all taxable property therein. They have been validated by a Decree of the Circuit Court in and for Lee County, Florida.

EARLY UPTURN SEEN IN STEEL INDUSTRY

New Business Still Lags, but Favorable Trade Factors Are Reported by Reviews.

OPERATIONS AT 70 TO 75%

Rail Demand Is Promising—Tentative Inquiry for 14,000 Freight Cars Before Builders.

The steel and iron industry remains little changed, a number of favorable factors have appeared and indications of quickened activity after the turn of the year are apparent.

"A number of favorable factors are piercing the seasonal dullness which blankets a large portion of the iron and steel industry," says The Iron Trade Review. "Tentative inquiry for 14,000 freight cars is before car builders, in addition to 18,000 definitely out for figures. Car awards in the past week approximated 3,000, or almost as many as in all November. Structural steel lettings totaled 78,401 tons, the largest week in two years. In pig iron, quickened by new interest in first quarter requirements, the week's sales and inquiries are the heaviest since the flurry over coke subsided.

"Production of iron and steel suffered no appreciable loss in the past week and at 70 to 75 per cent. for the industry as a whole is believed to be scraping bottom. Steel Corporation subsidiaries are operating at about 78 per cent. Consumers' inventories are falling to such a low point and material will be needed so urgently as January opens, that considerable tonnage must be in transit in the last few days of December to safeguard against stringencies. Bookings of the industry as a whole probably exceed shipments."

The Iron Age says:

"On the whole, steel works operations are little changed. Apart from railroad buying, new business still lags, but orders and specifications are slightly better with most of the steel companies than at the opening of December. If, as is to be expected, output falls off further in the holidays, there will be compensation in an increased rate early in the year.

"With some uncertainty as to the Winter scale of consumption of bars, shapes and plates in the metal-working industries, railroad demand is still promising. Chicago district mills estimate that 210,000 tons of car steel is now on inquiry from car works and railroads, and they expect to quote on 150,000 additional tons in the near future. Some automobile companies are feeling the market on sheets for January shipment and have sent in specifications for alloy steel bars. Other builders have suspended shipments, because their plants will be shut down shortly for inventories. Definite indications as to January schedules are lacking."

INDUSTRIALS STRONG IN COUNTER MARKET

Johns-Manville Rises 6 Points—Bank Issues Active—Utilities Unchanged.

The unlisted market continued firm yesterday and some new highs on the current movement were established in the industrial group. A gradual advance in bank stock prices reflected a reinvestment of large funds at this season.

Johns-Manville advanced 6 points on the day and thus far has recovered more than the amount of the $18 special dividend of last week. Superheater, United States Trucking, Bucyrus, White Rock and Knox Hat were also exceptionally strong.

Improvement was noted in Commerce, Chase National, Guaranty Trust, American Exchange-Irving Trust, and Equitable, and the rest of this section remained strong and fairly active.

Utility issues continued little changed, but there was a better inquiry for the communication issues and the senior shares of several leading light and power companies. Some insurance stocks rose several points.

Chain store stocks had a rather active day, with half a dozen issues advancing more than 3 points. Sugar shares continued strong under the leadership of Fajardo and Sugar Estates preferred.

New Trade Bureau in Moscow.

Charles Hadden Smith, Secretary of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, started for Moscow yesterday to establish a trade bureau there. The bureau will be supported by the chamber. In his absence Thomas L. Cotton, Assistant Secretary, will be in charge of the chamber's headquarters in the Chase National Bank Building at 145 West Fifty-seventh Street.

COAL CARLOADINGS BIGGEST ON RECORD

Account for 251,626 Cars of Total of 1,158,151 Reported for Week of Dec. 4.

59,793 MORE THAN YEAR AGO

Sum of Shipments of All Classes Is 215,359 Greater Than in Thanksgiving Period.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15.—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on Dec. 4 totaled 1,158,151 cars, the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association announced today. This was 37,312 cars more than in the corresponding week last year and 88,666 cars more than in the same week in 1924. It also was an increase of 215,359 cars as compared with the preceding week, when loadings were reduced, owing to observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Coal loading totaled 251,626 cars, the greatest number of cars of revenue coal ever loaded in any one week. This was an increase of 59,793 cars in comparison with the same week last year and of 57,863 cars when compared with the corresponding week in 1924.

Grain and grain products loading totaled 49,882 cars, a decrease of 9,751 cars from the figure for the corresponding week last year and of 4,139 cars from that of the same week two years ago. In the Western districts alone 28,178 cars were loaded, a decrease of 7,418 cars from last year's total, but 31,896 cars more than in the week of 1924.

Live stock loading amounted to 34,901 cars, a decrease of 1,793 cars from the total for the same wek last year and 8,043 cars less than that for the same week for two years ago. In the Western districts alone live stock loading totaled 26,667 cars, a decrease of 11,355 cars when compared with the same week last year.

Loading of merchandise and less-than-carload lot freight for the week totaled 268,675 cars, an increase of 3,862 cars in comparison with last year and of 17,128 cars in comparison with 1924. Forest products loading totaled 64,464 cars, 6,475 cars less than in the corresponding week last year and 8,809 cars less than in the same week two years ago. Ore loading totaled 11,127 cars, 1,730 cars fewer than in the same week in 1925, but 636 cars more than in the corresponding week two years ago. Coke loading totaled 13,020 cars, 2,916 cars fewer than in the same week last year, but 2,128 cars more than in the corresponding week in 1924.

All districts except the Northwestern and Central Western showed increases in total loadings of all commodities in comparison with the corresponding weeks in both 1925 and 1924.

Car loadings of freight for the week ended Dec. 4 compare as follows with recent weeks of this and previous years:

	1926.	1925.	1924.	1923.
Dec. 4	1,158,151	1,020,973	968,256	913,921
Nov. 27	942,792	923,206	879,131	835,081
Nov. 20	1,078,312	1,057,674	1,010,122	990,290
Nov. 13	1,112,886	1,060,738	1,015,704	992,050
Nov. 6	1,137,210	1,063,222	994,504	1,036,221

Record loadings for all time were 1,216,432 cars in the week ended Oct. 30, 1926.

ASKS STREET CAR RELIEF.

Public Service Railway Wants Rates and Levies Readjusted.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 15.—Indication was given in a petition filed with the Public Utility Commission today by the Public Service Railway Company that another effort will be made this Winter to have the Legislature pass a law relieving trolley systems from street paving obligations. Such a bill was sponsored at the last session by Senator Abell of Morris County but it was defeated after a bitter fight and despite a powerful lobby working in its behalf.

In addition to relief from paving assessments the Public Service interests seek a readjustment of fare zones on several lines, the abolition of passes and reduced-rate tickets of every description, elimination of all charges for snow removal, street sprinkling and oiling, and permission to give a better service for which a higher fare would be charged.

"The problem to be decided by the board, representing the public and the companies," says the petition, "is whether fares should be immediately increased sufficiently to make these properties self-supporting, or whether other measures should and will be undertaken either to make a fare increase unnecessary or lessen the amount of any necessary increase in fares."

The petition says the present five-cent fare was suggested by the board as an experiment and accepted with misgivings by the company, which had asked for a ten-cent fare, and adds, "three years of constant effort on the part of the company has demonstrated the correctness of this proposition."

RUBBER FUTURES REACT.

Prices Sag 20 to 40 Points—London Market Is Weak and Dull.

Reports of an easier London market and little interest by either manufacturer or trader caused a reaction in the market for crude rubber futures yesterday, prices sagging 20 to 40 points under Tuesday's finals. Business was moderately active, 243 contracts changing hands, all new.

January and March, which monopolized the bulk of the turnover, lost 40 points, as did April and October. February and November lost 30 points, and the other positions 20 points.

The London market started weak and continued dull throughout the trading, final prices showing spot down ¼d. and the futures ⅛d. to ¼d. off.

Range of prices for the active deliveries follows:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
January	37.50	37.20	37.40	37.80
February	37.90	37.70	37.80b	38.10

Atlantic Coast Line Orders Cars.

A contract for 100 ballast cars has been placed by the Atlantic Coast Line with the Virginia Bridge and Iron Works. The Inland Collieries Company has ordered 100 mine cars from the Koppel Industrial Car and Equipment Company, while the Pennsylvania Coal Company has placed 50 mine cars with the American Car and Foundry Company. The Champlin Refining Company is inquiring for 100 to 300 tank cars.

Reinforce Your Re-Investments With A Guarantee!

Investments this January should be made with an eye to future Januaries—times are changing and investment standards are changing with them—it is no longer necessary to buy a first mortgage security without a Guarantee—it is no longer necessary to accept mere assurances in the place of proof—facts, not faith, are the only safe and proper guide for January funds!

5½% PRUDENCE-BONDS are secured by first mortgages on sound income-earning properties—they are protected by lean loans, large equities and liberal amortization—and they are Guaranteed by over $13,000,000 of The Prudence Company's own Capital, Surplus and Reserves.

You'll never need the guarantee, but you'll like the sense of security that comes from knowing that it's there!

Our booklet "Prudence-Bonds Provide the Guarantee that Prudence Demands" will interest you. Write for it today.

CHICAGO RAILWAYS IN RECEIVERS' HANDS

Westinghouse Company Forces West and North Side Lines Into Bankruptcy.

SERVICE TO BE UNCHANGED

Corporation Admits Inability to Pay —$103,228,265 Funded Debt Due on Feb. 1.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—The Chicago Railways Company, the west and north side surface lines, were placed in receivership today by Federal Judge John H. Wilkerson. The petition for this action came from the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, which represented that it had demanded $67,075 in payment for electrical equipment for a substation and that payment had been refused. It asserted also that the funded debt of the company, totaling $103,228,265, will fall due when the company's franchise expires on Feb. 1, 1927, and that this obligation cannot be met. To conserve the interests of every one it was urged that the company and all its assets and earning power be put into judicial custody.

The company through its lawyers admitted all the allegations and Judge Wilkerson appointed these three receivers: John J. Mitchell of the Illinois Trust Company, Frederick H. Rawson of the Union Trust Company and Henry A. Blair, President of the company. Messrs. Mitchell and Blair filed bonds of $50,000 each and qualified. Mr. Rawson was out of the city.

When the news become public President Leonard A. Busby of the Chicago City Railway Company said:

"There will be no receivership at this time of the Chicago City Railway Company or the Calumet & South Chicago Railway Company or the Southern Street Railway Company."

These companies operate the surface cars on the south side of Chicago. Mr. Busby added a confident hope that a receivership for these lines would be avoided later.

Service to Be Unchanged.

The Court authorized the lines placed under its protection to continue unified operation with the Busby system. This means the same service as at present with transfers and the same fares. For several years under the protection of a Federal injunction proceeding Chicago's surface lines have been charging a 7-cent fare. On the elevated lines the fare is 10 cents. The unified operation also means that employes will get the same wages as hitherto.

The effect of the receivership on the negotiations for a six-month extension of the franchise of all companies, which will expire on Feb. 1, 1927, will be improved rather than retarded, company representatives said. It has been rumored that the Busby lines would accept a six-month extension and it was said tonight that the Blair company, by the receivership, was now able to accept an extension which it could not have accepted without a receivership because of the complications in its financing.

Mr. Mitchell, as a receiver, issued a statement in which he expressed hope of being able to negotiate a satisfactory six-month extension, until a permanent agreement could be worked out.

Others affected by the receivership are holders of Chicago Railway securities. Officials said these interests would be better conserved by a receivership than without it.

Aldermen for Extension.

An hour after the receivers had been appointed, the City Council by unanimous vote, save that of Alderman Wiley Mills, voted to authorize its local transportation committee to negotiate a six-month extension of the franchises of the street car companies. So many questions of a legal character were asked by the Aldermen that Mayor Dever said:

"This is a critical situation. I have practiced law long enough to know that this is the time to ask the Corporation Counsel to think—not to talk. I hope you will not ask questions involving complicated legal questions, but rather confine your questions to those which are essential for you to get information upon which to cast your votes."

Aldermanic questions indicated that the Councilmen desire the law department to ask the Federal Court to compel the receivers to continue to pay 55 per cent. of its net receipts to the city, pave its right of way as the franchise stipulates, clean the streets and perform other obligations which it assumed in accepting the franchise. An official statement fro mthe Mayor on these phases of the situation is expected by the end of the week.

Building Brisk in Iowa.

Special to The New York Times.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 15.—Despite recurrent reports of financial difficulties and depression throughout the Midwest, Iowa is establishing new records in the amount of construction work. Figures released here today for the first eleven months of 1926 show that building work totaled $56,316,200, 17 per cent. more than the total for the entire year of 1925.

TRADING RANGE WIDER ON THE CURB MARKET

List of Active Stocks Lengthens and Public Interest Is Reported Growing.

Buying activities broadened in scope on the Curb Exchange yesterday and, while reactionary tendencies developed from time to time as a result of professional profit-taking, the main body of stocks showed to good advantage at the close of the market. The drop in call money rates to 4½ per cent. from a renewal at 5 per cent. gave encouragement to those operating on the side of rising prices, and another factor of favorable importance was the report from commission houses that public participation in trading was showing an appreciable increase.

Many stocks hitherto quite inactive joined the active groups, and practically all of them enjoyed sizeable gains. However, the best advances again were in issues which have been foremost in the current rise. Johns-Manville ran up to a new high for the year at 183½ and Victor Talking Machine added several points to its price, selling at 143½, also a new top for the year. Central Aguirre Sugar reached its high for 1926 at 103 and its sister issue, Fajardo Sugar, jumped 7 points to 168, or within a point of its record high level.

Irregularity developed in the domestic and foreign bond sections, although price changes were small.

Piedmont & Northern Extension.

Stockholders of the Piedmont & Northern Railroad, an electric line, controlled by the Duke interests, have authorized the construction of a fifty-five mile line between Spartanburg and Gastonia, Va., to connect the company's Gastonia-Charlotte and Greenwood-Spartanburg lines. They also have authorized an extension from Charlotte to Durham, N. C., if the directors believe it advisable. To finance the improvements there would be issued 200,000 no-par common shares and possibly bonds.

National-Standard Income Rises.

The National-Standard Company reports for the twelve months to Sept. 30, 1926, a net income of $795,228, after charges and Federal taxes, which is equivalent to $5.30 a share, earned on 150,000 shares of no par common stock. This compares with $764,180, or $5.09 a share in the preceding year. Net operating income for the period to Sept. 30, 1926, was $905,746, against $855,305 in the previous year. Other income was $21,396, against $20,677 in the preceding year.

B. & O. DECLARES EXTRA DIVIDEND

Road to Pay One-half of 1 Per Cent. on Common, Payable March 1, 1927.

TO ACT ON READING RIGHTS

Company Will Obtain 303,325 Certificates in Coal Company—Income for Year $50,941,100.

The Board of Directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company at a meeting held here yesterday declared an extra dividend of one-half of 1 per cent. on the common shares of the company, payable March 1, 1927, to stock of record Jan. 15. The reason for the additional payment was officially announced as "in order that the dividends declared on the common stock for the entire year 1926 shall aggregate 6 per cent."

The question of what the Baltimore & Ohio intends to do with its Reading rights was cleared up when it was learned that the rights would be exercised by the payment of $2 each before Dec. 31. The Baltimore & Ohio will thereby obtain 303,325 certificates of interest in the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Corporation and will have until July 1, 1927, to dispose of them. This disposal must be made, under the decree of the Federal court in the segregation of Reading properties, if the Baltimore & Ohio continues to hold its Reading stock. The decree says that ownership of the coal and railroad shares may not be held simultaneously. Wall Street expects the Baltimore & Ohio to sell the certificates to a banking syndicate.

The directors issued an estimate yesterday of Baltimore & Ohio earnings for 1926. Net operating income for the year, it is said, will be $50,941,100, or an increase of $7,907,013 over 1925. Of this amount $26,129,374 will remain after the payment of all interest charges and the 4 per cent. dividend on the preferred stock. The $26,129,374 applied to common stock gives earnings of approximately $17 per share for the year.

Daniel Willard, President of the company, was re-elected at the meeting, as were the other executive officers.

CHANGES IN GUARDIAN COAL.

W. L. Wagner Becomes President—New York Syndicate in Control.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Guardian Coal and Oil Company yesterday Willett L. Wagner was elected President, succeeding Davitt D. Chidester of Philadelphia. Alfred Fritzsche of the General Fire Extinguisher Company was elected a director. Mr. Wagner was formerly with the Pierce Oil Corporation and the Brier Hill Collieries, and also with the Sapulpa Oil Refining Company.

It was announced that stock control of the company had passed to the New York syndicate which has been in charge of the development of the company's properties in Webster County, W. Va., and that the executive offices would be moved from Philadelphia to New York. The company produces about 300 tons of coal daily. Acquisition of several properties is under consideration.

Queens Rail Terminal Opens.

The new express terminal of the Pennsylvania Railroad began operation in the Sunnyside yards in Long Island City yesterday and the first fleet of 100 motor trucks passed to and from the terminal over the Queensboro Bridge, greatly increasing the traffic congestion on that thoroughfare. By Jan. 3 another fleet of trucks will be put into service, and 1,000 such vehicles are to be operating on Jan. 17. Two trainloads of express matter was the first delivery handled today.

Moon Motor's Income Declines.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, the Moon Motor Car Company reports a net income of $282,551, after depreciation, Federal taxes, &c., which is equal to $1.40 a share on 180,000 shares of no par capital stock. This compares with $1,123,725, or $6.24 a share last year. For the third quarter net loss was $79,650 after the above charges against a net income of $144,524, or 81 cents a share in the preceding quarter.

Fox Film Changes Meeting Date.

Directors of the Fox Film Corporation voted yesterday to change the date of the stockholders' annual meeting from Feb. 1 to April 15. The regular dividends of $1 on the Class A and Class B common stock were declared.

LIVE STOCK AT CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—While the best prices for hogs were not maintained, a recession of around 10 cents from an advance of 15 to 25 cents coming toward the last, the average figure for the day was 15 cents higher at $11.35. The top was up a like amount at $11.55. Small receipts incident to zero weather had considerable influence, arrivals being the lightest for a Wednesday since Oct. 6. Bulk of the desirable weights sold early at $11.40 to $11.50, with the same kind late at $11.25 to $11.35. Packing sows brought $10.35 to $10.75. Packers bought 10,700 and shippers 6,000, with 10,000 left over. Receipts 12,000, with 40,000 estimated for tomorrow. Fat lambs sold slowly, with prices steady to 25 cents higher. Best sold up to $13, with bulk of wooled at $11.75 to $12.75, and some choice were carried over unsold. Sheep steady with sales largely at $5 to $6.50. Receipts 15,000. Cattle 15 to 25 cents higher, with in-between grades closing easy. Best yearlings sold up to $14.35 for the Christmas trade, with best heavy steers up to $11.25, with $9 to $11 taking the bulk of beef steers. Receipts 12,000.

VOTE ON COTTON TAX FEES.

Exchange Members Will Decide on Revenue Cut Tomorrow.

An amendment to the by-laws of the New York Cotton Exchange, reducing its revenue from taxation on cotton contracts and contract clearances by almost one-half, will be voted on by the members tomorrow. The general expectation is that it will be ratified and then formally approved by the Board of Managers.

Under the provisions of the present by-laws, all moneys from these tax fees are used solely to pay for the exchange building or to decrease the mortgage indebtedness thereupon. Under the amendment the proceeds will be used to provide an employes' pension fund, perfection of the acoustics of the trading floor, and for other building alterations.

The amendment proposes cutting the tax on floor brokerage contracts, now 5c, to 2½c; the tax on contract clearances, now 2½c, to 1½c; the tax of 5c per contract on contracts carried by members for themselves to 2½c; and the tax of 10c per contract on contracts under commission to 5c. The new rate of fees will continue until Jan. 1, 1929.

£1,000,000 GAIN IN 1926 IN PROFITS ON TOBACCO

British American Company to Pay 25 Per Cent. Dividend—Gives Women Credit.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The healthy state of the tobacco business was illustrated further today by an announcement by the British American Tobacco Company that its profits for the year would amount to more than 6,000,000 pounds, or 1,000,000 pounds more than last year. A 25 per cent. dividend was declared.

The increased profits are ascribed to the growth of the smoking habit among women. The company contemplates no decrease in the price of tobacco.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 15.—The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association will make a distribution in January of approximately $6,000,000 on the 1925 crop, it is announced. The distribution will bring the amount paid by the association on the first five crops to more than $150,000,000. More than 112,000 pool members will be affected by the distribution in Ohio, Tennessee, Indiana, Missouri, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Serial No. 1.
SALE OF EQUIPMENT TRUST SECURITIES.

Norfolk Southern Railroad Company desires to acquire by means of an equipment trust, one hundred and fifty, 50 ton capacity, composite gondola cars, which Virginia Bridge and Iron Company has agreed to construct and deliver f. o. b. tracks of Norfolk Southern Railroad Company, (at present freight rates) for $1915.00 each; and three consolidation type freight locomotives, weighing approximately 191,400 pounds each, which will develop a tractive power of approximately 40,400 lbs., which Baldwin Locomotive Works has agreed to construct and deliver under their own steam f. o. b. Norfolk Southern Railroad tracks, Norfolk, Virginia, for Forty-One Thousand Dollars each. Sealed bids under proposed contract No. 1 will be received at the office of G. R. Loyall, Room 420, Terminal Building, East Main Street, Norfolk, Virginia, to noon December 20th, 1926, to be opened on that day between noon and six o'clock P. M., for the purchase of said equipment from the manufacturers at the prices above named for cash and the sale or lease thereof to Norfolk Southern Railroad Company by a conditional sales agreement or lease for a term of years, with title passing to Norfolk Southern upon the payment of the rent. Norfolk Southern to pay in cash as part of the contract price, or the first installment of rent, all of the purchase price of said equipment above Three Hundred Thousand Dollars, the Three Hundred Thousand Dollars of unpaid purchase money to be payable in ten equal annual installments, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. This conditional sales agreement or lease to constitute an equipment trust to be in form agreed on and authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bids will state the price at which the securities representing the deferred payments of purchase money or rent will be sold when bearing interest at the rate of four and a half per cent., and also when bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. All bids must comply strictly with the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Any acceptance of any bid to be subject to authority being obtained from Interstate Commerce Commission to assume the obligation of the contracts and for the creation, issuance and sale of the securities upon the terms stated in the bid and of form agreed on. Application to be made for authority to issue and sell the securities upon acceptance of the bid.
G. R. LOYALL, President.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE AT DAY'S HIGH POINT

Strong Technical Position Is Disclosed When Shorts Start to Cover.

BUENOS AIRES AT NEW LOW

Ice Conditions Hold 15 Grain-Laden Steamers Fast at Montreal.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A strong technical position was disclosed in wheat when shorts started to cover and an advance of 1¼ to 1⅜ cents over the low point was easily attained, with the finish at the top at net gains of 1¼ to 1½ cents. Houses with Eastern connections that frequently act for a leading local operator were buyers early and absorbed the surplus in the pit and late sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves. The tendency on the part of the local element to oversell has resulted in many sharp upturns of late, but the buying has failed to follow the bulges, and when pressure appeared again prices have eased off as rapidly as they went up.

Buenos Aires closed 1 cent lower in the face of the late strength here, with all deliveries at a new low on the crop. Winnipeg was strong and 1½ to 1⅝ cents higher, with December leading. Argentine offerings are pressing for sale in Liverpool, which closed unchanged to 1½ pence lower. Bulk of the news was of a bearish character, with export bids for hard Winters at Kansas City ½ to 1 cent lower. There were inquiries here late in the day for hard Winters from the seaboard, but somewhat below a working basis.

There has been persistent buying of May for some days past around $1.38, which has absorbed the offerings from local operators, and the technical position was regarded as ripe for a strong rally. Whether the upturn can be maintained remains to be seen, according to the bears, although there was talk of congestion developing in the December before the end of the month, with intimations that a sharp upturn was to be witnessed.

Ice conditions are holding up fifteen steamers loaded with grain shipped to Europe from Montreal and unless there is a change in weather conditions the boats may not be able to get out until Spring. The small primary movement is attracting attention, as the crop was materially in excess of that of 1925. Yet so far this season, the arrivals at terminal markets have been only 21,000,000 bushels in excess of last season.

There was no improvement in the export demand at the seaboard, with sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bushels in all positions, including some sold the previous day and not reported. The Swiss Government is credited with having taken around 200,000 bushels Manitobas of late.

Primary arrivals today 714,000 bushels; week ago, 694,000 bushels; last year, 1,287,000 bushels. Shipments 574,000 bushels; week ago, 1,075,000 bushels; last year, 696,000 bushels.

Corn closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent higher, with no material pressure on the market. With wheat and oats strong pit shorts were disposed to cover regardless of increased country offerings of new grain to arrive. Purchases during the day from the interior were around 100,000 bushels, with the spot basis little changed.

Primary arrivals today 783,000 bushels; week ago, 966,000 bushels; last year, 1,306,000 bushels. Shipments 264,000 bushels; week ago, 270,000 bushels; last year, 680,000 bushels.

Wheat Futures Rally in Fair Trading After Weak Opening.

A fair degree of trading took place yesterday in wheat futures on the New York Produce Exchange. Prices opened at the lows of the day and closed at the highs. The opening depression resulted from continued weak Liverpool and Argentine cables and general bearish foreign news. Selling presure on the decline was limited, however, and general buying and covering resulted in a rally of 1⅝ cents from the lows. The market closed 1¼ to 1½ cents net higher.

Some of the buying resulted from the weekly weather report, which indicated little or no snow protection in the important Winter wheat areas. Some effect came also from continued light primary receipts and Department of Commerce export figures, indicating 131,000,000 bushels of domestic wheat exported to date.
